English

On examining the accounts of the various translations of the Bible during the Reign of Henry the VIII^th I find this to be of the date of that published in the year[x] 1541 — with the following Title —

"The Byble in Englyshe, of the largest & greatest volume, auctorised & apointed by the commaundement of oure most redoubted prynce & Soverayne Lorde Kynge Henry the viii. supreme Head of this his churches & realme of Englande: to be frequented & used in every Churche within this his grace realme, according to the tenour of his former injunctions geven in that behalfe. Overseene & perused at the commaundement of the Kynges highnes by the Right Reverende Fathers in god Cuthbert Bishop of Duresme & Nicolas Bishop of Rochester.

Printed by Richarde Grafton.

Cum privilegio ad imprimendum solum."

This is not a Bishops Bible. The first edition of the Bishops Bible is dated 1568 & was printed in the reign of Edward VI. (and Bug Bible) of Edward VI. There may be some part of the Bishops Bible bound up in this volume x I have been recently confirmed in the date here assigned, on comparing this Bible with a copy in the Library of my highly respected friend the late Stanesby Alchorne Esq^re of the Tower, with which this exactly corresponds — the title & last page, in Mr Alchorne's copy are preserved & perfect, & in both places shew the date of 1541.

❧ These thynges ensuynge are ioyned with thys present volume of the Byble.

A Calendar with an Almanack.

An exhortacyon to the studye of the holy Scrypture gathered oute of the Byble.

The summe and content of all the holy Scrypture hath of the Olde and New Testament.

A table for to fynde many of the cheafe and pryncipall matters conteyned in the Byble.

The names of all the bokes of the Byble / wyth the content of the Chapters / and in what leafe euery boke begynneth.

A bref rehersall declarynge how longe the worlde hath endured from the creacyon of Adam vnto thys present yeare of oure Lorde M. D. xxxvij.

And in the Margēt of the boke are there added many playne expolycyons of soch places as vnto the symple and vnlearned seame harde to vnderstande.

And further that Christ Jesus his sonne was promesed of God the father/ to be a sauour to this Adam/ Abraha/ Isaac/ Jacob/ David & the other fathers: whych shulde delyuer them from their synnes and tyrannye of the deuell/ that with a quyck & lyuyng faith wolde beleue this promes/ and trust to this Jesus Christ/ hopyng to haue this delyueraunce of and by hym. And truly thys promes/ is verye oft rehearced in the bokes of the olde testament/ yee & the olde testament is thys promes: as it is called the newe/ which teacheth that this promes is fulfylled.

And that in the meane season whyle

the fathers loked for saluacyon and delyueraunce promesed/ because mannes nature is soche that he not only cannot/ but also will not confesse hym self to be a synner/ and specially soche a synner that hath neade of the sauyng health promesed/ the lawe was geuen wher through men myght know synne/ and that they are synners: when they se ẏ they do none of the thynges that the lawe commaundeth/ with so gladde and wyllyng a mynde as God requyreth: but rather agaynst their wylles/ with oute affeccyon/ & as though they were constrayned with the feare of that hell which the lawe threatneth/ sayenge: Cursed be he that mayntenethnot all the wordes of this lawe to kepe them. And ẏ this lawe was geuen/ to thyntent that synne & the malyce of mẽnes hert being therby the better knowẽ/ men shulde the moare feruently thyrst the commynge of Christ/ whych shulde redeame them from their synnes: As it was fygured vnto the Jewes by many ceremonyes/ hostes/ and sacrifices: which were ordeyned of God/ not to thyntent to take awaye synnes/ but to shew & declare ẏ they shulde be put awaye by fayth in ẏ saluacio promesed thorou Christ: and which now are put awaye by the commynge of that Christ/ which is the verye hoste of the father that taketh awaye all synne.

Last of all by the bokes of the newe Testamẽt

we are taught/ that ẏ Christ whych was promesed & shadowed in the olde Testament/ is sent of ẏ father/ at soch tyme as he had determyned wyth hymselfe/ at soche tyme (I saye) as all wyckednes florysshed. And that he was sent not for any mans good workes (for they all were synners) but to thyntent that he wolde truly shewe the aboundant ryches of his grace/ which he had promesed.

In the newe testament therfore it is most euydently declared/ that Jesus Christ the true lambe & hoste/ is come to thyntent to reconcyle vs to the father/ paying on the crosse the punyshment due vnto our synnes: and to delyuer vs from the vondage of the deuel (vnto whom we serued through synne) and to make vs the sonnes of God/ syth he hath geuẽ vs the true peace and tranquyllytie of conscience/ that we no longer do feare the paynes of hell: which feare is put awaye by ẏ fayth/

confydence & assuraunce/that the father geueth vs drawyng vs vnto his sonne. For that fayth is the gyft of God/wherby we beleue that Christ is come in to this worlde to saue synners: which is of so great pyth that they which haue it/delyre to performe all ỹ duties of loue to all men/after the example of Christ. For fayth ones receaued God geueth hys holy ghost/wherwith he tokeneth and marcketh all that beleue: which is the pledge and earnest that we shal surely possesse euerlastynge lyfe/ and that geueth wytnesse vnto our spyrete/and graffeth this fayth in vs/that we be the sonnes of God: powryng therwyth ỹ loue in to our hertes which Paul describeth and setteth oute to *the corynthians. By that faith and confydence in Christ which by loue is myghtye in operacyon/ and that sheweth it selfe thorow the workes of loue/sterryng men therto/by that (I saye) we are Justyfied: that is/by that fayth/Christes father(which is become oures also thorou that Christ our brother)conuteth vs for ryghtwes & for his sonnes: imputynge not oure synnes vnto vs/ thorou his grace.

To conclude/he came to thyntent that we beyng cleansed from our synnes/ and sanctyfied vnto God the father: ỹ is/ halowed vnto the vse of the father to exercyse good workes/renyinge & forsaking the workes of the flesh/ shulde freely serue him in rightwelnes & holynes all oure lyfe longe: thorou good workes which God hath ordeyned to thyntent that we shulde walcke in them/ declaryng our selues therby to be surely called vnto thys grace: which workes who soeuer hath not/declareth that he hath not fayth in Christ.

Vnto whom we must come/& folow hym with a chearfull hert/ that he maye instruct & teache vs: for he is our master/meake & humble of hert: he is oure example of whom we must learne the rule of good lyuyng: further/ he is our prest/hye bishop/and onely mediator: which now sytteth on the ryght hande of God the father/ is our aduocate/ & prayeth euer for vs: which wyll vndouted obtayne what soeuer we desyre/ether of hym/or of hys father in his name: yf we beleue that he wyl do it when we requere it: For so hath he promesed. Let vs therfore not doute/although we come tyme synne/ wt a confydẽce to come vnto hym/and with a lyuyng & vndoutyng fayth/that we shal obtayne mercye. For therfore came he to thyntent to saue synners: nether requereth he any thing moare of vs/then to come vnto him wyth oute feare.

This is that Christ Jesus/which after he hath kylled the man of synne with the breath of his mouth/shall syt in hys mayestye and Judge all men/geuyng vnto euery one the workes of hys bodye/accordynge to that he hath done/whether it be good or badde: And that shall saye vnto them that shalbe on his ryght hande. Come ye blessed chyldren of my father/ inheret ye the kyngdome prepared for you from the begynnynge of the worlde: And vnto them that shalbe on hys left hand/ Departe from me ye curled/ in to euerlastinge fyre: which is prepared for the deuell and his aungels. Then shal the ende come & he shal delyuer vp ỹ kingdome to God the father.

To thyntent that we shulde knowe thys/by the goodnes of God worckynge by his holy spyrete/ are the holy wrytynges of the Byble geuen vs: That we shulde knowe (I saye) and beleue that there is one God/and Jesus Christ whom he hath sent: and that in beleuyng we shulde haue euerlastynge lyfe thorow hys name.

Another foundacyon then this can no man laye. And saynt Paul desyreth that he be holden a curssed which preacheth any other fayth & saluacyon/then onely by Jesus Christ: yee al thoughe it were an angel of heauē.

For of hym/and thorou hym/and for hym/ are all thynges: to whom/ wyth the father and the holy ghost/be honour and glorye for euer moare. Amen.

¶ To the moost noble and gracyous

Pryncе Kyng Henry the eyght/kyng of England and of Fraunce/ Lorde of Ireland &c. Defender of the faythe: and vnder God the chefe and supreme head of the church of Engeland.

IT hath bene vsed of olde auncyent custome (most redoubted and prudent Pryncе) to dedycate soche bokes as men put forth in to lyght (whether they be made of their awne industrye and proper wyttes / or translated forthe of one language in to another) to some noble Pryncе/ Kynge or Emperour / or otherwyse excellent in byrth or renowne: to thyntēt that the worck myght frelyer and boldelyer be occupyed in the hādes of men/as a thynge hauyng sauecondet & beyng put in to the tuicyon of the Pryncе/ vnto whom it is offred & dedycate. This custome not onely auncіēt but also laudable / haue youre syngular and rare gyftes in worldly regyment/and the vertuous and Godly moderacion of mayntenynge true preachers for the inducynge of your symple subiectes to the syncerytie and purenes of Chrystes Gospell: with the other many folde and syngular vertues / wherwyth the Pryncе of Prynces hath indued your hyghnes/encoraged me to enbrace. For vnto whom or in to whose protectyon shulde the defence of soche a worck be soner cōmytted (wherin are contayned the infallyble promeses of mercy in the olde testament prefygured & in the newe fulfylled / wyth the whole summe of Chrystyanitye) then vnto his maiestye/ which not onely by name and tytle/but most euydently & openly/ most Chrystenly & wyth most Godly pollicye/dothe profesſe the defence therof?

The want of lernynge/The obscurenes & lownes of byrth / The lack of youre graces knowledge &c. shuld haply haue vtterly forbydden me/to haue interprysed the dedycacion herof to so puyssaunt a Pryncе: But the experience of youre graces benygnytye / wherthroughe youre prayse is renoumed and hyghly magnifyed/euen amōge straungers and alyentes/not alone amōge your awne subiectes/The Godly moderacion of youre heuenly polycye/ wherwith ye suppresse superstycyon and mayntene true holynes/ inflameth me to some part of boldenes: Specyally syth the thyng which I dedycate is soch as your grace studyeth dayly to forther. In which studye & endeuoure he cōtynewe you/whych hath moued you to so holesoms a purpose: and geue the same dylygence vnto other Chrystен Prynces and forren potentates/that he hath breathed & instyled in to your breaste.

For the cheafe & pryncypall thyng appartaynynge to Prynces & nobles (which thyng it is good to se that youre grace doth well consyder) is: to defende/forther/set oute & augment the knowledge of God. Moses ỹ faythfull seruaunt of the Lorde/prophecying by ỹ spyrete ỹ Israel shulde haue a Kynge/cōmaunded: that he ones set on ỹ seat of his kyngdome/shulde reade the seconde lawe (meanynge the boke of Deuteronomye) all the dayes of his lyfe: to thyntent that he myght learne to feare the Lorde his God/for to kepe all the wordes of his lawe & ordynaunces/and that he shulde not returne from the commaundement ether to the right hand or to the left. He perceaued/vndouted that yf the Pryncе him selfe were so affectuously anymated vnto the keppynge of the lawe/as he is there expressly cōmaunded: it shulde not a lytell inflame hym to an ardent and burnyng zeale of settyng out Goddes glorye/in forthervnge the thynges in that lawe expressed: And knewe what wholsome and Godly lawes soche a kynge wolde indeuoure hym selfe to enstablyshe/ by which the lawe of God myght the better be obserued/& the largelyer and forther spryngе a broade: And saw right well that soch a Pryncе coulde not but will his subiectes to reade & folowe all the poyntes of that lawe/which he him selfe was so strayghtly bounde both to kepe & reade. Further in that he willeth the Kynges of Israel/not ones to swarue from the lawe of the Lorde ether to the ryght hande or to the left/he instructeth them/to fulfyll the worde of God playnly/purely/without puttyng to or takynge therfrom/without superstycion: not to be exalted thorou prosperytye / ner deiecte in aduersytye: to cleaue and leane vnto the worde of God in tyme of glorye & renowne/and in tyme of dishonoure and ignomynie: to amplyfye ryghtwesnes & to loue veritye: Which thingꝫ lene in ỹ nobylytie/ adde no smal spurre vnto the cōmens to imitate & folow the same. Yee they so worck in ỹ hertes of the noble/that they be enforced what by ensample of lyfe / & by pollytyke ordynaunces to ỹ ble inuented/to allure soche as be vnder their subiectyō to ỹ performaunce nuolueth any man what chaũge may fall. But for ỳ fortunate & prosperous estate of this oure tyme (so farre as concerneth thys youre graces Reaulme) are hyghe and vnceassable thanckes to be genen vnto the Lorde of Lordes: which hath dealt somercyfully wyth the inhabytaunntes therof/ as to sende them a Prynce that contynually studyeth to se the enryched in all poyntes of true godlynes. Who so remayneth vnthanckfull herein/ is not alone vngodly but also wretched. For soche a Prince as geueth no care vnto ỳ inchauntementes of false preachers is one of the greatest gyftes of God/ & soch a worldly blessyng to a comen wealth as requyreth an earnest thanck esgeuynge therfore.

That Hezekiah and Josiah were vnto Israel/ the same is youre grace vnto ỳ Reaulme of England: yee the godly haue greate hope that youre prayse shalbe farre aboue theirs. They vphelde the verytye & true worshyppynge of God/ but onely for their awne tymes. Your graces wysdome/ illumyned of God/ shall (we trust) so fyrmely stably she the trade of Godlynes in your lyfe tyme/ that it shall neuertheleſſe florysh after your deceasse. Youre deuyne gouernaunce/ no lesse fortunate than polytyque/ putteth vs in hope of soch a redresse as shalbe permanent and durable/ and so suerly grounded/ that the wont suggelyng & venemous persuasions of false preachers shall not be so noysome vnto youre posterytes as they haue bene vnto the former age. This hope haue the godly euẽ of forren & straunge nacyons in youre graces goodnes/ moch moare they of your awne reaulme. So moche confidence haue they conceaued by your former actes/ wherthrough youre grace hath so exceadyngly profyted this affayre. The euerliuyng Lord so prospere youre begonne purpose vnto soch effect/ that the thinge may be contynually which ye haue begone: And so streacth oute his myghty hande and worcke so strõgely in you/ that no stoarme of false Prophetes (the very destroyers of Princes and Realmes) maye hereafter be able to extynct the lyght/ whych now in your graces dayes hath begonne to shyne: And double vnto you the addycyõ of yeares that was geuen vnto Hezekiah/ ouer and aboue those that ye shulde naturally lyue/ that ye maye the better accomplysh your moast godly intent: And enspyre soch streames of grace in to youre breast/ that you perseuerynge vnto the ende/ maye leaue behynde you this testymonye of glorye: that ye haue truly defended the pure fayth of Christ/ mayntayned his holy worde/ suppressed superstycyon/ deleate & put awaye Idolatrye/ ended the blasphemy of false Prophetes/ & brought youre reaulme vnto the true trade of godlynes.

And blesse you at thys present wyth a sonne/ by youre moost gracyous wyfe Quene Jane/ which mayp rosperously & fortunately raygne/ & folowe the godly steppes of his father: And after your grace shall geue place to nature/ and forsake thys mortall lyfe/ graunte you the rewarde of that vnspeakable and celestyall hope/ whych no eye hath sene/ no eare hearde/ nor can ascende into the herte of man. So be it.

Youre graces faythfull & true subiect

¶ Is the bees orygently do gather together swete flowers/to make by naturall craft the swete honny: so haue I done the pryncypall sentences conteyned in the Byble. The whych are ordened after the maner of a table/for the consolacyon of those whych are not yet exercysed & instructed in the holy Scripture. In the which are many harde places as well of the olde as of the newe Testament exponnded/gathered together/concorded/and compared one wyth another: to thintent that the prudent Reader (by the spryte of God) maye beare aware pure and cleare vnderstandynge. Wherby euery man (as he is bounde) maye be made ready/stronge and garnysshed to answere to all them that aske hym a reason of hys fayth. This is also profytable for the partyculars and generall exhortacyons whych we make to certayne personages or cōmune people: & for to answere truly to Heretykes/& to confounde the aduersaries of the worde of God. And for the more easely to fynde the matters desyred (because that disorder engendreth confusyon) I haue proceded after the order of an Alphabete: to thyntente that none be deprysed of so precyous a treasure: the whych ye shall vse to the honoure and glorye of God/and to the edyfynge of hys Churche. Canaan also begat Zidon his eldest sonne & Heth/ Jebusi/ Emori/ Girgosi/ Hym/ Arki/ Sini/ Aruadi/ Zemari & Harmati. And afterward spradge the kynreds of the Cananytes. And the costes of the Cananytes were from Sydon tyll thou come to Gerara & to Asa/ & tyll thou come to Sodoma/ Gomorra/ Adama/ Zeboim/ euẽ vnto Lasa. These were the chyldren of Ham in their kynredes/ tonges/ landes and nacyons.

And she answered: I flee from my mastresse Sarai. And the Angell of the Lorde sayde vnto her: returne to thy mastresse agayne / & submytte thy selfe vnder her handes.

C And the angell of the lorde sayde vnto her: I wyll so encrease thy seed / that it shall not be nombred for multytude. And the Lordes angell sayde further vnto her: se / thou art wt̄ chylde & shalt bere a sonne / & shalt call hys name Ismael: because the lorde hath herde thy trybulacion. He wyll be a wylde man / & hys hāde wyll be agenst euery man / & euery mans hande agenst hym. And yet shall he dwell faste by all his brethrē. And she called the name of the Lorde that spake vnto her: thou art ꝑ God ꝑ lokest on me / for she sayd: I haue of a suertie sene here ꝑ [c] backe partꝭ of hym ꝑ seeth me. After these dedes/ God dyd* proue Abraham & sayde vnto hym: Abraham. And he answered: here am I. And he sayde: take thy[a] only sonne Isaac whome thou louest/ & get the vnto the lāde Moria/ & sacrifyce him there for a sacrifyce vpō one of the moūtayns whych I wyll shewe the. Than Abrahā rose vp early in the morynge & sadled his asse/ & toke two of his meyny wyth hym/ & Isaac his sonne: & cloue wod for the sacrifyce/ & rose vp & gott him to the place whych God had appoynted hym.

a. Only sonne for only beloued or moost chefly beloued aboue other/ after the Ebrew phrase as in the prouer. iij. a.

The thyrde daye Abrahā lyfte vp his eyes & sawe the place a farre of/ & sayde vnto his yong mē: byde here wyth the asse. I & the lad wyll goo yonder and *worshyppe and come agayne vnto you. And Abraham toke the wodd of the sacrifyce & layde it vpon Isaac his sonne/ & toke fyre in his hāde & a knyfe. And they went both of them together.

* To worshyp is here to do sacrifyce.

B Than spake Isaac vnto Abraham his father & sayde: My father? And he answered here am I my sonne. And he sayde: Se here is fyre and wodd/ but where is the shepe for sacrifyce? And Abraham sayde: my sonne/ God wyll prouyde hym a shepe for sacrifyce. So went they both together.

And whē they came vnto the place whych God shewed hym/ Abraham made an aulter there & dressed the wodd/ & bownde Isaac his sonne & *layde him on the aulter/ aboue vpō the wodd. And Abraham stretched forth hys hande/ & toke the knyfe to haue kylled hys sonne. Than the angell of the Lorde called vnto hym frō heauē sayinge: Abraham Abraham? And he answered: here am I. And he sayde: laye not thy handes vpō the chylde/ neither do any thyng at all vnto him/ for now I [b] knowe that thou fearest God/ in that thou hast not kepte thyne only sonne frō me. And Abrahā lyfted vp hys eyes & loked aboute: and beholde/ there was a ram caught by the hornes in a thykette. And he wēt & toke the ram and offred hym vp for a sacrifyce in the steade of his sonne. And Abraham called the name of the place/ the Lorde wyll see: wherfore it is a comen sayinge thys daye: in the mounte wyll the Lorde be sene.

¶ Sara dyeth & is buryed in the felde that Abraham bought of Ephron the Hethite.

¶ The .xxiij. Chapter.

A Sara was an hundred & .xxvij. yere olde (for so longe lyued she) & than dyed in a heade cyte called Hebron in the lande of Canaã. Than Abraham came to morne Sara/ and to wepe for her. And Abraham stode vp from the coorse/ & talked wyth the sonnes of Heth sayinge: I am a straunger & a forayner amõge you/ geue me a possessyon to burye in wyth you/ that I may bury my dead out of my syght. And the chyldren of Heth answered Abraham saying vnto hym: Heare vs Lorde/ thou art a prynce of God amonge vs. In the chefest of oure sepulchres bury thy dead: None of vs shall forbyd the hys sepulchre/ that thou shuldest not
B bury thy deade theryn. Abraham stode vp/ and bowed hym selfe before the people of the lande the chyldren of Heth. And he comonde with thẽ sayinge: If it be youre myndes that I shall bury my deade out of my syght/ heare me and speke for me to Ephron the sonne of Zoar: and let hym gyue me the dubbyll caue which he hath in the ende of hys felde/ for as moche money as it is worth/ let hym geue it me in the presence of you/ for a possessyon to burye in. For Ephron dwelled amonge the chyldren of Heth.

Than Ephron the Hethite answered Abraham in the audyẽce of the chyldrẽ of Heth & of all that went in at the gates of hys cyte/ sayinge: Not so my lorde/ but heare me: The felde geue I the/ & the caue þ therin is geue I the also: & euẽ in the presence of the sonnes of my people geue I it the to bury thy deede

Than Abraham bowed hym selfe before the people of þ lande/ & spake vnto Ephrõ in the audiẽce of the people of the cõtre saying: I praye the heare me/ I wyll geue syluer for the felde/ take it of me/ & so wyll I bury my deed there. Ephron answered Abrahã saying vnto hym: My lorde / harken vnto me. The lande is worth .iiij. hundred sycles of syluer: but what is that betwyxte the and me? bury thy deede. And Abrahã harkened vnto Ephrõ & weyde him the syluer which he had sayde in the audyẽce of the sonnes of Heth. Euen .iiij. hundred syluer sicles of currãt money amõge
D marchauntes. Thus was the felde of Ephrõ where in the dubbyll caue is before Mamre: euen the felde & the caue that is therin & all the trees of the felde whyche growe in all the borders rounde about/ made sure vnto Abraham for a possessyon/ in the syght of the chyldren of Heth/ & of all that wẽt in at the gates of the cyte. And then Abraham buryed Sara hys wyfe in the double caue of the felde that lyeth before Mamre/ otherwyse called Ebrõ in the lande of Canaan. And so both the felde and the caue that is therin / was made vnto Abraham a sure possessyon to bury in/ of the sonnes of Heth.

¶ Abraham maketh hys seruant to swere/ & sendeth him to seke a wyfe for Isaac his sonne. The seruant was faythfull and brought Rebecca/ whych Isaac toke to his wyfe.

¶ The .xxiiij. Chapter.

A Braham was olde and stryken in dayes/ & the Lorde had blessed him in all thynges. And he sayde vnto his eldest seruaunte of his house whych had the rule ouer all þ he had: [a] Put thy hande vnder my thye that I maye make the swere by the Lorde that is God of heauẽ & God of the erth / that thou shalt not take a wyfe vnto my sonne/ of the daughters of the Canaanytes/ amonge whych I dwell. But shalt goo vnto my contre and to my kynred/ and there take a wyfe vnto my sonne Isaac.

Than sayde the seruaunte vnto him: what & yf the womã wyll not agree to come wyth me vnto this lande/ shall I bryng thy sonne agayne vnto the lãde which thou camest out of? And Abrahã sayde vnto him: bewarre of that/ that thou bryng not my sonne thyther. The Lorde God of heauẽ which toke me frõ my fathers house & from the lande where I was borne/ & whych spake vnto me & sware vnto me sayinge: vnto thy‡ seed wyll I geue this lãde/ he shall sende his angell before the that thou mayst take a wyfe vnto my sonne frõ thence. Neuertheles yf the womã wyll not agree to come with the thã shalt thou be with out daũger of this ooth. But aboue all thing bryng not my sonne thyther agayne. And the seruaũt put his hand vnder the thye of Abrahã & sware to him as cõcernynge þ matter. dryncke also/ ꝑ same is she that thou hast ordened for thy seruaunte Isaac: yee & therby shall I knowe ꝑ thou hast shewed mercy on my master. And it came to passe yer he had left speakynge/ that Rebecca came out/ the daughter of Bethuell/ sonne to Milca the wyfe of Nahor Abrahams brother/ and hyr pytcher vpō hyr shoulder: The damsell was very fayre to loke vpon/ & yet a mayde and vnknowen of man. And she went downe to the well and fylled hyr pytcher and came vp agayne. Then the seruaunte ranne vnto her and sayde: let me suppe a lytle water of thy pytcher. And she sayde: dryncke my lorde.

And she hasted and late downe her pytcher vpō hyr arme & gaue hym dryncke. And whē she had geuen him dryncke/ she sayde: I wyll drawe water for thy camels also/ vntyll they haue dronke ynough. And she poured out hyr pitcher in to ꝑ trough hastely/ & rāne agayne vnto the well/ to fett water: & drewe for all his camels. And the felowe wondred at her. But helde hys peace/ to wete whether the Lorde had made hys yourney prosperous or not. And as ꝑ camels had lett drynckyng/ he toke a [b] goldē caryng of halfe a licle weght/ & two bracelettes for hyr handes/ of .x. licles weyght of gold/ and sayde vnto her: Whose doughter art thou: tell me: is there rowme in thy fathers house for vs to lodge in? And she sayde vnto him: I am the doughter of Bathuel the sonne of Milcha whych she bare vnto Nahor: and sayde moreouer vnto hym: we haue litter and prauonder ynough/ and also rowme to lodge in.

And the man bowed hym selfe/ & [c] worshipped the Lorde/ & sayde: blessed be ꝑ Lorde God of my master Abraham whych ceasseth not to deale mercyfully & truly wyth my master/ & hath brought me the waye to my masters brothers house. And the damsell rāne & tolde thē of her mothers house these thinges. And Rebecca had a brother called Laban.

And Laban rāne out vnto the man/ to the well: for as soone as he had sene the earinges & the bracelettes vpon hys systers handes/ & heard the wordes of Rebecca his syster sayīg thus sayde the man vnto me/ than he wēt out vnto the man. And loo/ he stode yet wyth the camels by the well syde. And Laban sayde come in thou blessed of the Lorde. Wherfore stondest thou without? I haue dressed the house/ and made rowme for the camels. And than the man came into the house: and he vnbrydled the camels: & brought lytter & prauōder for the camels/ and water to washe hys fete & their fete that were wyth him/ & there was meate sett before hym to eate. But he sayde: I wyll not eate/ vntyll I haue sayde myne earende. And he sayde: saye on. And he sayde: I am Abrahās seruaunt/ & the Lorde hath [d] blessed my master out of measure/ ꝑ he is become greate/ & hath geuē hym shepe/ oxen/ syluer & golde/ menseruauntes/ mayde seruauntes/ camels & asses. And Sara my masters wyfe bare him a sonne/ whē she was olde: & vnto hym hath he geuē all ꝑ he hath. And my master made me swere saying: thou shalt not take a wyfe to my sonne amōge the doughters of the Cananytes in whose lande I dwell. But thou shalt go vnto my fathers house and to my kynred/ & there take a wyfe vnto my sonne. And I sayde vnto my master: what yf the wyfe wyll not folowe me? And [e] he sayde vnto me: The Lorde before whome I walke/ wyll sende his angell with the/ and prospere thy iourney that thou shalt take a wyfe for my sonne/ of my kynred & of my fathers house. But & yf (when thou comest vnto my kynred) they wyll not geue ꝑ one/ than shalt thou bere no perell of myne oothe.

And I came this daye vnto ꝑ well & sayde: O Lorde/ the God of my master Abrahā/ yf it be so ꝑ thou makest my iourney which I go/ prosperous: beholde I stonde by this well of water/ and when a virgyn cometh forth to drawe water/ & I saye to her: geue me a lytle water of thy pitcher to drynke/ and she saye agayne to me: drynke thou/ and I wyll also drawe water for thy camels: that same is the wyfe whom the Lorde hath prepared for my masters sonne.

And before I had made an ende of speakynge in myne harte: beholde Rebecca came forth/ & hyr pitcher on hyr shulder/ & she wēt doune vnto the well & drewe. And I sayde vnto her: geue me drynke. And she made hast/ & toke doune hyr pitcher frō of hyr/ and sayde: drynke/ & I wyll geue thy camels drynke also. And I dranke/ & she gaue ꝑ camels drynke also. And I asked her sayīg: whose doughter art thou? And she answered: the doughter of Bathuel Nahors sonne/ whom Milca bare vnto him. And I put ꝑ earyng vpō hyr face & the bracelettes vpō hyr handes. And I bowed my selfe/ & [*] worshepped the Lorde/ & blessed the Lorde God of my master Abrahā which had brought me the ryght waye/ to take my masters brothers doughter vnto hys sonne. Now therfore yf ye wyll deale [c] mercyfully and truly with my master/ tell me: and yf not tell me also: ꝑ I may turne me to the [f] ryght hand or to the left.

Than answered Laban & Bathuel sayīg: The thyng is proceded euē out of the Lorde/ we can not therfore say vnto the/ ether good or bad: beholde Rebecca before thy face/ take her & goo/ and let her be thy masters sonnes wyfe/ euē as ꝑ Lorde hath sayde. And Jacob stale awaye the hert of Laban the Syrien/ in ꝑ he tolde hym not ꝑ he fled. So fled he & all that he had/ & made hym selfe redy/ & passed ouer the ryuers/ & set his face streyght toward the mounte Gilead.

Upon the thyrde day after/ was it told Laban ꝑ Jacob fled. Than he toke his brethrē wt hym & folowed after hym. vij. dayes iourney/ & ouer toke him at the mounte Gilead.

D And God came to Laban the Syrian in a dreame by nyght/ & sayd vnto him: take hede to thy selfe / that thou speake not to Jacob ought saue good. And Laban ouer toke Jacob: & Jacob had pitched his tēte in ꝑ moūte. And Laban wt his brethrē pitched their tēte also vpō the mounte Gilead. Than sayde Laban to Jacob: Why hast thou thys done to steale awaye my hert / and carye awaye my doughters as though they had bene take captyue wt the swerde? Wherfore wentest thou awaye secretly vnknowne to me/ and dydest not tell me/ ꝑ I myght haue brought the on the waye wt myrth/ syngyng/ tymrels & harpes/ & hast not suffred me to kisse my chyldrē & my daughters? Jacob answered & sayde to Labā: because I was afrayed/ & thought that thou woldest E haue take awaye thy doughters fro me. But with whome soeuer thou fyndest thy godes/ let him dye here before oure brethren. Seke that thyne is by me/ & take it to ꝑ: for Jacob wyst not ꝑ Rahel had stolen thē. Than went Laban in to Jacobs tēte/ & into Leas tēte/ & in to. ij. maydēs tentes: but founde thē not. Than went he out of Leas tente/ & entred in to Rahels tēte. And Rahel toke the ymages & put thē in the camels strawe/ & sate doune vpon thē. And Laban serched all the tēte: but founde thē not. Than sayde she to hyr father: my lorde/ be not angry that I can not ryse vp before the/ for the desease of women is come vpō me. So serched he/ but founde thē not.

Jacob was wroth/ & chode with Laban. Jacob also answered and sayde to him: what haue I trespaced or what haue I offended/ ꝑ thou folowedest after me? Laban answered & sayde vnto Jacob: the doughters are my doughters/ & the chyldren are my chyldren/ & the shepe are my shepe/ & all that thou seist is myne. And what can I do this daye vnto these my doughters/ or vnto their childrē which they haue borne? Now therfore come on/ let vs make a bonde/ I and thou to gether/ & let it be a witnesse betwene the & me. Than toke Jacob a stone and set it vp an ende/ and sayde vnto his brethren/ gather stones. And they toke stones/ & made an heape// & they ate there vpō the heape. And Laban called it Jegar Sahadutha/ but Jacob called it Gilead.

Than sayde Laban: this heape be* wytnesse betwene ꝑ & me this daye (therfore is it called Gilead) & this totehyll which ꝑ Lorde seeth (sayde he) be wytnesse betwene me and the when we are departed one frō another: that thou shalt not vexe my doughters nether shalt take other wyues vnto them. Here is no man with vs: beholde/ God is witnesse betwirte the and me. And Laban sayde more ouer to Jacob: beholde/ this heape and thys marke which I haue set here/ betwirte me & the: this heape be wytnesse & also this marke that I wyll not come ouer this heape to the/ & thou shalt not come ouer this heape & this marke to do any harme. A ¶ The.xl. Chapter.

And it chaūced after this / that the chefe butlar of the kynge of Egypte and hys chefe baker had offended theire lorde the kynge of Egypte. And Pharao was angrie wyth thē and put thē in warde in hys chefe marshals house: euen in the prison where Joseph was bownd. And the chefe marshall gaue Joseph a charge with them / and he serued them. And they contynued a season in warde.

And they dreamed ether of them in one nyghte: both the butlar and the baker of the kynge of Egypte which were bownde in the
B prison house / ether of them his dreame / and eche mannes dreame of a sondrie interpretacion. When Joseph came in vnto them in the mornynge / & loked vpon them: beholde / they were sadd. And he asked them sayinge / wherfore loke ye so sadly to daye? They answered him / we haue dreamed a dreame / & haue no man to declare it. And Joseph sayd vnto thē. Interpretynge belongeth to God but tel me yet. And the chefe butlar tolde his dreame to Joseph and sayde vnto hym. In my dreame me thought there stode a vyne before me / & in the vyne were .iii. braunches / and it was as though it budded / and her blossoms shott forth: & the grapes there of waxed rype. And I had Pharaos cuppe in my hande / and toke of the grapes & wronge them in to Pharaos
C cuppe / & delyuered Pharaos cuppe in to his hande. And Joseph sayde vnto hym / this is ỳ interpretacio of it. The .iii. braūches are thre dayes: for wythin thre dayes shall Pharao lyft vp thyne heade / and restore the vnto thyne office agayne / & thou shalt delyuer pharaos cuppe in to his hande / after the old maner / euen as thou dydest when thou wast hys butlar. But thynke on me wt the / when thou art in good case / & shewe mercye vnto me. And make mencion of me to Pharao / & helpe to bryng me out of thys house: for I was stollen out of the land of the Hebrues / & here also haue I done nothing at all wherfore they shulde haue put me in to thys dongeon. Whē the chefe baker sawe that he had well interpretate it / he sayde vnto Joseph / me thought also in my dreame / that I had .iii. wyker basketes on my heade. And in the vppermost basket of all maner bakemeates for Pharao. And the byrdes ate them out of the basket vpon my head.

Joseph answered and sayde: this is the interpretacio therof. The .iii. basketes are .iii. D dayes / for thys daye .iii. dayes shall Pharao take thy heade from the / and shall hange the on a tree / and the byrdes shall eate thy flesh from of the.

And it came to passe the thyrde daye which was Pharaos * byrth daye / that he made a * Mat. xiiij. a

And restored the chefe buttelar vnto hys buttelarshippe agayne / and he reched the cuppe in to Pharaos hande / and hāged the chefe baker: euē as Joseph had interpretated vnto them. Notwythstōdyng the chefe buttelar remembred not Joseph / but forgat him.

¶ The.xli. Chapter.

And it fortuned at .ij. peres ende / ỳ Pharao dreamed / & thought that he stode by a ryuers syde / and that there came out of the ryuer. vii. goodly kyne & fatt fleshed / and fedd in a medowe / and hym thought that .vii. other kyne came vp after them out of the ryuer euelfauored and leane fleshed & stode by the other vpon ỳ brynke of the ryuer. And the euyll fauored & leane fleshed kyne: ate vp ỳ .vii. wel fauored and fatt kyne: and he awoke therwith. And he slepte agayne and dreamed the second tyme / that .vii. yeares of corne grewe vpō one stalke rācke & goodly. And that .vii. thynne eares blasted wt the wynde / sprange vp after them: & that the .vii. thynne eares deuowred the .vii. rancke and full eares. And thā Pharao awaked: & se / here is his dreame B
When the mornynge came / his spyrite was troubled. And he sent and called for all the sothesayers of Egypte & all ỳ wyse mē therof / and told them his dreame: but there was none none of thē that coulde interpretate it vnto Pharao. Than spake the chefe buttelar vnto Pharao saying. I do remēbre my fawte this daye. Pharao was angrie w̄ his seruauntes/ & put in warde in the chefe marshals house both me & the chefe baker. And we dreamed both of vs in one nyght & ech mānes dreame of a sondrye interpretacion.

And there was wyth vs a yonge man / an Hebrue borne/seruaūte vnto the chefe marshall. And we told him / and he declared oure dreames to vs acordynge to ether of oure dreames. And as he declared them vnto vs/ euen so it came to passe. I was restored to myne office agayne/ and he was hanged.

Than Pharao sent and called Joseph. And they made him haste out of * prison. And he shaued him self and chaunged his raymēt/ & wēt in to Pharao. And Pharao sayd vnto Joseph: I haue dreamed a dreame & no man can interpretate it/ but I haue herde saye of the ỹ as soone as thou hearest a dreame / thou doste interpretate it. And Joseph answered Pharao sayinge: God shall geue Pharao an answere of peace without me. Pharao sayde vnto Joseph: in my dreame me thought I stode by a ryuers syde/ and there came out of the ryuer. vij. fatt fleshed and well fauored kyne/ and fedd in the medowe. And then. vij. other kyne came vp after them/ poore & very euell fauored & leane fleshed: so that I neuer sawe their lyke in all the lande of Egypte in euell fauordnesse. And the. vij. leane & euell fauored kyne ate vp the fyrst. vij. fatt kyne. And when they had eaten thē vp a mā coulde not perceaue that they had eaten them: for they were still as euill fauored as they were at ỹ begynnynge. And I awoke. And the thynne eares deuowred the. vij. good eares. And I haue tolde it vnto the sothsayers/ but no man can tell me what it meaneth. Then Joseph sayd vnto Pharao: both Pharaos dreames are one. And god doth shewe Pharao what he is aboute to do. The vij. good kyne are. vij. yeres: and the. vij. good eares are seuen yere also / and it is but one dreame. Likewyse/ the. vij. thynne & euell fauored kyne that came out after thē / are. vij. eares: & the. vij. emptie & blasted eares shalbe vij. yeares of hunger. Thys is that which I sayde vnto Pharao/ ỹ God doth shewe Pharao what he is aboute to do.

Beholde there shall come. vij. yere of great plenteousnes thorough out all the lande of Egypte. And there shall aryse after them. vij. yeres of hunger. So ỹ all the plenteousnes shalbe forgeten in the lande of Egypte. And the hunger shall consume the lande: so that ỹ plenteousnes shall not be once seene in the land by reason of that hūger that shall come after/ for it shalbe exceadinge great. And as cōcernynge that the dreame was doubled vnto Pharao the second tyme / it betokeneth ỹ the thynge is certanly prepared of God/ and that God wyll shortly bringe it to passe.

Now therfore let Pharao prouyde for a man of vnderstondyng & wysdome / and sett hym ouer the lande of Egypte. And let Pharao make officers ouer the lande / & take vp the fyfte parte of the lande of Egypte in the vij. plenteous yeres & let thē gather all the foode of these good yeres that come/ & lay vp corne vnder the power of Pharo / that there may be foode in the cyties/ and there let thē kepte it: that there may be foode in store in the lande / agaynst the. vij. yeres of hunger which shall come in the land of Egypte/ and that the lande perishe not thorow hunger.

And the sayinge pleased Pharao & all his seruaūtes. Than sayde Pharao vnto his seruauntes: where shall we fynde soch a mā as thys is/ that hath the spyrete of God in hym? wherfore Pharao sayde vnto Joseph: for as moch as God hath shewed the all this/ there is no man of vnderstondynge or of wysdome lyke vnto the. And they cryed before hym a Abrech/ & ỹ Pharao had made him ruelar ouer all ỹ land of Egypte.

And Pharao sayde vnto Joseph: I am Pharao/ without thy wyll/ shall no man lyfte vp ether hys hand or fote in all ỹ land of Egypte. And he called Josephs name b Zaphnath Paena. ¶ The childzen of Jacob are nõbzed. The new Pharao oppzesseth thẽ. The acte of the godly mydwiues.

¶ The fyrst Chapter.

* Gene.xlvi.b

THese are the names of the * chyldzẽ of Jsrael/whych came to Egypte with Jacob/ euery man with his housholde: Ruben/ Simeon/ Leui/ Juda/ Jsachar/ Zabulon/ Beniamin/ Dan/ Nephtali/ Gad & Aser. All these soules that came out of the loynes of Jacob were. lxx. & Joseph was in Egypte all redie. Whẽ Joseph was dead & all his bzether & all ỳ generatiõ: the * childzẽ of Jsrael grewe/ encreased multiplied & waxed enceading myghtie: so that the lande was full of them.

* Act.vij.c
Psal.cxiij.c

Then there rose vp a new kyng in Egypte which knewe not Joseph. And he sayde vnto his folke: beholde the people of the childzẽ of Jsrael are moo and mightier than we. Come on/ let vs playe wisely with them: lest they multiplie/ and then (yf there chaunce any warre) they ioyne them selues vnto oure enmies and fyghte ageynst vs/ and so gete thẽ out of the lande.

And he sette taskemasters ouer them/ to kepe them vnder with burthens. And they bylte vnto Pharao treasure cities: Phiton & ¶ Rameses. But the mozе they vexed thẽ/ the moare they multiplied & grewe: so ỳ they abhozred the childzen of Jsrael. And the Egyptians helde the childzen of Jsrael in bondage without mercie/ and made their lyues bitter vnto them with cruell laboure in claye and bzicke/ and all maner wozke in the feldes/ & in all maner of seruice/ which they caused them to wozke cruelly.

And the kynge of Egypte sayde vnto the mydwiues of ỳ Ebzuesswomen/ of which the ones name was Sephoza & ỳ other Phua: whẽ ye do ỳ office of a mydwife to ỳ womẽ of the Ebzues & se in the bzyth tyme that it is a boye/ kyll it. But yf it be a mayde/ let it lyue

D Notwithstõding the mydwiues feared God & dyd not as the kinge of Egypte commaunded them: but saued the men childzen.

Then the kynge of Egypte called foz the midwiues and sayd vnto them: why haue ye delt on this maner and haue saued the menchildzen? And the mydwiues answered Pharao/ that the Ebzues wemẽ were not as the wemen of Egypte: but were sturdie women/ and were delyuered yer the midwyues came at them. And God therfoze delt well with the midwyues. And the people multiplied and wared very mightie. And because the mydwiues feared God/ he a made them houses.

a. He made them houses: that is/ he encreased & multiplyed them/ & made housholdes of them: geuynge thẽ both husbandes and chyldzẽ/ as in Gene.xxj.a.

Thã Pharao charged all his people sayng

¶ Moses is bozne and cast into the flagges. He is take vp of Pharaos daughter. He kylleth the Egyptian. He flyeth & marryeth a wyfe. The Jsraelites crye vnto the Lozde.

¶ The seconde Chapter.

ANd ther wẽt a man of * ỳ house of Leui. And toke a daughter of Leui. And ỳ wyfe conceaued & bare a sonne. And whẽ she sawe ỳ it was a pzopze childe/ she hyd hym thze monethes lõge. And whẽ she coude no longer hyde him she toke a basket of bulrusshes & dawbed it wt slyme & pytche/ & layd ỳ child therin/ & put it in ỳ flaggs by ỳ riuers bzynke. And his sister stode a ferre of/ to wete what wold come of it. * And the doughter of Pharao came doune to ỳ riuer to washe her selfe/ & hir maydens walked a longe by the riuers syde. And when she sawe the basket amonge the flagges/ she sent one of hir maydes & caused it to be fet. And when she had opened it she sawe the childe. & behold/ the babe wepte. And she had compassion on it and sayde: it is one of ỳ B Ebrues childzen. Then sayde his sister vnto Pharaos doughter: shall I go and call vnto the a nurse of the Ebzues wemẽ/ to nurse ỳ childe? And ỳ mayde rãne & called ỳ childs mother. Then Pharaos doughter sayde vnto her. Take this chylde awaye and nurse it foz me/ & I wyll rewarde ỳ foz thy laboure. And ỳ womã toke the childe/ & nursed it vp.

And when the childe was growne/ she bzought it vnto Pharaos doughter/ and it was made hir sonne/ & she called it a Moses/ because (sayde she) I toke him out of the water. And it happened in these dayes whẽ Moses was waxte great/ that he went out vnto his bzethzen and loked on their burdens/ & spied an Egyptian smytynge one of his bzethzen an Ebzue. And he loked round aboute and when he sawe that there was no man by/ he b slewe the Egyptian and hyd him in the sonde. And he went out a nother daye: & beholde/ two Ebzues stroue to gether. And he sayde vnto him that dyd the wzonge: wherfoze smytest thou thine neyghboure? And he answered: who hath made the a ruler oz a iudge ouer vs? intendest thou to kill me/ as thou killedst the Egiptian? Then Moses feared and sayde: of a suertie the thinge is knowne. ¶ The .xij. Chapter

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aarō in the land of Egypt saying: Thys moneth shall be youre chefe moneth: euē of the fyrst moneth of the yere shall it be vnto you. Speake ye vnto all the felowshyp of Israel sayinge: That they take the .x. daye of this moneth to euery housholde/ a shepe. If ꝑ housholde be to few for a [a] shepe/ then let hym and his neyghboure that is nexte vnto his house/ take accordinge to the nombre of the soules/ & counte vnto a shepe accordynge to euery mans eatynge. A shepe without spot & a male of one yere olde shall it be/ and from amōge the lambes and the gootes shall ye take it.

a. That is here called a shepe is in Ebrew a worde indifferent to be take ether for shepe or gote.

And ye shall kepe hym in/ vntyll the .xiiij. daye of the same moneth. And euery man of the multitude of Israel shall kyll him about euē. And they shall take of the blood & strike it on the .ij. side postes & on the vpperdoore poste of ꝑ houses/ wherin they eate hym. And they shall eate the flesh the same nyght/ rost with fyre & w̄ vnleuended brede/ & w̄ sowre herbes they shall eate it. See that ye eate not therof rawe ner soden in water/ but rost with fyre: both ꝑ head/ fete/ & purtenāce to gether. And se that ye let nothyng of it remayne vnto the morning: yf ought remayne burne it w̄ fyre.

b. The lambe was called the passeouer: that the very name it selfe shulde kepe in memorye what was signyfyed ther by/ which phrase & maner of speakinge the scripture vseth often/ callynge the signe by the name of the thynge that it sygnyfieth/ as Gene. xvi. b.

Of this maner shall ye eate it: with youre loynes gyrded/ & shoes on youre fete/ & your staues in your handes. And ye shall eate it in haste/ for it is the Lordes [b] passeouer/ for I wyll go aboute in the lande of Egypte thys same nyght/ & wyll smyte all the fyrstborne in the lande of Egypte/ both of man & beast/ & vpon all the Goddes of Egypte wyll I the Lorde do execution. And the blonde shall be vnto you a token vpon the houses wherin ye are/for whē I se the bloude/I wyll passe ouer you/& the plage shall not be vpon you to destroye you/when I smyte the land of Egypt.

And this daye shall be vnto you a remembraūce/& ye shall kepe it holy vnto the Lorde: euen thorow out youre generacyōs after you shall ye kepe it holy daye/that it be a custome forsuer. Seuē dayes shall ye eate vnleuēded bread/so that euen the fyrst daye ye shall put awaye leuē out of youre houses. For whosoeuer eateth leuended bread frō the fyrst daye vntyll the.vii. daye/that soule shall be plucked out from Israel.* The fyrst daye shalbe a holy feast vnto you/& the.vij.also. There shal be no maner of worcke done in them/saue about that only which euery man must eate that only may ye do. And se that ye kepe you to vnleuended breed. For vpō that same daye I wyll bringe youre armyes out of the lande of Egypte/therfore ye shall obserue this daye & all youre chyldren after you/that it be a custome for euer. The fyrst moneth & the.xiiij. daye of the moneth at euē/ye shall eate swete breed vnto the.xxj. daye of the moneth at euē agayne. Seuē dayes se that there be no leuēded bread founde in youre houses. For whosoeuer eateth leuended bread/that soule shalbe roted out frō the multytude of Israel: whether he be a straunger or borne in the lande. Therfore se that ye eate not leuended bread/but in all youre habitacyōs eate swete bread.

And Moses called for the elders of Israel & sayde vnto them: chose out & take to euery housholde a shepe/& kyll passeouer. And take a bunch of yssope/& dyppe it in the bloud that is in the basyn/and stryke it vpon the vpper poste & on the.ij. syde postes/& se that none of you go out at the doze of hys house vntyll the mornyng. For the Lorde wyll goo aboute & smyte Egypte. And when he seyth the bloud vpon the vpper doorposte & on the two syde postes/he wyll[d] passe ouer the dooze/and wyll not suffre the destroyer to come in to youre house to plage you. Therfore se that thou obserue this thynge/that it be an ordynaūce to the & thy sonnes for euer.

And when ye be come in to the lande which ỹ Lorde wyll geue you accordyng as he hath promysed/se that ye kepe thys seruyce.* And when youre chyldren axe you what maner of seruyce is this ye do? Ye shall saye: it is the sacrifice of the Lordes passeouer/which passed ouer the houses of the chyldren of Israel in Egypte/as he smote the Egyptyans & saued oure houses. Than the people bowed themselues & worshypped. And the chyldrē of Israel went/and dyd as the Lorde had cōmaunded Moses & Aaron.

E And at mydnyght the Lorde smote all the fyrstborne in the lande of Egypt: frō the fyrst borne of Pharao that satt on his seat/vnto ỹ fyrst borne of the captyue ỹ was in prysone/& all the fyrst borne of catell. Than Pharao arose the same nyght & all hys seruauntes & all the Egyptiās:* & there was a great crieg thorow out Egypte/for there was no house where there was not one deed.

And he called vnto Moses and Aaron by nyghte sayng: Ryse vp/& get you out from amonge my people: both ye & also the chyldrē of Israel/& go & serue the Lorde as ye haue sayde. And take youre shepe & youre oxen ẏ you as ye haue sayde/& departe & [a] blesse me also. And the Egyptians were fierce vpon the people/& made haste to send them out of the lande: for they sayde: we be all deed men.

And the people toke the dough before it was sowered whyche they had in stoare/and bounde it in clothes/& put it vpō their shoulders. And the chyldrē of Israel dyd accordyng to the saying of Moses: and they borowed of the Egyptyans iewels of syluer/& iewels of gold/& raymēt. And the Lorde gat the people fauour in the syghte of the Egyptyās: and so they borowed & robbed the Egyptyans.

Thus toke the childrē of Israel their journey frō Rameses to[+] Suchoth. vj. hundred thousand men of foote/beside chyldren. And moch comon people went also with thē/and shepe/& oxen/& catell exceading moche. And they baked swete cakes of the dough whiche they brought out of Egypte/for it was not sowered: because they were thrust out of Egypte & coulde not tarye/nether had they prepared any other prouysyon of meate.

And the tyme of the dwellynge of the chyldren of Israel which they dwelled in Egypte/was.iiij.hundred & xxx. yere. And when the iiij.hundred & xxx. yeres were expyred/euen the selfe same daye departed all the hoostes of the Lorde out of the lande of Egypt. This is a nyght to be obserued to the Lorde/because he brought them out of the lande of Egypte. Thys is a nyghte of the Lorde to be kepte of all the chyldren of Israel and of their generacyons after them.

¶ The .xxix. Chapter.

A THis is the thynge that thou shalt doo vnto them whē thou halowest them to be my preastes. Take one ore & two rāmes that are wythout blemyth/and vnleuended bred and cakes of swete bred tempered wyth oyle & wafers of swete bred anoynted wyth oyle (of whete floure shalt thou make them) & put thē in a maūde and bringe them in the maunde with the ore and the .ij. rammes.

And bringe Aaron and hys sonnes vnto the doore of the tabernacle of wytnesse / and wasch thē with water/ & take the garmentes/ and put vpon Aaron: the strayte cote/ and the tunycle of the Ephod/ and the Ephod and the brestlappe: & gyrd thē to hym with the broudered gyrdell of ỹ Ephod. And put the mytre vpon his heed and put the holy crowne vpō the mytre. Then take the anoyntynge oyle and poure it vpon his heed and anoynte him And bringe hys sonnes and put albes vpon B them/ and gyrd them wyth gyrdels: as well Aaron as his sonnes. And put the bonettes on them ỹ the preastes office maye be theirs for a perpetuall lawe.

And fyll the handes of Aaron and of hys sonnes/ and bringe the ore before the tabernacle of wytnesse. *And let Aaron and hys sonnes put their handes vpō hys heed & kyll him before the Lorde in the doore of the tabernacle of wytnesse. And take of the bloude of the ore and put it vpō the hornes of the alter wyth thy fynger & poure all the bloude vpō the botome of the alter/ and take all the fatt that couereth the inwardes/ & ỹ kall that is on the lyuer and the .ij. kydneys with the fatt that is vpon them: and burne them vpō the alter: But the flesh of the ore and his skynne and hys donge shalt thou burne wyth fyre without the hoste. For it is a synneofferyng.

*Leuiti. i. b

Then take one of the rammes/ & let Aarō and hys sonnes put their hondes vpon the heade of the ram/ & cause hym to be slayne/ and take of his bloude and sprenkell it rounde aboute vpon the alter / and cutt the ram in peces and wasch the inwardes of him and his legges/ & put them vnto the peces & vnto his heed/ and burne the hole ram vpon the alter. For it is a burnt offerynge vnto the Lorde/ & a swete sauoure of the Lordes sacrifice.

a. What a swete sauoure is/ ye shall fynd in Leui. i. c. and Ezech. xx. k.

And take the other ram and let Aaron & his sonnes / put their hondes vpon hys heed and lett hym than be kylled. And take of hys bloude & put it vpon the typpe of the ryghte eare of Aaron and of hys sonnes / and vpon the thombe of their ryghte handes and vpon the great too of their ryghte fete & sprenkell the bloude vpon the alter rounde aboute.

Then take of the bloude that is vpon the alter and of the anoyntynge oyle/ and sprenkell it vpon Aaron and his vestimentes/ and vpon his sonnes and vpon their garmentes also. Then is he and his clothes holy and his D sonnes and their clothes holye also.

Then take the fatt of the ram and hys rompe & the fatt that couereth the inwardes and the kall of the lyuer & the two kydneys

Then take it from of their handes & burne it vpō the alter: euē vpō the burntoffrynge/ to be a sauoure of swetnesse before the Lord. For it is a sacrifyce vnto the E Lord. Thē take ẏ brest of ẏ ram ẏ is Arōs fulloffrynge and waue it a waueoffryng before the Lorde/& lett that be thy parte. And sanctifye the brest of the waueoffrynge and the shoulder of the heueoffrynge whyche is waued and heued vp of the ram whiche is ẏ fulloffrynge of Arō and of his sonnes. And it shalbe Arōs & his sonnes dutye for euer/ of the chyldren of Israel/ for it is an heueoffrynge. And the heueoffryng shalbe ẏ Lords dutye of ẏ chyldrē of Israel: euē of the sacrifyce of their peaceoffryngs which they heue vnto ẏ Lord. And ẏ holye garmētes of Arō shalbe hys sonnes after hym/ to anoynte thē therin/ and to fyll their handes therin. And that sonne ẏ is preast in his stede after him/ shall put them on seuen dayes: that he goo in to the tabernacle of wytnesse/ to mynistre in the holye place.

Then take the ram ẏ is the fulloffrynge & sethe his flesh in an holye place. And Aaron and his sonnes shall eate the flesh of hym/ &

If oughte of the flesh of the fulloffrynges or of the bred remayne vnto the morynge/ thou shalt burne it with fyre: for it shall not be eaten/ because it is holye. And it shalbe a continuall burntoffrynge amonge youre chyldren after you/ in the doore of the tabernacle of wytnesse before the Lorde/ where I wyll mete you to speke vnto you there. There I wyll mete w the chyldren of Israel/ and wylbe sanctifyed in myne honoure. And I wyll sanctyfye the tabernacle of wytnesse & the alter: & I wyll sanctifye also both Aaron and hys sonnes to be my preastes. And moreouer I wyll dwell amonge the chyldren of Israel & wylbe their God. And Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: se / thou saydest vnto me: leade this people forth / but thou shewest me not whom thou wylt send with me. And of the iacyncte/ scarlet/ purple and twyned bysse/ they made ỹ vestymentes of mynystracyon to do seruyce in that holy place/ & made the holy garmētes that pertayned to Aarō/ as the Lozde commaunded Moses.

And they made the Ephod of gold/ iacincte scarlet/ purple/ and twyned bysse. And they dyd beate ỹ golde in to thynne plates/ & cutte it into wyres: to wozke it in ỹ iacincte/ scarlet/ purple & the bysse/ with bzoderd wozke. And they made the sydes come to gether/ and clooled them vp by the two edges. And the bzodzyng of the gyrdell that was vpō it/ was of the same stuffe & after the same wozcke of golde/ iacincte/ scarlet/ purple and twyned bysse/ as the Lozde commaunded Moses.

B And they wzought Onix stones clooled in ouches of golde & graued as sygnettes are grauen with the names of the chyldzē of Israel/ & put thē on the shoulders of the Ephod that they shulde be a remembzaunce of the chyldzen of Israel/ as the Lozde commaunded Moses.

C And they made the bzestlappe of connyng wozke/ after the wozke of the Ephod: euē of golde/ iacincte/ scarlet / purple and twyned bysse. And they made it .iiii. square & double/ an hande bzeadeth long & an hande bzeadeth bzode. And they put the two chaynes of gold in ỹ .ij. rynges/ in the cozners of the brestlappe. And the two endes of the two chaynes they fastened in the two hokes/ and put them on the shoulders of the Ephod vpon the fozefront of it.

And they made two other rynges of golde and put thē on the two other cozners of the brestlappe a lōge vpō the edge of it/ toward the inside of the Ephod that is ouer agaynst it. And they made yet two other golde rynges/ & put them on the two sides of the Ephod/ beneth on the fozeside of it: euē where ỹ sides go together/ aboue vpon the brodzyng of the Ephod/ & they strayned the brestlappe by his rynges vnto the rynges of the Ephod/ wyth laces of iacincte/ that it myght lye fast vpon the brodzynge of the Ephod/ & shulde not be lowsed from of the Ephod: as the Lozde commaunded Moses.

Thus was all the wozke of the habitaciō of the tabernacle of witnesse fynyshed. And the chyldzen of Israel dyd accozdynge to all that the Lozde had cōmaunded Moses. And they brought the habitaciō vnto Moses: the tent & all his apparell therof: the buttones/ boozdes/ barres/ pylers & sockettes: and the G couerynge of rams skynnes red/ & the couerynge of taxus skynnes/ & the hāgyng vayle/ & the arcke of witnesse with the staues therof/ and the mercyseate: the table & all the ozdinaunce therof/ and the shewbzed/ & the pure candelstycke/ and the lampes prepared thervnto with all the vessels therof/ and the oyle foz lyghtes/ and the golden altare/ and the anoyntynge oyle and the swete cens/ and the hangynge of the tabernacle dooze/ & the braszen alter/ and the gredyzen of brasse longyng thervnto wyth hys barres and all hys vessels/ and the lauer with his fote/ and the hangynges of the courte with his pylers and sockettes/ & the hanging to the courte gate/ his boozdes & pynnes/ & all the ozdynaunce that serueth to the habitacyō of the tabernacle of witnesse/ and the mynystringe vestymentes to serue in the holy place/ and the holy vestymentes of Aaron the preast and hys sonnes raymentes to mynystre in: accozdynge to all that the Lozde commaunded Moses: euē so the chyldzē of Israel made all the wozke. ¶ The Preastes are appoynted to iudge who are Lepers.

¶ The.xiij.Chapter.

AND the Lorde spake vnto Moses & vnto Aaron saying: when there appeareth a[a] rysing in any mans flesh ether a scabbe or a glistring white: as though the plage of leprosye were in the skynne of his flesh/ then let hym be brought vnto Aaron the Preaste or vnto one of hys sonnes the Preastes/ & let the Preast loke on the sore ỹ is in the skynne of hys flesh. If the hayre in ỹ soore be turned vnto whyte/ & the sore also seme to be lower then the skynne of his flesh/ then it is surely a lepresye/ & let the Preast loke on hym/ & iudge hym vnclene.

If there be but a whyte plecke in ỹ skynne of his flesh/ and seme not to be lower then the other skinne nor ỹ hayre therof is turned vnto whyte: then let the Preast shut him vp seuē dayes. And let the Preast loke vpon hym the viij. daye: yf the sore seme to him to abyde styll & to go no further in the skynne / then let the Preast shutt him vp yet. vij. dayes moo. And let the Preast loke on hym agayne the. vij. daye. Then yf the soore be waxed blacke sh/ & is not growen abrode in the skynne / let the Preast make him clene/ for it is but a skyrf. And let hym washe his clothes/ & then he is clene. But & yf the scabbe growe in ỹ skynne after that he is sene of the Preast agayne. If the Preast se ỹ the scabbe be growen abrode in the skynne/ let him make him vnclene: for it is surely a lepresye.

a. The lepre signifyeth properly mannes doctrine/ whyche spreadeth abroade lyke a canker: & to be short all infection of vngodlynes/ therfore must the Leuytes geue dylygent hede ther to: for a lytell leuen soureth the whole lompe of doughe.

If ỹ plage of lepresye be in a mā/ let hym be brought vnto the Preast/ & let the Preast se hym. If the ryssynge appeare whyte in the skynne/ & haue also made the hayre whyte/ & there be rawe flesh in the sore also: then it is an olde lepresye in ỹ skynne of his flesh. And the Preast shall iudge him vnclene/ and shall not shutte hym vp for he is vnclene. B

If a lepresye breake out in the skynne and couer all ỹ skynne frō the heed to the foote ouer all whersoeuer the Preast loketh/ then let the Preast loke vpon hym. If the lepresye haue[b] couered all his flesh/ let hym iudge the disease clene: for in as moche as he is altogether whyte he is therfore cleane. But and yf ther be rawe flesh on him whē he is sene/ then he shalbe vncleane. Therfore when ỹ Preast seeth the rawe flesh / let hym iudge hym vnclene. For in as moch as his flesh is rawe / he is vnclene & it is surely a true lepresye. But & yf the rawe flesh departe agayne & chaūge vnto whyte/ then let him come to the preest/ & let the Preast se hym: If the soore be chaunged vnto whyte/ let the Preast iudge the disease cleane/ and then he is cleane.

b. Couered all his flesh. &c.

¶ Here is that called a leper which yet is none in dede/ but semyth to be one: where as the rotnesse of humoures breking forth into the vtter partes all the body ouer/ is called a leper/ and yet must it be iudged to be cleane.

When there is a byle in the skynne of any mans flesh & is healed & after in the place of the byle there appeare a whyte rysing ether a shynynge whyte somwhat redysh/ let hym be sene of ỹ Preast. If when the Preast seyth hym it appeare lower than the other skynne & the hayre therof be chaūged vnto white/ let the Preast iudge hym vncleane: for it is a very lepresie/ that is broken out in the place of the byle. But & yf when the Preast loketh on it there be no whyte hayres therin nether the scabbe lower then the other skynne & be somwhat blackelsh/ then the Preast shall shutt hym aparte. vij. dayes. If it sprede abrode in the meane season / then let the Preast iudge hym vnclene: for it is a lepresye. But & yf the glystrynge whyte abyde styll in one place & go no further/ then it is but the prynte of the byle / & the Preast shall iudge hym cleane. D

wyth fyre that it be rawe & there appere in ỹ burnyng a glystryng whyte that is somwhat redyth or altogether whyte / let the Preast loke vpõ it. If the hayre in that bryghtnesse be chaunged to whyte / and it also appeare lower then the other skynne / then it is a leprosye that is broken out of the place of the burnyng. And the Preast shall iudge hym vncleane / for it is a lepprosye. But and yf (when the Preast loketh on it) he se that there is no whyte hayre in the bryghtenesse / & ỹ it is no lower then the other skynne / & that it is also blackelh / then let the preast shut him vp seuẽ dayes. And yf (whẽ the Preast loketh on him the seuenth daye) it be growen abrode in the skynne / let hym iudge hym vncleane: for it is a lepprosye. But & yf that bryghtnesse abyde styll in one place & go no further in ỹ skynne & be blackesh / then it is but a rysyng in the place of the burnynge / and the Preast shall make hym cleane: for it is but the prynte of the burnynge only.

¶ When ether man or woman hath a breakyng out vpon the heed or the beerde / let the preast se it. And yf it appeare lower than the other skynne / & ther be therin golden hayres & thyn / let ỹ Preast iudge hym vncleane / for it is a breakyng out of lepprosye vpõ the heed or berde. If (when the Preast loketh on the breakynge out) he se that it is no lower then the other skynne & ỹ there are blacke hayres therin / let hym shut hym vp. vij dayes. And let ỹ Preast loke on the dysease the. vij. daye: & yf the breakyng out be gone no forther nether be any golden hayres therin nether the scabbe be lower then the other skynne / then let him be shauen / but lett him not shaue the scabbe: & let ỹ preast shut him vp vij. dayes moo. And let the preast loke on the breakung out ỹ. vij. daye agayne: If the breakyng out be gone no further in the skynne nor moare lower then ỹ other skynne / then let ỹ preast iudge hym cleane / and let hym washe hys
F clothes / & then he is cleane. If the breakyng out growe in the skynne after that he is once iudged cleane / let the Preast see him. If it be growne abrode in dede in the skynne / let the preast seke no further for any goldẽ hayres / for he is vncleane. But and yf he se that the scabbe stande styll / & ỹ there is blacke hayre growne vp therin / then the scabbe is healed & he is cleane: & the Preast shall iudge hym cleane. If there be founde in ỹ skynne of the flesh of man or woman a glysteryng whyte / let the Preast se it. If there appeare in their flesh a glysteryng whyte somwhat blackesh / then it is but frekels growẽ vp in ỹ skynne: and he is cleane.

If a mãs hayre fall of his heed / then he is heedbaulde & cleane. If his hayre fall before in his forheede / then he is forheedbalde & cleane. If there be in ỹ baulde heed or baulde forheed a redysh white scabbe / then there is lepprosye spronge vp in hys baulde heed or baulde forheede. And let the preast se it: and yf the rysynge of the sore be reddysh whyte in his baulde heede or forheede after ỹ maner of a lepprosie in the skynne of the flesh / then he is a leper & vncleane: & ỹ Preast shall iudge him vncleane / for the plage of his heed. And G the leper in whome the plage is / shall haue his clothes rẽt & his heede bare & his mouth moffeld / & shalbe called vncleane. And as lõg as the disease lasteth vpon him / he shalbe vncleane: for he is vncleane / and shall therfore dwell alone / & euẽ without the host shall hys habitacyon be.

¶ When the plage of lepprosye is in a cloth: whether it be lynẽ or wollen / ye & whether it be in the warpe or wolfe of the lynẽ or of the wollen: ether in a skynne or any thing made of skynne / yf the dysease be pale or somwhat redysh in the cloth or skynne: whether it be in the warpe or wolfe or any thynge ỹ is made of skynne / then it is a very lepprosye / & must be shewed vnto ỹ preast. And whẽ the preast seyth ỹ plage / let him shut it vp. vij. dayes / & let hym loke on ỹ plage the. vij. daye. If it be increased in ỹ cloth: whether it be in ỹ warpe or wolfe or in a skynne or in any thinge that is made of skynne / then ỹ plage is a freating lepprosye / & it is vncleane: & that cloth shalbe burnt / ether warpe or wolfe / whether it be wollen or lynẽ or any thynge that is made of skynne where in the plage is / for it is a freatynge lepprosye / & shalbe burnt in the fyre. If ỹ preast se ỹ the plage hath freatẽ no further in the cloth: ether in ỹ warpe or wolfe or in whatsoeuer thyng of skynne it be / then let the preast cõmaunde thẽ to washe ỹ thynge wherin the plage is / & let hym shut it vp. vij. dayes moo. And let ỹ preast loke on it agayne after ỹ the plage is washed. If ỹ plage haue not chaũged his facion though it be spred no further abrode / it is yet vncleane. And se ỹ ye burne it in ỹ fyre / for it is freat inward: whether in parte or in all to gether. But & yf the preast se ỹ it is somwhat blackysh after that it is washed / let him rẽt it out of the cloth / or out of the skynne or out of ỹ warpe or wolfe. But & yf it appeare any moare in the cloth ether in the warpe or in the wolfe or in any thynge made of skynne / then it is a waxinge plage. And se ỹ ye burne that wt fyre / wherin the plage is. Forseuer ỹ cloth ether warpe or wolfe or whatsoeuer thing of skynne it be which thou hast washed & the plage be departed frõ it / shalbe washed once agayne: & then it is cleane. This is ỹ lawe of ỹ plage of lepprosie in a cloth whether it be wollẽ or linẽ: ether whether

AND the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: *this is the lawe of a leper when he shalbe clensed: He shalbe brought vnto the Preast / and the Preast shall go out without the hoste & loke vpon him. If the plage of leprosye be healed in the leper / then shall the Preast cõmaunde that there be brought for hym that shalbe clensed two lyuynge byrdes that are cleane / and cedar wood / & a pece of purple cloth and yssope. And the Preast shall cõmaunde ỹ one of the byrdes be killed in an erthen vessell wt rennyng water. And the Preast shall take ỹ lyuyng byrde & the cedar wodd & the purple & the yssope / & shall dyppe thẽ & the lyuynge byrde in the bloude of the slayne byrde / & in the rẽnyng water & sprynkle it vpõ him that must be clensed of hys leprosye seuen tymes and clense hym / & shall let the lyuynge byrd goo fre in to the feldes.

B And he ỹ is clensed shall washe his clothes & shaue of all his hayre / & washy him selfe in water / & then he is cleane. And after that he shall come into ỹ hoste / but shall tarye without his tent. vij dayes. When the seuenth daye is come / he shall shaue of all his hayre bothe vpon his heade & his berde & on his browes: & euẽ all the hayre ỹ is on him / shalbe shauẽ of. And he shall washe his clothes & his flesh in water / and then he shalbe cleane.

And when ỹ .viij. daye is come / let him take ij. lambes without blemysshe & a yewelambe of a yere olde without blemysh / and iij. tenth deales of fyne floure for a meatoffring myngled with oyle / and a a logge of oyle. And let the Preast take one of the lambes & offer him for a trespaceoffringe / & the logge of oyle: and waue them before the Lorde. And then let him slee the lambe in the place where the synneoffringe & the burntoffryng are slayne: euẽ in the holy place. For as the synneoffryng is / euẽ so is the trespace offring the Preastes: for it is mooste holy.

a. A logge of oyle is a certayn measure contaynyng. vi. egges / in Greke Sextarius.

C Then let the Preast take of the bloud of ỹ trespaceoffring / & put it vpõ the typpe of the ryght eare of him that is clensed / & vpon the thombe of hys ryghte hande / & vpõ the great too of hys ryghte foote. Then let the Preast take of the logge of oyle / & poure it in to the palme of hys lefte hande / & dyppe hys ryght fynger in the oyle ỹ is in ỹ palme of his left hand / & let him sprynkle it wt his fynger. vij. tymes before the Lorde. And of the rest of the oyle that is in hys hande / shall the preast put vpõ the typpe of ỹ righte eare of hym ỹ is clensed / & vpon the thombe of hys ryghte hande / & vpõ the great too of his righte fote: euen vpon the bloud of the trespaceoffringe. And the remnaunte of the oyle that is in the Preastes hande / he shall poure vpõ the heed of hym that is clensed: & so shall the Preaste make an attonemẽt for him before ỹ Lorde.

Then let the Preast offer the synneoffring & make an attonemẽt for him that is clensed for his vnclennesse. And then let ỹ burntoffrynge be slayne / & let the preast put both the burntoffryng & the meatoffryng vpõ the alter: & make an attonemẽt for hym / & then he shalbe cleane. If he be poore & can not gett so moch / then let hym bringe one lambe for a trespaceoffryng to waue it & to make an attonemẽt for him / & a tẽth deale of fyne floure myngled wt oyle for a meatoffring / & a logge of oyle / & two turtyll doues or two yoũge pigeons whiche he is able to gett / & let the one be a synneoffryng & ỹ other a burntoffring. And let hym brynge thẽ the .viij. daye for his clensyng vnto the Preast to ỹ doore of the tabernacle of witnesse before the Lorde. D

And let the Preast take the lambe that is the trespaceoffryng & the logge of oyle / and waue them before the Lorde. And when the lambe of the trespaceoffrynge is killed / the Preast shall take of the bloud of the trespace offryng / & put it vpõ the typpe of his ryghte eare that is clensed / & vpon the thombe of his righte hande / and vpon the greate too of hys ryght foote. And the Preast shall poure of the oyle into hys ryghte hande / & shall sprynkle with his fynger of the oyle that is in hys lefte hande seuen tymes before the Lorde.

And the Preast shall put on the oyle that is in his hande (vpõ the typpe of the righte eare of hym that is clensed / & vpon the thombe of his ryghte hande / & vpon the great too of his righte foote: euẽ in the place where the bloude of the trespaceoffring was put. And the reste of the oyle that is in his hand / he shall poure vpon the heed of hym that is clensed: to make an attonemẽt for hym before the Lorde. And he shall offer one of the turtyll doues or of ỹ yoũge pigeons / soche as he can gett: the one for a synne offerynge & the other for a burntoffryng vpõ the alter. And so shall the Preast make an attonemẽt for hym that is clensed before the Lorde. This is the lawe of hym that hath the plage of leprosye / whose hande is not able to gett that whych pertayneth to hys clensynge.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aarõ saying: when ye be come vnto the lande of Ca C

And the Pzeast shall cõmaunde them to ryd all thyng out of the house/before the Pzeast goo in to se the plage: that he make not all that is in the house vncleane / and then the pzeast shall go in & se the house.

And let ỹ pzeast come agayne the seuẽth daye & se it: yf the plage be increased in the walles of the house/let the Pzeast cõmaunde them to take awaye the stones in which the plage is/and let them cast them in a foule place without the citie/ & scrape the house within rounde about: & poure out the dust without the cytye in a foule place. And let them take other stones/& put them in the places of those stones/and other mozter/and plaster the house with all. If now the plage come agayne & breake out in ỹ house/after that they haue takẽ awaye the stones & scraped the house/& after that the house is playstered anewe: let the Pzeast come & se it. And yf then he perceaue that the plage hath eatẽ further in the house/then it is a fretynge lepzosye that is in the house/ & it is vncleane. Then they shall breake doune ỹ house: both stones/tymbze & all the mozter of the house/ & carye it out of the citye vnto a foule place. And he that slepeth in the house shall washe his clothes/& he also that eateth in the house shall washe hys clothes.

G But and yf the Pzeast come & se that the plage hath spzede no further in the house after ỹ it is new plastered/then let him make it cleane/foz the plage is healed. And let hym take to clense the house with all: two byzdz/ cedar wodd/ & purple clothe & yssope. And let hym kyll one of the byzdes in an erthẽ vessell with runnyng water: & take the cedar wodd/ the yssope/the purple & the lyuyng byzde/and dyppe them in the bloude of the slayne byzde & in the runnyng water/& sprynkle vpon the house seuen tymes/ & clense the house with the bloud of the byzde & with ỹ runnyng water/& with the lyuyng byzd/& with the cedar wodd/and the yssope/ and the purple clothe. And he shall lett the lyuynge byzde flee oute of the towne in to the wylde feldz/ & so make an attonement foz the house / and it shalbe cleane. This is the lawe of all maner plage of lepzosye & breakyng out/ & of the lepzosye of clothe and house: and of rysinges/scabbes and glysterynge whyte / to teache when a thyng is vncleane oz cleane. This is ỹ lawe of lepzosye.

¶ The.xxvi.Chapter.

I Am the Lord youre God. Ye shall make you no ydolles nor grauen ymage / nether reare you vp any pyler / nether ye shall sett vp any ymage of stone in youre land to bowe youre selues therto: for I am the Lorde youre God: kepe my Sabbothes & a feare my sanctury: for I am the Lorde. A

a. To feare the sanctuaries / dylygently to performe the true worshyppyng & seruyce of God / to leue of no thynge / to obserue and kepe the purenes. both of bodye & mynde / verely & not ypocrytelike to beleue that he knoweth / beholdeth / doeth & ruleth all thynges: to beware of offendynge hym and with all feare B and dylygence to walke in the pathes of his lawes.

If ye shall walke in myne ordinaunces & kepe my cōmaundementes & do them / then I will sende you rayne in the ryght season & youre lande shall yelde her encrease and the trees of the felde shall geue their frute. And ỹ threshyng shall reach vnto wyne harueste / & the wyneharueste shall reach vnto sowyng tyme / and ye shall eate youre bread in plenteousnes / & shall dwell in youre lande peasably. And I wyll sende peace in youre land / that ye shall slepe / and no man shall make you a frayde.

And I wyll rydd euell beastes out of youre lande / and there shall no swerde goo thorowe out youre lande. And ye shall chace youre enemyes / & they shall fall before you vpon the swerde. And fyue of you shall chace an hundred / & an hundred of you shall put .x. thousande to flyghte / & youre enemyes shall fall before you vpon the swerde. And I wyll tourne vnto you and encrease you & multyplye you / and sett vp my testament with you And ye shall eate olde stoare / and cast out ỹ olde for plenteousnes of the newe.* I wyll make my dwellynge place amonge you / and my soule shall not lothe you. And I will walke amonge you and wylbe youre God / and ye shalbe my people. For I am the Lord youre God / whiche brought you out of the land of the Egyptcians / that ye shulde not be their bondemen / and I brake the bowes of youre yockes / and made you go vp ryghte.

God begineth & augmenteth his plages moare and moare as the people harden their hertes agenste him.

And yf ye wyll not yet for all this herken vnto me/then will I punish you seuē tymes more for youre synnes/and wyll breake the pryde of youre strength. For I wyll make ỹ heauen ouer you as harde as yron/ & youre lande as hard as brasse. And so youre laboure shalbe spent in vayne. For youre land shall not geue her encrease/nether the trees of the lande shall geue their frutes.

And yf ye walke contrary vnto me and wyll not herken vnto me/I wyll bryng seuen tymes moo plages vpon you accordinge to youre synnes. I will sende in wilde beastes vpon you / which shall robbe you of youre chyldren and destroye youre catell / & make you so fewe in nombre ỹ youre hye wayes shall growe vnto a wyldernesse.

D And yf ye wyll not be lerned yet for all this but shall walke cōtrarye vnto me/then wyll I also walke contrarye vnto you and wyll punysh you yet c seuē tymes for youre synnes. I wyll sende a swerde vpō you/that shall auenge my testament with you. And when ye are fled vnto youre cyties / I wyll sende the pestilence amonge you/ye shall be delyuered in to the hādes of youre enemyes. And when I haue b broke the staffe of youre bread: that .x. wyues shall bake youre bread in one oue and men shall delyuer you youre bread agayne by weyghte/then shall ye eate and shall not be satisfied.

c. Seuen tymes: by that nombre vnderstande all tymes / as in this Chapter.

b. To breake the staffe of their breade/ is/to breake the strēght therof and to mynishe hyt so that they shuld not haue ynowghe to lyue by.

And yf ye wyll not yet for all this herkē vnto me/but shall walke cōtrarye vnto me/ then I wyll walke contrarye vnto you also wrathfully and wyll also chastice you seuen tymes for youre synnes: so that ye shall eate the flesh of youre sonnes & the flesh of youre daughters. And I will destroye youre alters bylt vpon hye hylles/and ouerthrowe youre E ymages/ and cast youre carkasses vpon the bodyes of youre ydolles / and my soule shall abhorre you. And I wyll make youre cyties desolate/and bryng youre sanctuaries vnto nought/ and will not smell the sauoures of youre swete odoures.

And I wyll bryng the lande vnto a wyldernesse: so that youre enemyes which dwell therin shall wondre at it. And I will strawe you amōge the hethen / and wyll drawe out F a swerde after you / and youre lande shalbe waste / and youre cyties desolate. Then the lande shall reioyse in her Sabbothes / as longe as it lyeth voyde and ye in youre enemyes lande: euen then shall the lande kepe holye daye and reioyse in her Sabbothes. And as longe as it lyeth voyde it shall rest/ for that it coulde not reste in youre Sabbothes/ when ye dwelt therin.

And vpon them that are left alyue of you I wyll sende a fayntnesse in to their hertes in the land of their enemyes: so ỹ the sounde of a leef that falleth/ shall chace them & they shall flee as though they fled a swerde / and shall fall no man folowinge them. And they shall fall one vpō another/as it were before a swerde euen no man folowynge them/and ye shall haue no power to stāde before youre enemyes: And ye shall perysh amonge the hethen/and the land of youre enemyes shall eate you vp.

And they that are left of you / shall pyne awaye in their vnryghteousnes/euē in their enemyes lande/and also in the myldeades of their fathers shall they consume. And they shall confesse their mysdeades and the myldeades of their fathers in their trespaces which they haue trespaced agaynst me/& for ỹ also ỹ they haue walked cōtrary vnto me. G Therfore I also wyll walke contrary vnto them/and wyll bryng them in to the lande of their enemyes. And then at the leest waye their vncircumcysed hertes shall be tamed/ and then they shall make an attonement for their myldeades.

And I will remembre my bonde with Jacob and my testament wyth Isaac / and my testament with Abraham / and wyll thynke on the lande. For the lande shall be lefte of thē and shall haue pleasure in her Sabbothes/whyle she lyeth wast without them / & they shall make an attonemēt for their mysdeades/because they despysed my lawes and their soules refused myne ordinaunces. And yet for all that when they be in the lande of their enemye/* I wyll not so cast thē awaye nor my soule shall not so abhorre them/that I wyll vtterlye destroye them and breake myne appoyntment with them: for I am the Lorde their God. I wyll therfore remembre vnto them the fyrst couenaunt made when I brought them out of the lande of Egypte in the syght of the hethen to be their God: for I am the Lorde.

AND the Lorde ſpake vnto Moſes ſayinge: commaunde the chyldzen of Iſrael that they put out of the hoſte / all the lepers & all that haue yſſues and all that are defyled vpon the deed / whether they be males oz females ye ſhall put thē out of ꝑ hoſte / that they defyle not ꝑ tentes amōge whych ye dwell. they haue done in the hole / and put the fyfte parte of it moare thereto / and geue it vnto him whom he hath trespased agenste. But and yf he that maketh the amendes haue no mā to do it to / then the amendes that is made shalbe the Lordes and the Preastes / beside the ram of the attonement offerynge wherwith he maketh an attonement for him selfe.

B And all heue offerynges of all the halowed thinges which the chyldren of Israel bringe vnto the preaste / shalbe the preastes / & euery mans halowed thynges shalbe hys awne / but what soeuer any man geueth the preast / it shalbe the preastes.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayēg: Speake vnto the chyldren of Israell / and saye vnto them. If any mās wyfe goo a syde and trespase agaynst hym / so that another man lye with her fleshely and the thynge behyd from the eyes of her husbande and is not come to lighte that she is defyled (for ther is no wytnesse agenst her) in as moche as she was not taken with the maner / and the spyrete of bgelousye cometh apon him and he is gelouse ouer his wyfe and she defyled / or happely the spyrete of gelousye cometh vpō him / and he is gelouse ouer his wife and she yet vndefyled. Then let her husband bringe her vnto the preaste and bringe an offerynge for her: the tenthe parte of an Epha of barlye meele / but shall poure none oyle therevnto / nor put frankencens theron: for it is an offerynge of gelousye / and an offerynge that maketh remembraunce of synne.

And let the preast bringe her and sett her before the Lorde / ād let him take holy water in an erthen vessell & of the dust that is in the floore of the habytacyon / and put it in to the water. And the preast shall set ỹ wyfe before the Lorde and vncouer her head / and put the memoryall of the offerynge in her handes whiche is the gelousye offerynge / & ỹ preast shall haue bytter and curlynge water in his hande / and he shall coniure her and shall saye vnto her. If no man haue lyen wyth the nether haste gone asyde / and defyled thy selfe behynde thy husbande / then haue thou no harme of this bytter curlynge water.

But and yf thou hast gone asyde behynde thyne husbande and art defyled & some other man hath lyē with the beside thyne husbāde (and let the preaste coniure her with the coniuracyon of the curse and saye vnto her) the Lorde make the a curse and a coniuracyon amonge thy people: so that the Lorde make thy thye rotte / and thy bely swell & this bitter curlynge water goo in to the bowels of the / that thy bely swell and thy thye rotte / and the wyfe shall saye c Amen Amen.

And the preast shall wrytte this curse in a byll and washe it out in the bytter water. And when the curlynge water ys yn her that it is bytter / then let the preast take the gelousyofferynge out of the wyfes hande / & waue it before the Lorde / and bringe it vnto the alter: and he shall take an handefull of the memoryall offerynge and burne it apon the alter / and then make her dryncke the water and when he hath made her dryncke the water If she be defyled and haue trespased agenst her husband / then shall the curlynge water goo in to her & be so bitter / that her bely shall swell and her thye shall rotte / and she shalbe a curse amonge her people. And yf she be not defyled but is cleane / then she shall haue no harme / but that she maye conceaue.

This is the lawe of gelousye / when a wyfe goeth a syde behynde hyr husbande and is defyled / or when the spirite of gelousye cometh apon a mā / so that he is gelouse ouer his wife then he shall bringe her before the Lorde / and the preast shall minystre all this lawe vnto her / and the man shalbe giltlesse / and the wyfe shall beare her synne.

¶ The vi. Chapter.

A Nd the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: speake vnto the chyldren of Israel and saye vnto them: when ether man or womā appoynteth to a bowe a bowe of abstinēce for to abstayne vnto the Lorde / he shall abstayne frō wyne and stroge dryncke / and shall dryncke no vynagre of wyne or of stroge dryncke / nor shall dryncke what soeuer is pressed out of grapes: & shall eate no fresh grapes nether yet dryed as lōge as his abstinence endureth. And as longe as the bowe of his abstinēce endureth / there shall no rasure nor sheres come apon his heed / vntill his dayes be out which he fasteth vnto the Lorde / and he shalbe holy and shall let the lockes of his hayre growe. As lōg as he abstayneth vnto ỹ Lord he shall come at no dead bodye: he shall not make him selfe vncleane at the death of his father / mother / brother or syster: for the b abstynence of hys God is vpon hys head. And therfore as longe as his abstynence lasteth / he shalbe holy vnto the Lorde.

And yf it fortune that any man by chaunce dye sodenly before him / and defile the heed of his abstinence / then must he shaue his heed the daye of his clēsynge: euen the seuēth daye he shall shaue it. And the eyght daye he shall bringe .ii. turtels or .ii. youge pigeons to the preast / vnto the dore of the tabernacle of witnesse.

And when Aaron loked vpon Mir Jam and sawe that she was lepprous / he sayde vnto Moses: Oh I beseche the my Lorde/put not the synne vpon vs which we haue folishly commytted and synned. Oh/let her not be as one that came dead oute of his mothers wombe: for halfe her flesche is eaten awaye.

And Moses cryed vnto the Lorde saying: Oh God/heale her. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: If her father had[b] spitte in her face/ shulde she not be ashamed. vij. dayes / let her be shutte out of the hoste. vij. dayes / and after that let her be receaued in agayne. And Mir Jam was shutt out of the hoste. vij. dayes and the people remoued not / tyll she was brought in agayne. And afterwarde they remoued from Hazeroth / and pitched in the wildernesse of Pharan.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses saying: * Sende men out to serche the lande of Canaan / whyche I geue vnto the chyldrē of Israel: of euery trybe of their fathers a man & let thē all be soche as are rulers amonge thē. And Moses at the commaundemēt of the Lorde sent forth out of the wildernesse of Pharan: soche men as were all heades amonge ỳ children of Israel/whose names are these.

In the trybe of Ruben/Sammua ỳ sonne of Zacur: In the trybe of Symeon/ Saphat the sonne of Hori. In the trybe of Juda Caleph the sonne of Jephune. In the trybe of Jsachar/Jgeal the sonne of Joseph. And Moses called the name of [a] Hosea the sonne of Nun/Josua.

And Moses sent them forth to spie out ỳ lande of Canaan/& sayde vnto thē: gett you southwarde & go vp into ỳ hye cōtrey/& se ỳ lande what maner thynge it is & the people ỳ dwelleth therin: whether they be stronge or weake/ether fewe or many/and what the lāde is that they dwell in whether it be good or bad/& what maner of cities they dwell in whether they dwell in tentes or walled townes/ & what maner of lande it is: whether it be fatt or leane/ and whether there be trees therin or not. And be of a good courage/and bryng of the frutes of the lande. And it was aboute the tyme that grapes are fyrst rype.

And they wēt vp & searched out the lande from the wylderneße of Zin vnto Rehob/ as men go to Hemath / & they ascended vnto ỳ south & came vnto Hebron / where Ahimā was & Sesai and Thalmani the sonnes of + Enacke. Hebron was bylt. vij. yere before * Zoā in Egipte. And they came vnto ỳ ryuer of Escol & they cutt doune there a braunch w one clouster of grapes & bare it vpō a staffe betwene twayne / and also of the pomgranates and of the fygges of the place. The ryuer was called [b] Nehel Escol/because of the clouster of grapes whiche the children of Jsrael cutt doune there.

And they turned backe agayne frō searchinge the lande/at. xl. dayes ende. And they went and came to Moses and Aaron & vnto all the multitude of the chyldren of Jsrael/ vnto the wildernesse of Pharan: euen vnto Cades / and brought them worde and also vnto all the congregacyon/and shewed them the frute of the lande. And they tolde hym saying: we came vnto the lande wether thou sendest vs / and surely it is a lande that [c] flowith with mylcke & honye & here is of the frute of it. And Caleb stylled the murmur of the people agenst Moses sayinge: let vs go vp and conquere it / for we be able to ouercome it. But the men that went vp with him/ sayde: We be not able to go vp agēst the people / for they are stronger then we: And they brought vp an euel report of ỳ lāde which they had serched/vnto the chyldren of Jsrael sayinge: The lande whyche we haue gone thorowe to serche it out/is a lande that [d] eateth vp the inhabiters therof/and the people that we sawe in it are men of stature. A Nd all the multitude cryed out / & the people wepte thorow out that nyght/ & all the children of Israel murmured agenst Moses & Aarõ And the whole congregacion sayde vnto thẽ: wolde God that we had dyed in the land of Egipte / ether we wolde that we had dyed in thys wildernesse. Wherfore hath the Lorde brought vs vnto this lande to fall vpon the swerde / th at both oure wyues / & also oure children shulde be a pray: is it not better ỹ we retourne vnto Egipte agayne? And they sayde one to another: let vs make a captayne and retourne vnto Egipte agayne.

B And Moses and Aaron fell on their faces before all the congregacion of the multitude of the childrẽ of Israel. And Josua the sonne of Nun/& Caleb ỹ sonne of Jephune which were of them that serched the lande rent their clothes and spake vnto all the companye of the children of Israel sayinge: ¶ The lande which we walked thorowe to serche it / is a very good land. If the Lorde haue lust to vs he will bringe vs in to this lande and geue it vs/which is a land that floweth with mylke and hony. But in any wise rebell not agenst the Lorde/ Moreouer feare ye not ỹ people of ỹ lãde/ for they are but bread for vs. Their shylde is departed from them/and the Lorde is with vs: feare them not therfore.

And all the whole multitude bade stone them with stones. But ỹ glorie of the Lorde appeared in the tabernacle of witnesse/vnto all the children of Israel. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: Howe longe shall thys people[b] rayle vpõ me/& how longe will it be yer they beleue me / for all my signes which I haue shewed amonge them? I wyll smyte thẽ wt the pestilẽce & destroy thẽ/& wil make of ỹ a greatter naciõ & a mightier then they.

And Moses sayde vnto the Lorde: then ỹ Egiptiãs shall heare it / for thou broughtest this people with thy myghte from amonge them. And it wilbe tolde to the inhabiters of this lande also/for they haue herde likewise/ that thou the Lorde art amõge this people/ and that thou art sene face to face/and ỹ thy cloude standeth ouer them & that thou goest before thẽ by daye tyme in a piler of a cloude and in a pyler of fyre by nyght. So now let the power of my Lorde be greate/acordyng as thou hast spokẽ saying: the Lorde is longe yer he be angrye/and full of mercy / and suffereth synne and trespace/ and leaueth no man innocent / and visiteth ỹ vnryghteousnesse of the fathers vpon the chyldren/euẽ vpon the thirde and fourth generaciõ / be mercyfull I beseche the therfore vnto the synne of this people acordynge vnto thy greate mercy/and accordinge as thou hast forgeuen this people from Egipte euen vnto this place.

And the Lorde sayde: I haue forgeuẽ it/ accordynge to thy request. But as trulye as I lyue/al the erth shalbe[c] fylled with my glorye. For of all those mẽ whiche haue sene my glorye & my myracles which I dyd in Egipte & in the wildernesse / & yet haue tẽpted me now this .x. tymes & haue not herkened vnto my voyce/there shal not one se ỹ land whiche I sware vnto their fathers / nether shall any of thẽ that rayled vpon me/se it. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aaron sayinge: how longe shall this euell multitude murmure agenst me? When Moses hearde it / he fell vpon his

we will not come. Semeth it a small thynge

* That is punyshed with the punnyshement.

And all Israel that were aboute thē fledde at the crye of them. For they sayed: The erthe myghte hapelye swalowe vs also.

And there came oute a fyre from the Lorde and consumed the two hundred & fyftye men that offred cens.

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses sayēge: Speake vnto Eleazar the sonne of Aaron the preaste and let him take vp the censers oute of the burnynge & shatter the fyre here and there / for the [b] censers of these synners are halowed in theyr deathes: and let them be be beaten in to thyn plates and fastened vpō the altare. And on the morowe all the multitude of the chyldren of Israell murmured agenste Moses and Aaron sayenge: ye haue kylled the people of the Lorde. And when the multitude was gethered agenste Moses & Aarō they loked towarde ỹ tabernacle of witnesse. And beholde / the cloude had couered it and the glorye of ỹ Lorde appeared. And they fell vpon theyr faces.

And Moses sayde vnto Aarō: take a censer and put fyre therin out of the alter / and poure on cens / & go quyckly vnto the cōgregacyon and make an attonement for them. For there is wrath gone out from the Lorde and there is a plage begone. And Aaron toke as Moses commaunded him / and ran vnto the congregacyon: & beholde / the plage was begonne amonge the people / and he put on cens / & made an attonement for the people. ¶ Mir Jam dyeth. The people murmur. They haue water enough oute of the rocke. Edom denyeth the Jsraelites passage thorow his realme. The death of Aaron in whose rowme Eleazar succedeth.

¶ The.xx. Chapter.

A Nd the whole multitude of ỹ chyldren of Jsrael/ came in to the deserte of Sin in the firste moneth/ & ỹ people dwelt at Cades. And there dyed Mir Jam/ and was buried there. Wore ouer there was no water for the multitude/ wherfore they gathered thẽ selues together agenst Moses & agẽst Aarõ. And the people chode wt Moses & spake sayenge: wold God that we had perysched whẽ oure brethren perysched before ỹ Lord. Why haue ye brought the congregaciõ of the Lorde vnto this wildernesse/ ỹ both we & oure catell shulde dye here? Wherfore brought ye vs out of Egipte to bryng vs in to this vngracious place/ which is no place of seed nor of fygges nor vynes nor of pomgranates / nether is there any water to drynke?

And Moses & Aaron went frõ the congre-
B gaciõ vnto the dore of the tabernacle of witnesse/ & fell vpon theyr faces. And the glorye of the Lorde appered vnto thẽ. And ỹ Lorde spake vnto Moses sayenge: take ỹ staffe/ & gether thou & thy brother Aarõ ỹ congregaciõ together/ & saye vnto ỹ rocke before their eyes/ that he geue forth his water. And thou shalt bryng thẽ water out of ỹ rocke & shalt geue ỹ cõpany drynke/ and their beasts also.

And Moses toke the staffe frõ before the Lorde/ as he commaunded him. And Moses and Aaron gethered the congregacion together before the rocke/ and he sayed vnto them heare ye rebellyons/ must we fett you water out of this rocke? And Moses lifte vp his hãde with his staffe and smote the rocke. ij. tymes/ and the water came out abundantly/ & the multitude dranke and their beestes also

And the Lorde spake vnto Moses & Aa-
C ron: because ye beleued me not/ to [a] sanctifye me in the eyes of the chyldren of Jsrael/ therfore ye shall not bryng this congregacion in to the lande which I haue geuen them.

a. To sanctifye here is / to shewe and declare to be holy/ as in Math. vi. b

This is the water of stryfe / because the chyldren of Jsrael stroue with the Lorde/ & he was sanctifyed vpon them.

And Moses sent messengers from Cades vnto the kynge of Edom. Thus sayeth thy brother Jsrael: Thou knowest all the trauell ỹ hath happened vs/ how oure fathers went doune in to Egipte / and how we haue dwelt in Egipte a longe tyme / and how the Egipcians vexed bothe vs and oure fathers. Then we cryed vnto the Lorde and he herde oure voyces/ and sent an angell & hath fett vs out of Egypte. And beholde/ we are in Cades a-citie harde by the borders of thy coũtre let vs go a good felowshipe thorow thy coũtre * we wyll not go thorow the feldes nor thorow ỹ vyneyardes / nether wyll we drynke of the water of the fountaynes/ but we wyll go by the hye waye and nether turne vnto ỹ ryghte hãde nor to ỹ lefte/ vntil we be past thy countre. And Edom answered him: Se thou come not by me / lest I come out agenst the with the swerde. And the chyldren of Jsrael sayed vnto him: we will go by the beaten waye: and yf ether we or oure catell drynke of thy water/ we will paye for it/ we wyll do no moare but passe thorow by fote only. And he sayed: ye shall not go thorow. And Edom came out D agenst hym with moche people and with a myghtie power. And thus Edom denyed to geue Jsrael passage thorow his coũtre. And Jsrael turned a waye from him.

Numer. xxi. c.

And the chyldren of Jsrael remoued from Cades and went vnto mount Hor with all ỹ congregacyon. And the Lorde spake vnto Moses and Aaron in mount Hor/ harde vpõ the costes of the lande of Edom sayenge: let Aaron be put vnto his people / for he shall not come in to the lande which I haue geuen vnto the chyldren of Jsrael: because ye disobeied my mouth at ỹ water of stryfe. Take Aaron and Eleazar his sonne / and bryng them vp in to mount Hor/ and stryppe Aarõ out of his vestimentes and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne/ and let Aaron be put vnto his people and dye there.

And Moses dyd as the Lorde commaunded: and they went vp in to mount Hor in the syghte of all the multitude. And Moses toke off Aarons clothes and put them vpon Eleazar his sonne/ & Aaron dyed there in ỹ toppe of the mount. And Moses and Eleazar came doune out of the mount. And all the house of Jsrael mourned for Aaron. xxx. dayes.

A Nd when kynge Arad the cananite which dwelt in the south partyes/ harde tell that Jsrael came by the waye that the spies had foũde out he came & foughte with Jsrael & toke some of them prysoners. Then Jsrael vowed a vowe vnto the Lorde and sayed: If thou wilt geue this people in to oure handes/ we wyll destroye theyr cyties. And the Lorde herde the voyce of Jsrael/ and delyuered them the Cananites. And they destroyed both them & theyr cytyes/ and called the place Horma.

Then

B Then they departed from mount Hor toward the redd see: to cõpasse the land of Edõ. And the soules of the people faynted by the waye. And the people spake agenst God and agenst Moses: wherfore hast thou brought vs out of Egypte / for to dye in the wyldernesse for here is nether bread nor water / and oure soules lotheth this * lyghte bread.

* Or that is so lytell woorth.

¶ The plage of serpentes

Then the Lord sent fyerie serpẽtes amõge the people / which stonge them: so that moch people dyed in Israel. And the people came to Moses and sayed: we haue synned / for we haue spoken agenst the Lorde and agenst ỹ

C make intercession to the Lorde / that he take awaye the serpẽts frõ vs. And Moses made intercession for the people. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: make the a serpent and hange it vp for a sygne / and lett as many as are bytten loke vpon it and they shall lyue. And Moses made a serpent of brasse & set it vp for a sygne. And when the serpentes had byttẽ any man / he went and behelde the serpent of brasse and recouered.

And the chyldren of Israel remoued and pitched in Oboth. And they departed from Oboth and laye at Egebarim in the wyldernesse which is before Moab on the east syde And they remoued thence / and pitched vpon the ryuer of Zarad. And they departed thence and pitched on the other syde of Arnõ / which ryuer is in the wyldernesse / and cometh out of the costes of the Amorites: for Arnon is ỹ borders of Moab / betwene Moab & ỹ Amo-

* Some thinck it to be the boke of iudges.

And frõ thence they came to Bear / whiche is the well wherof the Lord spake vnto Moses: gether the people together / that I maye geue them water. Then Israel sange this songe: Aryse vp well / synge therto: The well wyche the rulers dygged and the captaynes of the people w̃ the helpe of the lawegeuer and with their staues.

E And from this wyldernesse they went to Matana / and from Matana to Nahaliel / & from Nahaliel to Bamoth / & from Bamoth to the valay that is in the felde of Moab in ỹ toppe of * Phasgah which boweth toward * Jesimon. And Israel sent messengers vnto Sehon / kyng of the Amorites saying: let vs go thorow thy lande: we wyll not tourne in to thy feldes nor in to thy vyneyardes / nether drynke of the water of the welles: but we will go alonge by the cõmen waye vntill we be past thy coũtre. And Sehõ wolde geue Israel no licence to passe thorow hys coũtre / but gethered all his people together & went out agenst Israel in to the wyldernesse. And he came to Jaheza and foughte with Israel.

* After the cõmen translacy. * Chalda hylle. * Grec. wyldernesse.

And Israel smote him with the edge of the swerde & conquered his lande / from Arnon vnto Jabock: euẽ vnto the childrẽ of Ammõ. For the borders of the chyldren of Ammon / are stroũge. And Israel toke all these cytyes F & dwelt in all the cyties of the Amorites: in Hesbon & in all the townes ỹ longe therto. For Hesbon was ỹ citie of Sehon the kyng of the Amorites which Sehon had fought before with the kynge of the Moabites / and had takẽ all his lande out of his hande / euẽ vnto Arnon. Wherfore it is a prouerbe / go to Hesbon & lett the cytie of Sehon be bylt & made readie for there is a fyre gone out of Hesbon & a flame from the citie of Sehon & hath consumed Ar of the Moabites and the men of ỹ hylles of Arnõ. Wo be to ỹ Moab: o people of * Chamos ye are vndone. His G sonnes are put to flyghte and his daughters brought captyue vnto Sehon kynge of the Amorites. Their lyghte is out from Hesbon vnto Dibon and we made a wyldernesse euẽ vnto Nopha whiche reacheth vnto Mediba. And thus Israel dwelt in ỹ land of the Amorites. And Moses sent to serche oute Jaezer / & they toke the townes belongynge therto & conquered the Amorites that were there.

* Chamos is the name of a certen image.

And then they tourned & went vp toward Basan. And Og the kynge of Basan came out agenst them / both he and all his people / to warre at Edrei. And the Lorde sayde vnto Moses: feare hym not / for I haue delyuered him in to thy hãdes with all hys people & his lãde. And thou shalt do w̃ him as thou dydest w̃ Sehon the kynge of the Amorites which dwelt at Hesbon. And they smote him & hys sonnes and all his people / vntyll there was nothynge left him. And they conquered hys lande and the chyldrẽ of Israel remoued and pytched in the feldes of Moab / on the other syde of Jordane / by Jericho.

And the elders of Moab went wyth the elders of Madiā/& the rewarde of the sothe sayinge in their handes. And they came vnto Balam and tolde him the wordes of Ba-lac. And he sayde vnto thē/tary here all night and I wyll bringe you worde / euen as the Lorde shall saye vnto me. And the lordes of Moab abode with Balam.

¶ And God came vnto Balam & sayd:what men are these which are with the? And Balā sayde vnto god: Balac the sonne of Ziphor kynge of Moab hath sent vnto me sayinge: beholde/there is a people come out of Egypt and coueretb the face of the erthe:come now therfore and curse me thē/ that so peraduen-ture I maye be able to ouercome thē in ba-tell/& to dryue thē out. And Balam rose vp in the mornynge and sayde vnto the lordes of Balac:get you vnto youre lande/for the Lord wyll not suffre me to go with you. And the lordes of Moab rose vp & went vnto Balac and sayd. Balā wolde not come with vs. And Balac sent agayne a greatter cōpanye of lordes & more honora-ble then they. And they came to Balam and tolde him: Thus sayeth Balac the sonne of Ziphor:oh/ let nothynge let the to come vn-to me/ for I wyll greatly promote the vnto great honoure/and will do whatsoeuer thou sayest vnto me / come therfore I praye the/ curse me this people.

*Num.xxiij.c D And Balam answered and sayde vnto ẏ seruaūtes of Balac. *If Balac wolde geue me his houssull of siluer and golde/I can go no further then the worde of the Lorde my God/to do lesse or moare. And God came vnto Balam by nyghte and sayde vnto him: If the men come to fett the/ ryse vp and go with them: but what I saye vnto the/that onlye thou shalt do.

And Balam rose vp early and sadelde hys asse and went with the lordes of Moab. But God was angrye because he went. And the angell of the Lord stode in the waye agenste him. And he ryd vpō his asse & two seruaūtes with him. And when the asse sawe the angell of the Lorde stande in the waye & his swerde drawen in his hand/she turned a syde oute of the waye & went out in to the felde. And Ba-lam smote ẏ asse / to turne her in to ẏ waye. E

And the angell of the Lorde went & stode in a path betwene ẏ vineyardes/where was a wall on the one syde & another on ẏ other. When the asse sawe the angell of the Lorde/ she wrenched vnto the walle and thrust Ba-lams fote vnto the wall / and he smote her agayn. And when the asse sawe ẏ angell of the Lorde/she fell downe vnder Balam:& Balam was wrath and smote the asse with a staffe. And the Lorde opened the mouthe of the asse/& she sayed vnto Balam: what haue I done vnto the/ ẏ thou smytest me thus .iij. tymes? And Balam sayde vnto the Asse: be-cause thou hast mocked me? ☞ Speake not in thyne hert / after that the Lorde thy God hath cast them out before ỹ sayinge: for my righteoulnes the Lorde hath brought me in to possesse thys lande. Nay/ but for the wickednesse of these nacyons the Lord doth cast thē out before ỹ. Remēbre & forget not how thou prouokedest ỹ Lorde thy God in the wildernesse: for sence the daye that thou camest out of ỹ land of Egipte vntyl ye came vnto this place / ye haue rebelled agenst the Lorde. * Also in Horeb ye angred the Lorde so that the Lorde was wroth with you/ euen to haue destroyed you/ after that I was gone vp in to the mount/ to fett the tables of stone the tables of appoyntment which the Lorde made with you. And I abode in the hyll .xl. dayes and .xl. nightes & nether ate bread nor dranke water. * And the Lorde delyuered me two tables of stone writtē with the fynger of God/ and in them was accordynge to all the wordes which the Lorde sayed vnto you in ỹ mount out of the fyre in the daye when the people were gathered together.

And when the .xl. dayes & .xl. nyghtes were ended/ the Lorde gaue me the two tables of stone/ the tables of the testament / and sayde vnto me. * Vpp/ and get the doune quyckely from hence / for thy people whych thou hast broughte out of Egipte / haue marred them selues. Furthermore the Lorde spake vnto me sayinge: I se thys people how that it is a stiffenecked people/ let me alone that I maye destroye them and put out the name of them from vnder heauē/ and I will make of the a naciō both greater and mo than they.

And I turned awaye and came doune frō the hyll (and the hyll burnt with fire) & had ỹ two tables of the appoyntmēt in my handes And when I loked & sawe that ye had synned agenst the Lorde youre God & had made you a calfe of metall and had turned attonce out of the waye whiche ỹ Lorde had cōmaunded you * Thē I toke the two tables & cast them out of my two handes / & brake them before youre eyes. * And I fell before the Lorde: euē as at the fyrst tyme .xl. dayes & .xl. nyghtes & nether ate bread nor dranke water ouer all youre synnes which ye had synned in doynge wickedly in the syght of ỹ Lorde & in prouokinge him. Also at * Thaberah & at Malah & at the sepulchres of lust ye angred the Lorde/ yee and when the Lorde sent you from Cades Barne sayinge: go vp & cōquere the land whiche I haue geuen you / ye disobeyed the mouth of the Lorde youre God & nether beleued him nor herkened vnto his voyce. a. The Prophetes customably / when they speake with a feruent affeccion / do speake vnto thynges that haue no lyfe / as thoughe they spake to men / as in Esai. the fyrst a. And here Moses thynkyng that the chyldren of Israel wold not ernestly heare hym / and that he shulde lose hys labour willeth yet heauen and erth to heare hym & to

A Heare O heauẽ / what I shall speake and hear O erth the wordes of my mouth. My doctryne droppe as doeth the rayne / & my speach flowe as dothe the dewe / as the mysellynge vpon the herbes / & as the droppes vpon the grasse. For I wyll call on the name of the Lorde: Magnifye the myght of oure God.

He is a b rocke and perfecte are his deades / for all his wayes are with discrecion. God is faythfull & without wickednesse / both righteuous and iuste is he.

The frowarde and ouerthwarte generacion hath marred them selues to himward / & are not his sonnes for their deformities sake Doest thou so rewarde the Lorde? O foolish nacion and vnwyse. Is not he thy father and thyne owner? hath he not made the & ordeyned the? Remembre the dayes that are past: consydre the yeres from tyme to tyme. Aske thy father and he wyll shewe the / thy elders and they wyll tell the. When ỹ most hyghest gaue the nacions an enheritaũce / & diuided the sonnes of Adam he put the borders of ỹ nacions / fast by the multytude of the chyldren of Israel.

For the Lordes parte is his folke / and c Iacob is the porcion of his enherytaunce.

He founde him in a deserte land / in a voyde ground & a rorynge wyldernesse. He led him aboute & gaue him vnderstandinge / & kepte him as the aple of his eye.

As an egle that stereth vp her nest and flotereth ouer her younge / he stretched oute his wynges and toke him vp & d bare him on his shoulders. The Lorde alone was his guyde / and there was no straunge God with hym.

He sett him vp vpon an hye lande / and he ate the encrease of the feldes. And he gaue him honye to sucke oute of the rocke / & oyle out of the harde stone. With e butter of kyne & mylcke of the shepe / with fatt of the lambes and fat rammes and he gootes with fat kydneyes and with whete. And of the bloude of grapes thou dronckest wyne.

And Israel waxed fat and kycked. Thou waxt fat / thycke and smothe. And he let God goo that made him and despysed the rocke ỹ saued him. They angred him with straunge Goddes and with abhominacyons prouoked him. They offered vnto felde deuels and not to God / & to Goddes which they knewe not & to newe Goddes that came newly vp which their fathers feared not. Of the rocke that begat the thou arte vnmyndefull & hast forgott God that made the. And when the Lord sawe it / he was angre because of ỹ prouokynge of his sonnes and daughters.

Wherfore Adonizedec king of Jerusalem sent vnto Hoham king of Hebron/ and vnto Pharam kynge of Jerimoth/ & vnto Japhia king of Lachis/ & vnto Dabir king of Eglon saying. Come vp vnto me and healpe me/ ỹ we may smyte Gabaon: for they haue made peace wyth Josua & the chyldren of Israell. Then the .v. kynges of ỹ Amorites/ the king of Jerusalem/ the kyng of Hebron/ the king of Jerimoth/ the king of Lachis the kyng of Eglon geathered thē selues to geather/ bothe they and all their hostes and went vp and besieged Gabaon/ and made warre agaynst it.

And Josua ascended from Galgall/ both he and all the people of warre with him/ and all the men of myghte/ and the Lorde sayde vnto Josua/ feare them not/ for I haue delyuered them into thyne hande/ there shall not a man of them stande before the. And there was no daye lyke that / before it/ or after it / that the Lorde obeyed the voyce of a man: and all because the Lorde fought for Israell.

* That is (after the oppniō of many) Moses wrytyng of soche sygnes & tokens/as God had promesed. The boke where in he shulde wrote thys remayneth not.

And Josua returned and all Israell wyth him/vnto the hoste to Galgall: but the fyue Kinges fledde and hyd them selues in a caue at Makeda. And it was tolde Josua saying/ the fyue Kinges are founde hid in a caue at Makeda. And Josua sayde/rowle great stones vnto the mouthe of the caue & appoynte men therto/for to kepe them. And stande ye not stille/but folowe after youre enemyes & smyte the hindmost of them. And suffre them not to entre into their cytyes / for the Lorde youre God hath delyuered them into youre handes. And when Josua and the chyldren of Israell had made an ende of slaying thē with a great slaughter tyll they were wasted/ yett there remayned a certen of them / whych entered into walled cytyes.

And all the people returned to the hoste/to Josua at Makeda in peace/so that no man durst moue his tong agaynst the chyldren of Israell. Then sayde Josua: open the mouthe of the caue/and bryng oute these .v. Kinges vnto me oute of the caue. And they dyd so/ & brought those fyue Kinges vnto hym / oute of the caue: the Kinge of Jerusalē/the King of Hebron/the Kyng of Jerimoth the Kinge of Lachis/and the Kynge of Eglon.

And when they had brought oute those Kinges vnto Josua: Josua called for all the men of Israell/ & sayde vnto the cappytaynes of the men of warre/whych came with hym/ come nere & put youre fete vpō the neckes of these kinges. And they cam neare and put their fete vpon the neckes of thē. And Josua sayde vnto them feare not ner dreade: But be strong and plucke vp youre hertes/for so shall the Lorde serue all youre enemyes a gaynst whych ye feyght.

After that Josua departed from Libna/ and all Israell wyth hym/vnto Lachis/and besieged it/and assaulted it. And the Lorde deliuered into ỹ handes of Israel Lachis/that they toke it the Seconde daye / and smote it with the edge of the swerde / & all the soules that were therin/according to all that he dyd to Libna.

Then Horam kynge of Geser came vp to helpe Lachis: But Josua smote him and hys people/vntill he lefte hī naught remayning.

And from Iachys Josua departed / vnto Eglon/and all Israell wyth him / and there besiegede it / and assaulted it / and toke it the same daye/and smote it with the edge of the swerde and all the soules that were therin: and vtterlye destroyed thē the same daye/according to all that he dyd to Lachis.

Then Josua departed vp from Eglon and G all Israell with him/vnto Hebron. And they fought agaynst it/and toke it / and smote it with the edge of the swerde / and the kynge therof/and all the townes that pertayned to it/and al the soules that were therin/so that they lefte nought remaynīg: but in al thyngs as they did to Eglon / so they destroyed it vtterlye/and all the soules that were therin.

Then Josua returned and all Israell with him to Dabir/and they fought agaynst it/& toke it/and the kinge therof and al ỹ townes that pertayned therto. And smote them wyth the edge of the swerde / & vtterlye destroyed all the soules that were therin / & let nought remayne. AND when Jabin Kynge of Hazor had heard that: he sent to Jobab kinge of Madon/and to the kinge of Someron/and to the Kynge of Achaph. And vnto the Kynges that are by northe in the mountaynes / and playnes / on the southeside of Cineroth / and in the lowe countreys/and in the regions of Dor vpō the see / and vnto the Cananites bothe by Easte and weste: and vnto the Amorites/Hethites/ Pherezites / and Jebusites in the mountaynes: and vnto the Heuites vnder Hermon in the lande of Mazphah: which came oute and all their hostes wyth them a multytude of folke cuē as the sandes of the see in nombre wyth horses and charettes exceding manye. And all these Kynges mett to geather / and came and pitched to geather vpon the water of Merom/for to fight with Jsrael.

And the Lorde sayde vnto Josua: be not afrayede of them: for to morowe aboute this tyme I wyll delyuer them all slayne/before all Jsrael: & thou shalt roughe their horses/ Josu.x.b. Then Josua at that tyme turned backe & toke Hazor and smote her Kynge wyth the swerde. For Hazor before tyme was the head of all those kyngdomes. And he shewed them the waye into the cytye/and they smote it wyth the edge of the swerde / but let the man and all hys housholde goo free. And the man went into the lande of the Hethites / and bylt a cytye and called the name therof Lus which is the name therof vnto this daye.

Nether dyd Manasses expelle Bethsean with her townes/nether Thaanach with her townes / nether the enhabitoures of Dor wᵗ her townes / nether ỹ enhabytoures of Ieblaam with her townes / nether the enhabytourcs of Magedo with her townes/ and so the Cananites went to & dwelt in the sayde lande. But as sone as Israell was wared mightie/they put the Cananites to trybute: But expelled them not.

In lyke maner Ephraim expelled not the Cananites that dwelt in Gazer/but the Cananites dwelt stylle in Gazer among them.

Nether dyd Zabulon expelle the enhabitoures of Ketron/nether ỹ enhabytoures of Nahalol: But the Cananites dwelt amonge them and be came trybutaries.

Nether dyd Aser cast out ỹ enhabytoures of Acho/nether ỹ enhabytoures of Zidon/of Ahalab/Aczib/Halbah/Aphek/ nor of Rohob/but the Aserites dwelte amonge the Cananites the enhabytoures of the lande/and dryue them not out.

Nether dyd Nephthalim dryue out the enhabytoures of Bethsames/nor ỹ enhabytoures of Bethanath/but dwelle amōgest ỹ Cananites the enhabitoures of ỹ lande. Neuertheles the enhabytoures of Bethsames and of Bethanath be came trybutaryes vnto them.

And the Amorites kepte ỹ chyldrē of Dan in the mountaynes/and soffered them not to come downe to the valeyes. And so the Amorites wēt to and dwelled in mount Heres in Hailon and in Salabim. Neuerthelater the hand of Joseph wared heuye vpō them / so ỹ they be came tributaryes. And the costes of ỹ Amorites was frō the goyng vp to Acrabim/and from the roche vpwarde.

¶ The Angell reburketh the people because they had made peace with the Cananites. Idolatrers are punished/ but yet leaue not their inuencyons. God sendeth them iudges to delyuer them.

¶ The.ij. Chapter.

And the angell of the Lorde came vp from Galgall to Bocim / & sayde/ I brought you out of Egypte and haue brought you vnto the lande which I sware vnto youre fathers. And I sayde that I wolde neuer breake myne appoyntement wyth you / but ye shulde haue made no couenāt with the enhabytoures of this land/ye shuld haue broken doune their aultares: But ye haue not obeyed my voice/ why haue ye this done? wherfore I haue lykewyse determyned ỹ I wyll not cast them out before you: [a] but they shalbe in the sydes of you/and their Goddes shalbe snares vnto you. And when the angell of the Lorde had spoken these wordes vnto all the chyldren of Israel/the people cryed out and wepte. And called the name of the sayde place / Bocim & offered there vnto the Lorde.

And when Josua had sent ỹ people awaye/ the chyldren of Israel went euerye man into his enheritaunce to possesse the lande. And ỹ people serued the Lorde all the dayes of Josua/and all the dayes of the elders that out lyued Josua/and had sene all the great worckes of the Lorde that he dyd to Israel. And Josua the sonne of Nun the seruaunt of the Lorde dyed when he was an hundred an ten yeres olde: whom they buryed in the costes of his enheritaunce: euen in Thamnath hares in mount Ephraim on the northsyde of ỹ hyll Gaas. And euen so all that generacion were put vnto their fathers/and there arose another generacyon after them whych nether knewe ỹ Lord / nor yet ỹ worckes which he dyd vnto Israel.

And then the chyldren of Israel dyd wyckedlye in the syght of the Lorde / and serued Baalim / & b forsoke the Lorde God of their fathers / which brought them out of the land of Egypte / and folowed straunge Goddes / euē of the Goddes of the nacyons that were round aboute them / and bowed them selues vnto them / and angred the Lord. And so they forsoke the Lord and serued Baal & Astharoth. Wherfore the Lorde waxed angrye w Israel / & delyuered thē into the handes a raueners to spoyle them and solde them into ỹ hādes of their ennemyes rounde aboute thē / so ỹ they had no power any longer to stande before their enemyes. But vnto whatsoeuer thyng they went / the hand of the Lorde was vpon them with euell lucke / euen as ỹ Lorde promesed them / and as he sware vnto them. And they were sore vexed.

Neuertheles the Lorde rayled vp Judges / which delyuered them out of the handes of their oppressers / & yet for all that they wold not harken vnto their Judges: But went a whoryng after straunge Goddes and bowed them selues vnto thē / and turned quickye out of the waye which their fathers walked in obeying the cōmaundemētes of the Lord / and dyd not so

And when the Lord rayled them vp Judges / he was with the Judge / and delyuered them out of the hādes of their ennemyes all the dayes of the Judge: for the Lorde had cōpassyon ouer their sorowinges which they had by the reason of them that oppressed thē and vexed them: yet for all that as sone as ỹ iudge was dead they turned and dyd worse then their fathers in folowynge straunge Goddes / and in seruyng thē / and ceased not from their inuencions nor from their malycyouse wayes.

Wherfore the Lorde was angrye with Israel and sayde: be cause thys people hathe transgressed myne appoyntement which I cōmaūded their fathers and haue not obeyde my voyce / therfore hencefoorth I will not cast out one mā before thē of the nacyons which Josua leaft when he dyed / and that to proue Israel through thē whether they wyll kepe the waye of ỹ Lord to walke therin as their fathers dyd or not. And so the Lorde leafte those nacyons alone / and drove thē not oute immedyatlye / nether delyuered them in to the handes of Josua.

¶ Certen nacyons are leafte amonge the Israelites to the yntent to vexe & afflict thē. Othoniell delyuereth Israel. Ahud killeth Kyng Eglon. Samgar killeth the Philistines.

¶ The .iij. Chapter.

These are the nacions which ỹ Lord A lefte to tēpt Israel: euē as manye of Israell as had not knowen all ỹ warres of Canaan: Onlye for the lernyng of the generacyon of the chyldren of Israel: which before knew nothing of warre he lefte the fyue Lordes of the Philistines / & all the Cananites / the Sidonites / the Heuites that dwelt in mount Libanon: euen from mount Baal Hermon vnto Hemath. Those remayned to proue Israell by / to wete whether they wold herken vnto the commaundementes of the Lorde / which he commaunded their fathers by the hand of Moses.

And as the chyldē of Israel dwelt amōge the Cananites / hethites / Amorites / Pherezites / Heuites / and Jebusytes / they toke the daughters of them to be their wyues & gaue their owne daughters to their sonnes / & serued their Goddes. And so the chyldren of Israell did wyckedlye in the syght of the Lorde and forgate the Lorde their God and serued Baalim & Aseroth. Therfore the Lorde was B angrye with Israel and delyuered them into the handes of Chusan Rasathaim Kynge of *Mesopotamia. So that the chyldē of Israell serued Chusan Rasathaim .viij. yeres.

And then the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde. And the Lorde stered them vp a a sauer & saued them: one Othoniel the sonne of Kenes / Calebs younger brother. And the spyrete of the Lorde came vpon him. And he iudged Israell / and went out to warre. And the Lorde *solde Chusan Rasathaim Kyng of Mesopotamia into his hāde. So ỹ hys hāde was mightie ouer Chusan Rasathaim And the lande had rest fourtye yeres. And Othoniel the sonne of Kenes died. And then the chyldren of Israel went to agayne / & committed wyckednesse in the syght of the Lorde And then the Lorde hardened Eglon ỹ King of the Moabites / agaynst the chyldren of Israell / because they had comitted wyckednesse before the Lorde. And thys Eglon geathered vnto hym the chyldren of Ammon / and the Amalekites / and went and smote the chyldrē of Israell / and cōquered the citie of Paulme trees. And the childzen of Israel serued Eglō the Kyng of the Moabites .xviij. yeres. And then they cryed vnto ỹ Lorde. And the Lorde stered thē vp a sauer / Ahud the sonne of Gera the sonne of Jemini / a man that coulde do nothyng handsomlye with hys ryght hande. ¶

And Ahud came in vnto him into a somer parler/ which he had seuerall vnto hym selfe alone/ and sayde: I haue a c message vnto the frõ God. And he arose out of his seate. And Ahud put forth hys lefte hande and toke the dagger from hys ryght thyghe and thrust it into hys belye/ so that the hafte went in after the blade. But Ahud eskaped whyle they taryed and was gone beyonde the Idolles & eskaped into Seirath.

And when he was come he blew a trompette in mount Ephraim. And the chyldren of Israel went doune wyth hym of the hylle & he before them. And he sayd vnto them/ followe me: for the Lord hathe delyuered youre enemyes/ the Moabytes into youre handes And they descended after hym and toke the ¶ Israel is commytted into the handes of Jabin / because they were returned to Idolatrye. Debora and Barak delyuer them: Sisara is kylled of Jael.

¶ The. iiij. Chapter.

And the chyldren of Israel beganne agayne to do wyckedly in the syght of the Lord/ when Ahud was dead.
* That is delyuered (as aboue iij. b.
And the Lorde* solde them into the handes of Jabin kynge of Canaan / that raygned in Hazor/ whose captayne of warre was Sisara/ which dwelt in Haroseth of ỹ gentyles. And the chyldren of Israel cryed vnto the Lorde: for he had nyne hundred charettes of yron. he oppressed the chyldren of Israel with power xx. yeres.

And Debora a Prophetysse/ the wyfe of Lapidoth iudged Israell the same tyme/ and dwelt vnder the paulme tre of Debora / betwene Ramath and Bethell / in mounte Ephraim.

And the chyldren of Israel came to her for iudgement. And she sent and called Barak the sonne of Abinoam / out of Kedes Nephthalim/ and sayde vnto hym.

The Lorde God of Israel commaundeth the/ that thou go and drawe to mounte Thabor/ and take wyth the ten thousande men/ of the chyldren of Nephthalim & of the chyldren of Zabulon. And I wyll bringe vnto the ryuer Kison Sisara / the Captayne of warre vnto Jabin/ wyth hys charettes / and his people/ and will delyuer them into thyne handes. And Barak sayde vnto her / yf thou wylt go with me/ I will go: But and yf thou wylt not go wyth me / then I wyll not goo. And she answered / I wyll suerlye go wyth the/ but then the prayse shall not be thyne/ in the waye which thou goest / for ỹ Lord shall delyuer Sisara into the handes of a womã. And she arose and went with Barak to Kedes. And Barak called Zabulon and Nephthalim to Kedes. And he went vp a foote wyth ten thousande men: and Debora went with hym.

But Haber the kenite was remoued out of Kin/ whych was of the chyldren of * Hobab the father in lawe of Moses / and pytched his tente vntill he was come to ỹ Oke of Zaanaim/ by Kedes.

And then it was shewed vnto Sisara how that Barak the sonne of Abinoam was gone vp to mount Thabor. And Sisara called for all his charettes/ euen. ix. hundred charettes of yron/ and for all the people that he had/ from Haroseth of the gentyles vnto the ryuer of Kison. Then sayde Debora vnto Barak: vp/ for thys is the daye in whych the Lorde hath delyuered Sisara in to thyne handes: for the Lorde is gone oute before the. And so Barak went downe from mount Thabor/ and ten thousande men after hym.

But the Lorde trounsed Sisara and all hys charettes and all hys hoste wyth the edge of the swerde/ before Barak. And Sisara lyghted doune of hys charett and fled a fote. But Barak followed after ỹ charettes and after the hoste / euen vnto Haroseth of the gentyles. And all the hoste of Sisara fell vpon the edge of the swerde/ that there was not a man leafte. How be it Sisara fled a fote to the tent of Jael the wyfe of Haber the kenite: for their was peace betwene Jabin the kynge of Hazor/and the housholde of Haber the kenite.

And Jael went out agaynst Sisara and sayde vnto hym: turne in my Lorde / turne into me & feare not. And he turned into her into her tent: & she couered hym with a mantell. And he sayde vnto her / geue me a lyttel water to drynke/ for I am thrist ye. And she

Then Jael Habers wyfe toke a nayle of the tente/ and an hamer in her hand/ & wēt softlye vnto him/ and smote ỳ nayle thorow the tēples of his head in to the ground/ as he slombered beying wery: And so he dyed.

And beholde as Barak folowed after Sisara, Jael came out agaynst him/ and sayde vnto him: come and I wyll shew the the mā whō thou seekest. And when he came into her tente: Beholde/ Sisara laye dead & ỳ nayle thorow his tēples. And so God brought Jaben the kyng of Canaā into subiecc̄yon that daye/ before the chyldren of Israel. And the hande of the chyldren of Israel prospered & was sore vpon Jaben the kynge of Canaan/ vntyll they had brought him to naught.

¶ The songe and thanckes geuyng of Debora & Barack after the victorye.

¶ The .v. Chapter.

Then debora & Barack the sonne of Abinoam / sange the same daye: saying *Prayse the Lorde in them ỳ were wyllynge whyle other sate stylle in Israel. Heare kynges and herken Lordes/ I wyll synge/ and geue prayse vnto the Lorde God/ of Israel.

were vnoccupied. And [a] they that walked by pathes / went by wayes that fet compases aboute. The byllages were vnenhabyted in Israel/ were vnenhabyted: vntill I Debora arose vntyll I arose a mother in Israel.

God chose new facyons of warre/ for whē they had warre at their gates: there was not sene amōge fourtye thousand/ ether shyld or spere in Israel. Of Machir came lerned men in the law/ and of Zabulon that well coulde drawe wt the penne of a scribe.

The Lordes of Issakar were with Debora. And as Barak/ euen so was Issakar sent into the valeye a fote. But in ỳ [b] deuysyons of Rubē/ were great ymagynaciōs of herte.

¶ b. The pryde of the Rubenits is here noted because they refused to go with Debora to ouercome the oppressour of Israel.

Wherfore abodest thou amonge the shepe folds/ to heare the bleatynges of the flockes. In the deuysyons of Ruben / great were the ymagynaciōs of herte. Galaad abode on the other syde Jordan / and why taryed dan in shippes. And Aser sate in the hauens of the see/ and abode styll in his awne costes. But Zabulon is a people that put their lyues in ieopardye of death/ and Nephthalim in lyke maner / euen vnto the toppe of the feldes.

[c] Kynges came and fought. Then fought the Kynge of Canaan at Thanach/ vpō the water of Magedo. But the syluer ỳ they coueted/ they caryed not awaye.

c. By these wordes synnyfyeth Debora that the kynges hostes of the Cananytes came to Thanach & Magedo thynckynge verely/ because of the multitude of the hoste / that they came not to fyght: but to take a praye. but they were fore deceaued. for it so chaunsed that they were rather a pray to Israel/ than Israel to them.

From heauē came battell: for the sterres being in their course/ fought agaynst Sisara. The ryuer of Kison caught them awaye: that auncient ryuer the ryuer Kison.

My soule: treade thou the myghtye vnderfote. Then they malled the horses legges/ ỳ their myghtie courlers lefte praunsyng.

Curse Meroz bad the angell of the Lorde Curse / Curse the enhabytoures therof because they came not forth to helpe ỳ Lord/ to helpe the Lord amōge the myghtie.

Blessed be Jael the wyfe of Haber the kenyte / aboue other women: aboue other wemen blessed be she in the tente.

He asked water/ but she gaue him mylcke/ and brought butter in a goodlye dyshe. She caught a nayle in her leafte hand/ and a worckynge hāmer in her right/ and nayled Sisara and wounded his head and pearced & wēt thorowe his temples. Betwene her fete he bowed him self/ felle downe and laye stylle: Betwene her fete he bowed hym self & felle. And whether he bowed him selfe/ thyther he felle brought to nought.

And ỹ elders of Galaad sayde to Jephthah/ ỹ Lord be witnesse betwene vs yf we do not accordyng to thy wordes. Then Jephthah wēt w̄ ỹ elders of Galaad. And ỹ people made him heed & ruler ouer thē. And Jephthah rehersed all his wordes in Mazphah

Then Jephthah sent messengers vnto the Kyng of ỹ chyldrē of Ammon/saying: what ayleth ỹ w̄ me ỹ thou comest vpō me to fight agaynst my lāde? And ỹ Kyng of ỹ chyldrē of Ammō ānswered vnto ỹ messengers of Jephthah/because Israel toke awaye my lād/whē they came out of Egypt: euē frō Arnon vnto Jabok/& frō thence vnto Jordā. Now therfore restore those lāds agayne w̄ fayre meanes. And Jephthah sent messengers agayne vnto ỹ chyldrē of Ammō / & sayde vnto hym: thus sayth Jephthah. Israel toke not awaye ỹ lande of Moab/nor ỹ lād of ỹ chyldrē of Ammō. But whē Israel came out of Egypt/ they walked thorowe ỹ wyldernesse/euē vnto ỹ redd see/& came to Cads/& sent messengers vnto ỹ kyng of Edō sayīg: let vs we praye ỹ go thorou thy lande. But ỹ Kyng of Edom wolde not agree therto. And in lyke maner they sent vnto the Kyng of Moab/but he wold not cōsent. And so Israel so Israel abode styll in Cades. And then they went a long thorow the wylderneſſe/ & compaſed the lãde of Edom/ & ỹ lande of Moab/ and came a long by the eaſt ſyde of the lande of Moab/ & pitched on the otherſyde ỹ ryuer of Arnon/ & came not within the cooſtes of the Moabites: for Arnon was their vtmoſt border. And then Israel ſent meſſengers vnto Sehon/ kyng of the Amorites/ & kynge of Hesbon/ & ſayde vnto hym: Lett vs paſſe thorow thy lande vnto owre awne contreye. But Sehon truſted not Israel/ to go thorou hys cooſtes: but gathered all hys people to geather & pytched in Jazah/ & fought wyth Israel. But the Lorde God of Israel delyuered Sehon & all his folcke into the hãdes of Israel. And ſo Israel ſmote them & conquered all the lande of the Amorites/ the enhabiters of the ſayde cõtreye. And they cõquered all the cooſtes of the Amorites/ from Arnon vnto Jabok/ & from the wylderneſſe vnto Jordan. So now ſeing the Lorde God of Israel hathe caſt out ỹ Amorites before his people ſhuldeſt thou poſſeſſe the lãde? Naye/ but what people Camos thy God dryueth out/ ỹ lande poſſeſſe thou. But whatſoeuer nacyons the Lorde oure God expelleth/ that lande ought we to enioye. And therto art thou better then Balack ỹ ſonne of Zephor kynge of Moab? dyd he ſtryue wyth Israel or fyght agaynſt thẽ? all ỹ whyle Israel dwelt in Hesbon & her townes/ & in Aroer & her townes/ & in all the cyties ỹ be a longe by the cooſtes of Arnon. iij. hundred yeres? why dydſt thou not recouer thẽ in all that ſpace/ wherfore I haue not ſynned agaynſt the. But thou doeſt me wronge/ to warre agaynſt me. The Lorde therfore be iudge this daye/ betwene the childrẽ of Israel/ and the chyldrẽ of Ammon. How be it the kyng of ỹ childrẽ of Ammon harkened not vnto ỹ wordes of Jephthah which he ſent him.

Then the ſpryte of the Lorde came vpon Jephthah. And he paſſed ouer Galaad & Manaſſes/ & came to Mazphah ỹ lyeth in Galaad/ & frõ thence vnto ỹ childrẽ of Ammon. And Jephthah vowed a vowe vnto ỹ Lorde & ſayde: If thou ſhalt delyuer ỹ childzen of Ammon into my handes/ then that thyng ỹ cometh out of the dores of my houſe agaynſt me/ whẽ I come home in peace/ frõ the chyldzen of Ammon/ ſhalbe the Lordes/ & I will offer it vp a burntofferyng. And ſo Jephthah wẽt vnto the chyldzen of Ammon to fyght wt thẽ. And ỹ Lord delyuered thẽ into his handȝ And he ſmote thẽ from Aroer vnto Menith/ xx. cyties. And ſo forth to ỹ playne of the vyneyardes/ & made an excedyng great ſlaughter. And thus the chyldzen of Ammon were brought vnder/ before the chyldrẽ of Israel.

Then Jephthah came to Mazphah vnto his houſe. And le/ his daughter came out agaynſt hym/ wt tymbereiles & daunces/ which was his onely childe: ſo ỹ beſyde her he had nether ſonne nor daughter. And when he ſawe her/ he rent his clothes & ſayde: Alas my daughter/ thou haſt * made me ſtoupe & art one of thẽ that trouble me. For * I haue opened my mouth vnto the Lorde/ & cannot go backe. And ſhe ſayde vnto hym: my father/ yf thou haue opened thy mouth vnto the Lord/ then do with me accordyng to that proceaded out of thy mouthe/ for as moche as the Lorde hathe aduenged the of thyne enemyes ỹ childzen of Ammon. And ſhe ſayde vnto her father/ do this moche for me: lett me alone two monethes ỹ I maye go downe to the mountaynes & bewayle my virginite with my felowes. And he ſayde: go/ and ſo he ſent her awaye two monethes. And ſhe wẽt with her cõpanyons & lamẽted her mayden heed vpõ the moũtaynes. And after ỹ two monethes/ ſhe turned agayne vnto her father which dyd wt her accordynge to hys bowe which he had bowed/ and ſo ſhe knewe no man. And it became an ordynaunce in Israel yere by yere/ that the daughters of Israel ſhulde go & lamente the daughter of Jephthah the Galaadite/ foure dayes in a yere. G

A And the chyldren of Jsrael beganne agayne to cōmytte wyckednesse in ỹ syght of ỹ Lorde. And ỹ Lord deliuered thē into ỹ hands of ỹ Philistines fourtye yere. Then Manoah made intercession to the Lorde/ and sayde: I praye the my Lorde lett ỹ man of God which thou sendest come once moare vnto vs & teache vs what we shall do vnto ỹ ladd/ whē he is borne. And God hearde ỹ voyce of Manoah/ & ỹ angell of God came agayne vnto the wyfe as she satt in the feldz: But Manoah her husbande was not wt her. And Manoah arose & wēt after hys wyfe and came to the mā and sayde vnto hym: art thou the man ỹ spakest vnto my wyfe? And he sayde/ yee. Then Manoah sayde/ now whē C thy saying is come to passe: what shalbe the maner of the chylde/ & what shall he do? Then sayde Manoah vnto the Angell of ỹ Lord/ graūte vs to tarye vntill we haue made redye a kydd & haue set it before ỹ. ¶ The .xiiij. Chapter.

S Amson wēt doune to Thamnath/ & A sawe a womā in Thamnath of the the daughters of the Philistines/ & came vp and tolde hys father & hys mother/ and sayde: I haue sene a woman in

Thamnath

Thamnath of ỹ daughters of ỹ Philistines. And now geue her me to wyfe. Then his father and mother sayde vnto him / is there neuer a womā of the daughters of thy brethrē / amonge all my people: but that thou must go & fette a wyfe of the vncircumcysed Philistines? And Samson sayd vnto his father / geue me this womā for she pleaseth me well But his father and mother wist not that it was the Lordes doing / and that he sought an occasyon of the Philistines / which at that tyme raygned ouer Israel.

B Then went Samson and hys father and his mother downe to Thamnath. And when they came to the vyneyardes of Thamnath: beholde a young Lyon rored vpon hym. And the spyrite of the Lorde came vpon hym. And he tare him / as a man wolde rent a Kydde / and yet had nothing in his hande. Neuertheles he tolde not his father & mother what he had done. And he went downe and talked with the woman / which semed well fauored in the syght of Samson.

And within a shorte space after / as he wēt thither agayne to take her to wyfe / he turned out of ỹ waye / to se ỹ carkasse of ỹ Lyō. And beholde there was a swarme of bees in the carkasse of the Lyon and honye. And he toke of the honye in hys handes and went eatyng / and came to hys father and mother and gaue them also. And they dyd eate. But he tolde not them / that he had takē the honye out of the carkasse of the Lyon.

And when is father was come vnto the C woman. Samson made there a feast / for so vsed the younge men to do. And when her frendes sawe him / they brought .xxx. companyons to beare felowshippe. And Samson sayde vnto them: I wyll put forthe a ryddle vnto you. And yf you can declare it within vij. dayes of the feast and fynde it out / I wyll geue you thyrtie shertes and thirtye chaūge of garmentes: But & yf you cannot declare it me / then shall ye geue me thirtye shertes & thirtie chaunge of garmentes. And they answered him / put forth thy ryddle and lett vs heare it. And he sayde vnto them. Out of ỹ eater came meate: and out of the strong cam swetnesse. And they coulde not in thre dayes D expounde the ryddle. And whē the seuēth daye was come / they sayde vnto Samsons wyfe. Flatter with thyne husbande / that he maye declare vs thy ryddle / or elles we wyll burne the and thy fathers house with fyre / haue ye called vs to make vs beggers or not? Then Samsons wyfe wepte vnto him and sayde / it cannot be but that thou hatest me & louest me not: for thou hast put forth a ryddle vnto the children of my folke and wylt not tell me what it meaneth. And he sayde: Beholde / I haue not tolde it my father nor my mother / and shulde I tell it the?

And she wepte vnto him .vij. dayes / while the feaste lasted. And the seuēth daye he tolde her / because she laye so sore vpō him. And she tolde it the chyldren of her folke. And ỹ men of the cytie sayde vnto him the seuenth daye before the sonne wēt downe. What is sweter then honye / and what is strōger then a Lyon Then sayde he vnto thē: If ye had not * plowed with my caulfe / ye had not founde out my ryddle. Then the spyrite of the Lorde came vpō hym. And he went downe to Askalon / & slewe thyrtie men of them / and spoyled thē / and gaue their garmentes vnto them which expounded the ryddle. And he was wroth and wēt vp to his fathers house. But Samsons wyfe was geuen to one of his companyons that bare him companye.

A But it chaūced within a whyle after / euen in the tyme of whete herueste / ỹ Samson visited hys wyfe with a Kidde. And when he supposed to haue gone in vnto hys wyfe into the chamber / her father wolde not suffre hym to go in: But sayde: I thought that thou haddest hated her / & therfore gaue I her vnto one of thy companyons. Now be it / her younger sister is fayrer then she. Take her in steade of the other. Then sayde Samson vnto them: Now I am blameles cōcernyng the Philistines / though I do them euell.

And Samson went out and caught thre hundred Foxes / and toke fyrebrandes / & fastened tayle to tayle / and put a fyre brāde in ỹ myddes / betwene two tayles. And he sett ỹ fyre brandes on fyre / and put them into the corne of the Philistines / and burnt vp bothe the reped corne and also the standynge / with vynes & olyues. And they sayde vnto him/we are come to bynde the & to delyuer ỹ into the hãdes of ỹ Philistines. And Samson sayde vnto them: Swere vnto me/ỹ ye shall not hurte me youre selues. ¶ Samson lyfteth vp the Gates of Gaza and caryeth thẽ vp in to the mountayne. He was deceaued by Dalilah & made blynde. He pulleth downe the house vpon the Philistines and dyeth with them.

¶ The. xvi. Chapter.

THen went Samson to Gaza/and saw there an whore/& went in vnto her. And it was tolde the Gazites/that Samson was come thither. And they wẽt aboute and layde awaite for him all nyght in the gate of the cytie/ but were styll all the nyght saying: Tarye tyll ỹ mornyng ỹ it be daye/& then lett vs kyll him And Samson toke his rest tylle midnyght/ and arose at midnyght and toke the dores of the gate of the citye/& the two syde postes/& rent them of/barres and all/ & put them vpõ his shoulders/and caryed thẽ vp to the toppe of an hyll that lyeth before Hebron.

And after that he loued a woman/vpõ the ryuer of Sorek/called Dalilah vnto whom came the Lordes of the Philistines/ & sayde vnto her: Flatter with hym & se wherin hys great strenght lyeth/and by what meane we maye haue power ouer hym/that we maye
B bynde him/to bryng him vnder/and we wyll geue euerye mã a leuẽ hũdred sylueryinges.

And Dalilah sayde to Samson. Oh/tell me where thy great strẽght lyeth/& yf thou were boũde wherwith men might cõstrayne the. And Samson sayde vnto her. If men bounde me with. vij. grene withthes ỹ were neuer dryed/I shulde be weake & as another man. And then the Lordes of the Philistines brought her. vij. withthes ỹ were yet grene & neuer dryed/and she bounde him therwith. Notwythstandynge she had men lyinge in wayte with her in the chãbre. And she sayde vnto him/the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And he brake the cordes as a strynge of towe breaketh/when hit fealeth fire. And so his strenght was not knowen.

Then sayde Dalilah to Samson: Se thou
C hast mocked me and tolde me lyes. Now yet tell me I praye ỹ/wherwith thou myghtest be bounde. And he sayde: If I were bounde with newe ropes that neuer were occupyed/ then shulde I be weake/and as another mã. And Dalilah toke new ropes & bounde hym therwith/& sayde vnto him/the Philistines be vpon the Samson. And there were lyers of wayte in the chamber/and he brake them from of hys armes/ as they had bene but a threde. And Dalilah sayd vnto Samson/hitherto thou hast begyled me & tolde me lyes: I praye the yet telle me wherwith men maye bynde ỹ. And he sayde vnto her: If thou plattedest the seuen lockes of myheed wyth an hearre lace and fastnedest thẽ wyth a nayle. And she sayde vnto hym/the Philistines be vpõ the Samson. And he awaked out of his slepe/& plucked & went awaye wt the nayle ỹ was in the plattyng & with ỹ hearre lace.
D Then she sayde vnto him: How canst thou say ỹ thou louest me/when thine hert is not wt me: for thou hast mocked me this iij. tymes/ & hast not tolde wherin thy great strenght lyeth. And as she laye vpõ hym wt her wordes cõtinually beryng of him/his soule was encombred euẽ vnto the death. And he tolde her all his herte/and sayde vnto her: there neuer came raser nor sheres vpõ myne heed/ for I haue bene an abstayner to God euẽ frõ my mothers wombe. If myne hearre were cut of/my strẽght wold go frõ me/& I shuld waxe & be lyke all other men. And when Dalilah sawe ỹ he had tolde her all his hert/ she sent for the Philistines saying / come vp yet thys once / for he hath shewed me all his herte.

Then the Lordes of the Philistines came and brought the money in their handes. And she made him slepe vpon her lappe / and sent for a man / and cut of the seuē lockes of hys heed & begāne to vexe him. But his strenght was gone from him. And she sayde the Philistines be vpō the Samson. And he awooke out of hys slepe and thought to go out as at other tymes before & shake him selfe / & wist not that the Lorde was departed from hym. But ỹ Philistines toke him and put out hys eyes / and brought hym doune to Gaza / and bounde him with fetters. And he was made to grinde in the prison house / how be it the ¶ hearre of his heed beganne to growe agayne after that he was shorne.

Then ỹ Lords of ỹ Philistines geathered thē to geather for to offer a solempne offring vnto Dagon their God / & to reioyse: for they sayde / oure God hathe delyuered Samson oure enemye into oure handes. And whē the people sawe him / they praysed their God: for they sayd oure God hath delyuered into oure handes oure enemye / ỹ destroyed oure contreye and slue manye of vs. And when their herts were merye / they sayd: sende for Samson & lett him playe before vs. And they fette Samson out of ỹ prisonhouse / & he played before thē / & they set him betwene ỹ pillers. ¶ And Samson sayde vnto the ladd that leed him by the hāde: sett me that I maye touche the pyllers that the house stande vpō / & that I maye leane to thē. And the house was full of men & wemen. And there was all ỹ lords of the Philistines. And there were vpon the roufe a thre thousand men & wemen / that beheld how Samson played.

And Samson called vnto the Lorde / and sayde: my Lorde Iehouah thynke vpon me / & strengthen me / at this tyme onlye O God / that I maye be auenged of the Philistines for my two eyes. And Samson caught the two myddell pyllers on which ỹ house stode and on which it was borne vp / the one in his ryght hande / & the other in his lefte / & sayde: my soule dye with the Philistines / & bowed them with might. And the house fell vpon ỹ lordes and vpō all the people ỹ were therin. And so the deed which he slewe at hys deeth / were moo then they which he slewe in hys lyfe. And then his brethren and all the house of his father came downe and toke hym vp / and brought hym and buryed hym betwene Sarah and Esthaol / in the burying place of Manoah hys father. And he iudged Israell twentye yere.

ℭ The.xviij.Chapter.

A IN those dayes there was no kyng in Israel. And in those dayes the trybe of Dan sought thē an enheritaunce to dwell in / for vnto that tyme there fell none enheritaunce vnto thē amōge the trybe of Israel. And the childrē of Dan sent of their kynred fyue men of actiuite/ out of their coostes/ euē out of Saraah & Esthaol/ to bewe the lāde & learche it out/ & sayde vnto thē: go & learche out ỹ lāde. And they came to mount Ephraim/ euē to ỹ house of Micah & lodged there. And whē they were come vnto the house of Micah/ they knew ỹ voice of the young mā ỹ Leuite/ & turned in thither/ and sayde vnto him: who brought ỹ
B hither? & what makest thou in this place? & what hast thou here. And he sayd vnto thē/ thus and thus dealeth Micah wyth me and hath hired me to be his preast. And they sayd vnto him: Aske of God I praye the / that we maye knowe whether ỹ waye which we go/ shalbe prosperous or no. And the preast sayd vnto them: go in peace / for the waye whych ye go is before the Lorde.

Then the fyue men departed and came to Lais, & sawe the people ỹ were therin/ how they dwelt careles / & after the maner of ỹ Sidōs/ stille/ & without castyng of parells/ & that no mā made any trouble in the lande or vsurped any dominion / & how they were farre frō the Sidons & had no busines with

And they sayd vp and lett vs go vnto thē/
* Nume.xiij.d. * for we haue sene ỹ lāde/ ỹ it is verye good. Haste therfore & be not slouthfull to departe & to go & cōquere the lāde. Whē ye be come/ ye shall come vnto a people that casteth no parelles / and vnto a large contrey: for God hathe geuē into youre hādes a place wherin is no lacke of any thyng ỹ is in the worlde.

And there departed thence of the kynred of the Dannites/ out of Saraah and Esthaol fyre hūdred men apoynted with instrumētes of warre. And they wēt & pytched in Kariath Jarim in Juda. Wherfore the place is called Mahanah Dan vnto this daye/ which is on

Then answered the fyue men ỹ went to spye out the cōtreye of Lais/ & sayde vnto their brethren: wot ye not that there is in these houses an Ephod & Images/ & a grauē Image/ and an Image of metall? Now therfore consydre what ye haue to do.

And they turned thyther warde & came to the house of the younge man the Leuite in the house of Micah/ & saluted him peasably. And ỹ fyre hūdred men gyrded wᵗ wepons of warre which were of ỹ childrē of Dan stode in the enteryng of the gate. And ỹ fyue men E that went to spye out the lande/ went in thither and toke the kerued Image/ & ỹ Ephod the kerued Image / & the Image of metall. And the preast stode in the enterynge of the gate with the fyre hūdred men that were armed vnto battell/ while ỹ other wēt to Micahs house/ and fett the kerued Image / the Ephod / the kerued Image and ỹ Image of metall. Then sayde the preast vnto thē: what do ye? & they answered hym / holde thy peace and* put thyne hande vpō thy mouthe / and * Or this in come with vs/ and be vnto vs a father and a Job.xxxix.d. preast / whether is it better for the to be a preast vnto the house of one man / or to be preast vnto a tribe or a kinred in Israel? And the preast was glad and toke the Ephod and the Images/ and the grauen Image/ & went with the people. And they turned & departed/ and put the chylᵈrē/ the catell & their costlye F thynges before them.

When they were a good waye frō ỹ house of Micah / the men that were in the houses ỹ were by Micahs house/ made an out crye/ and folowed after the childrē of Dan and called vnto thē. And they turned their faces/ and sayde vnto Micah/ what ayleth the/ that thou makest an out crye: And he sayde / ye haue takē awaye my Goddes which I made & also the preast / and go youre wayes wyth thē: And what haue I moare / how then saye ye vnto me/ what ayleth the? And the childrē of Dan sayde vnto him/ let not thy voyce be heard amōge vs/ leste angrye felowes runne vpon the / and thou loose thy lyfe / wyth the lyues of all thyne housholde to. And so the childrē of Dan went their wayes. And whē Micah sawe that they were to stronge for him/ he turned & went backe vnto hys house agayne.

But his master sayde vnto him/we wyll not turne in to a straunge cytye that are not of the chyldren of Jsraell: we wyll go forth to Gabaah. ¶ The .fyrst. Chapter.

A THere was a man of Ramathaim Zophim / of mount Ephraim named Elkanah / ẏ sonne of Jerohā/ the sonne of Elihu / ẏ sonne of Thohu / the sonne of Zuph an Ephrathite: whych had two wiues/ ẏ one called Hannah & ẏ other Phenēnah. And Phenēnah had childrē/ but Hannah had none. And ẏ sayde man went out of his citie euerye festfull daye / to praye & to offer vnto ẏ Lord of hostes: where the two sonnes of Eli (Hophni & Phinehes) were ẏ Lordes prestes. And it fell on a daye as Elkanah had offered ẏ he gaue to Phenēnah his wife & to all her sonnes & daughters porciōs. But vnto Hānah he gaue a* porciō wyth a heuye chere / for he loued her/ neuertheless the Lorde had made her barren. And therto her enemye Phenennah vexed her a good in casting her in ẏ tethe how ẏ Lord had made her barren. And so did she yere by yere as ofte as she wēt vp to the house of ẏ Lord. And so chafed her/ wherfore Hannah wepte & ate not. Then sayde Elkanah her husband to her: Hannah why wepest thou? and why eatest thou not? & why is thyne herte so troubled? am not I better to the/ then ten sonnes? Then Hannah rose vp after ẏ they had eatē & droncke in Siloh. And Eli the preaste sate vpō a stole by one of ẏ syde postes of the tēple of ẏ Lorde. And she was troubled in her spretes/ & prayed vnto ẏ Lorde & wepte sore/ & vowed a vowe & sayde. Lorde of hostes/ yf thou wilt loke on ẏ wretchednesse of thine handmayde & shalt remēbre me & not forget thine hādmayde/ & shalt geue vnto thine hādmayde a mānchylde I will geue him vntō ẏ Lorde/ all ẏ dayes of his life & there shal nether raser or sheres come vpon his heed. And as she continued prayng before ẏ Lord/ Eli marked her mouth. For Hannah she spake in her herte/ & her lippes dyd but moue onlye/ but her voyce was not hearde. And therfore Eli toke her for dronkē & sayd vnto her/ how lōg wylt thou be dronkē? put awaye frō ẏ/ ẏ wyne ẏ thou hast. Hannah answered & sayde: not so my Lorde/ I am a woman sorowfull in myne herte/ and haue droncke nether wyne nor any strong drynck / but I haue [a] poured out my soule before the Lorde. Count not thyne handmayde to be lyke a daughter of vnthryftines: for out of the aboundaunce of my meditacīō and greate haue I spoken hitherto.

Eli answered and sayde: go in peace the God of Israell shall graunt the thy peticyon that thou hast asked of him. Then she sayde let thyne hādmayde fynde grace in thy sight. And so the woman went her waye / and dyd eate and loked no more so sadde. And they rose vp erlye and bowed them selues before ẏ Lorde/ & then returned & wēt to their house to Ramath. And Elkanah laye by his wyfe Hannah/ and the Lorde remembred her. And in processe of tyme she conceaued and bare a sonne & called his name* Samuel: because she had asked him of the Lorde. And Elkanah and all hys house went vp to offer vnto the Lorde/ bothe the offerynges due for the feast and also his vowes: but Hannah wēt not vp for she sayde vnto her husbande: I will tarye vntill the ladde be wened/ & then I will bring him/ ẏ he maye apeare before ẏ Lord & there abide for euer. And Elkanah her husbād saide to her: do what semith ẏ best: tarye vntill thou hast wened hym / onlye ẏ Lorde make good his saying. And so ẏ womā abode & gaue her sonne sucke/ vntill she wened hī. And thē she toke him wᵗ her/ when she had wened him/ wᵗ thre bullockes & an Epha of floure & a bottell of wine / & brought him vnto ẏ house of the Lorde in Siloh how be it ẏ child was yet yōge. And they slue ẏ bullockes & brought in ẏ ladd to Eli/ & then she sayde: Oh my Lord: as truly as thy soule lyueth my Lorde: I am the womā ẏ stode by ẏ here/ praying vnto ẏ Lord & for this ladde I praied/ & ẏ Lord hath geuē me my desire which I asked of hī: & therfore I also lēde hī ẏ Lord/ as lōg as he may be lēt ẏ Lorde. And so they prayed there vnto ẏ Lord.

A AND Hannah prayed & sayde: myne herte reioyseth in the Lorde/myne horne is hye in the Lorde / and my mouth is wyde open ouer mine ennemyes/ for I reioyse in thy sauyng. There is none so holye as ỹ Lorde: no there is none saue thou. Nether is there any stregth lyke vnto oure God. And all that the flesshe hoke brought vp the preaste toke awaye. And so they did vnto all Israell that came thyther to Siloh. And yf any mā sayde vnto him let the fatt be offered accordyng to the daye/ & then take as moche as thine herte desireth. And when the people were come into their tētes / the elders of Israel sayde: wherfore hath the Lorde beatē vs this daye before the Philistines? let vs fetche the arcke of the apoyntmēt of the Lorde / out of Siloh vnto vs / & let it come amōge vs & saue vs out of the handes of oure enemyes. And whē the arcke of the apoyntmēt of the Lord cam into the host / all Israel showted a myghtie showte / so that the erth rang agayne.

When the Philistines herde the noyse of the showte they sayde: what meaneth the sound of this myghtie showt in the host of the Ebrues? And they vnderstode how that the arcke of the Lorde was come into the host. And the Philistines were afrayed / whē it was tolde how that God was come into the host & saide. And ỹ people bzought euery mã his oxe in his hand by nyght & slue thē there. And Saul made an altare vnto ỹ Lozde. And ỹ was the fyrst altare ỹ he made vnto the Lozde. And Saul sayde: lett vs go downe after the Philistines by nyght/ & lett vs make hauoke amōge thē vntill it be daye in ỹ moznyng/ & lett vs not leaue one of thē. And ỹ people answered/ do whatsoeuer thou thinkest best. Then sayde the pzeaste: lett vs come hither vnto God. And Saul asked of God: shall I go downe after ỹ Philistines? & wilt thou delyuer thē into myne hand? But he answered him not at ỹ tyme. Then sayde Saul let the people come hyther out of all quarters/ & know & se / in whō this synne is chaũced this daye: foz as truly as the Lozde lyueth which hath saued Israel / thoughe it be in Jonathas my sonne / he shall dye foz it. But no man answered him of all the people.

Then he sayde vnto all Israel: be ye on one syde/ & I & Jonathas my sonne wilbe on another. And ỹ people sayde vnto Saul: what thou thynkest best that do. And Saul sayde vnto the Lozde God of Israel: geue perfect knowledge. And Saul and Jonathas were caught/ & the people skaped free. Then sayd Saul: cast lott zs betwene me & Jonathas my sonne. And Jonathas was caught. Then Saul sayde to Jonathas: tell me what thou hast done. And Jonathas tolde him & sayde: I tasted a lytle honye vpon the ende of my staffe ỹ was in myne hande/ & se/ I must dye.

Then sayd Saul* God do so and so to me/ except ỹ thou dye Jonathas. But the people sayde vnto Saul: shall Jonathas dye which hath so myghtelye holpe Israel? God forbyd As truly as ỹ Lozde lyueth / there shall not one hearre of his heed fall to ỹ groũde: foz he hath wzought wyth God this daye. And so ỹ people delyuered Jonathas / ỹ he dyed not. And then Saul departed frō folowynge the Philistines. And ỹ Philistines went to their awne place. The.xv. Chapter.

THen sayde Samuel vnto Saul: ỹ Lorde sent me to anoynt ỹ Kynge ouer his people Israel. Now therfore obeye thou the voyce of the wordes of the Lorde. Thus sayth the Lorde of hoostes: I haue called to remembraunce ỹ Exo.xvij.c. which Amaleck did to Israel* how they laye in wayte for them in the waye/ as they came out of Egypte. Now therfore go & smyte the Amalechites/ & only destroye ye all that pertayneth vnto thē/ & se thou haue no cōpassyō on thē. But slay bothe man & womā/ infant & suckling/ & oxe/ shepe/ camell & Asse.

And Saul tolde it the people/ & nombred them in Telaim two hundred thousand foote men/ & ten thousand mē of Juda. And Saul came vnto a cytie of ỹ Amalechitz/ & fought in a valeye. But Saul sayd vnto the Kenitz go & departe and gett ye doune frō among ỹ Amalechites/ leste I destroye you with them for ye shewed mercy wyth Israel when they came out of Egypt. And ỹ Kenites departed
B from amonge the Amalechites.

And Saul slue the Amalechites frō Heuila to Sur that lyeth before Egypt/ & toke Agag the Kyng of the Amalechites a lyue/ & vtterlye destroyed all the people with ỹ edge of the swerde. But Saul & the people spared Agag/ and they left of the shepe and of the oxen and* fatt thynges and the lambes & all that was good/ and wolde not destroye thē. But all that was nought worth & slaggye/ that they destroyed vtterlye. Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Samuel saying: it a repenteth me ỹ I haue made Saul kyng. For he is turned from me & hath not parformed my commaundementes/ wherfore Samuel was euell apaide & cryed vnto ỹ Lord all nyght. And Samuel rose erlye/ to mete Saul in ỹ morynyng. And it was tolde Samuel that Saul was come to Carmel/ and had set him vp a piller of triūphe. And was turned and departed and gone to Galgall.

And when Samuel was come to Saul/ Saul sayde vnto him: Blessed be thou in the Lorde. I haue done the commaundement of D the Lorde. And Samuel answered: what meaneth then the bleatynge of the shepe in myne eares/ & the noyse of the oxen which I heare? And Saul sayde: they haue brought them from the Amalechites. For the people spared the best of the shepe and of the oxen/ to sacrifyce vnto the Lorde thy God. And the remnaunt we haue destroyed.

But Samuel sayde to Saul: cease & let me tell the what the Lorde hath sayde to me thys nyght. And he sayde vnto hym: saye on. And Samuel sayde when thou wast b lytle in thyne awne syght/ wast thou not made ỹ heed of the trybes of Israel? And the Lorde anoynted the Kynge ouer Israel. And then ỹ Lord sent the on a iourneye/ & sayde vnto ỹ/ se that thou vtterlye destroye those synners/ the Amalechites & fyght agaynst them vntill ye haue vtterlye destroyed thē. And wher-E fore hast thou now not obeyed the voyce of ỹ Lorde: But dydest turne to the praye & hast wrought wickednesse in ỹ syght of ỹ Lorde?

And Saull sayde vnto Samuel: I haue obeyed the voyce of the Lorde/ and went the waye which ỹ Lord sent me/ & haue brought Agag the Kynge of the Amalechites. And haue vtterlye destroyed ỹ Amalechites. And the people toke of the spoyle/ shepe/ oxen/ & the chefest of the thynges which shuld haue bene destroyed/ to offer vnto ỹ Lord thy God in Galgal. Then sayd Samuel: hath ỹ Lord as great pleasure in burnt sacrifyces & offerynges/ as he hath that thou shuldest obeye his voyce? Beholde/ to c obaye is better then offeryng/ and to geue heade is better then ỹ fatt of rammes. For rebellyousnesse is as ỹ synne of witchcrafte/ & stoburnesse is wickednesse & Idolatrye. Because therfore thou hast cast awaye the worde of the Lord/ therfore hathe the Lorde cast away the also/ frō beyng Kynge.

Then sayde Saul to Samuel: I haue synned for I haue trespaced the mouth of the Lorde/ and thy wordes/ because I feared the people & obeyed their voyce. But now take awaye my synne/ & turne agayne wyth me/ that I maye worshipe the Lorde. Then sayde Samuel vnto Saul: I wyll not returne wt the: for thou hast cast awaye the byddynge of God/ & therfore the Lorde hath d cast awaye the also/ ỹ thou shalt not be Kynge ouer Israel. And as Samuel turned to go awaye/ he caught the lappe of his coote/ and it rent. Then Samuel sayde/ the Lorde hath rent ỹ Kyngdome of Israel from the this daye/ and hath geuen it to a neyboure of thyne that is better then thou. And therto he that geueth victorye to Israel/ will not begyle nor repēt: for he is not a man/ that can repent.

Then he sayd: I haue synned. But yet honoure me before ỹ elders of my people/ and before Israel/ and turne agayne with me/ that I maye praye vnto the Lorde thy God. And Samuel turned agayne and folowed Saul. And Saul prayed vnto the Lorde.
G Then sayd Samuel: Bryng ye hither to/ me Agag the Kynge of the Amalechites. And Agag came vnto him* delycately. And Agag sayde: truly ỹ bitternesse of deeth cometh on. And Samuel sayd: As thy swerde hath made wemē childelesse/ so shall thy mother be childelesse amōge other wemen. And so Samuel hewed Agag in peaces before the Lorde in ¶ The battell of the Philistines agaynst Israel. Lyetell Dauid ouercometh great Goliath.

¶ The.xvij. Chapter.

A THe Philistines geathered their hoste to battell/ & came to gether to Socoh in Juda/ and pytched betwene Sococh and Azekah/ in the ende of Domim. And Saul and the men of Israel came and pytched in Ockedale/ & put them selues in a raye/ to fyght agaynst the Philistines. And the Philistines stode on an hyll on the one syde/ & Israel stode on an hyll on ỹ other syde/ & a valeye betwene thẽ. And then came a mã & stode in the myddes/ out of ỹ tẽtes of the Philistines named Goliath/ of Geth syxe cubytes & an hãdbredeth longe/ & had an helmet of brasse vpon his heed/ and a coote of mayle about him. And ỹ weyght of his coote of mayle was fyue thousande Cykles of brasse. And he had harnesse of brasse vpõ his legges/ & a shilde of brasse vpon hys shoulders. And ỹ shafte of his spere was like a weuers beame. And his speare heed weyed vi. hundred sykles of yron. And one bearyng a shylde went before him.

And he stode & called vnto the hoste of Israel/ & sayde vnto them: what neadeth ỹ ye shulde come out in araye to battell? am not I a Philistine/ & you seruaũts to Saul/ chose you a mã/ and lett him come downe to me/

yf he be able to fyght with me & to beate me/ then we wyll be youre seruauntes. But yf I can ouer come hym and beate hym: then ye
B shalbe owre seruauntes and serue vs. And ỹ Philistine sayde: I haue defyed ỹ host of Israel this daye geue me a man & lett vs fight to gether. When Saul & all Israel herde those wordes of ỹ Philistine/ they were discouraged and greatly afrayed. And this Dauid was the sonne of an Ephrathite of Bethlehē Juda/ named Jsai/ which Jsai had eight sonnes. And was an olde man in the dayes of Saul amonge ỹ people. And the thre eldest sonnes of Jsai wēt & folowed Saul to battell. And the names of his thre sonnes ỹ wēt to battell/ were: Eliab the eldest/ & the next to him Abinadab/ & the thrid Samah/ & Dauid was ỹ youngest. And whē the thre eldest were gone after Saul/ Dauid went and departed from Saul/ to fede his fathers shepe at Bethlehem. And the Philistine cam forth euery morning and euenynge/ & contynued fourtye dayes.

And Jsai sayde vnto Dauid his sonne: take for thy brethren this Epha of parched corne/ & these ten loues/ & runne to the hoste/ to thy brethren. And carye these ten freshe cheses vnto the captayne/ and loke how thy brethrē fare/ &* fet out their pledges. And Saul & they and all the men of Jsrael were in ocke valey fyghtyng w̄ the Philistines. And Dauid rose vp erlye in the morynge & lefte the shepe with a keper/ & toke and wēt/ as Jsai had cōmaunded him/ and came where ỹ host laye. And ỹ hoste was goying out in araye/ & showted in the battell: for Jsrael & the Philistines had put thē selues in araye/ the one agaynst ỹ other. Then Dauid put ỹ panyer from him/ vnto the handes of the keper of ỹ vessels/ & ranne into the hoste & came & saluted hys brethrē. And as he talked with them: Beholde, there stode a mā in the middes/ Goliath the Philistine by name/ of Beth/ which came out of the Araye of ỹ Philistines/ and spake of the maner aboue rehersed/ ỹ Dauid herde it. And all ỹ men of Jsrael/ whē they saw the mā/ ranne awaye from him/ & were sore afrayed. And euery man of Jsrael sayde: Se ye this man that is come forth/ euen to reuyle Jsrael is he come. And to hym ỹ beateth hym wyll the kyng geue great ryches/ & wyll geue hym hys daughter therto: ye and make his fathers howse free in Jsrael.

Then spake Dauid to the men that stode by & sayde: What shalbe done to the mā that beateth thys Philistine & taketh awaye the shame from Jsrael? for what is this vncircumcyled Philistine/ that he shulde reuyle ỹ hoste of the lyuyng God? And the people an-D swered as it is rehersed sayinge: so shall it be done to the man that beateth him. And Eliab his eldest brother herde when he spake vnto ỹ men & was angrie with Dauid & sayde: Why camest thou awaye/ & with whom hast thou lefte those fewe shepe in ỹ wildernesse? I knowe thy pryde and the malyce of thyne herte/ ỹ thou art come to se the battell. And Dauid answered/ what haue I now done? is there any moare saue a worde? And departed frō by him into another fronte/ & spake of the same maner/ and the people answered him agayne/ as before.

And they ỹ herde the wordes which Dauid spake/ rehersed thē before Saul/ whych caused hym to be fett. And Dauid sayde to Saul: Lett no mannes hert fayle hym because of him. Thy seruaunt wyll go & fyght with this Philistine. And Saul sayde to Dauid agayne/ thou art not able to go vnto this Philistine/ to fyght with hym. For thou art but a ladd/ & he hathe bene a man of warre euē from his youthe. Then sayde Dauid vnto Saul/ as thy seruaunt kept hys fathers shepe/ there came a Lyō & likewise a Beare/ and toke a shepe out of the flocke. And I wēt out after him & smote him/ and toke it out of his mouthe. And when he arose agaynst me/ I caught him by the beарde and smote him & slue him. For bothe a Lyon and also a Beare hath thy seruaūt slayne. And this vncircum-
E cysed Philistine shalbe as one of thē/ for hys raylyng on the hoste of the lyuyng God. And Dauid spake moreouer/ the Lorde that deliuered me out of the hādes of ỹ Lyon and oute of ỹ hādes of ỹ Beare/ he shall delyuer me also oute of the handes of the Philistine.

Then sayde Saul to Dauid go/ & ỹ Lord be with the. And Saul put hys raymēt vpō Dauid/ and put an helmet of brasse vpō hys heede/ and put a coote of mayle vpon hym/ & gyrde Dauid w̄ hys awne swerde vpon his rayment. And he assayed to go/ for he neuer proued it. Then sayde Dauid vnto Saul: I can not go in these/ for I haue not bene vsed therto/ and put them of him & toke his staffe in his hande/ & chose him fyue smothe stones out of a broke & put thē in a shepards bagge which he had/ & in a poke/ & his slyng in his hande/ & went to the Philistine.

And

* It is the maner of soudyars whē they lacke money/ to borow vpō a pledge: therfore is Dauid cōmaunded to redeame his brethrēs pledges.

And ỹ Philistine came & drue nere to Dauid/with the man ỹ bare a shilde before him. And whē ỹ Philistine loked & sawe Dauid: he disdayned him/for he was but a ladd/roudye and goodlye to loke vpon. And the Philistine sayde vnto Dauid: am I a dogg/ ỹ thou comest to me wyth a staffe? & he cursed Dauid in the name of his Goddes. And he sayde to Dauid: come to me and I wyll geue thy flesche vnto the fowles of the ayre/ and to the beastes of the felde. Then sayd Dauid to the Philistine: thou comest to me with a swerde a speare & a shilde: But I come to the in the name of the Lorde of hostes/ the God of the hoste of Israel whom thou hast rayled vpon. This daye shall the Lorde delyuer the into my hande/ & I shall smyte the and take thyne heed from the/ & I wyll geue the karcases of the hoste of the Philistines this daye vnto ỹ fowles of the ayre & to the beastes of ỹ erth/ and all the worlde shall knowe/ that there is a God in Israel. And all this congregacyon shall knowe/ that the Lorde sauyth not with the swerde and speare. For the battell is the Lordes/ & he shall geue you into oure hādes.

And whē the Philistine arose & came and drue nye vnto Dauid. Dauid hasted & ranne in araye euē agaynst ỹ Philistine. And Dauid put his hande in his poke and toke out a stone and slange it/ and smote the Philistine in his forheed that the stone soncke into hys G forheed/ & he felle grouelyng to the erth. And so Dauid ouercame the Philistine wyth a slyng & a stone/ and smote the Philistine and slue him. And because Dauid had no swerde in his hande/ he ranne & stode vpon the Philistine/ & toke his swerde & drue it out of hys shethe/ & slue him and cutte of hys heed therwith. And whē the Philistines sawe ỹ their champion was deed/ they fled. And ỹ men of Israel and of Juda arose & showted and followed after the Philistines/ vntill they came to the valeye and vnto the gates of Akaron. And the Philistines fell downe deed by the waye/ euen vnto Geth & Akaron. And then the chyldren of Israel returned frō chasyng after the Philistines & robbed their tentes. And Dauid toke the heed of the Philistine & brought it to Jerusalem: But he put his armoure in his tente.

Whē Saul saw Dauid go forth agaynst ỹ Philistine/ he sayde vnto Abner ỹ captayne of his hoste: Abner/ whose sonne is this ladd? And Abner answered/ as truly as thy soule lyueth/ O kynge/ I cannot tell. Then sayde the kynge: Enquere thou/ whose sonne the youngelyng is. And so when Dauid was returned from the slaughter of the Philistine/ Abner toke hym and brought hym before Saul/ with the heed of the Philistine in his hande. And Saul sayde to him: whose sonne art thou/ thou ladd? And Dauid answered ỹ sonne of thy seruaunt Jsai ỹ Bethlehemite.

And when he had made an ende of A speakynge vnto Saul/ ỹ soule of Jonathas was knyt wyth ỹ soule of Dauid. In so moche ỹ he loued him as his* awne soule. And Saul toke hym that daye & wolde let him go no moare home to his fathers house. And Jonathas & Dauid bound thē selues the one to the other/ for Jonathas loued him as his awne soule. And Jonathas put of his awne coote ỹ was vpō him/ & gaue it Dauid/ and therto his mātie/ his swerde/ his bowe & his gyrdle. And it happened on ỹ morow/ that the a euell spyrete sent of God came vpon Saul/ so that he prophesyed in the mydes of the house. And Dauid played on ỹ instrumēt w his hāde as he was daylye wont. And Saul had a speare in his hande/ & hourde it entendyng to haue nayled Dauid to ỹ walle. But Dauid auoyded out of hys presence two tymes. For Saul was a fearde of Dauid/ because the Lord was with him/ & was departed from Saul. And then Saul put Dauid frō him & made hym a captayne ouer a thousand/ & he went out and in before the people. And Dauid was wyse in all that he toke in hande/ and the Lorde was w him. Wherfore whē Saul saw ỹ he was so exceedyng wyse/ he was afraid of him. But all Jsrael & Juda loued Dauid/ because he went b out and in before thē. Then sayde Saul to Dauid. Beholde my eldest daughter Merob/ her I wyll geue the to wyfe: Only playe the mā & fight the Lordes batelles. For Saul thought myne hande shall not be vpō hym/ but the hāde of ỹ Philistines. Then sayde Dauid / who shall tell me / yf thy father answer cruelly? Then sayde Jonathas to Dauid / come & lett vs go out into the feldes. And they went out both of them into the feldes.

And Jonathas sayd vnto Dauid: O Lorde god of Israel / whē I haue groped my fathers mynde / one tyme or other wythin thys thre dayes / that it stand well with Dauid: and I then sende not vnto the and shew it the / the Lorde do so & so vnto Jonathas. And in lyke maner / yf euell to the warde please my father / I wyll shew the and sende the awaye / that thou mayst go in peace. And the Lorde be with the as he hath bene with my father. And thou shalt performe vnto me the mercy of the Lord / not onely whyle I lyue but euē whē I am deed plucke not thy mercy away from my * house for euer: No not when the Lorde hath destroyed the enemyes of Dauid euery one from the face of the erth.

* That is / frō my posterytie or offsprynge.

And so Jonathas made a bonde wyth the house of Dauid / desyrynge that the Lorde shulde seke out of the hādes of Dauids enemyes their wickednesse. And wt other wordes Jonathas adiured Dauid / because he loued him. For as his awne soule he loued him.

Then sayde Jonathas to Dauid: to morow shalbe the fyrst daye of the mone. And thou D shalt be mysed / because the place shall appere emptie. But this daye thre dayes come in any wyse vnto the place where thou shalt hyde thy selfe / when it is workedaye: euē by the stoone Esell. And I wyll shote thre arowes by ỹ one syde therof / as though I shott at a marke / and wyll sende after a ladd / and bidde him go seke the arowes. If I saye vnto the lad: se ỹ arowes are on this syde ỹ / bring thē: then come thou: for it is peace & nothing to do / as sure as the Lorde lyueth. But and yf I saye thus vnto the yōg felow / beholde / ỹ Arowes are beyonde ỹ / thē go / for ỹ Lord hath sent ỹ awaye. And of thys which thou & I haue spoke: beholde ỹ Lord is witnesse betwene the & me for euer. And so Dauid hyd him selfe in the feld. And when the new mone was come / ỹ kyng sat him downe at meate / for to eate. And the kyng sat him doune after E the olde maner / in his seate by the wall. And Jonathas arose / & Abner sate by Sauls side / & Dauids place was emptie. Neuertheles yet Saul sayd nothyng at all ỹ daye. For he thought some thynge had chaunced him ỹ he is not cleane. But on the morow which was the seconde daye of the mone / when Dauids place appered emptie. Saul sayde vnto Jonathas hys sonne: wherfore cometh not the sonne of Jsai to meate / nether yesterdaye nor to daye. And Jonathas ānswered vnto Saul. Dauid asked lycence of me to go to Bethlehē saying: let me go I pray ỹ / for oure kynrede holde an offerynge in the cytie / and my brother hath sent for me. Now therfore yf I haue

& se my brother. And therfore he cometh not angrie with Jonathas & sayde vnto him: O frowarde and rebellyous / thynkest thou I knowe not how thou hast chosen ỹ sonne of Jsai vnto thine awne rebuke/& vnto ỹ rebuke and shame of thy mother. For as longe as the sonne of Jsai lyueth vpon the erth / thou shalt not be stablyshed / nor yet thy kyng-him to hyt him/wherby Jonathas wist well/

ỹ it was vtterlye determyned of hys father/to sley Dauid. And so Jonathas arose frō ỹ table in a great anger & dyd eate no meate the seconde daye of the moneth / for he was sory for Dauid/because his father had done him shame. On the next morynng Jonathas went out into the feide/at the time apoynted with Dauid/and a lytle lad with him. And he sayde vnto the boye: runne & fynde out myne arowes which I shote. And as the boye ran/G he shote an arow beyonde him. And whē the lad was come to ỹ place whether Jonothas had shot the arow/Jonathas cryed after him & sayde: the arow is beyonde ỹ. And he cryed after the lad: haste/make spede and stāde not still. And Jonathas lad gathered vp ỹ arow and came to his master. But the lad wist nothyng of the matter: Only Jonathas & Da-uid wist it. Then Jonathas gaue his wepōs vnto the Lad & sayde vnto him: go and carye thē to the towne. And as sone as the lad was gone / Dauid arose out of a place that was towarde the south and fell on his face to the grounde & bowed hym self thre tymes. And they kyssed ether other and wepte to gether/but Dauid moare abundantlye. And Jona-and betwene thy sede & myne for euer. And he roase & departed. And Jonathas went in-¶ Dauid fleeth in to Nob to Ahimelech the preast & getteth on him shew bread to satisfye hys honger: & that with a cleane conueyed lye. After he flyeth to kyng Achis/and there fayneth him self to be mad.

¶ The. xxi. Chapter.

THen came Dauid to Nob to Ahi-
A melech the preast: And Ahimelech was astonied at is comyng & sayde vnto him: Why comest thou thy self alone/& no man with the? And Dauid sayde to Abimelech the preast: the kyng hath commaunded me to do a certen thynge and sayde vnto me/ let no man knowe where aboute I sende and what I haue cōmaunded the to do.
And therfore I haue appoynted my seruan-tes to soche and soche places. And now what hast thou vnder thyne hande? geue me fyue loues of bred, or what cometh to hande.

And the preast answered Dauid and sayd:
there is no comen bred vnder myne hande /
but there is halowed bred / yf ỹ young men had abstained only from wemen. And Dauid B answered the preast and sayde vnto him: of a truthe wemen hath benelocked vp from vs about a thre dayes/ when I cam out: and ỹ *besselles of the young men were holy. How be it a this waye is vnpure/but it shalbe halowed in the bessell. And so the preast gaue him halowed bred / for there was no nother bred there saue shewe breds that were taken from before the Lorde / to put fresshe bred there/the daye that it was taken awaye.

And ther was there the same daye a certē man of the seruauntes of Saul abydynge before the Lorde named Doeg an Edomite / the chefest of Sauls hearde men. And Da-uid sayde vnto Ahimelech: is not here vnder thine hāde other speare or swerde? for I haue nether brought my swerde nor myne harnes with me/because the kynges busines required haste. Then ỹ preast answered: ỹ swerde of Goliath the Philistine whom thou slewest in Ockdale/that is here wrapt in a cloth behynde ỹ Ephod. If thou wilt take that/ take it: for there is no nother saue that here. And Dauid sayde: there is none to ỹ/geue it me.

And Dauid arose and fled the same daye from the presence of Saul/ & went to Achis the kyng of Geth. And the seruauntes of Achis sayde of hym: is not thys Dauid the kyng of the lande? dyd they not syng vnto thys felow in daunces saying: Saul hath slayne his thousand/and Dauid his ten thousand? And Dauid put those wordes in to hys heart & was sore afrayed of Achis the kyng of Geth. And he chaunged hys countenaunce before them/and raued in their handes/and scrabled on the dores of the gate/and let hys spittel falle downe vpon hys beard.
Then sayde Achis vnto hys seruaunt. Loo ye saw that thys man was besyde hym selfe/wherfore then haue ye brought hym to me?
lacke I madde men/ ỹ ye haue brought thys felow to playe the mad man in my presence?
he shall not come into my howse.

That is/ in the waye we toke moche vncleanesse (As ye wolde saye) with pollucios in the nyght or other thynges/ which are fylthy by Moses law/ so that perfectlye cleane are we not: but that is a small matter & wyll sone be cleansed / because we haue abstayned oure bodies frō oure wyues & kept thē holy & cleane. This example of Dauid teacheth that neade hath no lawe: and that mā ought not to be a seruaūt D to ceremonyes / but ceremonyes ought to serue the vse of man. ¶ Dauid fleeth in to the caue Odollam. After that into Mazphah to the kynge of Moab. And thence in to Hareth. Doeg betrayeth Dauid. Ahimelech is accused of treyson and slayne/and. lxxxiiii. preastes mo with him: because they receaued Dauid. Nob is destroyed of Saul. Abiathar fleeth to Dauid.

¶ The. xxii. Chapter.

And

A AND Dauid departed thence & escaped/and came vnto the caue Odollam. When his brethrē & all his fathers house hearde it/they wēt thither to hym. And there geathered vnto hym all men that were in combraunce and in dett & troubled in their hertes/ and he became a captayne ouer thē. And there were with him vpon a foure hundred men. And Dauid wēt thence to Mazphah in the lande of Moab/ and sayde vnto the Kynge of Moab: Let my father and mother I praye the / haue their abydynge with you/tyll I knowe what God wyll do wt me. And he lefte thē wyth ỹ kyng of Moab/and they dwelt wt him all ỹ whyle that Dauid kepte him selfe in holdes. And ỹ prophet Gad sayde vnto Dauid: Abide not in castelles/but departe & go to the land of Juda. Then Dauid departed and came into the forest Hareth. And Saul hearde of it: for Dauid was knowē & also the men ỹ were wyth him. And as Saul satt in Gabaah vnder a groue vpō a hye bancke wt hys speare in hys B hāde & all hys men about him/he sayde vnto his seruaūtes ỹ stode about him. Heare I pray you/you sonnes of Jemini: will ỹ sonne of Jsai also geue euery one of you feldes & vineyardes/ & make you all captaynes ouer thousandes and ouer hundredes: that ye haue all conspired agaynst me / so that there is none of you that *openeth myne eare / in so moche ỹ my sonne hath made a bonde wyth the sonne of Jsai / nether is there any of you that mourneth for me or sheweth it in myne eare: because my sonne hath set vp my seruaūt to lye awayte against me/as it appeareth this daye.

*That is/sheweth me any thyng.

Then answered Doeg ỹ Edomite/which had the ouer syght of the seruaūtes of Saul and sayde: I sawe the sonne of Jsai / when he cam to Nob/to Ahimelech the sonne of Ahitob/which asked councell of the Lorde for him/& gaue him vitayles / and the swerde of Goliath the Philistine also. Then the Kyng sent to calle Ahimelech the preast the sonne of Ahitob / & all his fathers house: that is to saye/ỹ preastes that were in Nob. And they C cam all to the Kyng. And Saul sayde: heare thou sonne of Ahitob. And he sayde: here I am my Lord. Then sayde Saul to him: why haue ye conspired agaynst me/ thou and the sonne of Jsai/in so moche ỹ thou hast geuen him vytayle & a swerde/& hast asked councell of God for him/that he shulde aryse agaynst me & lye awayte as it is come to passe thys daye. And Ahimelech answered the kyng and sayde: who is so faythfull among all thy seruauntes as Dauid & therto ỹ kynges sonne in law/and gothe at thy byddyng/ and is had in honoure in thyne house? haue I this daye begōne fyrst to aske coūcell of God for him? God forbyd that from me: lett not the kyng put soche a thyng vnto his seruaunt & on all the house of my father. For thy seruaūt knoweth nothing of all this/ether lesse or moare.

But for all that ỹ kyng sayde: thou shalt surelye dye Ahimelech/both thou and all thy D thy fathers house. Then sayde the kynge vnto his fote men that stode about him: turne & sley the preastes of the Lorde/ both because their hand is with Dauid/ and because they knewe when Dauid fled and shewed it not to me. But the seruauntes of ỹ kyng wolde not moue their handes / to runne vpon the preastes of the Lorde. Then sayde the Kynge to Doeg: turne thou and smyte the preastes. And *Doeg the Edomite turned & ranne vpō the preastes and slue that same daye foure * 1. Reg. ỹ. g. skore and fyue persones that dyd weare eche man a lynnen Ephod. And Nob the cytie of ỹ preastes he smote with the edge of ỹ swerde/ both man and woman/chylde and suckelyng/ with oxe asse and shepe.

But yet one of the sonnes of Ahimelech ỹ sonne of Ahitob/named Abiathar/escaped & fled to Dauid/and shewed Dauid/how that Saul had slayne the Lordes preastes. And Dauid sayde vnto Abiathar: I wist it ỹ same daye/ ỹ Doeg the Edomite which was there wold tell it Saul. And I am cause of ỹ deeth of all ỹ Soules of thy fathers house. Abide wt me & feare not: he that seketh thy soule/ shall seke myne/& wt me thou shalt be in sauegard.

Dauid delyuereth Keilah. He fleeth into the wyldernes of Ziph. He is comforted of Jonathas. The Ziphiens wolde haue betrayed him/but he skapeth.

The .xxiij. Chapter.

THen men tolde Dauid saying: Behold/the Philistines fight agaynst Keilah/& spoyle the barnes. Then Dauid asked the Lordes aduyse sayinge: shall I goo and smyte the Philistines? And the Lorde sayde vnto Dauid: go & smite the Philistines and saue Keilah. Then sayde Dauids mē vnto him: se we be afrayed here in Juda. What shall we then be / when we come to Keilah/to ỹ host of the Philistines. Then Dauid asked the Lorde agayne. And the Lorde answered him and sayde: vp and go to Keilah/for I wyll delyuer the Philistines in to thyne handes.

And so Dauid and his men went to Keilah and fought with the Philistines / and draue awaye their catell and slue a great slaughter of them. And so Dauid saued ỹ enhabiters of Keilah. And it chaūced whē Abiathar ỹ sonne of Ahimelech fled to Dauid to Keilah that he brought an Ephod in his hande.

And it was tolde Saul/that Dauid was B come to Keilah. Then sayde Saul: God hath delyuered him into myne hand. For he is shut in that he is come into a towne with gates & barres. And Saul called all the people to warre/for to go to Keilah / to besege Dauid & his men. But Dauid had knowledge that Saul imagened mischefe agaynst him/and b 1. Reg. xxx. b sayde therfore to Abiathar ỹ preast: *Bring the Ephod. Then sayde Dauid/ O Lord God of Israel/thy seruaũt heareth that Saul is about to come to Keilah to destroye the cytie for my sake: will the men of Keilah delyuer me into his hand? or will Saul come as thy seruaunt heareth saye? Lorde God of Israel tell thy seruaũt. And the Lorde sayde: he will come. Then sayde Dauid: will ỹ men of Keilah delyuer me and my men into the hande of Saul? & ỹ Lord sayde: they will deliuer you.

Then Dauid & his men which were vpon a. vi. hundred/arose and departed out of Keilah & wẽt whether chaunce drawe them. And when it was tolde Saul / that Dauid was fleed from Keilah/he let ỹ iorney alone. And Dauid abode in the wylderneſſe in stronge holdes/& in a mountayne in the wylderneſſe of Ziph. And Saul sought him all hys lyfe/ but God delyuered him not into his hãd. And
C Dauid saw ỹ Saul was come out / to seke hys lyfe/whyle Dauid was in ỹ wylderneſſe of Ziph in a thyckett. And Jonathas Sauls sonne arose & went to Dauid to the thycket/ & strenghted him in God / & sayde vnto hym: feare not / for the hande of Saul my father shall not fynde the/ & thou shalt be king ouer Israel/and I must be next vnto ỹ. And Saul my father therto knoweth that it shalbe so.
1. Reg. xviij. a And. xx. b And they made a bõde bothe of thẽ to geather before the Lorde. And Dauid taryed styll in the thickett/and Jonathas wẽt to his house.

Then came ỹ Ziphites to Saul / to Gabaah saying: Dauid hydeth hym selfe fast by vs in stronge holdes that are in a thyckett in the hyll of Hachilah on the ryght syde of the wylderneſſe. Now therfore syr kynge / come downe with all the lust that thy soule hath to come. And oure parte shalbe to delyuer hym into ỹ hãdes of the kyng. Then sayde Saul
D Blessed are ye in the Lorde: for ye haue compassyon on me. Go I pray you and marke moare dylygẽtlye/& knowe & se his haunte/ where hys fote hath bene / & who hath sene him there: for it is tolde me ỹ he is very sotel. Se therfore & know all the lourkyng places where he lourketh / & come agayne to me wt the certentye/and I will go with you. And then yf he be in the lãde/ I will hunt him out with all the thousandes of Juda.

And they arose & wẽt to Ziph before Saul. But Dauid and his men were in the wylderneſſe of Maon/in the wylde felde/on ỹ right hand of the wylderneſſe. For whẽ Saul was gone with his men to seke / it was tolde Dauid. And therfore he went vnto a Rocke and dwelt in the wylderneſſe of Maon. And whẽ Saul hearde ỹ/he folowed after Dauid into the wylderneſſe of Maon. And Saul and his men wẽt on ỹ one syde of ỹ mountayne/ and Dauid & his men on ỹ other. And Dauid as a mã amased/made hast to get fro Saul. For Saul & his men had compased Dauid & his men rounde about/to take them.

¶ The. xxiiij. Chapter.

A When Saul was come agayne fro the Philistines/there were ỹ tolde him sayĩg: beholde/Dauid is in ỹ wilderneſſe of Engadi. ¶ Samuel dyeth. Dauid fleeth in to the wyldernesse of Pharan. He is angrye with Naball: but is pacyfyed by the wysdome of Abigail. Nabal dyeth and Dauid maryeth Abigail.

¶ The. xxv. Chapter.

And then Samuel dyed/ and all Israel geathered to geather & lamẽted him & buryed him in hys awne house at Ramath.

And Dauid arose and gat him to the wildernesse of Pharan. And there was a man in Maon whose catell was in Carmell/ and ỹ mã was excedyng myghtye/ & had thre thousand shepe & a thousand gootes. And he was sheryng his shepe in Carmell. The name of the man was Nabal/ & the name of his wyfe was Abigail/ and was a womã of good wisdom and bewtifull. But the man was churlyshe and of shrewde condicions/ and was a Calebite. And when Dauid hearde in ỹ wyldernesse/ that Nabal share hys shepe/ he sent out ten of his younge men/ & sayde vnto thẽ: gett you vp to Carmel and go to Nabal and B grete him in my name. And thus wyse saye vnto my frende: peace be to the/ peace be to thyne house and peace be vnto all that thou hast. I haue hearde saye that thou hast sherers. Now thy sheperdes were wyth vs/ and we dyd thẽ no spyte/ nether was there ought myssyng vnto them/ all the whyle they were in Carmel: aske thy laddes/ & they wyll shew the. Wherfore let these young men fynde fauoure in thyne eyes (for we come in a good season) & * geue I praye the whatsoeuer cometh to thyne hand vnto thy seruauntes and to thyne sonne Dauid. * i. Reg. xxi. a.

And Dauids yõgmen came & tolde Nabal all those wordes in the name of Dauid & then stopped. And Nabal answered Dauids seruaũtes & sayd: What is Dauid? and what is the sonne of Isai? there is plentye of seruauntes now a dayes/ that breake awaye euery mã from his master. I shulde take my breed/ my water & my flesshe ỹ I haue kylled for my sherers/ and geue it men which I wot not whence they be?

And Dauids seruaũtes turned their waye ¶ and went agayne/ and came and tolde hym accordynge to all those sayinges. Then Dauid sayde vnto his men: gyrde euery man his swerde aboute hym. And they gyrded euery man hys swerde on/ and Dauid therto gyrde on hys swerde. And there folowed Dauid vpon a foure hundred men/ and two hundred abode by the stuffe.

But one of the laddes tolde Abigail Nabals wyfe saying: se Dauid sent messengers vnto oure master out of ỹ wyldernesse to salute him/ and he rayled on them. And yet the men were very good vnto vs and dyd vs no displeasure/ nether mysled we any thyng/ as long as we were conuersant wt thẽ/ whẽ we were in the feldes. But they were a wall of defence vnto vs bothe by nyght and also by daye/ all the whyle we were wt them kepyng shepe. Now take hede & se what thou hast to do/ for it is concluded to do myscheue vnto D oure master and to all his housholde. And he is vngracyous to speake to. Then Abigail made hast and toke two hundred loues and two botelles of wyne and fyue shepe readye dressed and fyue measures of parched corne/ and an hundred bondelles of reasyngs/ and two hundred krayles of fygges/ & laded them on asses/ and sayde vnto her younge men: go before me/ and se I come after you/ & tolde her husband Naball nothyng therof. And as she rode on her asse and was comyng downe in a slade of the hyll/ Dauid & hys men came downe agaynst her/ and she met them.

And Dauid sayde: in vayne haue I kept all that this felowe had in the wildernesse: so that nought was mysled that pertayned vnto him/ for he hath quytte me wyth euell for good. So and so do God vnto ỹ enemyes of Dauid/as I wyll not leaue of all that pertayne to hym/by the dawnynge of the daye/ ought * that pisseth agaynst the walle.

* As who saye not as moche as a dogge: or (as some wyll) nothynge of the maleknyde.

When Abigail saw Dauid/ she hasted and lyght of her asse and fell before Dauid on her face/and bowed her self to the grounde / and fell at his fete and sayde: Let this vnhappie deade be counted myne/my Lord/& let thine handmayde speake in thyne audience / and heare the wordes of thy hãdemayde. Let not my Lorde regarde this vnthryftye man Nabal/for as hys name is/ so is he. * Nabal is his name & follye is with hym. But I thyne handmayde saw not the younge men of my Lorde which thou sendest.

* That is/fole.

And now my Lorde as sure as the Lord lyueth & as thy soule lyueth/ the Lorde hath withholden the frō cōmyng to shede bloude & from aduengyng thy self with thyne awne hand. Furthermore I pray God that thyne enemyes & they that entende to do my Lorde euell/may be as Nabal. And now this[a] blessyng which thyne hād mayde hath brought/ lett it be geuen vnto the young men that folowe my Lorde. Forgeue the trespace of thyne handmayde that the Lord maye make my Lorde a suer house / because my Lorde fyghteth the battelles of the Lord/ and there coulde none euell be founde in the in all thy lyfe. And yf any man ryse to persecute the & to seke thy soule / [b] the soule of my Lorde be bounde in a bondell of lyfe w the Lorde thy God. ¶ The .xxvi. Chapter.

After ỹ came ỹ Ziphites vnto Saul to Gabaah sayinge: Dauid hydeth him self in the hyll of Hachilah euē before ỹ wyldernesse. Then Saul arose & went to the wyldernesse of Ziph and thre thousande chosen men of Israel w hym/ for to seke Dauid in the wildernesse of Ziph. And Saul pytched in the hyll of Hachilah which lyeth before the wyldernesse / by the wayes syde. But Dauid dwelt in the wildernesse. And whē he saw that Saul cam after him into the wyldernesse/ he sent out spyes & vnderstode that Saul was come of suretye.

Wherfore Dauid arose & wēt to the place where Saul had pytched / and behelde the place where Saul laye with Abner ỹ sonne of Ner hys chefe captayne. Then answered Dauid and spake to Ahimelech the Hethite and to Abisai the sonne of Zaruiah and brother to Joab saying: who wyll go downe with me to Saul to the hoste? & Abisai sayde: I wyll go doune with the.

And so Dauid & Abisai came to ỹ people by nyght. And beholde/ Saul laye slepynge with in a rounde bācke & his speare pitched in the

And Dauid sayde vnto the young mā that B tolde him: how knowest thou that Saul and Jonathas his sonne be deed? and the younge man that tolde him/ sayde: I was by chaūce in mount Gelboe. And he sayde vnto me: what art thou? and I sayde vnto hym: I am an Amalekite. And he sayde vnto me: come on me & slee me: For anguysshe is come vpō me and my lyfe is yet all in me. And I went on him & slue hym: for I was sure that he coulde not lyue/ after that he was fallen. And I toke the crowne that was vpō his heed and the Bracelet that was on his arme and haue brought them vnto my Lorde hyther.

¶ Dauid ouercometh the Philistines and maketh them to become trybutaries. He ordeneth & appoynteth hys officers.

The.viij.Chapter.

After that / Dauid bette the Philistines and subdued them and toke the brydell of bondage out of their handes. And Dauid toke a thousand and seuen hundred horsemen of hys / and twentye thousand fote men and destroyed all his charettes reseruyng one hundred of them. ¶ Dauid restoreth all the fyldes of Saul vnto Miphiboseth the sonne of Jonathas.

¶ The.ix.Chapter.

Then sayd Dauid: is there yet any man left of the house of Saul / ỹ I maye shew hym mercye for Jonathas sake? And there was of the household of Saul a seruaunt named Zibah which was called vnto Dauid. And the kyng sayd vnto him: art thou Zibah. And he sayde: thy seruaunt is the man. Then sayd the kyng remayneth ther yet any man of the kynred of Saul / whom I maye shew the mercye of God vpon? And Zibah sayd vnto the kynge: Jonathas hath yet a sonne which is lame on B both fete. And the kyng sayd vnto him: where is he? And Zibah sayd vnto the kynge: behold he is in the house of Machir: the sonne of Amiel in Lodaber. Then kyng Dauid sent & fett him out of ỹ house of Machir the sonne of Amiel / out of Lodaber. Now whẽ Miphiboseth the sonne of Jonathas the sonne of Saul was come vnto Dauid / he bowed hym selfe and fell on his face. Then sayd Dauid: Miphiboseth? And he answered. Behold thy seruaũt. And Dauid said: feare not / for I wil C surely shew the kindnesse for Jonathas sake and will restore the all ỹ feldes of Saul thy father / and thou shalt eate meate on myne awne table all waye. And the other bowed him selfe and sayd: what is thy seruaunt that thou shuldest voucheſake to loke vpon soche a deed dogg as I am.

Then the kynge called vnto Zibah Sauls young mã saying vnto hym: I geue vnto thy masters sonne all that pertayned to Saul & to all hys kynne. Thys Miphiboseth had a sonne ỹ was younge named Micha/and all that dwelled in the house of Zibah were seruauntes vnto Miphiboseth. ¶ The messengers of Dauid are spitefully & vyllanously entreated of the kyng of Moab: whych thyng Dauid auengeth.

¶ The.x.Chapter.

A IT happened after this/that ỹ kyng of ỹ childrē of Ammon died/ & Hanō his sonne raygned in his steade. Then sayd Dauid: I wil shew kindnesse vnto Hanon ỹ sonne of Nahas/as hys father shewed kyndnesse vnto me. And ther vpō Dauid sent to cōfort hym by the hand of his seruaūtes ouer ỹ deeth of his father. Now when Dauids seruauntes were come in to ỹ land of the chyldren of Ammon / the Lordes of the chyldren of Ammon sayd vnto Hanon their Lord: thynkest thou that Dauid dothe honoure thy father/because he hathe sent to comfort the? Naye / he hath rather sent hys seruauntes vnto the/to searche the cytie and to spye it out/euen to ouerthrow it.

Wherfore Hanon toke Dauids seruauntes and shaued of ỹ one halfe of euerye mannes berd & cut of their garmētes euen in the myddle/euē harde by ỹ buttockes of thē and sent thē awaye. When it was tolde Dauid he sent against thē (for they were mē exceedingly a shamed) & sayd: tarye at Jericho vntill your beerdes be growē/& then returne. And when B ỹ childrē of Ammon saw ỹ they stancke vnto Dauid/they sent & hired ỹ sōnes of Bethrehob & of ỹ Siriēs of Zobah .xx. thousand fote mē & of king Maacah a thousand mē/& of Istob twelue thousand mē. And whē Dauid hearde of it/he sent Joab & all ỹ host of strong men. And ỹ childrē of Ammon came out & waged battell before the gate & the Siriens of Zobah/of Rehob/ Istob and Maacah were by them selues in the feldes.

When Joab saw that the front of the battell was before and after / he chose of all the best of Israel & put thē in araye against the Siriens. And ỹ rest of ỹ people he delyuered into ỹ hand of Abisai his brother/which put thē in araye against ỹ childrē of Ammō. And C he sayd: yf ỹ Siriēs ouercome me/then succoure me. But yf ỹ chyldren of Ammon be to good for ỹ / I will come & succoure ỹ / quyte ỹ like a mā/& let vs fyght lustely for oure people & for ỹ cities of oure God. And ỹ Lord do what semyth best in his eyes. And forthwyth Joab proceded & ỹ people ỹ was wt him in to battell against ỹ Siriēs/whiche fled before hym. And whē ỹ childrē of Ammon saw ỹ the Siriens were fled/then fled they also before Abisai/& entered into ỹ citie. And so Joab returned frō ỹ childrē of Ammon & came to Jerusalē. And whē ỹ Siriens saw ỹ they were put to ỹ worsse before Israel/they geathered thē to geather. And Hadadezer sent & brought out ỹ Siriēs ỹ were beyoūde ỹ ryuer. And ỹ host of them came/and Sobah the captayne of the host of Hadadezer before them.

And when it was shewed Dauid/he geathered all Israel and passed ouer Jordan and cam to Helam: where the Sirians put them selues in araye agaynst Dauid and fought wyth hym: how be it the Siriens fled before Israel. And Dauid destroyed seuen hundred charettes of thē and fourtye thousand horsemen / and smote Sobah the captayne of hys host / that he there dyed. And when all the Kynges that were seruauntes to Hadadezer saw that they were put to the worsse before Israel/they made peace wt thē & serued them. And so the Syriens feared to helpe the chyldren of Ammon any moare. D

¶ The aduoutrye of Dauid with Bethsabe the wyfe of Urias. Urias is gylefully slayne. After that Dauid taketh Bethsabe to wyfe.

¶ The.xi.Chapter.

A ND it came to passe in ỹ beginning of a new yere/in ỹ times whē kyngs are wōt to go forth to battell/that Dauid sent Joab & his seruaūtes with him & all Israel. And they destroyed the childrē of Ammō/& besieged Rabah. But Dauid taryed styll at Jerusalē. And it chaunced in an euenyng ỹ Dauid arose frō his cowche & walked vpō the rouse of ỹ kynges palace/ & frō the rouse saw a very bewtyfull woman washyng her selfe. And he sent to enquyre what womā it shuld be. And it was answered agayne/ ỹ she was Bethsabe ỹ daughter of Eliam & wife to Urias ỹ Hethite. And Dauid sent messengers & fett her/and she came vnto him/and he laye wt her. And she was streyght waye* purified frō her vnclēnesse/& returned vnto her house. And when the woman had perceaued that she had conceaued / she sent & tolde Dauid/ and sayde: I am wyth chyld. A 1. Paral. xx. a

Then

B Then Dauid sent to Joab/to sende vnto him Uzias the hethite. And Joab sent Uzias to Dauid. And whē Uzias was come vnto him he demaunded how Joab dyd / and how the people fared / and how the warre pꝛospered. And Dauid said moꝛe ouer to Uzias: go doune to thyne house and washe thy fete. And Uzias departed out of the kynges palace / & there folowed him a seruyce frō the kynges table. But Uzias slept at the doꝛe of the kynges palace with all ꝯ seruaūtes of his Loꝛd/ and went not downe to his house.

Then they tolde Dauid saying: Uzias descēded not into his house. Then sayd Dauid vnto Uzias: Seying that thou art come frō ioꝛneying / why dooste thou not go downe vnto thyne house? And Uzias sayd vnto Dauid: ꝯ arcke and Israel & Juda dwell in pauylyōs: and my Loꝛde Joab and the seruauntes of my Loꝛde lye in tentes vpon the flatt erthe: & shuld I then go into myne house/to eate and

And at euen he went out to lye on his couche with the seruauntes of the Loꝛde / and went not downe to hys house. Wherꝛoꝛe on ꝯ moꝛow Dauid wꝛote a letter to Joab and sent it by Uzias. And he wꝛote in the letter saying: put Uzias in the foꝛefront of ꝯ battell where it is mooste strong/and come back from him that he may be smytten to deeth. And as Joab besieged ꝯ citie he assigned Uzias vnto a place where he wist that strong men were. And the men of ꝯ citie cam out & fought wyth Joab. And there were certen ouer thꝛowen of the peoꝛle and of the seruauntes of Dauid/and Uzias the hethite dyed also.

Then Joab sent and tolde Dauid all the pꝛocesse of the warre and charged the messengers saying: when thou hast made an ende of telling the stoꝛye of the warre vnto the kyng ꝯ he begynne to fume and saye vnto the: wherꝛoꝛe appꝛoched ye so nye vnto the citie to fyght? wyst ye not that men wolde hourle

And the messengers went and came & shewed Dauid all that Joab had sent him with/ and said vnto Dauid: ꝯ men pꝛeuayle against vs/and cam out vnto vs into the felde / & we stacke vnto them/euen vnto the entꝛyng of the gate. And the shothers shotte from the walles/and some of the seruaūtes of ꝯ kyng be deed. And thy seruaunt Uzias the hethite is deed also. Then sayd Dauid vnto the messenger/thus wyse saye vnto Joab/let not ꝯ thyng trouble the. Foꝛ the swerde deuoureth one as well as another: make thy battell moꝛe stroge agaynst the citie and destroye it/ and se that thou courage Joab. And when ꝯ wyfe of Uzias heard that her husband was deed, she mourned foꝛ hym / & as sone as the mournyng was ended / Dauid sent and fett her to his house/and she was his wife & bare him a sonne. But the deade that Dauid had comitted/displeased the Loꝛde.

AND ꝯ Loꝛde sent Nathan vnto Dauid. And he cam vnto him and sayd vnto hym: there were two men in one citie/a ryche and a pooꝛe. And the ryche had excedyng great aboundaunce of shepe and oxē. But the pooꝛe had nothyng saue one lytle lambe whych he bought & noꝛyshed vp. And it grew vp with hym and hys chyldꝛen/and did eate of his awne meate and dꝛancke of his awne cuppe/& slept in his bosome/& was as dere vnto hym as his daughter. Thys sayth the Loꝛde God of Israel: I annoynted the kynge ouer Israel & rydde the out of the handes of Saul. And I gaue ꝯ thy maysters house and thy masters wiues into thy bosome/ & gaue the the house of Israel and of Juda/and wolde yt that had bene to lytle: haue geuen the twyse so moche moare. Now therꝛoꝛe the swerde shall neuer de- C

D Then sayd Dauid vnto Nathan: I haue synned agaynst the Lorde. And Nathan sayd agayne to Dauid: the Lorde hath put awaye thy synne/thou shalt not dye. How be it because in doyng this deade thou hast geuen ỹ enemyes of the Lord a cause to rayle/ỹ child ỹ is borne the shall dye surelye. And Nathan departed vnto his house. And ỹ Lorde stroke ỹ childe that Vzias wife bare Dauid & it sickened. And Dauid besought God for ỹ boye & fasted & went & laye all nyght vpō the erthe. And the elders of his house arose and wēt to him to take him vp frō the erth. But he wold not/nether yet eate meat with them.

And it hapened the seuenth daye that the childe dyed. But ỹ seruaūtes of Dauid durst E not tell him that the child was deed. For they sayd: se/while the chylde was yet alyue / we spake vnto him/and he wolde no herkē vnto oure voyce. How moche moare then wyll he vexe him self yf we tell hym that the chyld is deed? But Dauid sawe his seruauntes whysperyng and therby perceaued that the chyld was deed/and sayd vnto his seruauntes: is ỹ child deed. And they sayd ye. Then Dauid arose from the erth and washed & anoynted him self and chaunged hys apparell / & went into the house of the Lorde & prayed/ & after cam to hys awne house & bade ỹ they shulde set meat before hym/and he dyd eate. Then sayd hys seruauntes vnto hym: what is thys F that thou hast done? Thou fastedest and wepest for thy chylde while it was a liue/and as sone as it was deed thou dyddest ryse vp and dyddest eate meate. And he answered: whyle the child was a lyue/I fasted and wepte. For I this thought: who cā tell whether God will haue mercye on me that the child maye liue. But now seyng it is deed / wherfore should I fast? can I bryng hym agayne any moare? I shall go to him: but he shall not come agayne to me. And Dauid comforted Bethsabe hys wyfe/& wēt in vnto her & laye with her/& she bare a sonne whose name was called* Salomon/& the Lorde loued him. And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophete and called his name* Jedidiah/of the Lordes behalfe.

G And as Joab fought agaynst Rabah the citie of the chyldren of Ammon he toke the kynges Toure/and sent messengers to Dauid saying: I haue made assawt to Rabah/ and also haue taken* the castell from whēce they had their water. Now therfore geather the rest of the people to gether/& come & besege ỹ citie & take it: lest yf I take it/ỹ victorye be ascribed to me. And Dauid geathered all the people to gether/& wēt to Rabah and assawted it & gatt it.* And he toke ỹ kynges i. Para. xx. And he brought out the spoyle of the citie in exceadyng great aboundance. And he brought out ỹ people that was therin & sawed thē & drew harowes of yron vpon thē/and chred some of them with chredyng knyues of yron/& thrust some into fornaces. And so he serued all the cities of the chyldrē of Ammō. And then Dauid & all the people returned vnto Jerusalē.

¶ Amnon Dauids sonne defyleth his syster Thamar. Absalom therfore kylleth Amnon and after fleyth a waye for feare of hys father.

¶ The. xiij. Chapter.

And it chaunced that Absalom Dauids sonne had a fayre syster named Thamar/whō afterwarde Amnon a nother sonne of Dauid loued. A

And this Amnō was so vexed ỹ he fell sycke for ỹ loue of his syster Thamar: for it thought hym harde to come by hys purpose of her/ seyng she was yet a virgyn. But Amnō had a cōpanyan called Jonadab ỹ sonne of Samah the brother of Dauid: whych Jonadab was a very wyse man. And he sayd vnto hym how cometh it that thou beyng the kynges sonne art thus consumed euery mornyng? mayst thou not tell it me? And Amnon answered him: I loue Thamar my brother Absalōs syster. Then sayde Jonadab vnto him: lye on thy bedde and fayne thy self sycke. And when thy father is come to se the / saye vnto him: let my syster Thamar come & geue me meate and dresse it in my syght/that I maye se it and eate it of her hande.

And Amnon laye downe & made him self sicke. And when ỹ kynge was come to se him B Amnō sayd vnto him: let Thamar my syster come & make me a couple of frytters in my syght/ỹ I maye eate of her hand. And Dauid sent home to Thamar saying: go to thy brother Amnōs house & dresse hym meate. Whē Thamar came to her brother Amnōs house he laye. And she toke floure & made paste & made frytters in hys syght & did bake thē/& toke a platter & powred thē out before hym. And Amnō wolde not eate / but cōmaunded to haue out all men from him. And they wēt all out from hym. Then sayd Amnon vnto Thamar: bryng ỹ meate into the chambre ỹ I maye eate of thyne hand. And Thamar toke ỹ frytters which she had made/& brought thē into ỹ chābre to Amnon her brother & set thē before hym to eate. And he toke her and C sayd vnto her: come lye w̄ me my lyster. And she answered hym: nay / my brother do not force me / for it ought not to be so in Israel / do not this folly. *For whither shall I go wyth my shame? And thou shalt be as one of the foles in Israel. But speake vnto the kynge & he shall not denye me vnto the.

How be it he wolde not herkē vnto her voyce but was to strōge for her & * forced her & laye w̄ her. And then Amnon hated her excedinglye: so ꝑ the hate wherwith he hated her was greater then ꝑ loue w̄ whiche he before D loued her. And he sayd vnto her: vp & awaye. Then she sayde vnto hym / thys great cruelnesse that thou puttest me awaye passyth the other that thou dyddest vnto me. Neuertheles he wolde not heare her / but called hys lad that wayted vpon him & sayd: put her out at the dores frō me & bolt the dore after her. And she had a kirtell of diuerse coloures vpō her: for w̄ soche were ꝑ kynges daughters ꝑ were virgines appareled / made strayte vnto thē. Then his seruaūt brought her oute at ꝑ E dores & locked the dores after her. And Thamar put ashes on her heed and rent her gaye kyrtell ꝑ was on her and put her hand on her heed & so went / & as she wēt cryed. Then Absalom her brother sayd vnto her: hath Amnō thy brother bene with the? Now then be still my syster: for he is thy brother. And let not this thyng greue thine hert. And so Thamar remayned discōforted in her brother Absalōs house. And kyng Dauid heard of all these thynges and was very wroth. And Absalom sayd vnto hys brother Amnon nether good ner badd. How be it Absalom hated Amnon because he had forced hys syster Thamar.

And it happened two yere after ꝑ Absalō had a shepesheryng in Baal Hazor beside ꝑ tribe of Ephraim / & bad all the kynges sonnes & he cam to the kyng & sayde: behold thy seruaūt hathe a shepesheryng / let the kynge & his seruaūtes come w̄ thy seruaunte. And ꝑ king sayd vnto Absalom: Oh naye my sonne let vs not go euerye one of vs that we be not chargeable vnto the. And Absalom laye sore vpō him: how be it he wolde not go / but blessed him. Then sayd Absalom: then let my brother Amnon go wyth vs. And the kynge answered what nedeth it ꝑ he go with the. But Absalom made soche instance ꝑ he let Amnon go with hym / & all the kynges chyldren.

Then Absalō cōmaunded his young men saying: marke when Amnons hert is mery with wyne / & when I byd you smyte Amnon then kill him: feare not / for it is I ꝑ bid you / be bolde therfore & playe the lusty bloudes. F And the young men of Absalom serued Amnon euen as Absalom cōmaunded thē. And all the kynges sonnes arose & toke eche man his Mule and fled. And whyle they were yet in the waye / tidinges cam to Dauid that Absalom had slayne all the kynges sonnes / so ꝑ none was left a lyue. Then the kyng arose and tare his garmentes and laye along on ꝑ erth: & all his seruauntes stode by with their clothes rēt. Then Jonadab the sonne of Samah Dauids brother answered and sayd: let not my Lord suppose that they haue slayne all the young men the kynges sonnes / saue Amnon only is deed. For that hath bene euer in Absaloms mouth sence he forced his sister Thamar. Now therfore let not my Lorde the kynge take ꝑ thing so greuously to thynche that all the kynges sonnes were deed / when Amnon only is deed. G

But Absalom fled. And the young man ꝑ kept the watche lyfte vp hys eyes and loked aboute. And beholde / ther cam moche people by awaye that was behynde hys backe a longe by an hylles syde. Then sayd Jonadab vnto the kynge: behold / ꝑ kynges sonnes are come / and as thy seruaunt sayd / so it is. And as sone as he had lefte speakyng: beholde / the kynges sonnes came and lifte vp their voyces and wepte. And therto the kyng and all hys seruauntes wept excedyngly. But Absalom escaped and went to Tholmai the sonne of Amihud kynge of Gesur. And the kynge mourned for hys sonne contynually. And so Absalom escaped and went to Gesur / & was there thre yeres. And by that tyme the kynge turned hys mynde from pursuyng Absalom. For he had left mournyng for the deeth of Amnon.

¶ By the wyldome of the woman of Thekoa Absalom is called. The comelynesse & Boustie of Absalō. Absalom fyzeth Joabs corne. His father kylleth him.

¶ The. xiiij. Chapter.

When Joab the sonne of Saruiah A perceaued that the kynges hert was turned agayne to Absalom / he sent to Thekoa / and fett thence a wyse woman / and sayd vnto her: feyne thy selfe to be a mourner / and put on mournyng apparell. And anoynt not thy selfe w̄ oyle. But be as a womā ꝑ had lōge tyme mourned for the deeth of some bodye. And go to ꝑ kyng and speake of this maner vnto hym. And so Joab taught her what she shuld saye.

And when the wyfe of Thekoa was come to speake with the kynge / she fell on her face to the grounde & dyd obeysaūce & sayd: helpe me O kynge. And the kynge sayd vnto her B what ayleth the? & she answered. I am a wedow / and myne husbande is deed. And thy handmayde had two sonnes which fought together in the feldes where was no man to go betwene thē / & the one slewe the other. And beholde / the whole kinred arose agaynst thy handmayde handmayde & sayd: deliuer vs him that smote his brother: ꝑ we maye kyll him for ꝑ *soule of his brother whome he slue/for we wyll destroye ꝑ heyre also. And so they shall quenche my sparkle which is left that he shall stere vp nether name or issue vpō ꝑ erth vnto my husbande. And the kynge sayd vnto the wyfe: go home to thyne house/and I wyll geue a charge for the. And ꝑ womā of Thekoa sayd vnto the kynge. My Lorde kynge/the trespace be on me and on my fathers house/and ꝑ kyng and hys seate be giltlesse. And then sayd the kynge: yf any man saye ought vnto ꝑ/bring him to me/& he shall no moare trouble the. Then sayd she: lett the kynge remember hys Lorde God/that the next of the bloude gather not on heappes to gether to destroye/& that they slaye not my sonne. And he sayd: as sure as the Lorde lyueth/there shall not one hearre of thy sonnes heed fall to the erthe.

*That is/for the deeth.

D Then ꝑ woman sayd: let thyne handmayde speake one woorde moare vnto my Lorde ꝑ kynge & he sayd: saye on. And ꝑ woman saide wherfore then hast thou determyned on thys same maner agaynst the people of God: that the kyng shulde speake this thyng & be sautye therin/so that the kynge shulde not fett home agayne hys banesshed. For we must nedes dye and perysh as water spylt on the grouñde which cānot be geathered vp agayne & God will not take awaye ꝑ lyfe but fynde the meanes that the banysshed be not vtterly expelled frō him. And now cōcernyng that I am come to speake of this thyng vnto ꝑ king my Lorde in the presence of the people: thy hādmayde thought: suerly I will speake vnto the kynge/paraduenture the kyng will here

E the request of his handmayde. And the kyng shall heare his handmayde & delyuer her out of the hand of the mā ꝑ wolde haue destroyed me & my sonne also out of the enheritaunce of God. Then thyne handmayde sayd: I pray God that the woorde of my Lorde the kynge may be *immutable. For my Lorde ꝑ kynge is as an Angel of God/in hearyng of good or badd: & therfore the Lorde thy God be w̄ the.

*Some reade/ comfortable. Some. As a scrypture.

Then the kyng answered and sayde vnto ꝑ woman: hide not frō me I praye the: the thing that I shall aske the. And the womā saide: let my Lord the kyng saye on. Then sayd ꝑ king Is not ꝑ *hande of Joab with the in all this matter? And the woman answered and sayd: as sure as thy soule lyueth my Lorde kynge/ it is *nether on the ryght hande nor on ꝑ leafte that my Lorde the kyng hathe spoken. For thy seruaunt Joab he bad me/and he put all these woordes euen in the mouthe of thyne handmayde. And the turnyng of my tale a nother waye/that made thy seruaunt Joab. And so I se that my Lorde is wyse euē as an Angell of God/to vnderstand all thyngs that are in the erthe. Then sayd the kyng to Joab beholde/I am content to do this thyng. Go therfore fett home the ladd Absalom. And F Joab fell to ꝑ groūd on his face & bowed himselfe and *blessed the kynge and sayd: now thy seruaunt knoweth that I haue founde grace in the syght of my Lorde the kynge in that he hathe fulfylled the request of hys seruaunt. And so Joab arose & wēt to Gesur & brought Absalom to Jerusalem. Then sayd ꝑ kynge: let hym turne to his awne house/but se that he come not in my presence. And so Absalom went to his awne house/but came not in the kynges presence.

*That is/prayed the kyng as in Gene. xxxj.d

Moreouer in all Israel there was not so goodlye a mā as Absalō/or so greatly prayse/frō the soole of his fote to the toppe of his heed there was no blemesshe in him. And whē he shaued his heed (for at euery peres ende he shaued it because it was heuye on hym/and therfore he shaued it) the hearre therof wayed two hundred cycles weyght of the kynges weyght. And this Absalom had thre sonnes borne him & one daughter named Thamar/ G whiche was a fayre woman to loke vpon.

When Absalom had dwelt two yere in Jerusalē without comyng into ꝑ kynges presence he sent for Joab/to haue sent hym to the kinge. But he wolde not come to him. And he sent agayne/& for all that he wold not come. Then he sayde vnto his seruauntes: beholde/ Joab hath a parcell of lande fast by myne/& hath barlye therin. Go and set it on fire. And Absaloms seruauntes went & sett it on fyre.

Then Joab arose & came to Absalō vnto his house & sayde vnto hym: wherfore haue thy seruaūtes burnt my felde with fyre? And Absalom said to Joab: beholde/I sent for the desyring the to come/because I wolde haue sent the to the kynge/for to saye: wherfore am I come from Gesur. It had bene as good for me to haue biddē there still. Now therfore let me come to the kinges presence/or elle yf there be any trespace in me/kill me. And Joab went to the kyng & tolde him. And he sent for Absalom: whych whan he was come/fell to the grounde on his face before the kynge. And the kynge kissed hym.

¶ Absalom maketh insurrecyon agaynst his father. David is fayne to flee for feare of him.

¶ The.xv. Chapter.

After thys Absalom gatt hym charettes & horsses & lyftie men to rūne before him. And therto he vsed to ryse vp erlye in the mornynges & to stand by ꝑ wayes side ꝑ led to ꝑ gate of ꝑ citie. And all the men of Israel ꝑ had cōplayntes & came to the kynge for Judgement/he called vnto hym and sayd: of what citye art thou?

A

That is my Lorde the kyng hathe swarued on no syde/but spoken euē the very thyng as it is. Deut. v.d.

And when the other answered: thy seruaunt is of soche a tribe of Israel. Then sayd Absalom vnto hym: se/thy matter is good & rygh-teous/& yet no man is deputed of the kynge to heare the. Then Absalom sayd moreouer: Oh/that I were a iudge in ỹ lande/& that al men which haue pleyes & matter in the law/ shuld come to me. For I wolde do thē iustice. And also when any mā came nye to him to do him obeysance/he put forth hys hand & toke him to him & kissed him. And on thys maner dyd Absalom to all Israel that came to the kynge for Judgement/& therwith * stale the B hertes of the men of Israel. And at fourtye yeres end Absalom sayd vnto the kynge: let me go I praye the to Hebron/& paye my vo-we which I haue vowed/vnto the Lorde: for thy seruaunt vowed a vowe when I was in Gesur in ỹ lande of Siria saying: yf ỹ Lorde shall bringe me agayne to Jerusalē/I wyll serue the Lorde. And the kynge sayd: go in peace. And so he arose and went to Hebron.

* That is/vnder pretence of iustice toke awaye their hertes/& wāne thē they wist not howe: and so deceaued them/that they consented to him & drue on his syde.

Then Absalom sent spies thorow out all ỹ tribes of Israel saying: as sone as ye heare ỹ voyce of the trōpet blowe/saye: Absalō raig-neth kynge in Hebron. And w Absalom wēt two hundred men out of Jerusalem ỹ were C called. And they went with pure hertes and wist nothing of the matter. And Absalō sent also for Ahithophel the Gilonite Dauids co-unseller/and fett hym out of his citie Giloh/ when he sacrified sacrifyces. And there was wrought strōge treason. And the people drue to Absalō in great multitude. And there cam a messenger to Dauid & sayd: the hertes of ỹ men of Israel are to folow Absalom. Then sayd Dauid vnto all his seruaūts that were with him at Jerusalē: vp & let vs flee/for we shall not else escape from Absalom. Make spede to depart: leste he come sodēlye & cathe vs & bringe some myscheue vpon vs/& smyte the citie with the edge of the swerde. And the kynges seruauntes sayd to him: beholde thy seruaūtes are redye to what so euer my Lord the kynge shall apoynte.

And the king & all his housholde departed D a fote. And he left behinde hym ten wiues ỹ were his [a] concubynes/to kepe ỹ house. And so the kynge & all the people went out a fote & tarryed farre from ỹ house/And all hys ser-uaūtes wēt by hys syde. And all the Cerethi-tes & all the Phelethites/and all ỹ Hethites euen. vi. hundred men which were come a fo-te from Geth/went before the kynge. Then sayd ỹ kyng to Ethai the Gethite/wherfore shuldest thou go with vs also? Returne and abide with the kynge/for thou art a straūger & art remoued from thine awne place. Thou camest but yesterdaye/and shuld I vnquyet the to daye to go with vs? I wyll go whether I go. But returne thou & carye agayne thy brethrē. Mercie & truthe be w the. And Ethai answered the kynge & sayde: as surelye as ỹ Lorde lyueth/& as suerlye as my Lorde the kyng lyueth/in what place my Lorde ỹ king shalbe/whether in deeth or life/euē there wil thy seruaūt be. Then sayd ỹ kynge to Ethai/ come & go forwarde. And Ethai the Gethite wēt forth/& all his men/& all the chyldren ỹ were with him. And all the countreye wepte with a loude voyce. And all the people went forwarde ỹ strayght waye to the wildernesse. And beholde/Sadock & all ỹ Leuites were with him & bare the arcke of ỹ appoyntmēt of God. And whē they had set downe ỹ Arcke of God/Abiathar came vp/vntill the people were all come ouer/out of ỹ citie. Then sayd the kynge vnto Sadock. Carye the Arcke of God agayne into ỹ citie. If I shall fynde fa-uoure in the eyes of the Lord/he will bringe me agayne/and shewe me both it and the ta-bernacle therof also. But and yf the Lorde thus saye: I haue no lust vnto the. Beholde/ here am I/let him do wyth me what semeth best in hys eyes.

The kynge sayde also vnto Sadock the F preast thou art a Sear. Returne therfore into the citie in peace. And take youre two sonnes with you: Ahimaaz thy sonne/& Jo-nathas the sonne of Abiathar. And se/I will tarye in the feldes of the wyldernesse vntyll there come some woorde from you to be tolde me. And so Sadock and Abiathar caryed the Arcke of God agayne to Jerusalem/& they tarryed there. And Dauid went vp on mount olyuet & wepte as he went/& had his heed co-uered & wēt therto barefote. And all ỹ people that was wyth him/had euery man hys heed couered/and as they went wepte also. And one tolde Dauid saying: Ahithophel is one of G them that haue conspired wyth Absalom. Then sayde Dauid: O Lorde/turne the co-uncell of Ahithophel into folishenes.

When Dauid was come to ỹ toppe of the mount & had bowed him selfe vnto God: be-holde/Husai ỹ Arachite came agaynst him w his coote torne and erth vpon his heed. Vnto whome Dauid sayd: yf thou go with me thou shalt be a burthen vnto me. And yf thou re-turne to ỹ citie: then shalt thou saye vnto Ab-salō I will be thy seruaūt O kyng: thus lōge haue I bene thy fathers seruaunt/& now I am thyne. And destroye me the councell of Ahithophell. And thou hast there with ỹ Sa-dock & Abiathar ỹ preistes/vnto whych thou shalt shew all ỹ thou canst heare out of ỹ kin-ges house. And beholde/ye haue there w you theire two sonnes: Ahimaaz Sadock's sonne/& Jonathas Abiathars sonne/by whych ye shall sende me all that ye can heare.

And

a. Betwene wyues & concubines in the olde testament/is this differaūce: wyues had the honoure (as they call it) of ỹ maistresse of ỹ house/Concu-bynes were as vnderlynges & keperars. Their chyldre were also le-gytimate & lea full childre/but myght not enheret/onely had they ỹ be-quest of their father/the pa-trymonye per-tayned proper-ly vnto the children of the wyues. Genes. xxv. a.

And so Husai Dauids frende gat hym to the citie. And Absalō also entered into Jerusalē.

¶ Ziba bryngyng presentes to Dauid / dothe falsly accuse Miphiboseth. Semei curseth Dauid & hourleth stones at him. Absalom by ꝑ councell of Ahithophell lyeth with his fathers Concubines.

¶ The .xvi. Chapter.

A AND when Dauid was a lytle past the toppe of the hyll: beholde Ziba ꝑ seruaunt of Miphiboseth came agaynst him with a couple of Asses sadelled / & vpon thē two hundred loues & one hundred bonches of Resynges / & an hundred frayles of dryed frygges / & a bottell of wyne. Then sayd the kynge to Ziba: what hast thou there? And Ziba sayde: Asses for the kynges household to ryde on / and breed & frute for the younge men to eate / and wyne to dryncke / yf anye man faynt in ꝑ wildernesse. Then sayde the kynge: where is thy masters sonne? and Ziba sayd vnto the kyng: beholde / he tarydeth still at Jerusalē. For he sayde: this daye shall the house of Israel restore me the kyngdome of my father. Then sayd ꝑ kynge to Ziba: beholde / thine are all ꝑ pertayned vnto Miphiboseth. And Ziba answered: I beseche the ꝑ I maye fynde grace in thy sight my Lord king.

B And when kynge Dauid came to Bahurim: beholde / thence cam out a man of ꝑ kinrede of the house of Saul named Semei ꝑ sonne of Gera / and he cam out cursyng. And therto he cast stones at Dauid and at all the seruauntes of kyng Dauid / all the people & all the men of warre goyng part on his right hand / & part on his lefte. And thus sayde this Semei as he cursed: come forthe / come forth thou bloudesheder and thou vnthryftie man. The Lord hath brought vpon the all ꝑ bloude of the house of Saul / in whose steade thou hast raygned / and he hathe delyuered the kyngdom into the hand of Absalō thy sonne And thou art wrapped aboute ẅ thyne awne mysscheue / because thou art a bloudesheder.

Then sayd Abisai the sonne of Saruiah vnto ꝑ kynge: why dothe this deed dogg curse my Lorde the kynge? let me go and take of ꝑ

C heed of him. And the king sayde: what haue I to do with you ye sonnes of Saruiah: let hym curse: for ꝑ Lord hathe bydde̅ him curse Dauid. And who dare presume to saye wherfore dothe he so? And Dauid sayde to Abisai / & to all his seruaūtes: behold / my sonne which cā out of myne awne bowelles seketh my lyfe. How moche more then maye thys sonne of Jemini do it? Suffre hym therfore to curse / for ꝑ Lord hath bidde̅ him: haplye ꝑ Lord wil loke on my wretchednesse / & do me good for his cursyng thys daye And thus as Dauid & his mē wēt by ꝑ waye / Semei wēt alōge on ꝑ hilles syde ouer agaynst him / & cursed as he went / & threw stones at him / & cast dust. And ꝑ kynge & all that were with hym cam werye / and refreshed them selues there.

And Absalō and all the people of the men of Israel came to Jerusalem & Ahithophel with him. And as sone as he was come: Husai the Archite went vnto Absalom & sayde vnto him: God saue the kynge / God saue the kyng. And Absalom sayde agayne to Husai: is this the kyndnesse thou owest to thy frēde? Why wentest thou not with him? And Husai sayd vnto Absalom: naye not so / but whom ꝑ Lorde and this people and all the men of Israel chose / his wyll I be / and with him will I dwell. And forthermore vnto whome shall I do seruyce but euen to hys sonne? And as I was seruaunt before wyth thy father / euen so shall I be with the. Then spake Absalō to Ahithophell geue councell what is best for vs to do. And Ahithophel said vnto Absalom: get the in vnto thy fathers* cōcubines which he hath lefte to kepe the house. For when all Israel shall heare that thou hast made thy father to stincke / then shall the handes of all that are with the / be stronge. And so they pitched Absalō a tent vpon the *toppe of the house. And he went in vnto his fathers concubynes in the syght of all Israel.

* The houses were there flatte.

And the councell of Ahithophel whiche he counceled in those dayes / was as a man had asked coūcell of God: euen so was all the councell of Ahithophel / both vnto Dauid and also vnto Absalom.

¶ Ahithophel / seyng his councell disalowed of Husai and forsaken / hangeth hym selfe.

¶ The .xvij. Chapter.

THen Ahithophel sayde vnto Absa- A lom: let me chose out I praye the twelue thousand men. And I wyll vp & folow after Dauid by nyght. And I will come vpon him while he is werye and weake handed / and wyll feare hym / that all the people that are wyth hym shall flee. And so wyll I smyte the kynge onlye / & will bryng agayne all the people vnto the. And when all these men whych thou seekest are turned to the / all the people shall haue rest. And the saying pleased Absalom well and all the elders of Israel. Then sayde Absalō: call also Husai the Archite and let vs heare hys sentēce. When Husai was come to Absalom Absalō spake vnto hym saying: Ahithophel hathe geuen soche coūcell: whether it be best we do after his saying or not / tell thou.

Then sayd Husai to Absalom: the coūcell that Ahithophel hathe geuen is not good at this tyme. For (sayd Husai) thou knowest thy B father & the men ꝑ are with him / how ꝑ they be strōg mē. And they be chafed in their myndes / euē as a* Beare robbed of her whelpes. Proner. xvij.

And thy father is a man practised in warre/ & will not lye a nyghtes among the comē people. Beholde he lurketh now in some caue or in some other place. And therto though some of his men be ouerthrowē at the fyrst brunt/ yet they that heare it will thynck the people that foloweth Abſalom be put to the worſſe. By the reaſon wherof the beſt men thou haſt whoſe herttes are as the hertes of Lyons/ ſhall thrynke therat. For all Iſrael knoweth that thy father is a man/ and that they which be with hym be chyldren of actiuite.

But my coūcell is/ that all Iſrael be gea- ℭ thered vnto the/ from Dan to Berſabe/ as ꝑ ſande of the ſee in nombre/ & that thou go to batayle in thyne awne perſon. And we wyll come vpon hym in one place or other/ where we ſhall fynde him/ & we will pitche a felde a gaynſt him/ euē as thicke as ꝑ dew falleth on the grounde. And Abſalō and all the men of Iſrael ſayd: that the councell of Huſai the Arachite was better then the coūcell of Ahithophell. For it Iſai. xlvij. c. and xlv. c. was euē ꝑ Lordꝭ determinacyon to deſtroye ꝑ councell of Ahithophel: which was good/ ℘ that ꝑ Lorde might bryng euell vpō Abſalō. ij. Reg. xv. g. Then ſayd Huſai vnto Sadock & Abiathar ꝑ preaſtes: of this & that maner dyd Ahitho- phel & the elders of Iſrael coūcell Abſalom. And thus & thus haue I coūceled. Now ther- fore ſend quyckly e & ſhew Dauid ſaying: ta- rye not all nyght in ꝑ feldes of ꝑ wilderneſſe/ but gett the ouer/ leſt the kynge be deuoured and all the people ꝑ are with hym. Now Jo- nathas & Ahimaaz abode by the well rogell: for they myght not be ſene to come into ꝑ cy- tye. And a wenche went and tolde them. And they to go and ſhewed kynge Dauid.

Neuertheleſſe there was a lad ſaw them ℰ whiche tolde it to Abſalom. But they went bothe of thē awaye quyckly e & cam to a mā- nes houſe in Bahurim/ whych had a well in his yarde/ into whiche they wēt downe. And the wife toke & ſpred a couerlet on the topp of the well & ſtrawed theron ſteaped barleye to drye. And ꝑ thyng was not eſpyed. And whē Abſaloms ſeruauntes came to the wife to ꝑ houſe & aſked where one Ahimaaz & Jona- thas were/ ꝑ wife ſayd vnto thē: they be gone ouer ꝑ lytell brocke of water. And whē they had ſought them & couldē not finde thē/ then they returned to Jeruſalem. And as ſone as they were departed/ the other came out of ꝑ well/ and went and tolde kyng Dauid & ſayd vnto him: vp & get you quyckly ouer ꝑ water for ſoche councell hath Ahithophel geuen.

Then Dauid arose and all the people ꝑ were F with him/ & they were come ouer Jordan be that it was daye/ that there lacked not one of them ꝑ was not come ouer Jordan. And whē Ahithophel ſaw that his coūcell was not fo- lowed/ he ſadelled hys aſſe & arose and gate him home to his awne houſe and to his aw- ne cytye/ and put hys houſholde in order and hanged hym ſelf and died/ and was buryed in the ſepulchre of hys father.

Then Dauid came to Mahanaim. And Abſalom paſſed ouer Jordan/ both he and all the mē of Iſrael w him. And Abſalom made Amaſa captayne of the hoſte in ſtede of Joab whych Amaſa was a mannes ſonne named G Jethra a Jeſrahelite that went into Abigail the daughter of Naah ſyſter to Saruiah Jo- abs mother. And Iſrael & Abſalom pytched in the lande of Galaad. And whē Dauid was come to Mahanaim/ Sobi the ſonne of Na- ah out of Rabath the cytye of the chyldren of Ammon/ and Machir ꝑ ſonne of Amiel out of Lodaber & Berzelai the Galaadite out of Rogelim/ brought beddes/ baſens/ & erthen veſſelles: and alſo corne/ barly/ floure & par- ched corne/ benes & rice hony/ butter/ ſhepe and chefe of kyne/ for Dauid & all the people that were wyth him to eate. For they ſuppo- ſed that the people ſhulde be hongrye/ fayn- tye/ and thurſtye in the wyldernеſſe.

ℭ Abſalom is ouercome in battell. He hangeth by the hearre on an Oke. He is kylled & put in a dytche. Da- uid is ſo ſorowfull for ꝑ deeth of Abſalō ꝑ he wepeth.

ℭ The. xviij. Chapter.

And the kynge nombred the people that were wyth him/ and ſett cap- A taynes of thouſandes and of hun- dredes ouer them. And he ſent one parte of them wyth Joab/ and a nother parte wyth Abiſai the ſonne of Saruiah Joabs brother/ and the thirde parte wyth Ethai the Gethite. And the kyng ſayd vnto the people: ſhall I go wyth you? And the people anſwe red: naye/ for yf we flе/ oure aduerſaries wil not care for vs: nether though halfe of vs were ſlayne/ ſhall they regarde vs. But thou were worth ten thouſand of vs. And therto it is better ꝑ thou be readye to ſuccoure vs out of the citie. Then ſayd the kynge: what ſemeth you beſt/ that will I do.

And the kyng ſtode by the Gates ſyde/ and B all the people came out by hundredes and by thouſandes. And the kyng cōmaunded Joab Abiſai/ and Ethai ſaying: intreate me gently my ſonne Abſalom. And all the people heard when the kinge gaue all ꝑ captaynes charge ouer Abſalom. And the people went out in- to the felde agaynſt Iſrael/ and the battell was in the woode of Ephraim. Where the people of Israel were putto ỹ worse before the seruaũtes of Dauid/& there was a great slaughter ỹ daye/euen of twentye thousand men. And ỹ felde was fought in dyuerse places/all abroade vpõ ỹ erthe. And the woodes deuoured moo people that daye than dyd the swerde. And it chaũced Absalom to come before the seruauntes of Dauid rydyng vpon a Mule whych caryed him vnder ỹ thycke bowes of a great Oke. And his heed caught in ỹ Oke/& he was lefte betwene heuẽ & erthe/ & ỹ Mule ỹ was vnder hym went his waye.

¶ And one ỹ saw it tolde Joab saying: beholde/ I saw Absalom hange in an Oke: & Joab sayd vnto him that tolde him: lo/sawest thou hym? And why dydest not thou there smyte him to the ground/that I should haue geuẽ ỹ ten sicles of syluer and a soudyoures gyrdle.

And ỹ man answered Joab: though I had a thousand sicles of syluer tolde in my hande yet wolde I not stretche out myne hande agaynst the kynges sonne. For we hearde wt oure eares whẽ the kyng charged the/ Absai and Ethai/saying: spare me the lad Absalom. Wherefore though I had ieoparded my life & done falsly therto/yet coulde nought of all ỹ matter haue bene hid frõ ỹ kynge: ye & thou thy selfe woldest be agaynst me. Then sayd Joab* I may not stand tareyng with the.

*That is/it is not best ỹ I tarye with the/& loke that thou shuldest go kill him

And therwyth he toke thre speares in hys hand & thrust thẽ into the hart of Absalom/ whyle he was yet a lyue on ỹ bodye of ỹ tree. And ten seruauntes that bare Joabs wepõs/ turned & smote Absalom and slue him. Then Joab blew a trompet/& the people returned frõ folowyng Israel: for Joab spared ỹ people. And they toke Absalom & cast him into a great pitt that was in the wood/ and cast a myghtye great heape of stones vpõ him. And all Israel fled euerye mã to his tent. And this Absalom yet in hys lyfe tyme/toke & reared vp a pyler/whiche is yet in kynges dale. For he sayde: I haue no male childe. And therfore to kepe my name in remẽbrance do I it. And he called the piller after his awne name. And it is called vnto this daye/Absaloms piller.

Then sayd Ahimaaz ỹ sonne of Sadock: let me runne I praye the/& beare the kynge tydinges/how that ỹ Lorde hath iudged him quyte of the handes of all hys enemyes. And Joab sayd vnto him: thou art no mã to beare tydynges to daye: thou shalt beare tydynges a nother tyme: but to daye thou shalt beare none/because ỹ kynges sonne is deed. Then sayd Joab to Chusi: go & tell the kynge what thou hast sene. And Chusi bowed him selfe vnto Joab & ranne. Then sayd Ahimaaz ỹ sonne of Sadock agayne to Joab: come what come will/let me runne I pray the after Chusi. And Joab sayd: wherfore shuldest thou runne my sonne? for and thou runne thou gettyst no reward: well come what will let me runne. And he sayd vnto him: runne. Then Ahimaaz ranne by the playne and ouer ranne Chusi.

And Dauid sat betwene the two gates. ¶ And the watcheman wẽt vp to ỹ rouffe ouer the gate vnto the walle/and lyfte vp his eyes and saw: and beholde/there cam a man runnyng alone. And the watchmã called & tolde the kynge. And the kynge sayde: yf he come alone/ there is tydynges in his mouthe. And he cam and drew nye. And the watchmã saw a nother man runnyng / and called vnto the porter & sayd: beholde/there cometh a nother runnyng alone. And the kynge answered: he is also a tydynges bringer. And ỹ watchmã sayd: me thinketh the running of the formost is lyke the runnyng of Ahimaaz the sonne of Sadock. And the kyng sayd: he is a good mã & cometh with good tydinges. And Ahimaaz called and sayd to the kynge: good tydynges/ and bowed him selfe to the erthe vpõ hys face before the kyng and sayd: blessed be ỹ Lorde thy God which hath* shut vp all ỹ men that lifte vp their handes agaynst my Lorde the kynge. And ỹ kynge sayd: is the lad Absalom safe? And Ahimaaz answered I saw a great a do/when the kinges seruaũt Joab sent me thy seruaunt. But I wotte not what it was. And the kyng sayd: turne and stande here. And he turned and stode.

*That is/ the shor.

¶ And beholde Chusi came and sayd: tydinges my Lorde the kynge/ ỹ Lorde hath quytte the thys daye out of the handes of all that rose agaynst the. And ỹ kyng sayde to Chusi: is ỹ lad Absalom safe? And Chusi answered the enemyes of my Lorde the kynge and all that rise agaynst the/to haue ỹ/ be as thy lad is. And the kynge was moued & went vp to a chambre ouer ỹ gate & wept. And as he went thus he sayde: my sonne Absalom/my sonne/ my sonne/my sonne Absalom/wold to God I had dyed for ỹ Absalom/my sonne/my sonne.

¶ Dauid is restored to hys kyngdome/and bringhe agayne to Jerusalem.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

And it was tolde Joab/how that the kynge wepte and mourned for Absalom. And the victorye was turned that daye into mournyng vnto all the people. For the people heard saye that daye/how the kynge sorowed for hys sonne/ and the people went stealyng into the cytye/ as people cõfounded stele awaye/when they flee in battell. And the kyng hyd his face and cryed wyth a loude voice: my sonne Absalom Absalom my sonne my sonne.

And Joab went into the house to the kyng and sayd: thou hast shamed thys daye the faces of all thy seruauntes/ whych thys daye haue saued thy lyfe/& the liues of thy sonnes & daughters/& ỹ lyues of thy wyues & cõcubynes/in ỹ thou loueſt thine enemyes & hateſt thy frẽdȝ. Thou haſt declared this daye ỹ thou cameſt nether for thy Lordȝ nor seruaũtes. For this daye I do perceaue/yt Absalom had lyued/& all we dyed thys daye / ỹ then it

B had pleased ỹ well. Now therfore vp & come out/& speake kyndely vnto thy seruaũtes/I swere by ỹ Lord except thou come out/there will not tarye one mã wt ỹ thys nyght. And ỹ wilbe worſſe vnto the/then all ỹ euell ỹ fell on the from thyne youthe vnto thys houre.
Then the kynge arose and satt downe in the Gate. And it was tolde vnto all the people/ how the kynge satt in the Gate. And then all the people cam before the kynge. But Israel fled euery man to his tent.

And all the people were at stryfe throrow out all the trybes of Israel saying: the kyng delyuered vs out of ỹ hand of oure enemyes. And he deliuered vs out of the hand of ỹ Philistines. And now he is fled out of ỹ land for Absalom. But Absalom whom we anoynted ouer vs is deed in battell. Now therfore why are ye so styll / that ye bryng not the kynge
C agayne. And kyng Dauid sent to Sadock & Abiathar the preastes saying: speake vnto ỹ elders of Juda & saye: why shulde ye be the last ỹ shulde brynge agayne ỹ kynge to hys house/seing ỹ soche tidinges is come frõ all Israel vnto ỹ kynge euẽ to hys house? ye are my brethren/my bones & my flesshe: wherfore then shulde ye be the last that shulde come to bryng the kynge home agayne? And saye to Amasa: art thou not my bone and my flesshe? And God do so to me & so therto: except thou be captaine of ỹ Host to me for euer in ỹ rowme of Joab. And he bowed ỹ herttes of all ỹ men of Juda/as a man wolde bow ỹ hert* of one man: so ỹ they sent woorde to ỹ kynge/ ỹ he shuld returne wt all hys seruauntes. And the kyng returned & came to Jordã. And Juda came to Galgal for to go agaynst ỹ kynge to conueye him ouer Jordã. And Semei* ỹ sonne of Gera the sonne of Jemini whyche was of Bahurim/hasted & came wt the mẽ of Juda agaynst kynge Dauid/& a thousande men of Beniamin wt him/and* Ziba the seruaunt of the house of Saul & his .xv. sonnes and twentye seruauntes with him. And they whypte ouer Jordan before the Kynge. And there wẽt ouer a Botte to carye ouer ỹ kynges housholde and to do hym pleasure.

D And Semei the sonne of Gera fell before the kynge/as he was come ouer Jordan and sayde vnto him: let not my Lord impute wickednesse vnto me/ner let him not remẽber the wickednesse that thy seruaunt did / when my Lorde the kynge departed out of Jerusalem that the kynge shuld take it to herte. For thy seruaunt dothe knowe how that I haue done amysse. And therfore beholde/I am the fyrst this daye of all ỹ house of Joseph ỹ am come to mete my Lorde the kynge. But Abisai the sonne of Saruiah answered & sayd: shall Semei not dye for that cause: whych cursed the Lordes anoynted? And the kynge sayd: what matter is betwene you & me ye sõnes of Saruiah/ ỹ ye shuld this daye be aduersaryes vnto me? There shall no man dye this daye in Israel: for I know that I am this daye kyng ouer Israel. And the kyng sayde vnto Semei: thou shalt not dye/ & sware vnto hym.

And Miphiboseth the sonne of Saul came
E also to mete ỹ kynge/& had nether dressed his fete ner shauẽ his beerde ner washed his clothes frõ the tyme ỹ kynge departed/vntill he came agayne in peace. And when he was come to Jerusalẽ towarde ỹ kynge/the kyng sayd vnto him: wherfore wentest not thou wt me Miphiboseth? And he sayd: my Lorde kynge/my seruaũt deceaued me. For thy seruaũt sayd: ỹ I wolde haue mine Asse sadled to ryde theron/for to go to ỹ kynge/because thy seruaunt is lame. And he hath therto cõplayned on thy seruaũt vnto my Lord ỹ king. But my Lord ỹ kynge is as an Angel of God: do therfore what semeth best in thyne eyes. For all my fathers house were but deedmen vnto my Lord the kynge: & yet dydest thou put me amõge thẽ ỹ eate at thine awne table. What right therfore haue I yet / to crye any more vnto ỹ kinge? And ỹ kyng sayd: it needeth the not to speake any moare, for I haue sayd: ỹ thou & Ziba shall deuide ỹ landȝ betwene you. And Miphiboseth sayd vnto ỹ kinge: yee let him take all: for so moche as my Lord ỹ king is come in peace vnto hys awne house.

And Berselai the Galaadite came frõ Ro-
F gelim & wẽt ouer Jordã wt ỹ kynge/to accõpanie him ouer Jordã: whiche Berselai was a very aged mã/euẽ foure skore yeres olde/& had prouyded ỹ kyng of sustenaũce while he laye at Mahanaim: for he was a mã of verye great substaunce. And ỹ king sayd vnto Berselai: come thou wt me/ ỹ I may fede ỹ wt me in Jerusalẽ. But Berselai sayd vnto ỹ kynge of what age am I ok/ ỹ I shulde go wt ỹ kyng ito Jerusalẽ. I am this daye foure skore yere olde: & therfore cãnot decerne sauery frõ vnsauery/nether hath thy seruaũt pleasure in ỹ he eateth or drincketh: ner yet delectaciõ in ỹ songes of mẽ or womẽ. It is no nede ỹ thy seruaũt be a burthen vnto my Lord ỹ kinge: let thy seruaũt go a lytle waye ouer Jordã wt the kynge: for why shulde ỹ kynge render me soche a reward? But let thy seruaunt turne back agayne/ ỹ I maye dye in mine awne citye / by the graue of my father and mother.

But

But lo here is thy seruaunt Chamaã: let him go with my Lorde the Kyng / and do to hym / what shall please the.

G And the kyng answered: Chamaam shall go with me. And I wyll do to hym that thou shalt be cõtent with. And therto whatsoeuer thou shalt require of me / that same wyll I do for the. And all the people went ouer Jordan. And whẽ the kyng was come ouer Jordan / he kyssed Berselai & toke hys leaue of him / & he went backe agayne vnto his awne place. And then the kyng wẽt to Galgal / and Chamaam went with him. Now all the men of Juda were at the bryngynge ouer of the kyng / & but halfe the men of Jsrael.

Wherfore all the men of Jsrael came to ỹ kyng & sayde vnto him: why haue oure brethren the men of Juda stolen the awaye / and haue brought the kyng & his housholde & all Dauids men with him ouer Jordan? And all the men of Juda answered ỹ men of Jsrael: for the kyng is nere of kynne to vs: wherfore be ye angrye for that matter? thynke ye that we eate of the kynges cost / or that the kyng geueth vs any gyftes? And ỹ men of Jsrael answered the men of Juda & sayde: we haue ten partes in the kyng / & haue therto more ryght to Dauid then ye. Why then dyd ye despyse vs / that owre aduyse had not ben fyrst had in restoryng owre kynge agayne? And ỹ wordes of the men of Juda were fearcer then the wordes of the men of Jsrael.

¶ Seba the sonne of Bochri reaseth Jsrael agaynst Dauid. Joab kylleth Amasa traterously. The heed of Seba is delyuered to Joab. Dauids receauers are nombred.

¶ The.xx. Chapter.

A And there happened to be an vnthryfte felow named Seba the sonne of Bochri a mã of Gemini whych blew a trompet and sayd: we haue no parte in Dauid / nor enheritaunce in the sonne of Jsai / O Jsrael / lett vs depart therfore euery mã to his tent. And all Jsrael wẽt from Dauid & folowed Seba the sonne of Bochri. But the men of Juda claue fast vnto the kyng / frõ Jordan to Jerusalem.

And when Dauid was come to his house to Jerusalem / he toke the ten wyues hys cõcubynes ỹ he had left behynde him to kepe ỹ house / & put thẽ in warde and myntstred all thynges vnto them: but laye no moare with them. And so they were enclosed vnto ỹ daye of the deeth of thẽ / & lyued a wydowes lyfe.

Then sayde the kyng to Amasa: call me ỹ men of Juda to geather with in thre dayes & present thy selfe here. And Amasa went to B geather the men of Juda to geather: but taried longer then ỹ time which was apoynted him. Wherfore ỹ kynge sayde to Abisai: now shall Seba ỹ sonne of Bochri be worse to vs thẽ Absalom. Take thou therfore thy* Lords seruaũtes & folow after him: lest he gett him walled cyties & escape vs. And there wẽt out after him Joabs men and the Cerethites & ỹ Phelethites & the men of myght. And they departed out of Jerusalem to folow after Seba the sonne of Bochri. And when they were come to the great stone in Gabaon / Amasa met thẽ. And Joab had his garment that he C had about him / gyrde vnto him / & had gyrde ther on a knyfe toyned fast to his loynes / in soche a shethe ỹ as he wẽt it fell some tymes out. And Joab sayde to Amasa: are all thynges in rest and peace my brother? And Joab toke Amasa by the chynne with the ryght hande / as though he wolde haue* kyssed hym. And Amasa toke no hede to the knyffe that was in Joabs hand / with which Joab smote hym in the short ribbes & shed out hys bowelies to ỹ ground and smote him but one strocke / and he dyed.

And then Joab and Abisai his brother fo- D lowed after Seba the sonne of Bochri. And one of Joabs men ỹ stode by him sayd: what is he that he wolde be as Joab / & what is he ỹ wold be vnto Dauid in stede of Joab? And Amasa laye walowyng in bloude in ỹ middes of the waye. And there was a man ỹ saw all the people stande styll. And whẽ he saw that *all ỹ came by him stode still / he rowled Amasa out of the waye into the feld & cast a cloth vpon hym. And as sone as he was tombeled out of ỹ waye / all ỹ people wẽt after Joab / to folow after Seba ỹ sonne of Bochri.

And he went thorow all the trybes of Jsrael vnto Abel / Bethmaacah & all Barim. E And ỹ people geathered vnto him & wẽt also after him. And they cam and beseged hym in Abel Bethmaacah. And they cast vp a bãcke agaynst the cytie. And it was beseged. All ỹ people ỹ was with Joab labored busely to ouer throwe the walle. Then cryed a wyse woman out of the cytie / heare heare / byd I praye you Joab that he come hyther / that I maye speake wt him. When Joab was come / the woman sayd: art thou Joab? And Joab answered ỹ am I. And he sayd to him: heare ỹ F wordes of thy hãdmayde? And he sayd: I am readye to heare. And she sayde: it hath bene a comen sayinge in the olde tyme / men* must aske of Abel / and then go to and fynyshe the worcke. Abel is one of the quyetest & faythfullest cyties ỹ are in Jsrael. And thou gost about to destroye a cytie that is as a mother in Jsrael. Why deuowrest thou the enheritaunce of the Lorde.

And Joab answered and sayd: God forbid / God forbid it me / that I shuld ether deuowre or destroye it. The matter is not so: But

And Dauid enquyred of the Lord.
And the Lorde answered: it is for the Gabaonites & sayde vnto thē. Now these Gabaonites are not of the chyldrē of Israel /

but a remnaūt of the Amorites / & the chil-

But the kyng had compassion on Miphi-

¶ The Canticle or song of Dauid for ỹ delyueraunce from his enemyes.

¶ The .xxij. Chapter.

AND Dauid spake the wordes of this songe vnto the Lord/what tyme ỹ Lord had delyuered him out of the hãdes of all his enemyes / and out of the handes of Saul.

And he sayde: the Lorde is my [a] rocke/ my castel and my delyuerer. God is my strẽght/ & in hym wyll I trust: my shylde & the horne that defendeth me: myne hye holde & refuge: O my Sauer/ saue me from wronge.

I wyll prayse and calle on the Lorde/ and so shall be saued from myne enemyes. For ỹ waues of deeth haue closed me aboute / and ỹ flodes of Belial haue feared me. The cordes of hell haue cõpased me about / & the snares of deeth haue ouertake me. In my trybulacyõ I called to the Lord/ & cryed to my God. And he heard my voyce out of his tẽple / and my crye entered into his eares. And the erth trimbled and quoke/ and the foundacions of heuẽ moued & shoke/ because he was angrie.

Smoke went vp out of his nostrelles/ & cõsumyng fyre out of his mouth / that coles were kendled of him. And he bowed heuẽ and came downe/ and darcknesse vnder nethe his fete. And he rode vpon Cherub and flew: and appered vpon the wynges of the wynde. And he made darcknesse a tabernacle roũde about him/ wt water geathered to geather in thicke cloudes. Of the brightnesse/ that was before him/ coles were sett on fyre.

The Lorde thundred from heuen/ and the most hye put out hys voyce. And he shotte arowes and skatered them/ and hurled lyghtenyng and turmoyled them. And ỹ bottome of the see appered/ and the foundacions of ỹ worlde were sene/ by the reason of the rebukyng of the Lorde/ and thorow the blastyng of the breeth of hys nostrelles. He sent from an hye & kett me/ & plucked me out of myghtye waters.

He delyuered me frõ my mightie enemye/ & from thẽ that hated me and were to strong for me. When they had compased me in the daye of my trybulacion/ the Lorde stayed me vp. And he brought me out into rowmeth/ & delyuered me/ because he delyted in me.

¶ The Lorde rewarded me accordyng to my ryghtwysnesse/ & accordyng to the pureneſſe of my handes he dealt wyth me. For I kept the wayes of the Lorde/ and dyd no wickednesse forsakyng my God. But I had all hys lawes in my syght / & turned my face from none of his ordinaunces. But was pure vnto him ward/ & kept my selfe frõ wickednesse.

And the Lorde dyd to me agayne / accordyng to my ryghtewelnes/ and after my pureneſſe that I had in his syght. With the holy thou shalt be holy/ and wyth the man that is vncorrupt/ thou shalt be vncorrupt. With ỹ pure thou shalt be pure/ & wyth the froward thou shalt be froward also. And the people that are in aduersyte/ thou shalt helpe. And on ỹ proude shalt thou cast thine eyes. Thou art my lyght O Lorde / and the Lorde shall lyght my darcknesse.

With thy helpe I wyll runne thorow an Hoste of men/ and by ỹ ayde of my God wyll sprynge ouer a walle. The* waye of God is vndefyled/ and the worde of the Lorde fyned as golde/ & he a shilde to all that trust in him.

Who is a God saue the Lorde / and who myghtie saue oure God? God is my strength in warre/ and ryddyth the waye cleare before me. And maketh my fete as swyfte as an hyndes and setteth me fast vpon my hye hold.

And teacheth my handes to fyght / that a bowe of brasse is to weake for myne armes.

And thou hast saued me wyth thy shylde/ and keppest me euer in meakenes. And thou madest me space to walke in / that my fete shuld not stõble. I folowed myne enemyes & destroyed thẽ/ and turned not agayne vntyll I had consumed them.

I wasted them and so clouted thẽ/ that they could not aryse: but fell vnder my fete.

And thou compasedest me about wt might to battell/ & madest them that roase agaynst me to stoupe vnder me.

And thou madest myne enemyes to* turne their backes to me/ and them that hated me/ and I destroyed them. They loked for helpe: But none came to saue them vnto the Lorde they cryed/ but he heard them not.

And I wyll beate them as smalle as the dust of the erth/ and wyll stampe them as the dyrte of ỹ strete/ & wyll spreade thẽ abroade.

The Lorde lyue/ and blessed be he ỹ is my strength: and exalted be God ỹ strength that saueth me. It is God that aduengeth me / & bryngeth downe the people vnder me. And delyuereth me from myne enemies/ thou liftest me vp on hye from thẽ that ryse agaynst me/ and delyueresst me from ỹ wicked men.

And therfore I wyll prayse the O Lorde amonge the hethen/ and [b] will synge vnto thy name. For thy great & manyfolde sauyng of thy kynge/ and shewyng mercye vnto thyne anoynted/ euẽ to Dauid/ & his seede for euer.

¶ The last communicacyon of Dauid / and the descripcion of the myghty men to hym belongyng.

¶ The.xxiij. Capter.

THese be the last sainges of Dauid. Dauid the sonne of Jsai sayde. And the mā is lyfte vp on hye / ꝑ anoynted of the God of Jacob & pleasant Psalmist of Jsrael sayd: the spyrete of ꝑ Lorde spake in me / & his wordes were on my tong. The God of Jsrael spake vnto me / and the strēgth of Jsrael sayde: he that beareth rule ouer men / he that ruleth iustlye[a] in the feare of God. And he shalbe as the mornyng light / when the sonne shyneth in a mornynge in which are no cloudes to lett the bryghtnesse / and as the grasse of the erth is by the vertue of the raygne. And is not myne house so with God? in that he hath made with me an euerlastyng couenaunt perfecte in all poyntes: & in that he shall fulfyll all ꝑ is healthesome vnto me / & all my desyres therto. When the vnthryftie men are all of thē as thornes takē out of their places / which cannot be takē w̄ handes: But the man that shall touche thē / must be armed wyth yron on a longe helue. And then shall they be burnt with fyre to syt therby.

a. Understand / sayde / that he wolde rayse vp of my stocke a king / which shulde be Messias / that shulde rule in the feare of the Lorde: that is / in the true worshippyng of the one & true God. For the kyngdome of Christ is the kingdome of thē that beleue and worshyp God / in spyrite & truthe: & that kepe his cōmaundementes / and ernestly & with all their trust leane to that that pleaseth him.

B Theise be the names of the myghtye men ꝑ were about Dauid: [b] Joseb of Sebeth the Thachmonite / first of thre / otherwyse called Adino the Aznonite / which slue. viij. hūdred at one tyme. And nexte to him Eleazar ꝑ sonne of Dodi ꝑ sonne of Ahohi / one of ꝑ thre princypall ꝑ were wyth Dauid / which whē they defyed the Philistines ꝑ were there geathered to geather in battell (and the men of Jsrael were gone vp) arose & layed on the Philistines vntyll his hande ached and claue vnto the swerde. And the Lord made a great victorie the same daye. And ꝑ people returned & wēt after him only to spoyle. And theise thre of the thirtie of the Lordes went downe & came to Dauid in the haruest tyme vnto ꝑ caue Odolom. And the Host of the Philistines had pytched in the valeye of Geauntes. And anone the thre myghtie brake thorow ꝑ Host of the Philistines and fett water out of the well of Bethlehem ꝑ was in the gate / & toke and brought it to Dauid: Neuertheless he wolde not dryncke therof / but offered it vnto the Lord & sayde: the Lorde forbyd ꝑ I shuld do so / shuld I dryncke ꝑ bloud of men ꝑ were in ieopardye of their lyues? and so he wolde not dryncke it. Theise thynges dyd theise thre myghtye men. Then Abisai the brother of Joab / the sonne of Saruiah: he was o captayne[d] ouer the thre / & he lyfte vp his speare agaynst three hundred & slue them / & was named w̄ the thre. For he was nobler man then the thre & was their captayne. How be it he attayned not vnto *those thre in actes.

d. Not ouer ꝑ first thre / but ouer the thre ꝑ were iferiour & vnder them / that is / ouer thē that were of ꝑ second degre of Dauids mighty mē or worthies.

Then Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada ꝑ sonne of a lustye mā valyāt in actes of Kabzeel / he slue two lyons of Moab. He went downe & slue a lyō in a pyt in time of Snow. And he slue an Egyptian a goodly mā / which had a speare in his hand. And Banaiah went downe to hym w̄ a staffe & plucked ꝑ speare out of the Egyptians hand & slue him w̄ hys awne speare: Soche thynges dyd Banaiah D the sonne of Jehoiada & was the noblest of thyrtye: But not lyke to anye of the thre in factes of warre. And Dauid made him of his councell. Asahel ꝑ brother of Joab was one of the thyrtye. Then Elchanan the sonne of Dodo of Bethlehem: Semah the Harodite: Elica the Harodite: Helez the Paltite: Ira the sonne of Akes the Thekoite: Abiezer of Anathoth: Mobonai the Husathite: Zelmon an Ahohite: Maharai the Netophathite: Heleb the sonne of Baanah an Netophathite: Ithai ꝑ sonne of Ribai of Gabaah a cytie of ꝑ chyldrē of Beniamin: Banaiah the Pharathonite: Hedai: of the ryuer of Gaas: Abialbon the Arbathite: Asmaueth a Berhomite: Elihaba a Salabonite: *Of ꝑ sonnes of Jasen Jonathas: Semah the Harorite: Ahiam the sonne of Sarar an Ararite: Eliphelet the sonne of Ahasbai the sonne of a Maachathite: Eliam the sonne of Ahithophel the Gilonite: Hezrai the Carmelite: Pharai the Arbite: Igaal the sonne of Nathan of Zobah: Bani the Gadite: Zelec an Amonite: Maharai a Berothite the Harnesberer of Joab the sonne of Saruiah: Ira the Jethrite: Gareb ꝑ Jethrite: Uriah the Hethite: in all thirtie and seuen.

¶ Because Dauid caused the people to be nombred / is Jsrael plaged with pestilence: so that in thre dayes there dyed. lxx. thousand.

¶ The.xxiiij. Chapter.

AND the Lorde was wrath agayne ✠ agaynst Jsrael / & stered vp Dauid agaynst thē saying: go and nombre both Jsrael and Juda. And forthwith the kyng sayd to Joab the captayne of his Host: go abroade I praye the / thorow out all the trybes of Jsrael / euē frō Dan to Berlabe sabe & nombre the people that I maye know the nombre of them. And Joab sayde vnto ỹ kynge: I beseche ỹ the Lorde thy God make the people as many moo as they be: ye & an hundred tymes so many mo/ and that ỹ eyes of my Lorde the kynge maye se them. But how is it that my Lorde the kyng hath a lust in this thyng? Notwithstandyng the kynges wordes preuayled agaynst Joab & agaynst all the captaynes of the Hoste.

Then Joab and ỹ captaynes of the Host went out from the kyng/ to bewe the people of Israel. And they passed ouer Jordan & pitched in Aroer on the ryght syde of the cytie ỹ lyeth in the myddes of the valeye of Gad and so forth to Jazer. And then they went to Galaad and to the nether land of Hodesi/ & from thence to Dan Jaan/ and aboute to Sidon/ and came to the stronge towne of Tyre/ and to all the cyties of the Heuites and of the Cananites/ and then went out to the South of Juda/ euen to Bersabe. And so whē they had bene abroade thorow out all the lande they returned to Jerusalem agayne at the ende of nyne monethes and twētye dayes. And then
B Joab delyuered vp the rekenyng of the nombre of the people vnto the kynge. And there were found in Israel nyne hūdred thousand men of myght ỹ drew swerdes. And the men of Juda were fyue hundred thousand men.

And Dauids heart smote hym after that he had nombred the people. And he sayde vnto the Lorde: I haue synned excedyngly in ỹ I haue done. And now Lord take awaye the trespace of thy seruaunt: for I haue done folyshely. And when Dauid was vp in a mornyng/ the worde of the Lorde came vnto the prophete Gad Dauids sear sayinge: go and saye vnto Dauid/ this sayth the Lorde. I offer the thre thynges / chose which of them I shall do to the.

And Gad came to Dauid and shewed him/ and sayde vnto him: whether wylt thou haue vij. yeres hunger in thy lāde/ or that thou flee thre monethes before thyne enemyes & they folowyng the/ or that there be thre dayes pestilence in thy lande. Now vnderstande and se/ what worde I shall bryng agayne to him
C that sent me. Then sayd Dauid vnto Gad: I am in a maruelous straite. But let me falle I praye the/ into the hādes of the Lorde / for moche is his mercye / and lett me not falle in into the handes of men.

And the Lorde sent a pestilence in Israel from the mornyng vnto the ende of the tyme appoynted. And there dyed of the people betwene Dan & Bersabe. lxx. thousande men. And when the Angell stretched out his hand vnto Jerusalē to haue destroyed it/ the Lorde had compassyon to do that euell/ and sayde to the Angell that destroyed ỹ people: it is sufficient: let thyne hande ceasse. And the Angell was at the threshynge place of Areunah the Jebusite. Then spake Dauid vnto the Lord whē he saw the Angell that smote ỹ people/ and sayde: loo/ it is I that haue synned / and I that haue done wyckedly. But these shepe what haue they done? lett I praye the thyne hand be on me and on my fathers house.

And Gad came the same daye to Dauid & sayde vnto him: go vp & reare an aultare vnto the Lord in the threshyng flowre of Areunah the Jebusite. And Dauid accordynge to the saying of Gad went vp as the Lord commaunded. And when Areunah loked and saw D the kyng & his seruauntes comyng towarde him/ he went out: and bowed hym selfe to the kyng flat on his face to the ground / & sayde: wherfore is my Lorde the kyng come to hys seruaunt? And Dauid sayd: to bye the threshyngeflowre of the / for to make an aultare vnto the Lord that the plage maye cease frō the people.

And Areunah sayde vnto the kyng: let my Lorde the kyng take and offer what semyth him good in his eyes: Beholde oxen for sacre fyce/ and sleades and the other instrumentes of the oxē for wood. And Areunah the kyngs frende gaue all to the kynge / and sayde moreouer vnto the kynge: the Lorde: the Lorde thy God accept the. But the kyng sayde vnto Areunah: not so / but I wyll bye it of the at a pryce/ and wyll not offer sacrefyce vnto the Lorde my God that shall cost me nought And so Dauid bought the threshyng flowre/ and the oxen for fyftye sycles of syluer. And Dauid bylt there an aultare vnto the Lorde and offered burnt sacrefyces and peace offerynges. And so the Lorde was agreed with the lande. And the plage ceased from Israel.

¶ The ende of the second boke of Samuel: which they comenly call the second of the kynges.

The thirde boke of the Kynges after the rekenynge of the Latenistes: whych after the Hebzues is called, the fyzst of the Kynges.

¶ The young virgin Abisag kepeth Dauid in his extreme Age. Adoniah occupieth the reaulme vnwyttyng to his father. Salomon is annoyted Kynge and then Adoniah fleith.

¶ The fyzst Chapter.

WHen Kyng Dauid was waxen olde & strykē in yeres/ though they couered hym w̄ clothȝ/ yet he caught no heate. Wherfoze hys seruaūtes sayd vnto him: let there be sought foz my Lozde the kynge a young mayden to wayte vpō him and to cherysshe hym. And let her lye in thy bosome / that my Lozde the kyng maye get heate. And so they sought foz a fayze Damosell thozow out all the coostes of Israel & founde one Abisag a Sunamite & bzought her to ỹ kyng. And the Damosell was excedyng fayze/ & cherysshed the kyng & ministred to him: But ỹ kyng knewe her not.

But Adoniah the sonne of Hagith exalted him self saying: I wylbe kynge. And he gatt him a charet and hozsmen and fyftie men to runne befoze hym. And hys father rebuked hym not at anye tyme noz sayde so moche to him as why doest thou so. And he was therto a goodlye man & hys mother bare hym next after Absalom. And he comuned wyth Joab ỹ sonne of Zaruiah & w̄ Abiathar ỹ pzeast. And they holpe Adoniah. But Sadock the pzeast/ Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada/ Nathan the pzophet/ Semei and Rei & the men of myght which were wyth Dauid fauered not Adoniah. And Adoniah sacrificed shepe & oxen and fatlynges at the stone of Zoheleth which is fast* by the well of Rogell/ & bad all his bzethzen the kynges sonnes & all the men of Juda the kynges seruauntes. But Nathā the pzophet & Banaiah and the mightie men and Salomon his bzother he bad not.

Wherupon Nathan spake vnto Bethsabe the mother of Salomon saying: hast thou not heard how that Adoniah the sonne of Hagith doth raigne vnweting vnto ouremaster Dauid? Now therfoze come ỹ I maye geue the councell/ how to saue thyne awne lyfe & the lyfe of thy sonne Salomon. Hence & get the vnto kynge Dauid & saye vnto him: dydest not thou my Lozde kyng swere vnto thy hādmadye sayinge? Salomō thy sonne shall raygne after me/ and he shall a sitt vpon my seate/ why is then Adoniah made kyng? And se/ while thou yet talkest there with ỹ kyng/ I will come in after ỹ & will ende thy wozdȝ.

a Here it apereth that to be. sett vpon the seate/ sygnifyeth to bere rule and to to haue dominyon oz iurisdiccion/ as in many places here after and Matth. xix. d.

And Bethsabe went in vnto the kyng into the chambze. And the kynge was very olde & Abisag the Sunamite ministred vnto hym. And Bethsabe stouped & made obeysaunce vnto the kyng. And the kynge sayde: what is thy matter? And she answered & sayde: My Lozde thou swarest by the Lozd thy God vnto thyne hādmayde: Salomō thy sonne shall raygne after me & he shall sytt vpō my seate. But now se/ Adoniah is kynge and thou my Lozd kyng wottest it not. And he hath offered oxen fatlynges & shepe aboundantly/ & hath called all the sonnes of the Kynge/ and Abiathar the pzeast/ and Joab the captayne of the Hoste. But Salomon thy seruaunt hath he not byddē. And now my Lozde kyng ỹ eyes of all Israel wayte on the / to tell them who shall sytte on the seate of my Lozde the kyng after him. Foz elles when my Lozde ỹ kyng is layde to rest wyth hys fathers / I and my sonne Salomon shalbe* synners.

*That is/ shall seame to haue offended & synned against the/ whē we be depryued frō the kyngdome.

And beholde whyle she yet talked wyth ỹ kynge/ Nathan the pzophet was come. And they tolde the kyng saying: here cometh Nathan the pzophete. And when he was come befoze the kyng/ he made obeysaunce vnto ỹ kyng vpō his face vnto ỹ grounde / & sayde: My Lozde kyng/ hast thou sayde / Adoniah shall raygne after me/ & he shall sytt vpō my seate? Foz he is gone downe this daye & hath offered oxen/ fatlynges & shepe aboundantlye/ and hath called all the kynges sonnes & the captaynes of the Hoste/ and Abiathar the pzeast. And se/ they eate and dzynke befoze him and saye. God saue kyng Adoniah. But me thy seruaunt and Sadock the pzeast and Banaiah ỹ sonne of Jehoiada/ & thy seruaūt Salomon he hath not called. Is this thynge done of my Lozde the kyng & yet woldest not shewe me thy seruaunt/ who shulde sytt on ỹ seate of my Lozde the kyng after him?

Then kyng Dauid answered & sayde: call me Bethsabe. And she cam in & stode befoze him. And ỹ kyng sware saying. As sure as ỹ Lozde (that hath rydd my soule out of all aduersyte) lyueth: euen as I sware vnto the by the Lozde God of Israel sayinge: Salomon shall raygne after me/ and he shall sytt vpon my seate foz me/ so wyll I do this daye. And Bethsabe bowed on her face to the erth and dyd obeysaunce vnto the kynge and sayde: I pzaye God my Lozd kyng Dauid maye lyue euer. Then sayde kyng Dauid call me Sadock the pzeast and Nathan the pzophet and Banaiah ỹ sonne of Jehoiada. And whē they cam befoze the kynge. The kynge sayde vnto them: take with you the seruauntes of youre Lozde/ & sett Salomon my sonne vpō myne awne Mule and carye him downe to Gihon. And let Sadock ỹ pzeast and Nathā ỹ pzophet phet anoynte him there/ to be kyng ouer Israel. And then blowe ye with a trōpet & saye: God saue kyng Salomō. And then come vp after him/ & let him come and sytte vpon my seate. For he shalbe kyng in my steade. And him I haue cōmaunded to be captayne ouer Israel and Juda. And Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada answered the kyng & sayde/ Āmē/ & so I praye God that the Lorde God of my Lorde the kyng saye so to. And as the Lorde hath bene w̄ my Lorde the kyng/ euen so/ I praye God he maye be/ with Salomon and ꝑ he make his seate gloryouser then ꝑ seate of my Lorde kyng Dauid.

And Sadock the preast and Nathan the prophet and Banaiah ꝑ sonne of Jehoiada & the Cerethites and Phelethites wēt downe/ & sett Salomon vpon kyng Dauids Mule & ledd him to Gihon. And Sadock the Preast F toke an horne of oyle out of the tabernacle & anointed Salomō. And they blewe a trōpet/ and all they sayd: God saue kyng Salomon. And all the people cam vp after him pyping with pypes and reioysing greatlye/ so ꝑ the erth range with the sounde of them.

And Adoniah and all the gestes that were with him/ heard it euen as they had made an ende of eatynge. And when Joab hearde the sounde of the trompet/ he sayde: how happeneth it that there is soche a noyse in ꝑ cytie? And as he yet spake/ se/ Jonathas the sonne of Abiathar the preast came. And Adoniah sayde: come for thou art a lustye bloude and bryngest good tydynges. And Jonathas answered & sayd to Adoniah: Uerely oure Lord kyng Dauid hath made Salomō kyng. And ꝑ kyng sent with him/ Sadock ꝑ preast and Nathan the prophet: and Banaiah the sonne of Jehoiada & the Cerethites & the Phelethites/ & they haue set him vpō ꝑ kyngs Mule. And Sadock the preast and Nathan ꝑ Prophet haue anoynted him kyng in Gihon. And as they came vp agayne they reioysed that the cytie dyd sounde agayne. And that is the G noyse that ye haue heard. And therto Salomon sytteth on the seate of the kyngdome. And moreouer the kynges seruauntes went in to blesse oure Lorde kyng Dauid saying: thy God make the name of Salomō moare fauoure then thyne/ and his seate more glorioulse then thyne. And the kyng bowed hym selfe vpon the beed. And last of all thus sayde the kyng: blessed be the Lorde God of Israel which hath made one to sytt on my seate this daye/ euen myne eyes seying it.

And all the gestes that were w̄ Adoniah were afrayed & rose vp & went euery mā hys waye. And Adoniah fearyng Salomō arose & went & caught holde on the hornes of the aultare. And it was tolde Salomon/ how ꝑ Adoniah for feare of kyng Salomon hathe *caught handfast by the hornes of the aultare saying: let kyng Salomon swere vnto me this daye/ that he wyll not sley his seruaunt with the swerde. And Salomon sayde: yf he wylbe a chylde of vertue/ there shall not an hearre of him fall to ꝑ erth. But & yf wickednesse shalbe found in hym/ he shall dye for it. And therupon kyng Salomō sent & fet him downe from the aultare. And he came & dyd obeysaunce vnto kyng Salomon. And Salomon sayde to him: get the to thyne house.

¶ Dauid dyeth. Adoniah requireth to haue Abisag to his concubyne/ and therfore Salamō cōmaundeth to sley hym. Abiathar is put from his Preesthode. Semei and Joab are slayne.

¶ The seconde Chapter.

When ꝑ dayes of Dauid were drawne nye/ that he shulde dye/ he charged Salomon his sonne saying: I must walke by the waye of all the A world/ neuerthelater* be thou strōg & quyte thy selfe manfully. And se that thou kepe the appoyntment of the Lorde thy God/ ꝑ thou walke in his wayes & kepe his commaundemētes/ ordinaūces/ lawes and testymonies/ euen as it is written in the lawe of Moses: ꝑ thou mayst vnderstand all that thou oughtest to do/ and all that thou shuldest medyll with. That the Lorde maye make good hys promesse which he hath promysed me sayīg: yf thy chyldrē shall take hede to their wayes/ that they walke before me in truthe/ wyth all their hertes & with all their soules/ *then thou shalt neuer be with out one sytting on the seate of Israel.

And so *Dauid rested with hys fathers/& was buried in the cytie of Dauid. And the dayes which Dauid raygned vpon Israel / ℭ were fourtye yeres: seuen yeres in Hebron/& thirtie and thre yere in Jerusalē. * And Salomō sate vpon ỹ seate of Dauid his father & his kyngdome was stablysshed myghtely.

After that Adoniah the sonne of Hagith came to Bethsabe the mother of Salomon And she sayd: *Betokeneth thy comīg peace? And he sayde: it betokeneth peace. Then sayd he/I haue a matter to shewe the. And she sayd: saye on. And he sayde: thou knowest that the kyngdome was myne / & that all Israel put their eyes on me/ ỹ I shulde raygne/ howbeit the kyngdom was turned away & geuē to my brother/ for it was appoynted him of the Lord: & now I aske a petitiō of ỹ/ wherof denye me not. And she sayd vnto him: tell what it is. Then he sayde: speake I pray the / vnto Salomon the kyng (for he wyll not saye the naye) that he geue me Abisag the Sunamite to wyfe. And Bethsabe sayde: well/I wyll ℘ speake for the vnto the kyng.

And therupon Bethsabe went vnto kyng Salomon to speake vnto him for Adoniah. And ỹ kyng rose vp agaynst her and bowed hym selfe vnto her / and satt hym downe on hys seate. And there was a seate sett for the kynges mother/ & * she sat on his right syde. Then she sayde: I must desyre a lyttell peticyon of the: saye me not naye. And the kynge sayd vnto her: Aske on my mother: for I wyll not saye ỹ naye. And she sayde: let Abisag ỹ Sunamite be geuen to Adoniah thy brother to wyfe. And king Salomō answered & sayd vnto his mother: why doest thou aske Abisag the Sunamite for Adoniah? but rather aske for him ỹ kyngdome/ seing he is myne elder brother: Euen for him aske it & for Abiathar the preast/ & for Joab the sonne of Zaruiah.

a. God do so & so &c. was a customable othe of the Hebrues/ as it is sayde. Ruth. i. c.

Then Kynge Salomon sware by the Lorde saying: [a] God do so to me & so therto yf Adoniah haue not spokē this worde agaynst him selfe. Now therfore as surely as the Lorde lyueth which hath stablysshed me and set me on ℰ the seate of Dauid my father/ & which hath made me an house as he promysed me/ Adoniah shall dye this daye. And kyng Salomō sent by the hand of Banaiah the sonne of Iehoiada/ and smote him that he dyed.

And vnto Abiathar ỹ preast sayde ỹ kyng: get the to Anatoth vnto thyne awne feldes/ for thou art worthy of deeth: but I wyll not at this tyme kyll the/ because thou barest ỹ Arcke of the Lorde Iehouah before Dauid my father and because thou sufferedst wyth my father in all his afflictions. And so Salomō put awaye Abiathar frō beying preast vnto the Lorde: to fulfyll the wordes of the Lorde which he spake ouer the house of Eli in Siloh. Then tydinges came to Joab: for Joab had turned after Adoniah but not after Salomon. Wherupon he fled vnto the tabernacle of the Lorde and caught * handfast on the hornes of the aultare. And it was tolde kyng Salomon how that Joab was fled vnto the tabernacle of the Lorde and stode by ỹ aultare. Then Salomon sent Banaiah the sonne of Iehoiada saying: go and smyte him. And when Banaiah was come to the tabernacle of the Lorde he sayde vnto hym: thus sayth the kyng/ come out. And he sayd naye: But I wyll dye euen here. And Banaiah brought the kyng worde sayinge: thus sayde Joab and thus he answered me.

* Thinckynge therby to haue saued him self/ & to haue dryuē of his deeth for a tyme: in lyke maner dyd Adoniah/ as in the. i. Chap. of this boke. g.

And the kynge sayde: do euen as he hath sayde: smyte hym & burie him/ & take awaye the bloude (which Joab shed causelesse) from me and from the house of my father. And the Lorde bryng his bloude vpō his awne heed/ for he smote two men rightwyser and better then he/ & slue them with the swerde / my father vnwetyng: euē Abner the sonne of Ner captayne of the Host of Israel/ and Amasa ỹ the sonne of Jether captayne of the Host of Juda. And their bloud returne vpon the heed ℱ of Joab and on the heed of his seede for euer. And prosperyte be vnto Dauid/ and vnto his seede/ and vnto his house/ and vnto his seate/ of the Lorde for euer.

* Mar. x. c

And Banaiah the sonne of Iehoiada wēt vp and smote him and slue him & buried hym in his awne house in the wildernesse. And the kyng put Baniah the sonne of Iehoiada in his rowme ouer the Host/ and put Sadock ỹ preast in the rowme of Abiathar.

Then the kynge sent and called Semei/ and sayde to him: buylde the an house in Jerusalem & dwell there & se that thou go not once thēce any whether. For be thou sure of it/ the daye thou goest out and passest ouer ỹ ryuer of Cedron / thou shalt dye for it/ & thy bloud shalbe on thyne awne heed. And Semei sayde vnto ỹ kyng: it is wel sayde: as my Lorde ỹ kyng hath sayd/ so wyll his seruaūt do. And Semei dwelt in Jerusalem many a daye. And it chaunced at the ende of thre yere that two of the seruauntes of Semei ranne awaye vnto Achis sonne of Maacah kynge of Geth. And one tolde Semei saying: se/ thy seruauntes be in Geth. And Semei stode vp and sadled his Asse and gat him to Geth to Achis/ to seke his seruauntes/ and came and brought them agayne from Geth.

But it was tolde Salomon how that Semei had gone from Jerusalem to Geth and G was was come agayne. And ỹ kyng sent & called Semei & sayde vnto him: Dyd I not adiure the by the Lord/ & testifyed vnto the saying: be sure whē so euer thou goest out & walkest abroade any whether / thou shalt dye for it? And thou answeredst me/it is good tydinges that I haue hearde. Why then hast thou not kept the othe of the Lorde/and the cōmaundement that I commaunded the?

ỹ. Reg. xvi. b. And then the kyng sayde to Semei:*thou remembrest all the wickednesse which thyne hert knoweth ỹ thou dydest to Dauid my father. The Lorde therfore render agayne thy wyckednesse vpon thyne awne heed: & kyng Salomon be blessed/ & the seate of Dauid be stablysshed before the Lorde for euer. And ỹ kyng cōmaunded Banaiah the sonne of Iehoiada: which went out and smote him that he dyed. And so was the kyngdome settled in the hand of Salomon.

ỹ. Para. i. a. AND Salomon drew affinite with Pharao kyng of Egypte/ and toke Pharaos daughter & brought her into the cytye of Dauid vntyll he had made an ende of bylding his awne house & the house of the Lorde & the walles of Ierusalem rounde aboute. Only the people sacrificed in aultares made on hylles/ because there was no house bylt vnto the name of ỹ Lord vntill those dayes. And Salomō loued the Lorde and walked in the ordinaunces of Dauid his father/ saue only e that he sacrificed & offered incense vpō aultares in hylles.

And ỹ kyng wēt to Gabaon/ to offer there: for ỹ was a great offerynge place. And there Salomō offered a thousand burntofferyngs vpon that aultare. And in Gabaon the Lord apered to Salomon in a dreame by nyght. And God sayde: Aske what I shall geue the. And Salomon sayde: thou hast shewed vnto thy seruaūt Dauid my father great mercye/ accordynge as he walked before ỹ in truthe & in ryghtewesnes & playnesse of herte wyth the. And it pleased the Lord well/ ỹ Salomon had desyred this thyng. Wherfore God sayde vnto him: because thou hast asked this thyng & hast not asked long lyfe/ neither hast asked ryches/ nor ỹ lyues of thine enemyes/ but hast asked the discrecion to vnderstande equyte. Then came there two wemen ỹ were harlottes vnto the kyng & stode before him. And ỹ one of thē sayde: Oh my Lord I & this woman dwell in one house. And ỹ other womā sayde: it is not so: But the lyuyng is my sonne/ and the deed thyne. And she sayde agayne: thou sayest vntrue/ for the deed is thy sonne/ & the lyuyng myne. And thus they pleated before ỹ kyng. Then sayde ỹ kyng: the one sayeth/ this that is a lyue is my sonne/ and the deed is thyne. And the other sayth naye: But thy sonne is the deed and ỹ lyue chylde is myne. Then sayde ỹ kyng: bryng me a swerde. And they brought a swerde before the kyng. And then the kynge sayde: Deuyde the lyuynge chylde in two/ and geue the one halfe to the one/ and the other to the other.

Then spake the woman whose the lyuyng chylde was/ vnto ỹ kyng (for her a bowelles yerned vpon her sonne) and sayde: I beseche the my Lorde/ geue her the lyuynge chylde/ and in no wyse sley it. And the other sayde: it

And ỳ foure vnderletters in the foure corners were of the verye bottomes.

And vnder the stalcke of the lauatorye in ỳ myddes of ỳ bottome was there a rounde fote of halfe a cubyt hye. And theron playne places and ledges of the selfe. And he graued in the playne & also on ỳ ledges/Cherubes/ lyons & paulmetrees / euery where rounde about. And on this maner he made ỳ ten bot- F toms cast worcke: all of one measure & one fyse. Then he made ten lauers of brasse containynge fourtye Bathes a pece / and they were of foure cubyts a pece/ for euery one of ỳ bottomes a lauer. And he put fyue of those bottomes on the ryght corner of the temple/ and other fyue on ỳ lefte: And put the see on the ryght corner of the temple Eastwarde & towarde the South.

And Hiram made pottes/ shouelles & basons/and so fynisshed all the worcke that he made kynge Salomon for the house of the Lord: that is to saye/two pyllers & twolkalpes of ỳ heedes ỳ were on ỳ toppes of ỳ two pyllers/& foure hundred pomegranetes vpō two wrethes/two rowes on ether wrethe/to couer the two skalpes of ỳ heedes that were on the toppes of the two pyllers: And the ten bottomes of brasse with ten lauers vpō thē: & a see with twelue oxen vnder it: & pottes/ G shouelles & basens. And all these vesselles which Hiram made to kyng Salomon for ỳ house of the Lord were of bryght brasse. And in the playne of Jordā dyd the kyng cast thē: euē in the claye of the erth betwene Socoth and Zarthan. And Salomon left all the vesselles vnwayed/ for the excedyng abundance of brasse that was in them.

And Salomon made all the vesselles that pertayned vnto ỳ house of the Lorde: ỳ Aultare of goulde / and the table of goulde wher on ỳ shew breed was put: And fyue candelsticks/for the ryght syde / and as many for the left/ before the quere/of pure goulde: w̄ flowres/lampes/and snoffers of goulde: and Bolles/Psalteries/basons/spones and fyre pannes of pure goulde: and hynges of gould bothe for ỳ dores of the quere/the place most holye/and for the dores of the temple also.

And so was ended all the worcke ỳ kynge Salomon made for the house of the Lorde. And then* Salomō brought in the thynges which Dauid his father had dedicated in syl- ỹ. Para. v. a. uer/goulde and other vesselles / & put thē to the treasure of the house of the Lorde.

THen Salomon geathered the el- A ders of Israel/all the heedes of the trybes and auncient Lordes of the chyldren of Israel/vnto him to Jerusalem/ to brynge vp the Arcke of the appoyntment of the Lorde oute of the cytie of Dauid which is Sion. And all ỳ men of Israel assembled vnto kynge Salomon to the feast ỳ falleth in ỳ moneth * Ethanim which is the seuenth moneth. And when all ỳ elders of Israel were come/the preastes toke vp the Arcke of ỹ Lord/ & brought it & also ỹ tabernacle of witnesse & all ỹ holye vessell ỹ were therin. And ỹ prestes & the Leuites brought them vp. And kynge Salomon and all the cõgregacion of Israel that were assembled/ and were with him before the Arcke/ dyd offer shepe and oxen that coulde not be tolde nor nombred for multitude.

And so the prestes brought the Arcke of ỹ apoyntment of the Lorde vnto his place: euẽ into the quere of the temple and place most holy/ vnder the wynges of the Cherubes. For the Cherubes stretched oute their wynges ouer the Arcke / and couered bothe it & also the staues therof a hye vpõ it. How be it the staues were so longe that the endes of them appered out of ỹ holy place before ỹ quere/ but were not sene without. And there they be vnto this daye. And there was [a] nothynge in the Arcke saue the two tables of stone which Moses put there at Horeb/ whẽ the Lorde made an appoyntment with the chyldren of Israel after they were come out of Egypt.

And when the preastes were come out of the Holy place/ then a cloude fylled the house of the Lorde/ that the preastes coulde not endure to minister because of the cloude: for ỹ glorie of the Lorde had fylled the house of ỹ Lord. Then spake Salomõ: the Lord sayde/ ỹ he wolde dwelle in darcknesse. I haue bylt ỹ an house to dwelle in/ & an habitaciõ for ỹ to abide in for euer. And the kyng turned his face & blessed all the congregacion of Israel/ all the cõgregacion standyng. And he sayde.

Blessed be ỹ Lorde God of Israel/ which hath fulfylled with his *hand/ that he spake wt his mouthe vnto Dauid my father sayīg: frõ the daye I brought my people Israel out of Egypt/ I chose no cytye amõge any of the trybes of Israel/ to buylde an house/ that my name myghte be there: But I haue chosen Dauid to be ruler ouer my people Israel.

And it was in the hert of Dauid my father / to bylde an house for the name of the Lorde God of Israel. But the Lorde God sayde vnto Dauid my father: in ỹ it was in thyne hert to bylde an house for my name/ thou dydest well/ that thou wast so mynded. Neuertheles thou shalt not bylde the house/ but thy sonne that shall come out of thy loynes / he shall bylde an house for my name.

C And the Lorde hath made good his worde ỹ he spake. For I stode vp in ỹ rowme of Dauid my father/ & sate on the seate of Israel/ as the Lorde promesed/ & haue bylt an house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. And I haue prepared therin a place for the Arcke wherin ỹ couenaũt of the Lord is / which he made wt oure fathers / after he had brought thẽ out of the land of Egypte. And Salomon stode before ỹ aultare of the Lord in ỹ sight of all the congregacion of Israel & stretched out his hãdes to heuẽ & sayde: Lorde God of Israel/ there is no God like ỹ in heuẽ aboue or in the erthe benethe/ ỹ kepest appoyntmẽt & mercye wt thy seruaũtes ỹ walcke before the wt all their hertes: which also hast kepte wt thy seruauntes Dauid my father/ ỹ thou promesedst him. Thou spakest wt thy mouthe & hast fulfylled wt thyne hand/ as it is come to passe this daye. And now Lorde God of Israel/ kepe wt thy seruaũt Dauid my father/ ỹ thou promesedest him saying: thou shalt not be with out one or other before me / syttynge on the seate of Israel: How be it yf thy chyldren shall take hede to their wayes that they walcke before me/ as thou hast walched before me. Now then O Lorde God of Israel/ let thy worde be stable whych thou spakest vnto thy seruaunt Dauid my father.

☞ But in deade can God dwelle on ỹ erthe? Beholde nether heuẽ/ nor heuẽ aboue all heuens are able to contayne the: how moche lesse then this house that I haue bylte? but loke to the prayer of thy seruaunt & his supplicacion O Lorde my God/ to geue an eare vnto the voyce & prayer which thy seruaunt prayeth before the this daye/ that thyne eyes maye be open vpõ this house night & daye/ & vpon the place/ of which thou hast sayde/ my name shalbe there: that thou herken vnto the prayer which thy seruaũt shall praye in this place. And herkẽ vnto ỹ supplicacion of thy seruaũt and of thy people Israel which they shall praye in this place: And heare thou vp vnto heuẽ thy dwellyng place / & when thou hearest haue mercye. And yf any mã trespace agaynst his neyboure/ & his neyboure* take an adiuracion to adiure him wt all/ & ỹ adiuraciõ come before thine aultare at this house then herkẽ thou vp to heuẽ/ & worke & iudge thy seruaũtꝫ/ ỹ thou cõdempe the wycked to brynge his waye vpõ his heed/ & iustefie ỹ righteous to geue him accordingto his rightwelnesse. Whẽ thy people Israel be put to ỹ worsse before their enemyes/ because they haue sinned against ỹ/ & afterwarde turne agayne to ỹ & prayse thy name/ & praye & make supplicacyõ vnto ỹ in this [b] house: then heare thou vp to heuẽ & be mercifull vnto ỹ synne of thy people Israel / & bring thẽ agayne vnto the lande which thou gauest vnto their fathers.

If heauen be shutt vp / that there be no rayne/ because they haue synned agaynst ỹ: yet yf they praye in this place and prayse thy name and turne from their synnes / thorow thy chastenyng of them: then heare thou vp to heauẽ / and be mercifull vnto the synne of thy seruaũtes & of thy people Israel/ ỹ thou shewe them a good waye to walke in/ & geue rayne which Salomon had bylt the two houses / ỹ is to wete / the house of the Lord & the kyngs palace: because Hiram the kyng of Tire had supported hym wt Cedar / fyre & goulde / as moche as he delyred: therfore Salomō gaue Hiram. xx. cyties in the lande of Galile. And whē Hiram was come krō Tire to se ỹ cities which Salomon had geuē him / they pleased him not. Wherfore he sayde: what cyties are these which thou hast geuē me / my brother? & he called them the land of Cabull vnto this daye. This Hiram had sent ỹ kyng. vi. score hūdred wayght of gould. And this is ỹ summe of ỹ trybute / which kyng Salomon raysed / to bylde the house of the Lorde and his awne house / and Melo & the walles of Jerusalem / and Hezer / and Magedo / and Gazer.

For Pharao kyng of Egypt went vp and toke Gazer & burnt it with fyre / and slue the Cananites ỹ dwelt in the cytie / & gaue it for a present vnto his daughter that was Salomons wyfe. And Salomon bylt Gazer and Beth Horon the nether: and Baalath & Thamar in the wyldernesse ỹ is in the lande: & all the store cities ỹ Salomō had / & cyties for his charettes / & cities for his horsemen & all ỹ his lust was to bylde in Jerusalē and Libanon and in all the land of his kyngdome.

And all the people that were lefte of the Amorites / Hethites / Pherezites / Heuites & Jebusites / which were not of the chyldren of Israel / the chyldrē of the sayde nacyons that were lefte in the lande / because the chyldren of Israel were not able to destroye them / dyd Salomō make trybutaryes vnto this daye. And of the chyldren of Israel dyd Salomon make no bondemen. But they were men of warre & his seruauntes and his lordes and Captaynes & rulars of his charettes & of hys Horsemē. And these manye lordes ỹ ouerlawe the worcke had Salomon / fyue hundred and fyftye / which ruled the people that wrought in the worcke.

And Pharaos daughter came vp oute of ỹ cytie of Dauid vnto the house which Salomō had bylt for her. And after that he bylt Melo. And thryse a yere dyd Salomon offer burntoffrynges and peaceoffrynges vpon the aultare which he had bylt vnto the Lord / to burne the fatt theron: which aultare is before the Lorde.

And when kyng Salomon had made the house perfecte / he made shippes in Azion Gaber which is besyde Eloth / on the bryncke of the red see / in the landē of Edom. And Hiram sent by shippē also of hys seruauntes / that were shipmen and expert in the see / wyth ỹ seruauntes of Salomon. And they went to Ophir & fet from thence gould / to ỹ summe of. iiij. hundred and. xxij. talentes / & brought it to Salomon.

AND the quene of Saba heard of the wysdome of Salomon cōcernyng the name of the Lorde / and came to proue him with ryddelles. And she came to Jerusalem wt a mightie great multitude of Camelles that bare swete odoures & goulde

And when the quene of Saba had ſene all Salomons wiſdome & the houſe that he had bylt/& the meate of his table/& the ſyttynge of his ſeruauntes/& the ſtandyng of his ſeruytoures & theire apparell/& his buttelers/ and his ſacryfyce that he offered in the houſe of ỹ Lozde/ ſhe was aſtonied. Then ſhe ſayd to the kynge: ỹ wozde I harde in myne awne lande of thy dedes and wiſdome/ is true. How be it I beleued it not / tyll I came & ſaw it with myne eyes. And ſe/ the one halfe was not tolde me: foz thy wiſdome and goodneſſe exceadeth the fame which I hearde. Happy are thy men: and happye are theſe thy ſeruauntes / whych ſtande euer befoze the and heare thy wiſdome. And bleſſed be the Lozde thy God whych had a luſt to the / to ſett the on the ſeate of Iſrael/ becauſe the Lozde loued Iſrael foz euer / and therfoze made the kynge/ to do equite and ryghtwiſneſſe.

And ſhe gaue the kynge an hundzed and xx. talentes of goulde/ and of ſwete odoures exceedyng moche/& pzecioule ſtones. There came neuer after ſoche aboundaūce of ſwete odoures as ỹ Quene of Saba gaue to kyng Salomon. And therto the ſhippes of Hyram that bzought goulde from Ophir / bzought from Ophir great plentye of *Almuge tre & pzecioule ſtones. And kynge Salomō made of the Almuge trees pillers in the houſe of ỹ Lozde & in the kynges palace / & made harpes & pſalteries foz ſyngers. There came no moare Almuge tre ſo / noz was anye moare ſene vnto this daye. And kynge Salomon gaue vnto ỹ Quene of Saba all her delyze that ſhe aſked of hym: beſydes ỹ he gaue her wt hys awne hand. And ſo ſhe returned vnto her awne countrey wyth her ſeruauntes.

The weyght of gould that came to Salomō in one yere/ was. vi. hundzed thze ſkoze and. vi. talētes of goulde/ beſydes that he had of chaymen and of merchauntes of Potycaryes/& of all the kyngꝛ of Arabie & of ỹ Lozdes of ỹ coūtreye. And he made thze hundzed ſhyldes of beatē goulde/ thze pound of goulde goyng to a pece/& put them in the houſe of the wood of Libanon.

And ỹ kyng made a great ſeate of Iuozye and couered it with pzecyous golde. And the ſeate had ſixe ſteppes. And ỹ toppe of ỹ ſeate was rounde behinde his backe wyth pomelles on ether ſyde on the place where he ſatte/ and two Lyons ſtandyng beſyde ỹ pomelles. And there ſtode. xij. And all kynge Salomons dzinckyng veſſelles were of gould/& all the veſſelles of the houſe of the wood of Libanon were of pure goulde. And as foz ſyluer it was nothyng wozthe in the dayes of Salomon. For the ſee ſhyppes whych the kynge had in the ſee/ with the ſhippes of Hyram/ came euerye thzyd yere laden wyth gould/ſyluer/ Iuozy/ apes and pecockes. *And ſo kynge Salomō exceaded all the kynges of ỹ erthe in richeſſe & wiſdome. And all ỹ wozld reſozted to Salomon/ to heare his wiſdome/ which God had put in his hert. And bzought him euery man his pzeſent/ veſſelles of ſyluer and of goulde/ and of rayment / harneſſe / ſwete odoures/ hozſes and Mules/ yere by yere. And Salomon geathered to gether charettes and hozſemē: ſo that he had a thouſand and. iiij. hundzed charettes / and. xij. thouſand hozſemen/ whych he beſtowed in the charett cytyes and wyth the kynge at Ieruſalem.

*And the kynge made ſyluer in Ieruſalem as plenteous as ſtones / and Cedar as plenteouſe as the mulbery trees that grow in the valeys. And Salomons hozſes came out of Egipte from Keua: The marchaūtes fett thē from Keua at a pzyce. A charet came out of Egipte foz. vi. hundzed ſicles of ſyluer / & an hozſe foz an hundzed and fiftie. And euen ſo by the handes of the ſayde marchaūtes/ hozſes were bzought out foz all the kynges of ỹ Hethites and foz the kynges of Siria.

Then was the Lorde angrye with Salomon because hys hert turned frō the Lorde God of Israel which appered vnto him twise/ & gaue him a charge of this thyng that he shulde not folowe other Gods.

But he kept not that whiche the Lorde commaunded him: wherupon the Lorde sayde to Salomon: for as moche as this is done of ỹ/ and thou hast not kepte myne appoyntment and myne ordynaunces which I haue cōmaunded the/ therfore I will rent the kingdome from the/ & will geue it to thy seruaunt. And Hadad gat great fauoure in ỹ syght of Pharao/ so that he gaue hym to wyfe the syster of his awne wife/ the syster of Thahaphnes the Quene. And ỹ syster of Thahaphnes bare hym Senubath hys sonne. And Thahaphnes wened him in Pharaos house. And he was in Pharaos house amonge the sonnes of Pharao. And when Hadad heard saye in Egipte ỹ Dauid was layde to slepe with his fathers/ and that Joab the captayne of the host was deed also/ he sayde to Pharao let me departe / ỹ I maye go to myne awne coūtreye. Then sayd Pharao vnto him: what lackest thou heare wyth me/ ỹ thou woldest go to thyne awne countreye? And he sayde/ nothing: how be it let me go. And God stered vp an other aduersary/ one Razon the sonne of Eliada/ whych fled from Hadadezer kyng of Zobah his master. Which Razon geathered men vnto him & became captayne ouer the companye/ when Dauid slue them. And they went to Damasco and dwelt therin/ & raygned in Damasco. And he was an aduersary to Israel all the dayes of Salomon/ & the euell ỹ Hadad did/ whych abored Israel and raygned in Siria.

And Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat an ℰ Ephrathite of Zaredah (whose mother was called Zeruah & was a wydowe & he Salomons seruaunt) * lifte vp his hand agayn st the kynge. And herof cam it/ that he lifte vp his hand agaynst the kynge. Salomon bylt Melo & mended broken places in the citie of Dauid hys father. And this felowe Jeroboā was an actiue man. And whē Salomon saw the younge man/ that he wrought so lustelye in the worke/ he made hym ruler ouer all the charges of the house of Joseph. And it chaūced at ỹ season/ as Jeroboam was gone out of Jerusalem/ that the prophet Ahiah ỹ Silonite mett him by the waye/ hauyng a newe mantell on him/ & they two alone in ỹ felde. And Ahiah caught the new mātell that was on him & [a] rent it in twelue peces/ & sayde to Jeroboā: take the ten peces. For this sayth the Lorde God of Israel: behold/ I wyll rent the kyngdome out of the handes of Salomō and wyll geue ten trybes to the / and he shall haue one/ for my seruaunte Dauids sake & for Jerusalem the citie which I haue chosen out of all the trybes of Israel: because they haue forsaken me/ and haue bowed them selues vnto Astharoth the God of the Zidons/ & to Camos the God of the Moabites/ and to Milcom the God of the childrē of Ammon/ & haue not walked in my wayes / to do that pleaseth me/ and myne ordynaunces and customes/ as dyd Dauid hys father.

How be it I wyll take none of the kyngdome out of his hād: but wyll make him chefe all his lyfe longe/ for Dauid my seruaūtes sake/ which I chose: because he kept my cōmaundementes & ordinaūces. But I will take the kyngdome out of his sonnes hand & will geue vnto the ten trybes of it: and wyll geue his sonne one/ that Dauid my seruaunt maye haue a lyght allwaye before me in Jerusalem/ the citie whych I haue chosen me/ to put my name there. And I will take the/ & thou shalt raygne vpon all that thy soule desyreth/ & shalt be kynge ouer Israel. And yf ℭ thou shalt herken vnto all that I cōmaunde the/ & shalt walke in my wayes and do that is ryght in my syght / that thou kepe myne ordinaunces & commaundementes as Dauid my seruaunt did: then wyll I be with the and byld the an house that shall contynew / as I bylt for my seruaunt Dauid/ & will geue Israel vnto the. And therwith wyll I vexe the seede of Dauid/ but not for euer.

¶ The.xij. Chapter.

AND Rehoboam wẽt to Sichem: for all Jsrael were come to Sichem to make him kynge. And when Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat heard of it beyng yet in Egipte: for he fled to Egipte for feare of Salomon/& dwelt in Egipte. And they sent & called him: and so Jeroboam & all the congregaciõ of Jsrael came & spake vnto Rehoboã saying: thy father made oure youcke greuouse/but now make thou the greuouse seruyce of thy father and hys sore youcke whych he put vpon vs/lyghter/& so we will serue the. And he sayde vnto thẽ: depart yet for the space of thre dayes/& then come agayne to me. And the people departed.

And kynge Rehoboam toke councell with the olde men that stode before Salomon his father/while he yet lyued/& sayde: what councell geue ye to answere this people with all? And they sayd vnto hym: If thou shalt be a seruaũt vnto this people this daye and serue them & answer thẽ & speke kynde wordes to thẽ: they will be thy seruaũtes for euer. But he lefte the councell ỹ the olde men had geuẽ him/& coũceled with the young men ỹ were noury shed vp with him & had wayted on him

And he sayde vnto them: what councell geue ye/to answere this people wh all whych haue cõmuned wyth me sayinge: make the youcke whych thy father dyd put vpon vs/lyghter? And the younge men that were brought vp with hym/answered him saying this people that haue sayde vnto the: thy father made oure youcke heuye/make thou it vs lyghter: thus answere them. My lyttle fynger shalbe wayghtier then my fathers loynes. And now where my father put a greuouse youcke vpon you/I wyll make it heuyer. For where my father corrected you wyth scourges/I wyll chastyse you wh scorpions. And when Jeroboam: and all ỹ people were come to Rehoboam the thyrde daye/as the kinge apoynted them/saying/come to me agayne this daye thre dayes: the kynge answered the people churlyshly and lefte the aduise that olde men gaue him: and spake to them after the councell of the younge men saying. My father made youre youcke greuouse/but I wyll make it greuouser. For where my father chastised you wh whippes/I will chastise you with scorpiõs. And so the kynge herkened not vnto the people: for the turning awaye was of ỹ Lord/*to performe his saying/whych the Lorde sayde by Ahiah ỹ Silonite vnto Jeroboã ỹ sonne of Nabat. iij. Reg. xij.

And when all Jsrael saw that the kynge regarded them not/the people answered the kynge a gayne saying: we haue no parte in Dauid/nor enheritaunce in ỹ sonne of Jsai. *To youre tẽtes therfore Jsrael/& now se to thine awne house Dauid. And so Jsrael departed vnto their tentes. How be it ouer the chyldren of Jsrael which dwelt in the citie of Juda/did Rehoboã raygne styll. Then kyng Rehoboam sent Aduram the receauer of the tribute. And all Jsrael stoned him to deeth wh stones. But kynge Rehoboam made spede & gatt him vp to his charet & fled to Jerusalẽ. And so Jsrael departed frõ the house of Dauid vnto this daye. And whẽ all Jsrael heard that Jeroboam was come agayne/they sent and called hym vnto the congregacyon and made hym kynge ouer Jsrael: so there folowed the house of Dauid/but the trybe of Juda only. *And when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem/he geathered all the house of Juda and the trybe of Beniamin an hundred and foure score thousandes of chosen men and good warryoures/to fyght agaynst the house of Jsrael/and to bryng the kyngedome agayne to Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon. ij. Paral. x. d. ij. Paral. xi. a.

Then came the worde of the Lorde vnto Semeiah the man of God saying: speake vnto Rehoboam ỹ sonne of Salomon kynge of Juda/and vnto all the house of Juda and Beniamin/and the remnaũt of the people & saye. Thus sayth the Lorde: go not nor yet fyght agaynst youre brethren the chyldren of Jsrael/but returne euery man to hys house/for this doinge is of ỹ Lord. And they obeyed the worde of the Lorde and returned and departed accordynge to the worde of the Lorde. Then Jeroboam bylt Sichem in mount Ephraim/and dwelt therin. And went from thence and bylt Phanuel.

And Jeroboam thought in hys hert: now might the kyngdome returne to the house of Dauid agayne. For yf thys people shall go vp & do sacrifice in the house of the Lorde at Jerusalẽ/then shal their hertes turne againe vnto their Lorde Rehoboam kynge of Juda. And so shall they kyll me and go agayne to Rehoboã kyng of Juda.* Wherupõ ỹ kynge toke councell and made two calues of golde and sayde Thob. i. a. Eccle. xlvij. d. Exod. xxij. d.

and sayde vnto the people: ye shall not neade to go any moare to Jerusalē. Beholde youre Gods Israel whych brought you out of the lande of Egipte. And he put the one in Bethel
G and the other in Dan. And that doynge was a cause of synne. And the people went before the one as farre as Dan. And he made houses of hillaultares / & made of the lowest of the people preastes which were not of ẏ sonnes of Leui. And Jeroboam made a feast the .xv. daye of the .viij. moneth / lyke vnto the feast that was in Juda / and offered on the aultare. And so did he in Bethel / to offer vnto the calues that he had made. And he put in Bethel ẏ preastes of the hyllaultares / whych he had made. And he offered vpon the alter whyche he had made in Bethel / the .xv. daye of the viij. moneth / which he had imagened of hys awne hert: and made a solempne feast vnto the childrē of Israel / and went vp to the aultare to burne sacrifyce.

¶ The .xiij. Chapter.

AND beholde / there came a man of God out of Juda wyth the woorde of God / to Bethel / as Jeroboam stode by the aulter to offer / & cryed agaynst the aultare at the cōmaundemēt of the Lorde and sayde: aultare / aultare / thus saythe: the Lord. Beholde a chylde shall be borne of ẏ house of Dauid, Josiah by name / which vpon the shall offer the preastes of the hillaultares that sacrifyce vpon the / & shall burne mennes bones vpon the. And he gaue them the same tyme a sygne sayinge: thys is the sygne of that the Lorde hath promesed. Behold the aulter shall rent and the asshes
B that are in it shall falle out.

And when the kynge hearde the saying of the man of God whych he cryed agaynst the aulter in Bethel / he stretched out his hande from the aultare sayinge: hold him. And hys hand whych he put forth toward him / dryed vp / ẏ he coulde not pull it in agayne to hym & the aulter claue and the asshes rāne out of the aulter accordynge to the token whych ẏ man of God had geuen at the cōmaundemēt of the Lorde. And the kyng answered & sayde vnto the man of God: Oh praye vnto ẏ Lord thy God & make intercession for me / that my hand maye be restored me agayne. And the man of God besought the Lorde / & his hande came to him agayne as well as before.

Then sayde the kynge vnto ẏ man of God: come home wyth me and refreshe thy selfe / & I wyll geue the a rewarde. But the man of God answered ẏ kynge / yf thou woldest geue me halfe thyne houle / I woold not go with ẏ nether woold I eate meate or drynke water in this place. For so was it charged me / thorow the worde of God & sayd to me: eate no bred nor drynke water nor turne agayne by the same waye thou wentest. And so he went a nother waye and returned not by the waye he came to Bethel. And there dwelt an olde prophet in Bethel / whose sonnes came and tolde him all ẏ workes that the man of God had done that daye in Bethel / and the wordes which he spake vnto ẏ kynge they tolde their father also. And their father sayde to them: what waye went he? for hys sonnes had sene what waye the man of God went whiche came from Juda. Then sayde he to his sonnes: sadle mine Asse. And they sadled him an Asse. And he gatt him vp theron and went after ẏ man of God / and founde him syttynge vnder an Ocke & sayde vnto hym: art thou the man of God ẏ camst frō Juda? And he sayde / yee. D

Then he sayde to him: come home with me and eate breade. And the other sayde agayne I maye not returne with the / to go wyth the / nether maye I eate breade or drynke water with the in this place. For it was sayde to me by the cōmaundement of the Lorde / eate no bred nor drynke water in thys place / nor turne agayne by the waye thou wētest. And the olde prophet sayde vnto him: I am a prophet as well as thou / & an Angel spake vnto me with ẏ worde of the Lorde saying: bringe him agayne with the to thyne house / and lett him eate bred and drincke water / & yet lyed vnto him. And so the other went agayne with him & ate bred in his house & dranke water.

And as they sate at the table, the worde of the Lorde came vnto the prophete ẏ brought him agayne. And he cryed vnto the man of E God that came frō Juda / sayinge: thus sayth the Lorde: because thou hast dysobeyed the the mouth of ẏ Lorde / & hast not kept the cōmaundement which ẏ Lorde thy God cōmaunded the / but camest backe agayne & hast eatē breed and dronke water in the place in whiche he bade ẏ thou shuldest eate no breed nor drincke water: therfore thy carkasse shal not come vnto the sepulchre of thy fathers.

And when he had eaten breed & dronke / he sadled an Asse for the prophete whiche he had brought agayne. And as he iourneyed a Lyō mett him by the waye and slue him / & his carkasse laye a longe in ẏ waye & the Asse stode therby / & the Lyon stode by the coorse also. And men that passed by / sawe ẏ carkasse cast F a longe in the waye and the lyon standynge therby / and went and tolde it in the towne where the olde prophet dwelt. And when the prophete ẏ brought hym backe agayne frō the waye, hearde therof, he sayde: it is the mā of God whiche dilobeyed ỹ mouth of ỹ Lozd. And therfoze the Lozde hath delyuered hym vnto the Lyon whiche hath rent him & slayne hym / accozdynge to the wozde of the Lozde / which he layde to hym. And he layde to hys sonnes: sadle me an Asse: & so they did. And he wẽt & founde the bodye cast alonge in ỹ waye and the Asse and the lyon standynge therbye. And the Lyon had not eaten the carkasse noz

G hurt the Asse. And he toke vp the bodye of the man of God & put it vpon the Asse & bzought it agayne / & came to the cytye of the old pzophete to lament hym / and to burye him. And he layde his bodye in hys awne graue / & la-

Foz ỹ saying which he cryed at the byddyng of the Lozde agaynst the aultare in Bethel / and agaynst all the houses of hillaultares which are in ỹ cities of Samarie / shall come to passe.

How be it foz all that / Jeroboam turned not frõ hys wycked waye: but turned awaye & made of the lowest of the people pzestes of the hillaultares. Whosoeuer wolde / he filled their handz / & they became pzeastes of ỹ hillaultarz. And this doyng was synne vnto the house of Jeroboam / euẽ to destroye it and to put it awaye from of the face of the erthe.

How be it all Israell shall mourne hym and burye hym / foz thys only of all Jeroboam shall come to the sepulchze / because in hym there is founde goodnesse towarde the Lozde God of Israel in the house of Jeroboam.

Moreouer the Lozde shall stere hym vp a kynge ouer Israel whych shall destroye the house of Jeroboam in that daye. And what is that that is now in hande? And the Lozde shall smyte Israel / as a rede that groweth in the water is shaken / and wyll wede Israel out of this good lande which he gaue to their fathers / and wyll skatter thẽ beyounde Euphzates / because they haue made them groues to angre the Lozde. he walked in all ỹ synnes of his father which did ỹ Lorde his God geue him a lyght in Je-

And Asa did that semed right in the eyes of ỹ awaye all the Jdoles ỹ his fathers had made.

And therto he put downe Maacah hys [a] mo-

he put not downe the hillaulters. Neuerthe-

And there was warre betwene Asa & Baasa kynge of Jsrael all theire dayes.

And Baasa kyng of Jsrael wēt vp against ¶ Eliah is nourysshed and fedde of Rauens/and after is send to the woman of Sarephtha: whose Childe he rayseth to lyfe.

¶ The.xvij.Chapter.

AND Eliah the Thesbite which was of the enhabiters of Galaad/saide vnto Ahab:*as truly as the Lorde God of Israel lyueth/before whome I stāde/there shalbe nether dewe nor rayne these yeres/saue as I appoynt it.

And the woorde of God came to him saying: gett the hence and turne the estwarde/& hyde thy selfe in the brooke Karith that lyeth before Jordan: dryncke of the ryuer for I haue cōmaunded the rauens to fede the there. And he went and dyd accordynge vnto the woorde of the Lorde: he went & dwelt by the brooke Karith that lyeth before Jordan. And the rauens brought hym bred and flesh euery mornyng and euery euenyng / and he dranke of the brooke. And it chaūced after a while that ỹ brooke dried vp/because ther fell no rayne vpon the erth. Then came the woorde of the Lorde vnto him sayinge:*vp and gett the to Sarephtha a citie of Sidon / & dwell there. Beholde I haue cōmaunded a wydowe there to sustayne the. And he arose & went to Sarephtha. And whē he came to the gate of the citie / there was a wedow there geatheryng stickes. And he called to her & sayde: *fet me I praye the / a lytle water in a dysshe that I maye dryncke. And as she went to fett it/ he cryed to her and sayde: bringe me I praye the/a morsell of breed in thine hande. And she answered: as surely as the Lorde thy God liueth/I haue no breed/ but euen an handfull of Mele in a pitcher / and a lyttle Oyle in a cruse. And se/I haue geathered a few stickes for to go and bake it for me and my sonne/ ỹ we maye eate it and then die.

And Eliah sayde vnto her: feare not / but go and do as thou hast sayde: but make me therof a lyttle cake fyrst of all / and bryng it out to me: and afterwarde make for the and thy sonne. For thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: ỹ pitcher of Mele shall not be wasted nether shall thy oyle cruse be wyth out oyle/ vntyll the Lorde haue sent rayne vpon the erthe. And she wēt and dyd as Eliah bad. And she and he & her house dyd eate a good space/ & the pitcher of mele wasted not nether was the oyle cruse without oyle accordynge to ỹ woorde of the Lorde whych he spake thorow Eliah.

And after these thynges/it happened that the sonne of the wyfe of the house fell sicke. And his sickenesse was so sore/that there was no breath left in him. Then saide she vnto Eliah what haue I to do with the / O thou man of God: art thou come vnto me/that my synne shulde be thought on & my sonne slayne: And Eliah sayde vnto her: geue me thy sonne. And he toke him out of her lappe and caryed him vp into a lofte wher he laye/ & layde him vpon hys awne beed / and called vnto the Lorde and sayde: O Lord my God/hast thou bene so euell vnto the wedowe wyth whome I soiourne/that thou hast slayne her sonne: *And he stretched hym selfe vpō the lad thre tymes/and called vnto the Lorde and sayde: O Lorde my God / let the laddes soule come into hym agayne. And the Lorde heard the voyce of Eliah/and the soule of the lad came into hym agayne and he reuyued. And Eliah toke the boye and brought hym downe out of the chambre into the house and delyuered hym vnto his mother and sayde: se/thy sonne lyueth. Then the wyfe sayde to Eliah: now I know that thou art Gods man / and that the woorde of the Lorde in thy mouth/is truthe.

Abdiah Jezabel

¶ Eliah is send to Ahab. Abdiah hydeth an hundred Prophetes and saueth them. Baal can not heare al thoughe the people crye verye loude. Eliah killeth all Baals Prophetes; and after obtaineth rayne.

¶ The .xviij. Chapter.

AND at the last ye woorde of ye Lorde came to Eliah the thyrde yere sayinge: go shew thy selfe vnto Ahab/ that I may sende rayne vpō yerthe And Eliah wēt to shew him selfe vnto Ahab/ for ther was a great famyshemēt in Samaria. Wherfore Ahab called Abdiah the gouerner of his house: whyche Abdiah feared God greatlye: in so moche that when Jezabell destroyed ye Prophetes of the Lorde/ he toke an hundred of ye Prophetes & hid thē/ fiftie in one caue & fyftye in a nother/ & prouyded bred & water for thē. And Ahab sayde vnto Abdiah: walke thorow the lande / vnto all foūtaynes of water and vnto all brokes / to se whether any grasse maye be founde / ye we maye saue the horses and the Mules / that we destroye not the beastes. And they deuyded the lande betwene them to walke thorow it. Ahab wēt one waye by hym selfe / and Abdiah went a nother by hym selfe.

B And it chaunced as Abdiah wēt in ye waye that Eliah mett him. And Abdiah knew hym & fell on his face and sayde: art not thou my Lorde Eliah. And he sayd vnto him: I am he. Go and tell Ahab that Eliah is here. And the other answered: what haue I synned/ ye thou woldest delyuer me into the hand of Ahab/ to sley me? As surlye as ye Lord thy God lyueth there is no nacyō or kyngdome/ whether my Lorde hath not sent/ to seke the. And when they sayde thou wast not there/ he tooke an othe of the kyngdome & nacyon / because he found the not. And now thow sayest: goo tell thy Lorde/ Eliah is here. And as sone as I am gone frō the/ ye spirite of ye Lorde shall carye the awaye whether I shal not knowe: & then when I haue gone & tolde Ahab/ & then he cā not fynde the, he shall sley me. And yet I thy C seruaūt haue feared the Lorde frō my youthe age. Was it not tolde my lorde/ what I dyd/ when Jezabell slue the Prophetes of ye Lord how I hydde an hundred of the Lordes Prophetes/ fyftie in one caue & as many in another/ & prouyded them of breed & water? And yet now thou sayest/ goo shew thy Lorde/ ye Eliah is here, that he shulde sley me.

Then Eliah sayde: as truly as the Lorde of Hostes lyueth/ before whome I stande: I wyll shew my selfe vnto hym this daye. And ther vpon Abdiah wēt to Ahab & tolde hym. And Ahab went agaynst Eliah. And when Ahab sawe Eliah/ he sayd vnto him: art thou he that troubleth Israel? And he sayde: it is not I that trouble Israel/ but thou & thy fathers howse/ in that ye haue forsaken the cō- To forsake the cōmaundemētes of the Lorde/ & hast folowed Baal. But now sende and geather to me all Israel vnto mount Carmel & the Prophetes of Baal foure hundred and fiftie/ & the Prophetes of the groues foure hundred / whiche eate of Jezabels table. And Ahab sent for all the chyldren of Israel/ and geathered the Prophetes vnto mount Carmel. D

And Eliah came vnto all the people and sayde: why halte ye betwene two opynyons? If the Lorde be very God/ folowe hym: or if Baal be he then folowe hym. And the people answered hym not one worde. Then sayde Eliah vnto the people: I only remayne of the Lordes Prophetes/ & Baals Prophetes are foure hundred and fyftie. Let two oxē be geuen vs/ and let them chose the one & cut hym in peces and laye hym on wood / and put no fyre vnder/ And I wyll dresse the other & put him on wood / & wyll put no fyre vnder. And call ye on ye name of youre God/ & I wyll call on the name of the Lorde. And then the God that answereth by fyre/ he is the very God. E

Then sayd Eliah vnto the Prophetes of Baal/ chose you an oxe and dresse hym fyrst (for ye are many) and call on the name of youre God/ but put no fyre vndre. And they toke ye oxe that was geuē them & dressed it/ & called on the name of Baal from morning to none saying: O Baal heare vs. But there was no voyce nor answere. And they lepte aboute ye aulter ye they had made. And at none Eliah mocked them and sayde: call lowde (for he is a God: but he is talkynge or occupyed/ or in the waye/ or happely he slepeth) that he may awake. And they cryed lowde/ and cut themselues/ as their maner was/ with knyues & launcers/ tyll the bloude folowed on them. And whē mydday was passed/ they prophesyed vntyll it was tyme to offer. But there was nether voyce ner answere ner any that regarded them. F

Then Eliah sayde to all the folke: come to me. And all the people came to hym. And he mended the aulter of ye Lorde that was brokē. *And he toke .xij. stones accordynge to ye nombre of ye .xij. trybes of the sonnes of Jacob/ vnto whom the worde of the Lord came sayinge: *Israel shalbe thy name. And with the stones he made an aultare in the name of the Lorde. And he made a gutter rounde about ye aulter/ able to receaue two peckes of corne. And he put the wood in order/ and hewed the oxe in peces / and put hym on the wood/ & sayde: fyll foure pitchers with water and powre it on the sacryfyce and on the wood. And he sayde: do so agayne. And they dyd so agayne. Then he sayde: do it the thyrde Josu. xiij. a. Gene. xxxv. c.

And whē offeryng tyme was come / Eliah the pzophete went to & sayde: Lozde God of Abzaham / Isaac & of Israel / let it be knowē this daye / that thou art the God in Israel / & ỹ I am thy seruaūt / & ỹ I do all these things at thy cōmaundement. Heare me O Lozde / heare me / that this people maye knowe / that thou Lozde / art ỹ God / & that thou hast turned their hertes backwarde. And there fell fire frō the Lozde & consumed the sacrifyce & the wood & the stones & the dust / & licked vp ỹ water that was in the gutter. And whē all ỹ people saw ỹ / they fell on their faces & sayde ỹ Lozde he is God / ỹ Lozde he is God. Then sayde Eliah vnto thē / laye handes on ỹ Pzophets of Baal / let not one of thē escape. And when they had taken thē / Eliah brought thē downe vnto ỹ brooke Kison / & slue thē there.

Then Eliah sayde vnto Ahab / gett the vp and eate and dzyncke / foz ther is a sounde of moche rayne. And when Ahab wēt vp to eate and to dzyncke / Eliah went vp to the toppe of moūt Carmel. *And bowed him selfe to ỹ erthe / and put his face betwene hys knees / & sayde to his seruaunt: go vp & looke towarde the see. And he went vp and loked / and saide: here is nothing. And he sayde go agayne. vij tymes. And the seuenth tyme he sayde: beholde / there ariseth a lyttle cloude out of the see / lyke the palme of a mannes hande. Then he sayde: go and saye to Ahab / put the hozses in the charet / and gett the downe that the rayne stoppe ỹ not. And within a lytle while / heuē was blacke with cloudes and winde / & there was a great rayne. And Ahab rode & went to Jezrahel. And the hand of the Lozde was on Eliah / & he gyrded vp his loynes & rāne befoze Ahab / tyll they came to Jezrahel.

And ỹ kynge of Israel answered and sayde: my Lorde kynge accordyng to thy sayyng / I am thyne with all I haue.

And the messengers came agayne to Ahab and sayde: thus sayth Benhadad. I haue therfore sent vnto the / sayinge: delyuer me then thy syluer and thy goulde / and thy wiues / & thy children. Or else I wyll sende my seruauntes vnto the by to morow this tyme: & they shall serche thyne house / & the houses of thy seruauntes / which shall take all that is gloryous in thyne eyes / and bryng it awaye

Wherupon he sayde vnto the messengers of Benhadad: tell my Lorde the kynge / all that he sent for the fyrst tyme / that I will do: but this request I maye not do. And the messengers departed and brought hym woorde.

Then Benhadad sent vnto hym and sayde: thus do the Gods to me and so therto / yf the dust of Samaria be ynoughe for all ỹ people that folow me / that euery man maye haue an handfull. Let vs put sacke cloth about oure Loynes & ropes about oure heedes/& go out to ỹ kynge of Jsrael: happlye he wyll saue thy lyfe. And they guirded sacke clothe aboute their loyns & put ropes aboute theire heedes/& wēt out to the kynge of Jsrael & sayde: thy seruaunt Benhadad sayth/J praye ỹ let me lyue. And he sayde: is he yet a lyue? what he is my brother. And they toke ỹ woorde for good lucke & hastely caught it out of his mouth & sayde: yee thy brother Benhadad. Then he sayde: go and bzynge him. And Benhadad came out to hym/and the other toke him vp into the charett. And Benhadad sayde: the cytyes whych my father toke frō thy father/J wyll restore agayne. And thou shalt make streates for the in Damasco/as my father dyd in Samaria. And J wyll make an apoyntment wyth the and sent the awaye. And so made an appoyntment wyth hym and sent hym awaye.

Then a certen man of the chyldzen of the Prophetes sayde vnto his felow with ỹ woorde of the Lozde/smyte me J praye the. And ỹ man wold not smyte him. And he sayde/because thou hast not obeyed ỹ voyce of ỹ Lozd: beholde/as sone as thou art departed frō me a lyō shall slaye ỹ. And as sone as he was departed frō him/*a Lyō foūd him & slue him. Then he founde a nother man & saide to him: smyte me J praye ỹ. And the mā gaue him a good stripe & wounded him. And ỹ Prophete wēt forthe & waytede for ỹ kynge by ỹ waye & put alshes vpō his eyes/and put hym selfe out of knowledge. And whē ỹ king came by/ he cryed vnto him & sayde: thy seruaunt went out in ỹ middes of ỹ battell. And se/ther was one beganne to flee. And there cam a man to me & sayde: kepe this mā. And yf he be missed thy lyfe shall go for hys/or else thou shalt paye a talent of syluer. And as thy seruaunt had here & there to do/he was gone. And the kyng of Jsrael sayde vnto hī: euē so shall thy iudgemēt be as thou hast defined it thy selfe

And he hasted & toke the alshes awaye frō his eyes: & the kynge of Jsrael knew him/ ỹ he was of the Prophetes. And he sayde vnto ỹ kinge/thus sayth ỹ Lozde: because thou hast lett go a mā that ought to haue dyed/thy lyfe shall go for his lyfe/& thy people for his. And ỹ kyng of Jsrael wēt to his house waywarde and heuye/and entred into Samaria.

Jezabel cōmaundeth to kyll Naboth/for ỹ vyneyard that he refused to sell Ahab. Helias repzoueth Ahab/ and he repenteth.

The .xxi. Chapter.

After these thynges were done/it chaunced that Naboth the Jezrahelite had a vyneyarde in Jezrahel harde by ỹ palace of Ahab kynge of Samaria. And Ahab spake vnto Naboth sayinge: let me haue thy vyneyarde/to make me a gardē of yerbes therof/because it lyeth so nye my house: and J wyll geue the a better vyneyarde for it: or yf it playse the J will geue the/the worthe of it in syluer. But Naboth sayde to Ahab: the Lozde forbydde that from me/that J shulde geue the enheritaūce of my fathers vnto the.

Then went Ahab vnto hys house wayward and euell apayde/because of the wozdes whych Naboth the Jezrahelite had spoken to hym saying: J wyll not geue to the/ the enheritaunce of my fathers. And he layde hym downe vpon hys beed and turned awaye hys face/and wolde eate no meate. And then Jezabell hys wyfe came to hym/ and sayde vnto hym: why art thou so frowarde/that thou eatest no meate? And he sayde vnto her/J spake vnto Naboth the Jezrahelite/and sayde vnto him: geue me thy vyneyarde for syluer/or else yf thou wylt/J wyll geue the a nother vyneyarde for it. And he sayde: J wyll not geue the my vyneyarde.

Then sayde Jezabell hys wyfe vnto hym: what a goodlye kyngedome were thou able to make in Jsrael: vp & eate meate & set thine hert at rest/for J will geue ỹ/the vyneyarde of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And she wrote a letter in Ahabs name & sealed it wt his seale/ & sent it vnto the elders & chefe men of his citie that dwelt where Naboth dwelt. And she wrote in ỹ letter sayinge: proclayme fastyng and sett Naboth on hye amonge the people/ and sett two vnthryftes before hym/& let thē testifye agaynst hym sayinge: thou dydest curse both God and the kynge. And vpō that carye hym out and stone hym to deeth.

And ỹ elders & nobles of his citie/whyche dwelt in his citie/did as Jezabel had sent vnto thē/& as it was writtē in ỹ letter which she had sent vnto them. They proclamed fastynge/& sett Naboth an hie amōge the people/& there came in two vnthryftie persones & sate before him. And ỹ two vnthryftie persons witnessed agaynst Naboth before ỹ people sayīg Naboth did curse God & ỹ kinge. *And vpō ỹ they caried him out of ỹ citie & stoned him wt stones to deeth. And then they sent to Jezabel sayinge: Naboth is stoned to dethe. And whē Jezabel hearde that Naboth was stoned to deeth: she sayde to Ahab: vp & take possessyon of the of the vyneyarde of Naboth/the Jezrahelite/ whyche he denied to geue the for syluer / for Naboth is not a liue/but deed. And whē Ahab hearde that Naboth was deed. He stode vp to go downe to ỹ vyneyarde of Naboth the Jezrahelite/to take possessyon of it.

And ỹ worde of ỹ Lorde came vnto Eliah the Thesbite sayinge: vp & go downe to mete Ahab kynge of Jsrael which is in Samaria Beholde/he is in the vyneyarde of Naboth: for he is gone downe thyther/to take possessyon of it. And saye vnto hym: thus sayth the Lorde/thou hast killed & therto gottē possessyō. And saye moreouer vnto him/thus sayth the Lorde: in ỹ place where dogges lapped ỹ bloude of Naboth/shall dogges lappe euen thy bloude also. And Ahab sayd to Eliah: hast thou founde me thyne enemye at any tyme? And he sayde yee / because thou art vtterly geuen to worcke wickednesse in the syght of the Lorde. Beholde/I will bringe euel vpon the/and will make cleane riddance of the / & will destroye vnto Ahab all ỹ pysseth against the walle/and yf ought be preserued or forsaken in Jsrael: & will make thine house / lyke the house of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat/ & lyke the house of Baasa ỹ sonne of Ahiah/ for the angeryng wherwyth thou hast angered/and made Jsrael synne.

And therto agaynst Jezabel came ỹ worde of the Lorde saying: dogges shall eate Jezabell/vnder the* walles of Jezrahel. And he ỹ dyeth of Ahab in the towne/him shall dogges eate: and he that dyeth in the feldes/him shall ỹ foules of the ayre eate. For there was none at all like Ahab/that was so vtterly geuē to worcke wickednesse in the syght of ỹ Lorde and that because Jezabel hys wyfe prycked hym forwarde. And therfore he dyd excedyng abhominably/in folowyng Idoles / in all thynges like as dyd the Ammorites which ỹ Lorde cast out before the children of Jsrael.

When Ahab hearde those wordes/* he rent his clothes & put sackecloth about his flesshe and fasted/and laye in sack and went cōfortlesse. And ỹ worde of the Lorde came to Eliah the Thesbite sayinge: seyst thou how Ahab humbleth him selfe before me? because he so submytteth hym selfe before me/I wyll not bringe ỹ euell in his dayes: but in his sonnes dayes/I will bringe euell vpon his house.

¶ The xxij Chapter.

And they continued thre yere without warre betwene Siria and Jsrael. * And ỹ third yere Jehosaphat kynge of Juda/came to the kynge of Jsrael. And he sayde vnto Jehosaphat: wilt thou go wt me to batayle/ to Ramoth in Galaad? And they sayde/go: for ỹ Lorde shall delyuer it into the handes of the kynge. And Jehosaphat sayde: is there neuer a Prophet of the Lordes here moare/that we myght enquyre of him? And ỹ kynge of Jsrael sayde to Jehosaphat: there is yet one / by whome we maye aske councell of the Lorde/one Micheah the sonne of Jemlah. ¶ The fyrst Chapter.

AHoziah the sonne of Ahab beganne to raygne vpon Israel in Samaria/the.xvij.yere of Jehosaphat kynge of Juda/& was kynge ouer Israel two yere/and dyd euell in the sight of the Lorde/and walked in the waye of hys father and in the waye of hys mother/and in the waye of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whyche made Israel synne. And he serued Baal and bowed hym selfe to hym/& angred the Lorde God of Israel/in all thynge/as did his father. And ỹ Moabites rebelled agaynst Israel after the deeth of Ahab.

And Dhoziah fell thorow a lattese window out of an vpper chãbre ỹ he had in Samaria/and fell sycke. Then he sent messengers sayinge vnto them: go and enquyre of [a] Beelzebub the God of Akaron/whether I shall recouer of this disease. But the Angell of the Lord spake to Eliah the Thesbite/ vp and go agaynst the messengers of the kynge of Samaria & saye vnto them: Is it because there is no God in Israel/that ye go to aske thorow Beelzebub the God of Akaron. Therfore thus sayth ỹ Lorde: thou shalt not come downe frõ the bedde on whych thou art gone vp/but shalt die. And Eliah departed.

And the messengers turned backe agayne vnto him. And he sayde vnto thẽ: why are ye thus come agayne? And they sayde vnto him there came a man agaynst vs and sayde vnto vs: go and turne agayne vnto the kinge that sent you/& saye vnto him. Thus sayth ỹ Lord Is it because there is no God in Israel/ that thou sendest to enquire thorow Beelzebub ỹ God of Akaron? Therfore thou shalt not come downe from the bedde on which thou art gone vp/but shalt surelye die. And he sayd to thẽ: what maner a man was that which mett you & tolde you these wordes? And they saide vnto him: it was an hearry man and gyrde wt a gyrdle of a skynne aboute his loynes. And he sayd vnto them: it is Eliah the Thesbite.

Then the kyng sent vnto him a captayne ouer fiftie wt his fiftie. And when ỹ captayne was come to him/beholde: he satt on ỹ toppe of an hyll. And the captayne sayde vnto hym: man of God/the kinge biddeth ỹ come downe. And Eliah answered & sayde to the captayne ouer the fiftie: yf I be a man of God/fyre come downe frõ heauen & consume the and thy fiftie. *And there came fire downe frõ heauẽ & deuoured him & his fiftie. And ỹ kynge wẽt agayne & sent to him a nother captayne ouer fiftie with his fiftie/which answered & sayde vnto him: O man of God/thus sayth ỹ kinge make hast & come downe. And Eliah answered & sayd vnto thẽ: yf I be a mã of God/then let fyre come downe frõ heauen & consume the and thy fiftie. And there came fire downe from heauen and consumed him & his fyftie.

And the kynge sent agayne the thirde captayne ouer fiftie. And when ỹ thyrd captayne ouer fiftie was come by to him/he fell on his knees before Eliah and besought him & saide vnto him: Oh man of God/let my life and the life of these fiftie thy seruaũtes be precious in thy syght. Beholde there came fire downe [D] from heauẽ & burnt vp the two fore captaynes ouer fyftie wyth their fifties. But let my life now be precious in thy syght. Then sayde the Angell of the Lorde vnto Eliah: go downe with him/and be not afrayde of hym. And he wẽt downe with him vnto the kynge.

And he sayde vnto the kynge/thus sayth ỹ Lorde: for as moche as thou sentest messengers to aske thorow Beelzebub the God of Akaron/as though there had bene no God in Israel to aske thorow his woorde? therfore thou shalt not come of ỹ bedde on which thou art ascended/but shalt surely die. And so he died according to ỹ worde of ỹ Lorde whych Eliah spake/& Jehoram was made kinge in his stede/ỹ seconde yere of Jehoram sonne of Jehosaphat kynge of Juda/ because he had no sonne. The rest of the deades of Dhoziah which he did/are written in the chronicles of the kynges of Israel.

And Eliseus sawe and cried: O my father/O my father/ ꝑ charet of Israel and the horsemen therof/& saw hym no moare: and therfore toke hys awne clothes and rent them in two peces.

And then he toke vp the mantell of Eliah that fell from hym/and went backe agayne and stode by Jordans syde/and toke the mātell of Eliah that fell from him/and smote the water and sayde: where is the Lorde God of Eliah where is he? And they came agayne to hym/for he taryed at Jericho. And he sayde to them/did I not saye vnto you that ye shulde not go.

Then the men of Jericho sayde to Eliseus: beholde the cytie standeth pleasantly as my Lorde seyth/but the water is naught and the grounde baren. And he sayde: bryng me a new cruse & put salt therin. And they brought it to him. And he went vnto the spryng of ꝑ water & cast the salt in thyther/& sayde thus sayth ꝑ Lorde: I heale this water/ther shall not come hēcefoorth ether deethe or barēnesse. Jehoram the sonne of Ahab began=ne to raygne vpō Israel in Samaria the. xviij. yere of Jehosaphat kynge of Juda/& cōtynued twelue yere. And he wrought that was euell in the syght of the Lorde: but not lyke hys father or hys mother/for he put awaye the ymage of Baal that hys father had made: Neuertheless he contynued in the synne of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat which made Israel synne/and sparke not therfrom.

And Mesa kynge of Moab whych was riche of shepe (and was wont to render vnto the kynge of Israel an hundred thousand lābes & as many rāmes w the wolle) rebelled agaynst the kynge of Israel after the deeth of Ahab. NAaman capitayne of the Hoste to I the kyng of Siria / was greate wt his master & well taken: foz thozow him the Lozde saued Syzia. And he was an actiue mā / & yet a leper. And ther had gone a companye of Soudyoures oute of Siria a runnyng / and had bzought oute of the contreye of Israel a lytle mayde / which was with Naamās wife. And the Damosell sayd vnto her ladye: I wolde my master were with a pzophet that is in Samaria: he wold delyuer him of his lepzosye. And she went & tolde her husbande saying: thus & thus sayth the mayde that is out of the lande of Israel. And the kyng of Siria sayde: go thy waye / and I wyll sende a letter vnto the kynge of Israel. And he went and toke with hym ten B talentes of syluer and. vi. thousande peces of goulde

Now when this letter is come vp to the: Beholde I haue sent Naaman my seruaunt to the / that thou shuldest rydde him of his leprosye. But consyder I praye you & se/how he pyketh quarelles vnto me. And whẽ Eliseus the man of God/had heard how that the kynge of Israel had rent hys clothes / he sent to the kyng saying: Wherfore hast thou rent thy clothes? let him come to me / that he maye knowe ꝑ there is a prophet in Israel.

And Naaman came with his horses & his ℂ charett/and stode at ꝑ dore of Eliseus. Then Eliseus sent a messenger saying: go & washe the in Jordan seuẽ tymes / and thy flesh shall come agayne to the as before/and thou shalt be cleane. And Naaman was wroth and wẽt awaye/and sayde: Beholde/I thought in my selfe/he wolde haue come out/& stand & call on the name of the Lorde his God/ & put his hande on the place of the disease/and so take awaye ꝑ leprosye. Are not Abanah & Pharphar/ryuers of Damasco/better then all the waters of Israel? Myght I not rather wash in thẽ & be cleane? And so he turned & departed in an angre. Then came his seruaũtes & ℍ comuned wt him & sayd: Father yf ꝑ prophete had bydd ꝑ done some great thyng/ oughtest thou not to haue done it? How moche rather then shuldest thou do it/while he sayth to the Luce.iiij.e. onlie/washe & be cleane.* Then he wẽt doune & washed seuẽ tymes in Jordan/ as the man of God bade/& his flesche chaunged / lyke vnto the flesh of a lytle boye/and he was cleane.

Then he turned agayne to the mã of God & all his companye with him/ and came and stode before hym & sayde. Beholde I knowe that there is no God in all the worlde/but in Israel. And now I praye the take a blessyng iij.Reg.xvij.a. of thy seruaũt. But he sayde * as surely as ꝑ Lorde lyueth before whome I stande/I wyll ℂ receaue none. And the other wold haue constrayned him to receaue: but he wolde not do it. And Naaman sayde/yf thou wylt not: yet I praye the/ maye there not be geuen to thy seruaunt the burthẽ of two mules of erthe. For thy seruaunt wyll hencefoorth offer neither burnt sacrefyce nor offerynge vnto any other God/then to the Lorde. But herin the Lord be mercyfull to thy seruaunt/ for whẽ my master goeth into the house of Remon to worshippe there/he* leaneth on myne hãd/ and I must worshippe in ꝑ house of Remon/ let the Lorde I praye the be mercyfull vnto thy seruaũt in this case. And he sayde to him: go in peace. And whẽ he was departed from him a furlonge of groũd/ Gihezi the seruaũt of Eliseus the mã of God/sayd: se/my master hath kepte of/this Sirien Naaman that he wolde not receaue of his hande ꝑ he offered. As surely as the Lorde lyueth I wyll runne after him and take somewhat. And so Gihezi went after Naaman. And whẽ Naamã sawe him come runnyng after him/became downe of ꝑ charet agaynst him & sayd:* is all well? iiij.Reg.iiij.d. And he sayde yee.

And he went in ꝑ darcke & toke it of their handes & bestowed it in the house, and let the men go/and they departed.

Then he went & stode before hys master. And Eliseus sayde to hym: whence cometh Gihezi? And he sayde: thy seruaunt went no whether. And he sayde: wẽt not myne hert wt the/whẽ the mã turned & came of his charet agaynst the? Then spake Eliseus vnto the womā whose sonne he had restoꝛed to lyfe agayne/sayinge: vp & go both thou and thyne house/& soiourne where thou thinkest best / foꝛ the Loꝛde wyll call a darthe whych shall come on the lande seuen yere. And the woman arose and dyd after the saying of the man of God/and wēt bothe she and her housholde and soiourned in the lande of the Philistines seuen yere. And at the seuē yeres ende/whē ꝯ womā was come agayne oute of the lande of the Philistines she went oute to speake to the kynge foꝛ her house & foꝛ her lande. And the kynge was talkynge ¶ B with Gehezi the seruaunt of the man of God sayīg: tell me I pꝛaye the/all ꝯ great deades which Eliseus dyd. And it chaūced as he was tellynge the kynge how he restoꝛed a ded bodye to lyfe agayne that the woman whose sonne he reuyued/cryed to the kynge foꝛ her house and lande. Then sayde Gehezi: My Loꝛde kynge/this is the woman and this is her sonne whych Elizeus bꝛought to lyfe agayne. And the kyng asked the woman / and she tolde him. And so the kynge sent with her one of his chambꝛelaynes saying: restoꝛe all that pertayneth to her/with all the frutes of the felde/ sence the daye she lefte the land/vn to this tyme.

After that Eliseus went to Damasco/ Benhadad the kyng of Siria beynge sycke. And one tolde the kynge sayinge: The man of God is come hither. Then sayde the kynge ¶ C to Hazael: *take a pꝛesent wyth the and goo iij. Reg. xviij. a. agaynst the man of God and aske the Loꝛde by him whether I shall recouer of this my disease oꝛ no. And Hazael went to mete hym and toke pꝛesentes wyth hym / euen of all the good thynges of Damasco/ as moche as fourtye Cameles coulde beare / and came & pꝛesented hym selfe befoꝛe hym and sayde: thy sonne Benhadad kynge of Siria hath sent me to the/sayinge: shall I recouer of this my dysease.

And Eliseus sayde to hym: go and saye to hym

Ohoziah. him/thou shalt recouer/how be it the Lorde hath shewed me that he shall surely dye. And the man of God beganne * to loke ernestlye/ in somoche that he was ashamed: and the mā of God wepte. And Hazael sayde: why wepeth my Lord: And he answered: for I know that thou shalt do euell vnto the chyldren of Israel: their stronge cyties thou shalt sett on fyre/ & their younge men thou shalt sley with the swerde/ and shalt dasshe out the braynes of their suckynge chyldren / and all to teare their wemen with chylde.

* Or/ to haue a sadde & a sorouful cōtenaunce.

And Hazael sayde: what is thy seruaunt which am but a dogge/ that I shulde do thys great thyng? And Eliseus sayde: for ỹ Lorde hath shewed me/ that thou shalt be kynge of Syria. And so he departed from Eliseus and came to his master/ which sayd to him. What sayde Eliseus to the? And he sayde: he tolde me that thou shuldest recouer. And on ỹ morow he toke a rowgh [a] clothe and dypte it in the water and spredde it on his face/ & he died/ and Hazael raygned in his steade.

a. Hazael wrought thys weate clothe to hir as though he wold therwith haue coled him/ and ased hym of his feruent heate: but dyd in deade strangle him/ after Josephus. He had hearedof ỹ prophet that Benhadad shuld recouer/ and so shulde it haue bene longe or he had raigned: therfore dyd he rydde hym/ to thyntent that he might soner come by ỹ kyngdome.

The fyfte yere of Jehozam sonne of Ahab kyng of Israel/ Jehosaphat beynge yet kyng of Juda/ Jehozam the sonne of Jehosaphat/ kyng of Juda/ beganne to raygne. xxxij. yere olde was he when he beganne to raygne/ and he raygned. viij. yere in Jerusalem. And he walked in the waye of the kynges of Israel/ as dyd the house of Ahab for the daughter of Ahab was his wyfe/ and he dyd that displeased the Lorde. Neuerthelater the Lord wolde not destroye Juda because of Dauid his seruaunt/ as he promesed hym to geue hym a lyght in his chyldren all waye.

And in his dayes Edom fell awaye frō vnder the hand of Juda/ and made them a kyng of their awne. And Jehozam went to Seir/ & all his charettes with him. And he rose by nyght & layde on the Edomites / which compased him in/ & the captaynes of his charet & the people fleed into their tentes. And so the Edomites slipte awaye from vnder the hande of Juda vnto thys daye. And then Lobnah slipt awaye to/ euen that same tyme.

The rest of ỹ dedes of Jehozam and all he dyd/ are writtē in the chronicles of ỹ kynges of Juda. And Jehozam rested wt hys fathers & was buried with his fathers in the cytie of Dauid. And Ohoziah hys sonne raygned in his steade. The. xij. yere of Jehozam sonne of Ahab/ kyng of Israel/ dyd Ohoziah ỹ sonne of Jehozam kyng of Juda beginne to raigne

And Jehozam the sonne of Ahab went to warre with Hazael kynge of Syria/ at Ramoth in Galaad/ and the Syrians wounded him. Wherfore kynge Jehozam went backe agayne/ to be healed in Jesrahel of ỹ woūdes which ỹ Syriās had geuē him at Ramoth/ whē he fought with Hazael kyng of Syria. ¶ The. ix. Chapter.

A ANd Eliseus the prophete called vnto one of the chyldrē of the prophetes/ and sayde to him: gyrde vp thy loynes & take this boxe of oyle in thyne hād & get ỹ to Ramoth in Galaad. And when thou comest thyther/ thou shalt there se Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Namsi/ and go to him/ & make him a ryse vp from amonge his brethren/ and carye him to a secret chambre. And take the boxe of oyle and powre it on his heed & saye / thus sayth the Lorde: I haue anoynted the to be kynge ouer Israel. And then open the doore & flee / & tary not. And the seruaūt of the prophet get him to Ramoth in Galaad/ & when he came/ the captaynes of the Hoste were syttynge together. And he sayde: I haue an errande to the Sir captayne. And Jehu sayde / vnto B which of all vs? And he sayd: to ỹ D captayne. And he arose and went in to the house.

And the other powred the oyle on his heed and sayde to him/ thus sayth the Lorde God of Israel: I haue anoynted ỹ to be kyng ouer Israel ỹ people of the Lorde/ that thou sleye ỹ household of Ahab thy master. For I (sayth the Lorde) wyll aduenge the bloude of my seruauntes the prophetes/ and the bloude of all ỹ seruauntes of the Lord / of the hand of Jezabel (for ỹ whole house of Ahab shalbe destroyed) and I wyll destroye vnto Ahab what pissheth agaynst ỹ wall/ and so moche as the preseruyd or that is forsaken in Israel/ & wyll make the house of Ahab lyke ỹ house of Jeroboam sonne of Nabat/ and lyke the house of Baasa the sonne of Ahiah. And as for Jezabel the dogges shall eate her in the feld of Jezrahel/ & none shall burye her. And he opened the doore and fled.

And when Jehu was come out to the seruauntes of his Lord/ they sayde to him: is all peace? Wherfore came this mad felow to ỹ? And he sayde to him: ye know the person and his cōmunicacyon. And they sayde: it is not C so. But tell vs a felowshyppe. And he sayde/ thus and thus spake he to me sayinge. Thus sayth

Jezabel. sayth the Lorde: I haue anoynted the to be kynge ouer Israel. And they hasted and toke euery man his mantell & put vnder hym on an hye bēche at the toppe of steppes/ & blew a trompet and sayde: Jehu is kynge. And so Jehu the sonne of Jehosaphat the sonne of Namsi conspired agaynst Jehoram. And Jehorā had bene wayting at Ramoth Galaad/ and all Israel with him/ for feare of Hazael kyng of Siria/ and was returned to be healed in Jezrahel/ of ỹ woundes which the Sirians had geuen hym as he fought with Hazael kynge of Siria.

Then sayde Jehu: If it be youre myndes/ then let no man escape out of the citie/ to goo and tell in Jezrahel. And Jehu rode and wēt D to Jezrahel: for Jehoram laye there/ & Ohosiah kynge of Juda was come to Jehoram. And the watchmā that stode on the towre in Jezrahel/ spyed the company of Jehu as he came/ and sayde: I se a cōpanye. And Jehoram sayde: take an horsman & sende agaynst them/ and let him aske whether it be peace. And there went one on horsbacke agaynst him & sayde: thus sayth ỹ kyng: is it peace? E And Jehu answered: what hast thou to do w peace? turne & come after me. And ỹ watchman tolde saying: the messenger came to thē but he cometh not agayne.

Then he sent out another on horsbacke/ which came to them & sayde/ thus sayth the kyng: is it peace? And Jehu answered/ what hast thou to do with peace? turne & come after me. And the watchman tolde saynge: he came to thē/ but he cometh not agayne/ & ỹ dryuyng is lyke the dryuing of Jehu ỹ sonne of Namsi/ for he dryueth as he were mad.

Then sayde Jehoram/ make readye. And they made ready his charet. And Jehorā king of Israel/ & Ohosiah kyng of Juda wēt out ether in hys charet agaynst Jehu / and mett him in the furlonge of Naboth the Jezrahelite. And when Jehoram sawe Jehu/ he sayd: is it peace Jehu? And he sayde/ what peace shulde there be/ so long as the whordomes of thy mother Jezabel & her witchcraftes are so great? And Jehoram turned his hand & fled/ & sayde to Ohosiah/ there is falshed Ohosiah. And Jehu toke a bowe in hys hande & smote Jehoram betwene the shoulders/ ỹ the arow came out at his brest. And he fel downe thre folde in his charet. Then he sayde to Badakar a lorde of his/ take & cast him in the plat of grounde of Naboth the Jezrahelite. For I remembre as I & thou roade together after Ahab his father/ how the Lorde spake these wordes agaynst him: I haue sene yesterdaye the bloude of Naboth & of his sonnes/ sayd ỹ Lorde/ and I will quyte hym in this grond/ F sayth the Lorde. Now therfore take and cast him in the plat of grounde accordynge to the worde of the Lorde. And when* Ohoziah the kynge of Juda sawe that/ he fled the waye to the *garden house. And Jehu folowed after him & sayde: smyte him also. And they smote him in his charet at the going vp to Sur by Jeblaam/ & he fleed to Magedo & there dyed. And his seruaūtes caried him to Jerusalē/ & buryed him in his sepulchre w̄ his fathers in the citie of Dauid. And in ỹ .xj. yere of Jehorā sonne of Ahab/ beganne Ohoziah to raygne ouer Juda. And whē Jehu was come to Jezrahel/ Jezabel heard of it/ & starched her eyes & tyred her heed & looked out at a wyndow. And as Jehu entered at ỹ gate she sayde: had Zamri peace which slew his master? And he lyft vp hys eyes to the wyndow & sayde/ who is of my side who? And there loked out to him two or thre lordes that were chāberlaynes. And he sayde: Throw her downe. And they G threw her downe. And he sprynkled of her bloude vpon the walles & on the horses / and troade her vnder fote.

And then when he was come in & had eatē & droncke/ he sayde: goo & vyset I praye you/ yonder cursed creature/ & burye her/ for she is a kynges daughter. And whē they came to burye her/ they founde no moare of her/ then the skulle & the two fete & the two handes. And they came agayne & tolde hym. And he sayde: it is the worde of the Lorde which he spake by ỹ hand of his seruaūt Eliah ỹ Thesbite sayīg: *in ỹ feld of Jezrahel shal dogges eate ỹ flesh of Jezabel/ & ỹ carkas of Jezabel shalbe donge vpō the erthe/ in ỹ felde of Jezrahel/ ỹ men shall not saye/ this is Jezabel.

¶ The .x. Chapter.

AHab had .lxx. sonnes in Samaria. A And Jehu wrote letters/ & sent to Samaria vnto the elders ỹ were lordes of Jezrahel / & to them that a-nourced vp Ahabs chyldren sayng: now at the coming of these letters to you/ ye haue w̄ you youre masters sonnes/ & ye haue w̄ you charettes & horses/ & a strōg citie & harnesse. Therfore chose the best/ & him ỹ most pleaseth you of youre masters sonnes/ & put him on his fathers seate/ & fight for youre lordes howse. And they were excedingly afrayde/ & sayde: se/ two kinges were not able to stande before hym/ how shall we then stande? And ỹ gouerner of ỹ kynges howse & of the citie & of the elders and the nources sent to Jehu saynge: we are thy seruaūtes & will do all ỹ thou shalt byd vs: we will make no mā king: but do thou what semeth good in thyne eyes.

a. They be here called nources (as it were) ỹ were in deade councelars and rulars of the thīges pertayning to the comen wealth: because they also prouided for the chyldren all soche thinges as were conuenient for them.

Then

Then he wrote another letter to thē sayīg:
B If ye be myne & wyll obeye my voyce / then take the heedes of youre masters sonnes and come to me to Jezrahel / by to morow thys tyme. And the kynges sonnes were .lxx. personnes with the great men of the cytie which nouryshed thē. And when the letter came to them / they toke the kynges chyldrē and slue thē in nombre .lxx. personnes / and put their heedes in cophines and sent them to hym to Jezrahel. And there cam a messenger & tolde him saying: they haue brought the heedes of the kynges sonnes. And he sayde: lett thē put thē on two heapes in the enteryng of ỹ gate / tyll it be daye.

C And in the morynyng he went out & stode & sayde to all the folke / ye be righteouse: for se / I conspired agaynst my master and slue him: But who slue these? cōsyder now how there is nothyng of the Lordes worde fallē to the erthe / which he spake agaynst the house of Ahab: for the Lorde hath done that he spake to his seruaunt Eliah. And so Jehu slue all ỹ remaynyed of the house of Ahab / in Jezrahel / & all that were great with him / & his compaynyons & his preastes / vntyll he had left hym naught remayne. And he arose and departed & went to Samaria. And as Jehu was come euē to the house where the sheperdes bynde their shepe by ỹ hye waye syde / he met wyth the brethren of Ohoziah kyng of Juda / and sayde: what are ye? & they sayde / the brethren of Ohoziah are we / and go to salute the chyldren of the kynge and of the quene. And he sayde: take them a lyue. And they toke them a lyue / & slue thē at the well besyde ỹ house where ỹ shepard̄ bynde their shepe / in nombre .xlij. personnes / that he left none of them.

And when he was departed thence he mett
D wt Jehonadab the sonne of Rechab comyng agaynst hym. And Jehu saluted hym & sayde to him: is thyne hert ryghte / as myne hert is with thyne. And Jehonadab sayd / yee that it is. If it be / then gyue me thyne hand. And he gaue his hād / & the other toke him vp to him into ỹ charet & sayde: go wt me & se the zeale I haue to the Lorde / & made him ryde wt him in his charet. And whē he came to Samaria / he slue all ỹ remayned vnto Ahab in Samaria / tyll he had wypte him out / accordyng to the sayīg of ỹ Lord which he spake to Eliah.

After that Jehu geathered all the people
iij. Reg. xvi. g. to geather & sayde to thē: * Ahab serued Baal a litle: But Jehu shall serue him a good. Now therfore call vnto me all the Prophetes of Baal & all his seruaūtes & all his preastȝ / ỹ none be lackyng. For I haue a great sacrefyce to do to Baal: & if any be missed / he shall not lyue. But Jehu dyd it for a sotelltye / to destroye the seruaūtes of Baal. Wherfore Jehu sayde: Apoynte a solempe feast for Baal / & they proclamed it. Then Jehu sent thorow out all Israel. And all the seruaūtes of Baal came / that there was not a man left behinde that came not. And when they were come in to the temple of Baal / the temple was full from one ende to another.

Then he sayde to the keper of the bestrye / bringe forth garmentes for the seruauntes of Baal. And he brought thē out garmentes. And Jehu went wt Jehonadab sonne of Rechab into the house of Baal: and sayde to the seruauntes of Baal: searche and loke that there be none here wt you of the seruauntes of the Lord / but ỹ seruantes of Baal onlye. And they went in / to offer sacrefyce & burnt-offerynges. But Jehu appoynted him foure skore men without & sayde: If any of ỹ men which I shall bryng vnto youre hād̄ escape / he that letteth him go shall dye for hym.

And as sone as he had made an ende of ofkeryng of burntsacrefyce / he sayde to them of E the garde & to the Lordes: go in & sley thē / let none come out. And they smote thē wt ỹ edge of the swerde. And ỹ garde & the Lordes cast them out / & went vnto the cytie of the house of Baal / & fet out the Image out of ỹ house of Baal & burnt it. And they brake ỹ Image of Baal / & brake the house of Baal / & made a lege of it euer after. And so Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel. But from the synnes of Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat whych made Israel synne with the goulden calues in Bethel and Dan / Jehu departed not.

Then the Lorde sayde to Jehu / because thou hast lustely done that pleaseth me / and hast done to the house of Ahab all that was in myne hert / therfore shall * thy chyldren in iiij. Reg. xv. c. the fourth generacion syt on the seate of Israel. But Jehu cered not to walcke in ỹ law
G of the Lorde God of Israel with all his hert: for he departed not from the synnes of Jeroboam which made Israel synne.

In those dayes the Lorde beganne to cut Israel shorte / for Hazael slue them in all the coostes of Israel / from Jordan Eastwarde: euen all the lande of Galaad / the Gadites / ỹ Rubenites and the Manasshites / from Aroer vpon the ryuer of Arnon / with Galaad and Basan. The rest of the actes of Jehu / and all he dyd / & all his powre / are wrytte in ỹ chronicles of the kynges of Israel. And when Jehu was layde to rest wt hys fathers / they buryed him in Samaria / & Jehoahaz his sonne raigned in his stead. And ỹ tyme ỹ Jehu raigned vpō Israel in Samaria / was .xxviij. yere

* That is / the lawe of God. Deut. xvij. d.

And when Athaliah heard the noyese of ỹ runnynge of the people/ she came to ỹ people into the house of the Lord. And whē she saw the kyng stāde by a pyler (as the maner was) & the syngers & the trompettes by the kyng/ & all the people of the lande reioysynge / and the blowynge of the trompettes/ she rent her clothes & cryed/ treason treason. And Jehoiada the preaste cōmaunded the Captaynes of the hundredes ỹ had the rule of the hoste/ and sayde to thē: haue her out without ỹ ranges/ & yf any folow her/ let him dye wt the swerde: for ỹ preaste sayde/ she may not be slayne in the house of the Lorde. And they layde hādes on her/ & she wēt the waye that the horses of the kynges went out & was slayne there.

And Jehoiada made a bonde both betwene D the Lorde & the kyng/ & betwene the people and the Lorde/ that they shuld be the Lordes people: & also betwene ỹ kyng & the people. Then all the people of the land wēt into the house of Baal/ & destroied his aultares/ and brake downe his Images lustely/ & slue Mathan ỹ preast of Baal before ỹ aulter. And ỹ preast set watchemen in ỹ house of ỹ Lord/ & toke ỹ rulars ouer hundred\ & ỹ captaynes & the gard & all ỹ people of ỹ land: And they brought the kyng from the house of ỹ Lorde & went the waye of the gate of the garde of ỹ kyng\ house. ℣ The. xij. Chapter.

JEhoas was seuē yere olde when he A was made kyng. And he begāne to raygne the seuenth yere of Jehu/ & raygned fourtye yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Zebiah Berlabe. And he dyd that pleased ỹ Lorde/ as long as Jehoiada the Preast enformed hym. But they toke not awaye the hillaulters / for the people slue & offered styll in the hillaulters.

thre yere. And in the nynthe yere of Hosea/ ỹ kyng of Assyria toke Samaria & caryed Israel awaye vnto Assyria & put thẽ in Hala/ in Habor on ỹ ryuer of Gozan/ & in ỹ cities of the Medes. For the chyldrẽ of Israel had synned agaynst the Lorde their God which brought thẽ out of the land of Egypt/ frõ vnder the hand of Pharao kyng of Egypt / and feared other Gods. And they walked in ỹ ordinannce of the hethen which the Lorde cast out before ỹ chyldrẽ of Israel/ & in ỹ thinges which the kynges of Israel had made. And ỹ chyldrẽ of Israel wrapte thẽ selues in things that were not well towarde the Lorde their God. And they bylt them Hilaulters in all their cyties/ bothe in the *towres where they kept watch and also in the stronge townes. And there they sacrefyced in the Hilaulters / as did the hethen which the Lord caryed awaye at their cõmynge/ & wrought weked dedes/ to angre the Lorde with all. And they serued Idoles/ wherof the Lorde had sayde to them: ye shall not do so.

*In ỹ Towres where &c. that is/ in all places/ both great and small.

And the Lorde testefied to Israel & to Juda/ by all the prophetes & by all the sears sayĩg: Turne frõ youre wycked wayes & kepe my cõmaundementes & myne ordynaunces accordyng to all the lawes which I cõmaũded youre fathers / & as I sent to you by my seruauntes ỹ prophetes. And so he translated Israel out of their land to Assyria / euen vnto this daye.

And the kyng of Assyria brought frõ Babylon & frõ Cutha/ & frõ Aua & frõ Hemath and from Sepharuaim/ and put them in the cyties of Samaria in steade of the chyldren of Israel. Then the kynge of Assyria commaunded sayĩg: carye thether one of ỹ preastes which ye brought thẽce/ & let him go & dwell there/ & teache thẽ the facyon how to serue the God of the contreye. And then one of the preastes which they had caried thence/ wẽt & dwelt in Bethel / & taught thẽ how they shulde feare ỹ Lorde. And the kynge of Assyria dyd carie awaye Israel vnto Assyria/ & put thē in Halah & in Habor on the ryuer of Gozan/ & in the cyties of Medes: because they wolde not herkē vnto the voyce of the Lorde their God. *The. xiiij. yere of Kyng Hezekiah came Sennaherib kynge of Assyria agaynst all the stronge cities of Juda & toke them. Wherupon Hezekiah kyng of Juda sent to ỹ kyng of Assyria to Lachis saying: I haue offended. But depart frō me/ & what thou puttest on me that wyll I beare. And the kyng of Assyria appoynted vnto Hezekiah kyng of Juda thre hundred talentes of syluer & thirtye talētes of gould. *And Hezekiah gaue him all iiij. Regū. xvij. d. the syluer that was founde in the howse of ỹ Lorde and also in the treasure of the kynges howse. And ỹ sayde season Hezekiah rent of D the dores of the tēple of the Lorde & the pylers/ which ỹ sayd Hezekiah king of Juda couered ouer/ & gaue thē to ỹ kyng of Assyria.

And the kynge of Assyria sent Tharthan & Rabsaris & Rabsakeh frō Lachis to kynge Hezekiah wt a great Hoste to Jerusalē. And they went vp & came to Jerusalem/ & wēt & stode by the conduyte of the vppermost pole which is in the waye to the fullers felde/ and called to ỹ kynge. And there came out to thē/ Eliakim ỹ sonne of Helkiah stuarde of housholde & Sobnah ỹ scribe/ & Joah the sonne of Asaph/ the recorder. And then Rabsakeh sayde to thē. Tell ye Hezekiah I praye you: thus sayth the great kynge the kyng of Assyria. What confidence is this that thou hast? thou wilt haplye speake a lyght worde/ that thou hast councell & powre to make warre. On whome then doest thou trust/ that thou rebellest agaynst me? doste thou truste to the E staffe of this broke rede Egypte/ on which if a man lene it will rēne into his hand & perce it. For euē so is Pharao kyng of Egypte vnto all that trust on him. *If ye saye vnto me/ ỹ. para. xxxij. c we trust in the Lorde oure God. Is not ỹ he whose hilaulters & other aulters to/ Hezekiah hath put downe/ & hath sayde to Juda & Jerusalem/ bowe youre selues before this aulter here in Jerusalem.

And now ioyne thy selfe to my lorde ỹ kyng of Assyria/ & I wyll delyuer ỹ two thousand horses/ if thou be able to sett ryders vpō thē: (and if thou be not) how then art thou able to resist one of the leste Dukes of my masters seruauntes? or trustest thou to Egypte for charettes and horsmen? Moreouer thinkest thou that I am come without the byddynge of the Lorde to this place to destroye it? naye: the Lorde sayde to me/ goo vp to this land & destroye it. Then sayde Eliakim the sonne of F Helkiah & Sobnah & Joah/ to Rabsakeh: speake we praye the to thy seruaūtes in the Sirians language/ for we vnderstande it: & talke not with vs in the Jewes tonge/ in the eares of the people ỹ are on the walles. And Rabsakeh sayde vnto them: hath my master sent me only to thy master & to the/ to speake these wordes/ or rather to the men that kepe the walles / that they shall eate their awne dyzte & dzynke their awne pisse wt you.

And so Rabsakeh stode and cryed wyth a lowde voice in the Jewes lathgage / and spake sayinge: heare the saying of the great kyng / the kyng of Assiria. Thus sayth the kyng: let not Hezekiah begile you / for he is not able to delyuer you out of myne hād: nether let Hezekiah make you trust to the Lozde sayinge: the Lozde shall surely rydd vs / and this cytie shall not be delyuered into the handes of the Deale kyndely with me / & come out to me. And then eate euery man of his awne vyne / & of his awne fygg tree / & dzyncke euery mā of the water of his awne welle / tyll I come and fett you to as good a lande as youres is: a lande of cozne and wyne / a lande of bzeade & vyneyardes / a lande of olyue trees / of oyle & of hony. And ye shall lyue and not dye. And herkē not vnto Hezekiah for he wyll begyle you / sayinge: the Lozde shall delyuer vs. For haue the Gods of the nacyons delyuered any God his lande / out of the hāde of the kyng of Assiria: where are the Gods of Hemath & of Arphad: where are ỳ Gods of Sepharuaim of Ana and Iuah: did they deliuer Samaria out of myne hād: what God of any lād hath deliuered his lād out of myne hād / ỳ the Lozd shulde delyuer Jerusalem out of myne hād:

But the people helde their peace and answered not him a wozde: for the kyng had cōmaūded sayīg: answere hī not. Then Eliakī the stuard of housholde & Sobnah the scribe and Joah the sonne of Asaph the recozder / came to Hezekiah with thetr clothes rent & tolde him the wozdes of Rabsakeh.

¶ The .xix. Chapter.

A Esa. xxxvij. a. When kyng Hezekiah heard ỳ / he rent his clothes & put on sacke & wēt to the house of the Lozd. Furthermozehe sent Eliakim stuard of houshold / and Sobnah the scribe / and the elders of the Pzeastes clothed in sacke / to Isaiah the pzophete the sonne of Amoz. And they sayde to hym / thus sayth Hezekiah: this daye is a daye of tribulacion / rebukyng and raylyng. Euen as whē the chyldzē are readye to be bozne / and the mothers haue no power to be deliuered. Oh ỳ the Lozd thy God wold heare all the wozdes of Rabsakeh whom ỳ kyng of Assyria his master hath sent to rayle on the lyuynge God / and to rebuke him with wozdes which the Lozd thy God hath heard Wherfozelyfte vp thy pzayer for ỳ remnaūt ỳ are lefte. When ỳ seruaūtes of kyng Hezekiah were come to Isaiah: Isaiah sayd to thē. B So shall ye saye to youre master. Thus sayth the Lozde: be not afrayde of the wozdes thou heardest / wt which the younge men of ỳ kyng of Assyria haue rayled on me. For I will sende him a blast that he shall heare tydinges / & so returne to his awne lande: And I wyll ouerthzow him wt ỳ swerde / euē in hys awne lād.

And Rabsakeh went backe agayne and founde ỳ kyng of Assyria fyghting agaynst Lobnah: for he had hearde / how ỳ he was departed frō Lachis. And he harde tydinges of Therhakah kyng of ỳ blacke Mozes / how ỳ he was come out to fyght agaynst him. And there vpon he departed & sent messengers vn to Hezekiah saying. Thus saye to Hezekiah kyng of Juda / let not thy God carye the out of the waye / in whō thou so trustest sayinge: Jerusalem shall not be delyuered into ỳ hād of the Kynge of Assyria. Beholde / thou hast C heard what the Kyngs of Assyria haue done to all landes / howthey haue vtterly destroied them. And how then shuldest thou escape: hathe the Gods of the hethen delyuered them which myne aunsetries haue destroyed: as Gozan, Haran / Rezeph / and the chyldzen of Eden which were in Thelasar: where is the kyng of Hemath / the Kynge of Arphad / the Kyng of the cytie of Sepharuaim / and the Kyng of Ana and the Kyng of Iuah.

When Hezekiah had receaued ỳ letter of the hand of the messengers and had redd it: he went into the house of the Lozde and layde it abzoade before ỳ Lozd. And Hezekiah pzaied before the Lozde & sayde: Lozde God of Israel which dwellest betwene the Cherubes / thou art God alone ouer all ỳ kyngdomes of ỳ erth / & thou hast made bothe heuē & erthe. Lozde / bow thyne eares & heare: Open Lozd thyne eyes & se: & heare ỳ wozds of Sennaherib which hath sent to rayle on the lyuyng God. But of a truthe Lozde / ỳ Kyngs of Assyria haue destroyed nacions & their lands / & haue sett fyze on their Gods. For they were D no Gods / but the wozke of the handes of mā: euē wood & stone. And therfoze they destroied thē. Now therfoze Lozd oure God / saue thou vs out of his hād / ỳ all the kyngdomes of ỳ erthe maye knowe / that thou Lozd art God alone. And Isaiah the sonne of Amoz sent to Hezekiah saying: thus saith the Lozd God of Israel / that that thou hast pzayed to me concernynge Sennaherib kynge of Assyria / I haue heard it. This is the thyng ỳ the Lozd sayth of him: he hath despised the / O virgine daughter of Sion: he hath shaked his heed at the / thou daughter of Jerusalem: whome hast thou rayled on / and whom hast thou reuyled: Agaynst whom hast thou exalted thy voyce / and hast lyfte vp thyne eyes so hye:

And now I bryng it forth & it shalbe to destroye and to bryng stronge cities in to rude heapes of stones. And the enhabiters of them shalbe of litle power / and faynt herted & cōfounded. In ỹ tyme Hezekiah was sicke vnto the deeth. And the Prophete Isaiah sonne of Amoz came to him and sayde to hym. Thus sayth the Lorde: put thyne household in an ordre / for thou shalt die & not lyue. And Isaiah was skarce gone out into the middle of the citie / but ỹ the worde of ỹ Lorde came to hym sayinge: turne agayne and tell Hezekiah the capitayne of my people. And Isaiah sayde: bringe a lumpe of fygges. And they brought & put it on the sore / and he recouered.

Then sayde Hezekiah to Isaiah: what is ỹ signe / ỹ the Lorde will heale me / & ỹ I shall go vp into ỹ house of the Lorde ỹ thirde daye? And Isaiah sayde: this signe shalt thou haue of the Lorde / that the Lorde will do ỹ he hath spoken: shall the shadow go forwarde ten degrees / or go backe agayne ten degrees? And Hezekiah sayde: it is a light thinge for ỹ shadow to go downe tē degrees. Therfore I will not that: but let the shadow go backewarde ten degrees. And Isaiah the Prophete called to the Lorde / * & he brought the shadow ten degrees backwarde by whych it had gone downe / in the dyall of Ahaz.

And Isaiah sayde to Hezekiah: heare the worde of the Lorde. Beholde the daye shall come / that all that is in thyne house & that thy fathers haue layde vp in store vnto this daye / shalbe caryed to Babilon / & nothinge shalbe lefte sayth ỹ Lorde. And of thy sonne that proceaded out of the / whych thou begattest / shall there be caryed awaye / & shalbe made chamberlaynes in the palace of ỹ kyng of Babilon. And Hezekiah sayde to Isaiah: wellcome be the worde of ỹ Lorde which thou hast spoken: so that peace and truthe be kept in my dayes.

The remnaũt of the deades of Hezekiah & all his power / and howe he made a pole and a conduite and brought the water into the cytye / are written in the boke of the chronicles of the kynges of Juda. And Hezekiah layde hym to rest wyth hys fathers / & Manasseh hys sonne raygned in hys steade.

¶ Wycked Manasseh restoreth agayne the Idolles & after dyeth / in whose steade Amõ his sonne succedeth / which is kylled of his awne seruauntes: After hym raygneth kaythfull Josiah.

¶ The xxi Chapter.

Manasseh was twelue yere olde when he beganne to raygne and raygned fyftie and fiue yere in Jerusalem: hys mothers name was Hayphzibah. And he did ỹ displeased ỹ Lorde / euen after the abhominacions of the Hethen which the Lorde cast out before the childzẽ of Israel. And he went and built the hillaulters agayne / whych Hezekiah hys father had destroyed. And he rered vp aulters to Baal and made groues / as dyd Ahab kynge of Israel. And he bowed hym selfe vnto all the * Hoste of heuen & serued them. And he built aulters in the very house of the Lorde / of whych the Lorde had sayde: * in Jerusalẽ I wyll put my name. And he built aulters vnto all the Host of heuen / euen in two courtes of the house of the Lorde. And he offered his sonne in fyre / & obserued dismall dayes / & vsed witchcrafte and mayntened worckers with spyrites / & tellers of fortunes: & wrought moche wyckednesse in the syght of the Lorde to angre hym.

B And he put an ymage of a groue that he had made / euen in the verye temple of whych the Lorde had sayde to Dauid & to Salomõ his sonne / * in this house & in Jerusalẽ which I haue chosen out of all trybes of Israel / wil I put my name for euer. Nether will I make the fete of Israel moue any moare out of the lande which I gaue their fathers: so that they wilbe diligent to do all I haue commaunded them / and all the law that my seruaunt Moses commaunded them. But they herkened not: for Manasseh had ledd them out of the waye / to do moare wickedlye then did the hethen people which the Lorde destroyed from before the chyldzen of Israel.

And the Lorde spake by his seruaũtes the Prophetz sayinge: because Manasseh kinge of Juda hath done soche abhominaciõs / and hath wrought wyckedlye aboue all that the Amorites which were before hym did: & hath made Juda synne also wt his Idoles. Therfore thus sayth ỹ Lorde God of Israel. * Behold / I will bringe soche euell vpõ Jerusalẽ & Juda / ỹ the eares of all that heare it / shall tyngle at it. And I will stretch ouer Jerusalẽ the squarynge lyne of Samaria & the plometh of the house of Ahab. And I wyll wype out Jerusalem / as a mã wolde wipe a dishe / and when he hathe wyped it turneth it vpsedowne. And though I leue a remnaũt of myne enheritaunce / yet I wyll delyuer thẽ into the handes of thẽ that hate thẽ / & they shalbe robbed and spoyled of all their enemyes: euẽ because they haue done wyckedlye and haue angred me / sence the tyme their fathers came out of Egipte vnto this daye.

And therto Manasseh shedd innocẽt bloud exceadyng aboundãtlye / in so moche that he replenyshed Jerusalem in all corners / beside his synne wherwyth he made Juda synne & to do euell in the syght of the Lorde.

The rest of the actes of Manasseh & all he did & his synne that he synned / are written in the boke of the chronicles of the kinges of Juda. And Manasseh layde hym to slepe wt his fathers / and was buryed in the gardẽ of his awne house / euen in the gardẽ of Oza: & Amon his sonne raygned in his steade.

Amon was. xxij. yere olde when he begãne to raygne / and he raygned two yere in Jerusalem. His mothers name was Mesalemeth the daughter of Haru of Jathbah. And he did that displeased the Lorde as his father Manasseh dyd. And he walked in all the waye ỹ hys father walked in / and serued the Idoles that hys father serued / & bowed hym selfe to them. And he forsoke the Lorde God of hys fathers & walked not in the waye of ỹ Lorde.

And the seruauntes of Amon conspired agaynst hym / & slue him in hys awne house. But the people of the lande slue all that cõspired agaynst kynge Amon / & made Josiah his sonne kyng in his rowme. The rest of ỹ actes of Amon which he did are writtẽ in the Chronicle of ỹ kinges of Juda. And they buried hĩ in his sepulchre in ỹ garden of Oza / & Josiah his sonne raygned in his steade.

¶The.xxv.Chapter.

Wherfore

A Wherfore in the nynthe yere of hys raygne/the tenthe daye of the tēthe monethe/ came Nabuchodonozor Kynge of Babilon wyth all hys power to Jerusalem: and pitched agaynste ỹ towne and made engynes agaynst it on euery syde. And the citie continued beseged vnto the.xi. yere of Kynge Zedekiah. And ỹ nynthe daye of the fourthe monethe of that yere/ there was so great hongre in ỹ citie/ ỹ there was no sustinaūce for the people of ỹ lande.

And therto the citie was broken vp: wherfore all the men of Armes fled by nyght/ by a waye thorow a gate/ betwene two walles harde on the Kynges garden: the caldeyes lyenge aboute the cytye.

B And the Kynge wēt straycht towarde the deserte. And ỹ hoste of the Caldeyes folowed after hym/ and toke him in the deserte of Jericho/ all hys armye beynge scatered awaye from him. And whē they had taken him/ they brought him to Nabuchodonozor the Kynge of Babilon to Reblah/ where they* reasoned with hym. And they slue the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes/ and put out the eyes of Zedekiah/ and fettered hym/ and caryed hym to Babilon.

* That is/ they reprehended him & founde fault with hym because he had rebelled & broken his othe.

And the seuēthe daye of the fyfth monethe which was in ỹ nyntenth yere of Kynge Nabuchodonozor Kynge of Babilon/ came Nabusaradan seruaunte of the Kynge of Babilon and* chefe Marshall/ vnto Jerusalem: & burnte the house of the Lorde & the Kynges house and all the houses of Jerusalem/ & all greate houses burnte he with fire. And all ỹ hoste of the Caldeyes that were with ỹ chefe Marshall: brake downe the walles of Jerusalēm rounde aboute. And the rest of ỹ people that were lefte in the citie/ & them that were fled to the Kynge of Babilon/ & the rēnaunt of the comen people/ Nabusaradan ỹ chefe C Marshall caried awaye/ & lefte of the poore of the lande to dresse the vynes and to tyll the grounde.

* Some reade. chefe of ỹ cookes. Some chefe captayne.

And the pillers of brasse that were in the house of the Lorde and the botomes/ and the brasen see that was in the house of ỹ Lorde the Caldeyes brake/ & caried the brasse of thē to Babilō. And the lauers/ shouelles/* dreslynge knyues/ ladelles/ & the mynistrynge vesselles of brasse/ they caryed awaye. And ỹ D firepānes/ & basens that were ether of golde or syluer/ thē toke ỹ chefe Marshall awaye with the two pillers and the see of brasse and the bottomes whych Salomon had made in the house of the Lord. The brasse of all these vesselles was wythout waycht. The heycht of the one piller was xviij. cubites/ and the heed theron was brasse and thre cubites lōge with a wrethe & pomegranetz rounde about vpon the heed/ all of brasse. And of the same fassyon was ỹ seconde pyller with a wrethe.

* Some reade. Instrumentes of musyke.

And the chefe Marshall toke Saraiah ỹ E chefe preste/ and Zophoniah the hiest preste saue one/ & thre kepers of the dore. And out of the citie he toke a certayne chamberlayne that had the ouersyght of the men of warre/ and fiue men that were euer in the kynges presence/ whiche were founde in the cytye/ & Sopher the captayne of the Hoste ỹ taught the people of ỹ lande to make warre/ & thre skore men of the people of ỹ lande that were founde in the citie also. And Nabusaradan ỹ chefe Marshall toke them and brought thē to the Kynge of Babilon to Reblah. And the Kyng of Babilon smote them and slue them at Reblah in ỹ lande of Hemath. And so Juda was caried awaye out of their lande. F

And ouer the people that remayned in the lande of Juda/ which Nabuchodonozor King of Babilon lefte/ he set Godoliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Saphan. And when all the capitaynes of the men of warre & the men hearde that the Kynge of Babilon had made Godoliah gouerner: there came to Godoliah to Mazphah: Ismael ỹ sonne of Nathaniah and Johanan the sonne of Kareah & Saraiah the sonne of Thanehumeth ỹ Netophathite & Jezoniah ỹ sonne of Maachati and their men. And Godoliah sware to thē and to their men/ and sayde to thē: feare not ye the seruauntes of ỹ Caldeyes. But dwelle in the lande and serue the Kynge of Babilon and ye shalbe in good condycion. G

But it chaunced the seuenth monethe after/ that Ismael the sonne of Nathaniah the sonne of Elisama of the Kynges bloude came/ and ten men with hym and smote Godoliah that he dyed: and so did he the Jewes and the Caldeys ỹ were with hym at Mazphah. Therupon all the people bothe small and greate and ỹ captaynes of the men of warre arose & wēt to Egipte: for they were afrayed of the Caldeyes.

Notwithstandinge yet the.xxxvij. yere after Jehoacin Kyng of Juda was caryed awaye, the.xxvij. daye of the twelueth monethe/ dyd Euilmerodach Kynge of Babilon lifte vp the heed of Jehoacin Kynge of Juda out of the prysone house/ and spake kyndelye to hym and set hys seate aboue the seate of all the Kynges that were with him in Babilon/ and chaūged hys pryson garmētes. And he did euer eate breade before him all ỹ dayes of his lyfe. And a continuall porcyō was assygned hym of the Kynge/ daye by daye as longe as he lyued.

To lyft vp the heed/ is often take for settyng vp the holem/ & causyng hym to flourysshe/ & and.cix.b.

¶ Dauid is forbydden to bylde an house vnto ỹ Lorde/ because of the bloudeshedyng that he had sheed. Christ is promeled vnder the fygure of Salomon.

¶ The. xvij. Chapter.

A ỹ. Reg. vij. a. AND as Dauid dwelt in his house he sayde to Nathan the prophete: loo/ I dwell in an house of Cedar tree: and the Arcke of the Lordes couenaunt dwellyth vnder curtaynes. And Nathan sayde to Dauid: do all that is in thyne herte/ for God is with the.

But the same nyght ỹ worde of God came to Nathan saying: go and tell Dauid my seruaunte/ thus sayth the Lorde/ thou shalt not bylde me an house to dwell in. For I haue dwelt in no house sence I brought out ỹ childzen of Israel vnto this daye: But haue gone from tent to tent & from one tabernacle to a nother. Nether in anye place whersoeuer I haue walked thorow out all Israel/ spake I euer one worde to anye of the iudges of Israel which I cōmaunded to fede my people/ saying: why bylde ye me not an house of Cedar tree? Now therfore thus saye vnto my seruaūt Dauid: thus sayth ỹ Lord of Hostes I toke the out of the pasture frō after shepe/ & ỹ thou shuldest be captayne ouer my people Israel. And I haue bene with the in all thou tokest in hand/ and haue weded out all thyne enemyes out of thy syght/ and haue made ỹ a name lyke the name of the greatest men of the erthe. And yet this semed lyttel in thyne eyes O God. But that thou shuldest speake of thy seruauntes house for a great whyle to come: & hast loked vpon me as vpō a mā of hye degree O Lorde God. What can Dauid desyre moare of the/ wherin thou shuldest make thy seruaūt moare glorious? And now Lord the thyng thou hast spokē cōcernyng thy seruaunte & his house be true for euer/ and do as thou hast sayde. And thy name cōtinue & ware great for euer / that it be sayde: the Lord of Hostes/ ỹ God of Israel is God in Israel/ and the house of Dauid thy seruaūte be stable before the. For thou Lord hast tolde thy seruaunte/ ỹ thou wylt buylde him an house. And therfore thy seruaūt hath founde in his herte to praye before the. And

And Dauid sayde to Joab & the rulers of ỹ people / go ye and numbre Israel frō Berlabe to Dan/ and brynge it to me that I maye knowe the numbre of thē. And Joab answered: the Lord make thy people an hundred times so manye mo as they be. Neuerthelater the kyngs wordes preuayled agaynst Joab. And Joab toke hys waye and went thorow out all Israel/and came to Jerusalem and gaue the numbre of the counte of ỹ people vnto Dauid. And all Israel were in numbre a thousand thousande & an hundred thousande men ỹ drue swerde: and Juda was. cccc. lxx. thousand mē ỹ drue swerde. But the Leuites and Beniamin he counted not among thē. Then fell Dauid & the elders of Jsrael clothed in sacke vpon their faces. And Dauid sayde vnto God: Is it not I that cõmaunded to numbre ỹ people? And I am he that haue synned & done euell in dede. But what haue these shepe done? let thyne hande therfore O Lorde God/be on me & on my fathers house/ and not on thy people to destroye them.

And the Angell cõmaunded Gad to saye to Dauid/that Dauid shulde go & rere vp an aulter vnto the Lord/in the threshyng floure of Oznan the Jebusite. And Dauid went at the saying of Gad which spake in the name of the Lorde. And Oznan turned aboute and saw the Angel/& his foure sonnes with him/ & hyd thẽ selues: for Oznan was threshyng whete. And Dauid came to Oznan. And whẽ Oznan loked and saw Dauid / he wẽt out of ỹ threshyng floure & bowed him selfe to Dauid with his face to the grounde.

And Dauid sayde to Oznan: geue me the place of the threshynge flowre/that I maye buylde an aulter therin vnto ỹ Lord. And they slue plenteously for all Israel/ & did eate & dryncke before the Lorde the same daye with greate gladnesse. And they made Salomon ꝑ sonne of Dauid kyng ꝑ seconde tyme/ & annoynted him vnto the Lorde/ to be ruler/ and Sadock to be ꝑ preacte. *And so Salomon sate on ꝑ seate of the Lorde/ and was kyng for Dauid his father/ & prospered/ and all Israel obeyed him. And all the Lordes and men of power/ & therto all the sonnes of Kyng Dauid submitted them selues vnder kyng Salomon. ¶ The fyrst Chapter.

AND Salomon the sonne of Dauid waxed strõge in his kyngdome/ and the Lorde his God was with hym & magnifyed hym on hye. And Salomõ comuned with all Israel/ the capitaynes ouer thousandꝭ & hundredes/ the iudges and all other Lordes & auncient heedes thorowout all Israel. And so Salomon & all the cõgregacion w̃ him/ wẽt to the hylaulter of Gabaon: for there was ꝑ tabernacle of the wytnesse of God/ *which Moses the seruaunte of the Lorde made in the wyldernesse. But the Arcke of God had Dauid brought frõ Kariath Jarim/ in to ꝑ place he had prepared therfore. For he had pytched a tente for it at Jerusalẽ. Moreouer ꝑ brasen aulter ꝑ Bezeleel ꝑ sonne of Uri/ ꝑ sonne of Hor had made/ was at Gabaõ also/ before ꝑ tabernacle of ꝑ Lord. And Salomõ & ꝑ cõgregacion wẽt to vyset it. And Salomon offered there before the Lorde vpon the brasen aulter that was by the tabernacle of wytnesse/ a thousande burntsacrefyces. And the same night God appered vnto Salomon & sayde to him: aske what I shall geue the. And Salomõ sayde vnto God: thou hast shewed great mercye vnto Dauid my father/ & hast made me kyng in his steade. *And now Lord God/ lett thy promyse vnto Dauid my father be true. For thou hast made me Kynge ouer a people lyke the dust of ꝑ erth in multytude. Wherfore geue me wysdome and knowledge how to behaue my selfe vnto this people: for who is able to iudge this people ꝑ is so great?

ij. Reg. ij. a.

¶ Then God sayde to Salomon/ because thou haddest this in thyne herte/ & dydest not aske treasure & rychesse/ honoure & the lyues of thyne enemyes/ nether yet longe lyfe: But hast asked wysdome & knowledge/ to iudge my pepole/ ouer which I haue made ꝑ kyng: wysdome & knowledge shalbe geuẽ the/ & I wyll geue ꝑ treasure/ rychesse/ & glorie also/ ꝑ among the kynges before the or after the/ none was or shalbe lyke ꝑ. And so Salomõ cam frõ ꝑ hilaulter ꝑ was at Gabaõ to Jerusalẽ frõ ꝑ tabernacle of witnesse & raigned at Jerusalem. And Salomõ geathered charettꝭ & horsemẽ: ꝑ he had a thousand & foure hũdred charettes/ & xij. thousand horsemen/ which he bestowed in ꝑ charet cities & aboute

¶ The folishnes of Rehoboam/ and the deuysyon of hys reaulme.

¶ The.x. Chapter.

And

A ij.Reg.xij.a. AND Rehoboam went to Sichem: for to Sichē were all Israel come to make him kinge. And when Jeroboā the sonne of Nabat/beynge in Egipte hearde it (for he was fled for feare of Salomon the kynge) he returned out of Egipte. And they sent and called him. And so Jeroboā & all Israel came & comuned wyth Rehoboam & sayde. Thy father made vs a greuouse youcke: but remytte thou somewhat of the greuouse seruyce of thy father & of his heuye youcke that he put vpō vs/ & we will serue ỹ. And he sayd to thē: come againe after thre dayes to me. And ỹ people departed

B And kynge Rehoboam counceled with ỹ elders that stode before Salomō his father/ while he lyued/ & sayde: what councell geue ye me/ to answere thys people agayne? And they tolde him saying: If thou shalt be kinde to this people & please them and shalt speake louynge wordes to thē/ they wyll be thy seruauntes for euer. But he left the councell which the elders gaue him/ & tooke councell with the youngemen that were nursed vp wt hym & had stande in his presence/ & sayde to them: what aduise geue ye ỹ I maye answere thys people whych haue cōmuned wyth me sayinge: Abate somewhat of ỹ youcke which thy father dyd put vpon vs.

And the younge men that were nurced vp C with hym talked with hym sayinge: thus answere the people that spake to the sayinge. Thy father made oure youcke heuye: But make thou oure youcke somewhat lyghter. Thus wyse answere them: my lytle fynger shalbe heuyer then my fathers loynes. *For ij.Reg.xij.c. where my father put a heuie youcke vpō you I will put moare therto/ & where my father chastised you with whippes/ I will chastyce you with scorpions.

And when Jeroboam and all Israel were come ỹ thrde daye/ as ỹ kynge bade sayinge: come agayne to me ỹ thrde daye. The kynge answered thē cruelly/ for kynge Rehoboam lefte the councel of the aged mē/ & answered thē after ỹ aduise of the younge men saying. If my father made youre youcke greuouse/ I will adde therto/ & where my father chastised you wyth whyppes/ I wyll chastyce you with scorpions. And so the kynge herkened not vnto the people/ for the turnynge awaye was of God/ that ỹ Lorde myght make good hys sayinge whych he spake by the hand of Ahiah the Silonite to Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat.

D And when all Israel saw that the kynge wolde not heare them / the people answered ỹ kynge/ sayinge: what parte haue we with Dauid or enheritaunce wt the sonne of Isai? ij.Reg.xij.d. let euery man of Israel go to his tent. *And now Dauid se to thyne awne house. And therupon all Israel get them to their tentes/ so ỹ Rehoboam raygned ouer no moo of the childzen of Israel then dwelt in the cytyes of Juda. Then kynge Rehoboā sent to thē Haduram that was ouer ỹ tribute/ & the childzē of Israel stoned him with stones that he died But kynge Rehoboam made spede and gat hym vp to hys charet to flye to Jerusalem. And so Israel departed from the house of Dauid vnto thys daye.

But ỹ worde of the Lorde came to Semeiah the man of God sayinge: speake vnto Rehoboā the sonne of Salomon kynge of Juda & to all Israel that are in Juda/ and to Beniamin and say: thus sayth ỹ Lorde. Go not nor fight with youre brethren: But returne euery mā to hys house/ for thys thynge is done of me. And they obeyed the wordes of the Lorde & B returned from goynge agaynste Jeroboā.

And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem/ and built stronge cyties in Juda: as Bethlehem/ Etam & Thekua: Bethzur/ Socho & Odollam: Geth/ Mareshah & Ziph: Adurahim/ Lachis and Azecah: Zarah Aialon and Hebron. And he ordened in all cyties shyldes & speares/ & made them exceadynge stronge. And so Juda and Beniamin were vnder hym. C

And the prestes & the Leuites that were in all Israel resorted to hym/ out of all their costes. In so moche ỹ the Leuites lefte their Suburbes & possessyons and came to Juda and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam & hys sonnes had cast them oute from ministrynge vnto ỹ Lorde. *And he ordeyned him prestes of hyl- ij.Reg.xij.g. aulters bothe to felde deuelles and also to ỹ calues which he had made. And after thē ther came of all ỹ trybes of Israel (soche as their hertes moued them to seke the Lorde God of Israel) to Jerusalem to offer vnto the Lorde God of their fathers. And so they strengthed the kyngedome of Juda & made Rehoboam the sonne of Salomon myghtye thre yere longe/ for thre yere they walked in the waye of Dauid and Salomon. D

And Rehoboam toke hym Mahalath the daughter

Abiah. daughter of Jerimoth the sonne of Dauid to wyfe / and Abihail the daughter of Eliab the sonne of Jsai / whych bare hym chyldren: Jeus / Samariah and Zaham. And after her he tooke Maacah the daughter of Absalom whych bare hym Abiah / Ethai / Ziza & Salumith. But Rehoboam loued Maacah the daughter of Absalō aboue all his other wyues & concubynes for he toke .xviij. wyues & thre score concubynes / and begat thre score daughters and .xxviij. sonnes. And Rehoboā made Abiah the sonne of Maacah the chefe ruler amonge his brethren / for to make hym kynge. And he played wisely & shatered of all hys chyldren thorow out all the countreyes of Juda & Beniamin in euery stronge citie. And he gaue them aboundaunce of vitayle / and asked manye wyues.

¶ And Selac kynge of Egipte came to Jerusalem and toke awaye ỹ treasures of the house of the Lorde / and the treasures of the kynges house / & shortlye he toke all. But great veracion vpon the enhabyters of all landes

Iehosaphat. all landes. For one nacyon shall destroye a nother/ and one cytye a nother: for God wyll
B trowncе thē with all aduersyte. But pluckе you vp youre hertes & let not youre handes faynte/for youre worckes shalbe rewarded.

When Asa hearde those wordes & the prophesye of Azariah ỹ sonne of Obed the Prophete/he tokе courage & put awaye ỹ abhominacions out of all the lande of Juda & Beniamin/& out of the cities whych he wāne in mount Ephraim/ & renued the aulter of the Lorde that was before the porche of ỹ Lord. And he geathered all Juda & Beniamin/and the straungers wyth them out of Ephraim/ Manasseh and Simeon. For there fell many to hym out of Israel/ when they saw that
C God was wyth hym. And they assembled at Jerusalem the thyrde monethe of the fyftene yere of the raygne of Asa. And they offered vnto the Lorde that same tyme of the spoyle whych they had brought. vij. hundred oxen & vij. thousande shepe.

And they made a couenaunt to seke the Lorde God of their fathers/ w all their hertz & all their soules: so that all that sought not ỹ Lorde God of Israel/ shuld dye for it/ whether he were smalle or greate / mā or womā.
a. To sweare vnto ỹ Lorde/is to geue thy self wholly to him with a pure hert: whych thyng true worshyppers do / as is sayde of Dauid Psal. crrri. a. But to sweare by the Lorde/is to call on the name of ỹ Lord as a witnes and Judge / as it is sayde. Iosu. ỹ. c
And they a sware vnto ỹ Lorde with a loude voyce and showtynge & wyth trompetes and D hornes. And all Juda reioysed in the othe/ for they had sworne wyth all their hertes / and sought hym with all their lust/ & he was founde of them. And the Lorde gaue thē rest rounde aboute.

And therto kynge Asa put Maacah hys mother out of auctoryte / because she had made an ydole in a groue: & brake downe her ydole & stampte it and burnt it by the broke Cedron. But they put not the hylaulters out of Israel: neuertheless the hert of Asa was pure all his life. And he brought into ỹ house of God the dedycat gyftes which he & hys father had dedicate/in goulde/syluer and other Jewelles. And there was no moare warre vnto the. xxxv. yere of the raygne of Asa.

C Asa/for feare of Baasa king of Israel/maketh a couenaunt with Benhadad kyng of Syria.

C The. xvi. Chapter.

A IN the. xxxvi. yere of the raygne of Asa/came Baasa kynge of Israel agaynst Juda & buylt Ramah / to the entent that he wolde let none ỹ pertayned to Asa king of Juda haue passage in and out. Wherupon Asa fet out syluer and goulde out of the treasures of the house of the Lorde and of the kynges house/ & sent it to Benhadad kynge of Syria that dwelt at Damasco/ & sayde. There is a cōfederacio betwene me and the / & so was betwene my father & thine/ wherfore I haue sent ỹ syluer and goulde / that thou go and breake thyne apoyntment with Baasa kynge of Israel/ ỹ he maye departe from me. And Benhadad B graunted vnto kynge Asa/ & sent ỹ capitayn of his armie agaynst ỹ cyties of Israel. And they bet Ion/ Dan/ Abelmaim & all ỹ store cities of Nephthali. And when Baasa hearde that/ he left buildynge of Ramah and let his worcke ceasе. And then Asa the kynge tokе all Juda & caryed awaye & stones & tymbre of Ramah wherwith Baasa was a buildinge: & he buylt therwith Gabaa & Mazphah.

At that same tyme Hanani the sear/ came C to Asa king of Juda & sayde to him: because thou trustest in ỹ kynge of Syria/ & trustest not in the Lorde thy God/ therfore is ỹ hoste of the kynge of Syria escaped out of thyne hande. Were not ỹ blacke mores and they of Libia a great hoste wyth exceadynge many charettes and horsemen? And yet because thou trustedest in the Lorde / he delyuered thē in to thyne handes. For ỹ eyes of ỹ Lorde beholde all the erthe/ to strength the hertes of thē that are hoale with him. Herein thou hast done folyshly/ and therfore from hencefoorthe thou shalt haue warre. Wherupon Asa was D wroth with the sear & put him in the conuertyng house/ for he was dysplesed wyth hym because of that. Moreouer Asa oppressed certayne of the people the same ceason.

The dedes of Asa both fyrst and last/ are written in the boke of the kynges of Juda & Israel. And the. xxxix. yere of hys raygne Asa fell sycke of his fete/ and that hys dysease exceadid. And therto in his sickness he asked no councell of the Lorde/ but of Physycyons. And at the last Asa fell on slepe wyth hys fathers and died when he had raygned. xli. yere. And they buryed hym in hys awne sepulchre whych he had made in the cytye of Dauid/ and layed hym in the bed whych he had fylled wyth swete odoures of dyuerse kyndz/ made by ỹ crafte of ỹ potecaryes. And they dyd exceadynge great coste aboute buriēge of him.

C Iehosaphat succeadeth after Asa/ whych causeth the feare of the Lorde to be renued amonge the people.

C The. xvij. Chapter.

AND Iehosaphat his sonne raygned A in hys stede & was myghtyer then Israel. And he put souldyoures in all the stronge cytyes of Juda / and set rulers bothe in the lande of Juda and also in the cytyes of Ephraim which Asa his father had wonne. And the Lorde was wyth Iehosaphat / because he walked in the olde wayes of hys father Dauid / and sought not Baals: But sought the Lorde God of his father and walked in hys cōmaundementes & not after the doynges of Israel. Therfore ỹ Lorde stablysched ỹ kyngdome in his hande/

and all

and all Juda brought hym presentes/that he B became exceadynge ryche & gloryouse. And hys hert was corageous in the wayes of the Lorde/and he put downe yet moare of the hilauiters and groues out of Juda.

And the thride yere of hys raygne he sent of his Lordes: Benhail/Abdiah/Zachariah/Nathanael & Michaah to teache in the cities of Juda: and wyth them/Semeiah/Natha-niah/Zabadiah/Asahel/Semiramoth/Jehonathan/Adoniah/Thobiah and Thobodo-niah Leuites: & wyth thē Elisama & Jozam preastes. And they taught in Juda/& had the boke of ỹ law w̄ thē/& wēt aboute thorowout
C all the cyties of Juda & taught the people.

And the feare of the Lorde fell vpon all ỹ kyngedomes of the landes that were rounde aboute Juda/that they durst not warre w̄ Jehosaphat. And ỹ Philistines brought Je-hosaphat giftes & tribute syluer. And therto the Arabiens brought hym of shepe/seuen thousande & seuen hundred rammes/& seuen thousandes & seuen hundred he gottes. And so Jehosaphat prospered & grue vp on hye. And he built in Juda/castels and store cities. And he had great substaūce in the cities of Juda/& fyghtinge men & mē of myght in Jerusalē.

And this is the order in the houses of their D fathers/of the capitaynes ouer thousandes in Juda: Ednah the cappytayne and wyth him of fyghtynge men thre hundred thousande.
And nexte to hym Jehohanan a cappytayne & w̄ hym two hundred & .lxxx. thousande. And by his syde Amaziah the sonne of Zechri willynge vnto ỹ Lorde/& with him two hundred thousande mightie men. And of ỹ children of Beniamin/Eliada was a mā of myght/and had with him armed with bowes and shildes two hundred thousande. And by hys syde Je-hosabad wyth whome were an hūdred & .lxxx thousande trimmed for warre. These wayted on the kynge/beside those which the kinge had put in strōge cities thorowout all Juda.

¶ After Ahab had asked councell of the foure hundred Prophetes/he put Micheah in prison. He dyeth with the shott of an Arrow.

¶ The .xviij. Chapter.

A iij. Regū. xxij. a.

AND Jehosaphat became very ryche and gloryouse/& ioyned affinite w̄ Ahab. And after certayne yeres he went downe to Ahab to Samaria And Ahab slue shepe & oxen plenteously for hym & for the people that came with hym/& entreated him to go vp vnto Ramoth in Galaad. And Ahab kynge of Israel sayde to Je-hosaphat kynge of Juda: wylt thou go wyth me to Ramoth in Galaad? And he answered him/I wylbe as thou/and my people shalbe as thyne and we wyll be with the in ỹ warre.

But Jehosaphat sayde vnto the kynge of Israel: aske I praye ỹ/the worde of ỹ Lorde.
And the kynge of Israel geathered to gether
B of the Prophetes foure hundred men/& sayde vnto thē: shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fyght/or shall I cease? And they sayde/go:
ỹ Lord shall deliuer it into ỹ kingꝭ hāde. And Jehosaphat sayde/is there yet here neuer a Prophete more of ỹ Lordes/that we myght aske of hym? And the kynge of Israel sayde to Jehosaphat/there is yet one/to aske the Lorde by hym: But I hate him/for he neuer prophesyeth me good/but allwaye euell/one Micheah the sonne of Jemla. And Jehosaphat sayde: let not the kynge saye so.

Then ỹ kynge of Israel called one of hys chāberlaynes & sayde: fetche hether quyckly Micheah the sonne of Jemla. And the kinge of Israel and Jehosaphat kynge of Juda sate ether of thē on hys seate in their apparell/in C a thre shynge flowre beside the gate of Samaria/& all the Prophetes prophesyinge before thē. And one Zedekiah the sonne of Chananah made hym hornes of yron and sayde/thus sayth the Lorde: wyth these thou shalt wynowe Syria vntyll thou hast brought thē to nought. And all the Prophetes prophesyed euē so sayinge: Go vp to Ramoth in Galaad and prospere/for the Lorde shall delyuer it into the hande of the kynge.

And the messenger that went to call Micheah/spake to him saying: beholde/ỹ wordꝭ of the Prophetes are pleasaunt to the kynge with one assent/let thy wordes I pray the/be lyke one of theirs/& speake ỹ which is pleasaunt. And Micheah sayde: as truly as the Lorde lyueth/euē what my God sayeth/that will I speake. And when he was come to the kynge/the kynge sayde to hym: Micheah/shall we go to Ramoth in Galaad to fyght/
D or shall I be in rest? And he answered: a go ye & prospere/for the Lorde shall delyuer it into youre handꝭ. But ỹ kynge sayde to him: how oftē tymes shall I adiure the ỹ thou saye no-thinge but truthe to me/in ỹ name of ỹ Lord.

Then he sayde: I se all Israel shatered in ỹ mountaynꝭ/as shepe ỹ haue no shepard. And the Lorde sayde: these haue no master/let thē returne euery mā to his house in peace. Then sayde ỹ kynge of Israel to Jehosaphat/did I not tell ỹ/that he wolde not prophecye good vnto me/but euell?

And he answered: therfore heare ye the worde of the Lorde. I saw the Lorde syt vpō his seat/and all the cōpanye of heauen stan-dynge on his ryght hande & on his lefte. And ỹ Lorde sayde: who shall deceaue Ahab kyng of Israel/that he maye go & be ouerthrowen E at Ramoth in Galaad. And whyle one sayde thus & a nother that/there came out a spirite and stode before the Lorde and sayde: I will deceaue

a. This speaketh the Prophet by an Ironye/that is/in derisyō or mockage: & therby tawnteth as it were the false Prophetes whych had falsly prophecyed vnto the kyng. as ye se here & iij. Reg. xxij. c.

Iehosaphat. deceaue him. And ỹ Lord sayde to him/ how? And he sayde: I will go out & wylbe a lyinge spirite in ỹ mouthꝫ of all his prophetes. And ỹ Lord sayde/ thou shalt deceaue him & shalt preuayle/ go out & do euē so. And now behold ỹ Lord hath put a lyinge spirite in ỹ mouthꝫ of all these thy prophetes/ & yet ỹ Lorde hath
F spokē euell agaynst ỹ. And Zedekiah ỹ sonne of Chananah, wēt to & smote Micheah vpō ỹ cheke/ & sayde: by what waye wēt ỹ spirite of ỹ Lorde frō me/ to speake in the? And Micheah sayde: thou shalt se ỹ daye when thou shalt rūne frō chābre to chambre/ for to hyde thy selfe. Then sayde ỹ kinge of Israel/ take ye Micheah & deliuer him to Amō ỹ gouerner of ỹ citie/ & to Joas ỹ kingꝫ sonne & saye/ thus sayth ỹ kynge: put this felow in prison/ and fede him wᵗ breade & water of tribulaciō/ vntyll I come agayne in peace. And Micheah sayd: yf thou come agayne in peace/ thē hath not ỹ Lorde spokē in me. And Micheah saide moreouer/ herken to ye people euery one of you. And so ỹ kynge of Israel & Iehosaphath ỹ kynge of Juda went vp to Ramoth in Galaad. Then sayde ỹ kinge of Israel to Iehosaphat: chaūge ỹ & get ỹ to battell/ but se ỹ thou
G haue thine awne apparell vpō ỹ. And ỹ king of Israel chaunged himselfe/ & they went to battell. But the kynge of Syria cōmaunded the cappytaynes of hys charetes sayinge: se ỹ ye fyght not agaynst small or great/ saue agaynst the kynge of Israel onlye.

And whē the capitaynes of ỹ charetꝫ saw Iehosaphat/ they had wēt he had bene ỹ king of Israel/ & therfore cōpased aboute him/ to fighte. But Iehosaphat cryed out/ & ỹ Lorde holpe him. & God tyled thē awaye from him. For whē ỹ capitaynꝫ of ỹ charetes perceaued ỹ it was not the kinge of Israel/ they turned backe agayne frō hym. And a certē mā drew his bowe ignorantlye & smote ỹ king of Israel betwene ỹ Joyntes of his habergyne. And he sayde to the charet mā/ turne thine hand and carye me out of ỹ hoste/ for I am hurte. And the battell arose that daye. How be it ỹ king of Israel contynued standynge in his charet agaynst the Syriens vntyll euen. And about the sonne goinge downe he dyed.

¶ After Iehosaphat was rebuked by the prophet Jehu-he called agayne the people to the honouryng of the Lorde God.

¶ The. xix. Chapter.

A And Iehosaphat kinge of Juda returned to hys house safe & sounde to Jerusalē. And Jehu the sonne of Hanani the sear/ wēt out agaynst him & sayde to kynge Iehosaphat: oughtest thou to helpe ỹ wycked/ & to loue thē ỹ hate ỹ Lorde. In this verely is ỹ wrath of the Lorde vpō ỹ. Neuerthelater there are good thinges sounde in ỹ/ in ỹ thou hast put awaye grouē out of ỹ lande/ & hast prepared thine herte to seke God. And as Iehosaphat dwelt at Jerusalē/ he wēt to agayne & wēt amōge ỹ people frō Berlabe to moūte Ephraī/ & brought thē agayne vnto ỹ Lorde God of their fathers. And he set Judgꝫ in ỹ lande/ thorowout all ỹ stroge cities of Juda/ citie by citie/ & saide to
B ỹ Judges: take hede what ye do/ for ye be not Judges in the law of mā/ but of God/ whych is with you in the wordes of the law. Wherfore let the feare of the Lorde be with you/ & take hede and do it. For there is no vnryghtwisnesse in ỹ Lord oure God* nor regardinge
C of persones/ nor takynge of rewardes.

Roma. ij. b. Act. x. c. Ephes vi b. Coloss. iij. d.

Moreouer in Jerusalē did Iehosaphat set of ỹ Leuitꝫ & of ỹ prestes & of ỹ aūciēt heedꝫ of Israel/ ouer ỹ customꝫ of ỹ Lord & causes of stryke. And then they returned agayne to Jerusalē. And he charged thē sayinge: do euē so in ỹ feare of ỹ Lord wᵗ truthe & pure herte.
D And whatsoeuer come to you of youre brethrē ỹ dwell in their cities/ betwene bloud & bloude/ law/ cōmaūdemēt/ ordynaūces & customes: se that ye warne thē/ ỹ they trespace not agaīst ỹ Lord/ leste wrath come vpō you & on youre brethrē. Thus do & ye shall not offende. And se here Amariah ỹ preste which is heed ouer you in all matters of the Lorde/ & Zabadiah the sonne of Jsmael a ruler in the house of Juda/ he is ouer all causes concerninge the kynge/ with offycers of ỹ Leuites before you. Take courage to you and go vpō it/ and the Lorde shalbe with the good.

¶ The meruelouse victorye that the Lord gaue Iehosaphat kyng of Juda agaynst the Moabites/ and the chyldren of Ammon/ and them of Seir.

¶ The. xx. Chapter.

A Fter ỹ came ỹ childrē of Moab & ỹ childrē of Ammō & wᵗ thē of ỹ Ammonitꝫ agaynst Iehosaphat to battell. And ther came ỹ tolde Iehosaphat sayinge: ther cometh a great multitude agaynst ỹ frō the other syde ỹ see out of Syria And se they be in Hasason Thamar whych is Engadi. And Iehosaphat fearedꝫ set him selfe to seke ỹ Lorde/ & proclaymed fastynge thorowoute all Juda. And Juda gathered themselues to gether for to aske cōcell of ỹ Lord. And therto there came oute of all ỹ cyties of Juda to seke ỹ Lorde. And Iehosaphat stode in ỹ cōgregaciō of Juda & Jerusalē in ỹ house of ỹ Lord before ỹ new courte & sayde: Lorde
B God of oure fathers/ art not thou God in heauē/ & raygnest not thou on all ỹ kingedomes of the hethen? And in thyne hand is power & might/ ỹ no mā can stande before ỹ. Art not thou oure God which dydest cast out ỹ enhabiters of this lande before thy people Israel/ & gauest it to the seed of Abrahā thy louer for

euer? And they dwelt therin and haue built ỹ a temple therin vnto thy name/ & sayde: whē euell cometh vpon vs/ as the swerde of iudgemēt/ pestilēce or hongre: then yf we stande before thys house & before the (for thy name is in thys house) & shall crye vnto the in oure trybulacion/ thou shalt heare and helpe.

And now beholde/ the childzen of Ammon & Moab & mount Seir/ by which thou woldest not let Israel go/ when they came out of Egipte: but they departed frō thē & destroyed thē not. And se/ how they rewarde vs/ to come for to cast vs out of thy possession which thou hast posessed vs wyth all. O oure God/ wylt thou not iudge them? for we haue no mycht agaynst thys great companye that cometh agaynst vs. Nether wot we what to do: but oure eyes be vnto the.

And as all Juda stode before the Lorde w̄ their yoūge ones/ their wiues & their childzē: the spirite of the Lorde came vpō Jahasiel ỹ sonne of Zachariah the sonne of Banaiah ỹ sonne of Jeiel ỹ sōne of Mathaniah a Leuite of ỹ sonnȝ of Asaph/ euē as he was in ỹ middȝ of ỹ cōgregaciō. And he sayde: herkē all Juda & the enhabiters of Jerusalē/ and also kynge Jehosaphat. Thus sayth the Lorde vnto you be not aferde or faynte hearted by reason of thys great multitude. For the warre is not youres/ but Gods. And to morow ye shall go downe to thē: se/ they come vp at Ziz/ and ye shall mete thē in ỹ flaggȝ of ỹ broke before ỹ wilderneße of Jeruel. Moreouer it belōgeth not to you for to fight in this quarell: but stepe forth & stande & beholde ỹ helpe of ỹ Lorde which is w̄ you: feare not/ nor let youre hertȝ fayle you/ O ye of Juda and of Jerusalē. To morow go out to thē: for the Lorde is w̄ you.

And Jehosaphat bowed him selfe with his face to ỹ citie/ & all Juda & the enhabiters of Jerusalē fell before the Lorde/ to bowe thē selfȝ vnto ỹ Lord. And ỹ Leuitȝ & the chyldzē of ỹ Cahathites & of ỹ Corahites stode vp/ to prayse ỹ Lord God of Israel w̄ a loude voyce on hie. And so they arose erlye in ỹ morynge & get thē out vnto ỹ wylderneße of Thekua. And as they wēt out Jehosaphat stode & said heare me Juda & ye enhabiters of Jerusalē. Beleue in ỹ Lord youre God/ & so shall ye cōtinue: & beleue his prophetȝ & so shal ye prosper. And he gaue ỹ people coūcell/ & set ỹ singers of ỹ Lord & thē ỹ praysed in holy apparell/ to go out before ỹ armie & to saye: praise ỹ Lord for his mercie lasteth euer. And what tyme they begāne to laude & prayse/ then the Lorde set layers awayte agaynst ỹ childzē of Ammon & Moab & moūte Seir/ to destroye thē vtterlye & to wype thē out. And whē they had made an ende of the enhabiters of Seir/ then they holpe to destroye eche other.

And when Juda came to Mazphah in the wilderneße/ they loked vnto ỹ multitude. And beholde/ they were deed carcales fallē to the erthe/ and none escaped. And Jehosaphat & his people wēt to robbe awaie ỹ spoyle of thē & founde amōge thē aboūdaūce of goodes & raymēt & of pleasaūt Jewelles/ & caught frō them more then they coulde cary awaye: so ỹ they were thre dayes in geatherynge of the spoyle/ it was so moche. And ỹ fourthe daye they assēbled in ỹ valeye of blessinge/ for there they blessed ỹ Lorde. And therfore they called ỹ name of ỹ sayde place ỹ valeye of blessynge vnto this daye. And so all the men of Juda & Jerusalē returned & Jehosaphat amōge the thyckest of thē/ for to go agayne to Jerusalē w̄ gladneße: for the Lorde had made them to reioyse of their ennemyes. And they came to Jerusalē w̄ psalteryes & harpes & trōpetes/ euē vnto the house of the Lorde. And ỹ feare of God fell in the kyngedomes of all landes/ when they had heard that the Lorde fought agaynst the enemyes of Israel. And so the realme of Jehosaphat was in trāquilite: for his God had geuen hym rest on euery syde.

And Jehosaphat raygned vpō Juda/ and was. xxxv. yere olde whē he begāne to raygne & raygned. xxv. yere in Jerusalē. And his mothers name was Asuba ỹ daughter of Silhi. And he walked in the waye of Asa his father & bowed not therfrō/ to do ỹ was pleasaūt in the syght of the Lord. Yow be it they put not downe the hillaulters/ nether dyd the people yet prepare their hertes vnto the God of their fathers. The rest of the actes of Jehosaphat fyrst and last are wrytten in the worckes of Jehu the sonne of Hanani/ whych noted thē in the boke of the kynges of Israel.

After this/ Jehosaphat king of Juda ioyned him selfe with Ohoziah kynge of Israel/ whych was a wycked doar. And he coupled him selfe with him/ to make shippes to go to Tharsis. And they made the shyppes in Aziō Gaber. And Elieser ỹ sōne of Dodanah of Maresa prophesied agaynst Jehosaphat/ saīg: because thou hast ioyned thy selfe w̄ Ohoziah ỹ Lord hath brokē thy worckȝ. And ỹ shippȝ were brokē ỹ they were not able to go to Tharsis.

¶ Jehosaphat dyeth & Jehoram succeadeth him which putteth to death his brethren/ and is oppressed of the Philistines/ and dyeth of the flyx.

¶ The. xxi. Chapter.

Jehosaphat layde him to rest w̄ his fathers/ & was buried with his fathersī ỹ citie of Dauid & Jehoram his sonne raigned in his roume: which Jehorā had other brethrē/ sōnȝ of Jehosaphat: Asariah Jehiel Zachariah Asariah Michael & Sephatiah. All these were ỹ sonnȝ of Jehosaphat king of Juda. And their father gaue thē manye

Ohozias. thē manye great giftes in syluer/ goulde and other preciouse things with stronge cities in Juda: but ỹ kyngedome he gaue to Iehozā/ because he was ỹ eldest. And whē Iehozam was vp vpō ỹ kīgdome of his father & setelde he slue all his other brethrē wt ỹ swerde/ & diuerse of ỹ Lords of Israel therto* Iehozā was xxxij. yere olde whē he begāne to raygne/ & he B raygned viij. yere in Jerusalē. And he walked in ỹ wayes of the kings of Israel/ like as dyd ỹ house of Ahab (for a daughter of Ahab was his wife) & he wrought euell in ỹ eyes of the Lorde. How be it ỹ Lorde wolde not destroye ỹ house of Dauid/ because of the couenaūt ỹ he had made wt Dauid/ & as he promeled to giue a lyght to him & to his sonnes for euer.

iij. Reg. xviij.

In his dayes ỹ Edomits departed frō vnder ỹ hāde of Juda & made thē a kīg. And Iehozā wēt forth wt his lords & all his charets wt him & roade by nyght & layde on ỹ Edomits. Which cōpased him in & ỹ capitaynes of his charets. And so Edō departed frō vnder ỹ hāde of Juda C vnto this daye. That same tyme also did Iobnah departe frō vnder his power/ because he lefte ỹ Lorde God of his fathers. Moreouer he made hilaulters in ỹ moūtayns of Juda/ & caused the enhabiters of Jerusalē to comitt adulterye/ & he* thrust Juda out of ỹ waye.

* Dr. prouoked Juda to synne.

And ther came a writinge to him frō Elias the prophete of this tenoure. Thus sayth the Lord God of Dauid thy father: because thou walkedest not in ỹ wayes of Iehosaphat thy father & in ỹ wayes of Asa king of Juda/ but walkedst in the wayes of ỹ kyngs of Israel & hast made Juda & the dwellers of Jerusalē go a whorynge/ like to ỹ whorynge of ỹ house of Ahab/ & hast therto slayne thy brethrē ỹ were thy fathers house/ whych were better then thou: Therfore beholde the Lorde will smyte the with a myghtie plage in thy folke/ in thy childrē/ in thy wiues and in thy goodes. And thou shalt haue moche dysease thorow infirmitie in thy bowelles/ vntill thy bowelles fal out by reason of thy sycknesse/ daye by daye.

D And the Lorde stered vp agaynst Iehozā ỹ spirite of ỹ Philistins & the Arabiās ỹ border on ỹ blacke mor. Which came agaynst Juda & all to tare ỹ lande/ & caried awaye all ỹ substaūce ỹ was foūde in ỹ kings house/ & therto his sonnes & his wiues: so ỹ there was neuer a sonne lefte him saue Iehoahaz his yoūgest sonne. And after all ỹ/ the Lord smote him in his bowelles wt an incurable disease. And in processe of tyme/ euē about ỹ ende of two yere his gutts fell out by reason of his sickenesse: & so he died of euell diseases. But they made hī no bonefyre/ like ỹ bonefires of his fathers. Whē he begāne to raygne/ he was xxxij. yere olde/ & raigned in Jerusalē. viij. yere. And* he walked not pleasaūtly/ & they buryed hī in ỹ citie of Dauid: but not in ỹ sepulchres of ỹ kīgs

* The. lxx. reade. He died without praple. Some. he walked with oute desyre to do well.

C Ohozias raygneth in ỹ rowme of Iehozam/ Jehu kyng of Israel kylleth Ohozias. Athaliah putteth to deeth all the kynges lynage/ onely Joas escapeth.

C The. xxij. Chapter.

A Nd ỹ enhabiters of Jerusalē made Ohozias his youngest sonne kyng in his stede. For ỹ mē of warre that came wt the Arabyās in ỹ hoste/ had slayne all his elder sonns. And so Ohozias ỹ sonne of Iehozam kinge of Juda/ was made kynge. Two & fourtie yere olde was he when he beganne to raygne/ & raygned one yere in Jerusalē. His mothers name was Athaliah B ỹ daughter of Amri. And he walked also in ỹ wayes of the house of Ahab/ for hys mother was his coūceler for to do euell. Wherfore he did ỹ displeased ỹ Lord like to ỹ house of Ahab for they were hys coūcelers after ỹ deeth of his father/ to his destrucciō. And he also walked after their coūcell. And Iehozā sonne of Ahab kyng of Israel wēt to fight wt Hazael kyng of Syria at Ramoth in Galaad: & they of Ramoth woūded him. Wherfore he returned to be healed in Jezrael of ỹ wounds which were geuē him at Ramoth/ whē he fought wt Hazael king of Syria. And Ohozias ỹ sonne C of Iehozā kinge of Juda wēt downe to se Iehozā ỹ sonne of Ahab at Jezrael/ because he was diseased.* For it was thrust into Ohozias of God to go to Iehozā/ & ỹ whē he was come he shuld go out wt Iehozā agaynst Jehu the sonne of Namsi whome the Lord had annoynted to destroye the house of Ahab.

* For it was thrust &c. of god. vnderstande to thyntent that he cōming to Iehoram might be ouerthrowē of Jehu.

And as Jehu was executynge iustice vpō ỹ house of Ahab. He founde ỹ Lords of Juda & the sonnes of the brethren of Ohozias that wayted on Ohozias/ & he slue them. And he sought Ohozias/ & they caught hym where he was hid in Samaria/ and brought him to Jehu. And whē they had slayne him they buried him: because (sayde they) he was ỹ sonne of Iehosaphat which sought the Lorde wt all his hert. And there was none of the house of D Ohozias/ that coulde obtayne to be kynge.

For Athaliah ỹ mother of Ohozias/ whē iiij. Reg. xi. a. she sawe her sonne was deed/ arose & spake wt all the seed of the kyngedome of the house of Juda. But Iehosabeath the daughter of the kynge toke Iehoas ỹ sonne of Ohozias and stale hym frō amonge the kynges sonnes ỹ were slayne/ & put him & his nource in a slepinge chābre. And so Iehosabeath ỹ daughter of kynge Iehozā & wife of Iehoiada ỹ preste (because she was ỹ syster of Ohozias) hid him frō Athaliah ỹ she slue him not. And he was with them hid in the house of God syx yere. And Athaliah raygned ouer the lande.

C The. xxiij. Chapter.

A iiij. Reg. xi. a.

AND in ỹ seuẽth yere Jehoiada toke hert/ & made a bonde with the capitaynes of hundredes Azariah the sonne of Jeroham/ Ismael ỹ sonne of Johanã/ Azariah ỹ sonne of Obed/ Maasiah the sonne of Adaiah and Elisaphat the sonne of Zechri. And they went aboute in Juda and geathered the Leuites out of all the cytyes of Juda and the auncyent heedes of Israel: and they came to Jerusalem. And all the congregacyon made a bonde wyth the kynge in the house of God. And Jehoiada sayde to them: beholde/ the kynges sonne must raygne ouer the chyldren of Dauid/ as the Lorde hath sayde.

B This is it therfore ỹ ye shall do. The thirde parte of you prestes & Leuites whych come in the Saboth daye/ shall kepe the dores & a nother thirde parte shalbe in the kingꝛ house & a nother thyrde parte shalbe in the gate of the foundacyõ/ & all the people shalbe in the

They shall go in/ for they are holy: & all the people shall kepe the watche of the Lorde. And ỹ Leuitꝛ shall cõpase ỹ kynge rounde aboute/ & euery mã his wepõ in his hãde: & whatsoeuer other mã come into the house of the Lorde/ he shall dye for it: and they shalbe with the kynge/ as he cometh in and as he goeth out.

And ỹ Leuites & all Juda did in all thingꝛ as Jehoiada the preste commaunded/ & toke euery mã his men: bothe thẽ that came in and C thẽ ỹ went out the saboth daye: for Jehoiada the preste did let none of ỹ cõpanies departe. And Jehoiada the preste delyuered to the capitaynes of hũdredes speares & shildꝛ & boukelars ỹ pertayned to kynge Dauid & were in the house of God. And he set all the people & euery man his wepon in his hande/ frõ the right corner of the house to ỹ lefte corner of the house/ alonge by the aulter and the house rounde about the kynge. And they brought out the kynges sonne and put vpon hym the crowne and the *testymonye/ and made hym kyng. And Jehoiada & his sonnes annoynted hym and sayde: God saue the kynge.

* That is/ the lawe of God. Deut. xvij. d.

When Athaliah hearde the noyse of the people runnynge & praysynge the kinge/ she went amõge the people in to the house of the Lorde. And when she saw the kynge stande at his pyler in the enterynge/ and the Lordes and trompetes about the kynge/ and all the people of the lande reioysynge & blowinge wyth trompetes/ and the syngers wyth instrumentes of musycke teachinge to prayse. Then she rent her clothes and cryed: treason treason. And Jehoiada the preste went out with the capitaynes of hundredes that were apoynted to gouerne the hoste/ and sayde to them: haue her out wythout the arayes and whosoeuer foloweth her/ let hym be slayne with the swerde. For the preste sayde: slee her not in the house of the Lorde. And they layde handes on her/ and when she was come out D to the entrynge of the horsgate in the kynges house/ they slue her there.

*And Jehoiada made a bonde betwene hym iiij. Reg. xi. d. and all the people and the kynge/ to be the Lordes people. And all the people went to the house of Baal and destroyed it/ & brake hys aulters and hys ymages/ and slue Mathan the preste of Baal before the aulters. And Jehoiada put the offyces of the house of the Lorde in the handes of the prestes the Leuites/ which Dauid had deuyded in companyes for the house of the Lorde/ to offer burntofferynges vnto the Lorde/ as it is wrytten in the law of Moses/ wyth reioysynge and syngynge/ as it was ordeyned by Dauid. And he set porters vnto the gates of the house of the Lorde/ that none that was vncleane in any poynte shulde entre in.

And he toke the capitaynes of hundredes and the nobles/ and the gouernoures of the people & all the folke of the lande/ & brought the kyng downe out of the house of ỹ Lorde/ and they went thorow the hye gate in the kynges house/ and set the kynge vpon the seate of the kyngedome. And all the people of the lande reioysed/ & the cytie was in trãquilite: but they slue Athaliah wyth the swerde.

C Jehoas duryng ỹ lyfe of Jehoiada kepeth the lawe/ but after hys deeth he regardeth it not. He killeth Zachariah the Prophete. Jehoas is killed of hys awne seruauntes/ and after hym raygneth Amaliah.

C The .xxiiij. Chapter.

JEhoas was seuẽ yere olde when he A began to raygne/ and he raigned iiij. Reg. xii. d. fourtye yere in Jerusalem. Hys mothers name was Zebiah of Berlabe. And Jehoas dyd ỹ pleased the Lorde all the dayes of Jehoiada the preste. And Jehoiada gaue hym two wyues/ and he begat sonnes and daughters.

It chaunsed after that/ that Jehoas was mynded to mende the house of the Lorde. And vpon that he geathered to gether the prestes and the Leuites and sayde to them:

*go out thorow the cyties of Juda and gea- iiij. Reg. xij. a. ther of all Israel syluer/ to strength ỹ house of youre God/ yere by yere/ & se that ye hast the thynge: how be it the Leuites were slacke. Then the kynge called Jehoiada that B was the chefest/ and sayde to hym: why requyrest thou not of the Leuytes to brynge in/ out of Juda and Jerusalẽ the summe apoynted by Moses the seruaũt of the Lorde/and by

and by the congregacio of Israel/for the tabernacle of wytnesse. For wicked Athaliah & her childre had broken the house of God/& had therto bestowed all the dedicat gyftes of the house of the Lorde/aboute Baals.

Wherfore at the kynges cōmaundement/ they made a cofer/and set it at the gate of the house of the Lorde: and made proclamacyon thorow Juda and Jerusalem to bryng in to the Lorde* the taracio of Moses the seruaut of God/which he set vpon Israel in the wyldernesse. And the Lordes and all the people reioyced and brought in and cast in to the cofer vntill it was full. And whē the tyme came that the cheste shulde be brought in by the handes of the Leuites at the apoyntment of the kynge/whē they saw ꝑ there was moche moneye: then came the kynges scrybe & one apoynted by the hye preste/ and powred out that was in the cofer/& then toke it & caryed it to hys place agayne/ & thus they dyd daye by daye/and geathered moche moneye.
